More Candidates File

Roger Kain of Auburn filed his declaration in the office of county clerk Ralph Bruce seeking the Democratic nomination as state representative from DeKalb County Monday morning.

He is the first Democrat to file for a major office since filing for notice of candidacy opened February 26.

Candidates with the exception of delegates to the state conventions must file before March 27. Delegates have until April 6 to file.

Others who have filed in the past week include Republicans Bruce Gurtner, Waterloo, committeeman, Franklin west precinct; Earl Moughler, Garrett, committeeman, Keyser No. 5 precinct; Mrs. Hazel Francis, Garrett, committeewoman, Keyser No. 7 precinct; Will Graham, Auburn, committeeman, Jackson, northwest precinct; Claud Laub, Spencerville, county commissioner, southeast district; and Mabel Lyons, Auburn committeewoman, Union No. 6 precinct.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES CONDUCTED BY FRANK RITZ AT ST. JOE CHURCH OF CHRIST MONDAY EVENING

Donald Foust, minister of the St. Joe Church if Christ has offered the following remarks concerning the evangelistic meetings which will begin on Monday evening with Mr. Frank Ritz of Vanderbilt, Pa.

"The Church of Christ in St. Joe covets the interest and attendance of all the residents of St. Joe and the surrounding community in the evangelistic meetings beginning Sunday evening, March 16. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ritz will arrive Monday and conduct the services Monday evening and each evening following at 7:30 p.m. As announced, Frank Ritz has been a great athlete, as well as his father before him, but is now thoroughly converted to the cause of Jesus Christ. He will have some very interesting things to say to the young people on 'Youth Night,' Tuesday, March 25th. We urge young and old alike to come and hear him every evening. He is a very humble man, utterly sincere and truthful in every way. We believe that every person can be a better individual in the sight of God, and to the community, after hearing him preach the Gospel, and Mrs. Ritz direct the singing.

"There will be special music every night.

"There is a warm and friendly welcome for you at these services."

Pickles Win Over Studebakers, Tri-State

Last Wednesday the Pickles traveled to Talma, Indiana, to meet the South Bend Studebakers in a benefit game. The Studebakers are one of the strongest colored teams in northern Indiana.

It took overtime but the locals came out on top, 81-80. The score at the end of regulation time was 77-77. McCarter tied it at 77-all with a free throw in the last five seconds and Beck won it with a charity toss in the last five seconds of the overtime.

Schroer got 24 for the locals.

Then on Friday evening at Butler, in another benefit game, the local independent team defeated Tri-State 82-57.

An unexpected treat for the 700 fans at the game was the trick artistry of "Goose" Day, Pickles 6-foot 4-inch center. After the team had built up a comfortable lead, and aided by some prodding on the part of the younger set. Day put on a one-man show that had the crowd roaring in the final period. Several times the Tri-State boys were lulled into a false sense of security as Day performed his tricks. Then as the opposition relaxed and left him wide open, he would waltz under for an easy lay-up.

Stauffer and Beck each scored 16 points.

Concert Membership Drive Begins March 17

The Community Concert Association will conduct its annual drive for memberships starting the week of March 17.

Last year 701 paid memberships were taken and the goal for this year has been set at 1000.

It is fortunate that this community is interested in good music and has the seasonal concerts to contribute to its culture. The more memberships that are sold, the better the programs that can be obtained.

Last year there were three programs, this year four. It is planned to have an even better series next year.

St. Joe Gets $204 From Sectional

The sectional "pie" was split this week and St. Joe High School received $204.00. Spencerville received $182.38.

With a total of 4,343 seats at the two gyms available for the games Wednesday and 2,157 seats at Garrett for the semi-finals and finals Saturday, ticket sales brought $5,982.80. Meals, salaries of officials and helpers, basketballs andother miscellaneous expenses amounted to $1,328. Travel expenses of the various schools participating in the tournament amounted to $440.64 and Auburn and Garrett, the center schools, received $250 for the use of the gyms. From the total amount left, the IHSAA receives one percent which left $3,894.82 remaining to be divided among the participating schools.

This amount was cut into two equal parts with the 16 schools each receiving $121.71, which is 1-16 of half of the total. The other half of the remaining balance was divided among the schools on an enrollment basis amounting to $.3662 per student. The schools and their share of this sum are: Angola $201.84; Ashley $118.68; Auburn $257.28; Butler $162.31; Churubusco $178.45; St. Joe $32.30; Fremont $106.29; Garrett $229.56; Hamilton $74.51; Metz $87.18; Orland $58.92; Pleasant Lake $67.58; Salem Center $103.96; Scott Center $25.98; Spencerville $60.67 and Waterloo $129.96. These sums are in addition to the initial $121.71 granted each of the schools.

County Farmers To Show Stock

One thousand one hundred twenty of Indiana's finest hogs have been entered in the 3rd annual Hoosier Spring Barrow and Ton Litter Show. The 204 exhibitors in the show represent 51 of Indiana's 92 counties.

Local hog producers who have entered hogs in the show include Snyder Brothers of R2, Butler, who will show Chester Whites, and Carl D. Carpenter of R3, Butler, who will show Crossbred Hampshires.

The nation's top 12 swine judges will survey the "on foot" competition between all hogs on Tuesday, March 18, at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in Indianapolis. The live show starts at 7:30 a.m. with the judging of al Ton Litters. A total of $5,594 is being offered in premiums this year.

Lesson for March 16, 1952

YOUTH today has a hard time of it. With bad examples in high places, prevalence of gambling, liquor ads on every billboard and liquor on too many "smart" tables; with divorce almost as easy as marriage and both as easy as whims; educated in elementary schools where it is considered wrong for the teacher to "fail" or punish any one, in high schools that emphasize the body more than the mind, and in colleges where coaches make more than professors and where (as two leading universities recently learned) almost half the student body, it seems, admits to cheating; living in a country where success is measured in dollars and where the Christian church is still in a minority: what chance has a boy or girl to grow up straight and strong instead of weak and crooked?

Dr. Foreman

It Has Been Worse

THE best answer to this question is that youth has always had a hard time of it, yet always there have been some who have grown straight and strong.

If this 20th century is a bad one, what about the first? At that time there was certainly bad example in high places, considering that Nero was the emperor and that many persons actually worshipped that cruel scoundrel as a god.

Gambling was done by the "best" people all over the Empire; liquor was even more a part of "high" society than it is today; as for divorce and marriage, the Roman record was worse than ours; as for education, most young people didn't get it, and most of those that did found themselves fitted for only one occupation: politics. The Christian Church was in a far smaller minority than today.

The Right Friends

YET it was in that bad century that some of the most famous Christian saints and heroes lived. Timothy, Paul's young understudy, was such a man. He had everything against him, but Paul thought well of him, and Paul's standards were extraordinarily high. His life (or what we know of it from the Scripture references to him) had many qualities worth studying.

Let us look at two of the causes for this young man's high character. One was the quality of his friends. He seems to have been the sort of boy who might have gone down fast if he had taken up with the wrong crowd; but a list of his friends as we know them is a list of strong, original, true-blue Christians. He literally knew the best people, not "best" by standards of Roman society but best in the scale of true manhood.

We have a hint, too, that his mother had something to do with this. She "steered" the boy to the right crowd, one suspects —and that was enough.

One of the best things parents can do for their children is to see to it that they run into the right kind of people. This does not necessarily mean the richest or the best educated, but the people with the best kind of character. Youth will grow to be like the older people it most admires; and admiration grows with acquaintance. Tell me who a boy's friends are and I can forecast his future.

Self Control

THE other reason for Timothy's character came from inside: self-discipline, self-control.

Followers of these lessons may wonder why "temperance" has to be dragged in every once in so often. It's not dragged in; we just dare not dodge it. Temperance just means self-control, in general. In particular, one of the drugs—by all odds the most popular drug—that tends to make the users lose self-control, is alcohol. As the proverb has it: First the man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, and then the drink takes the man.

Young people get more than enough urging to become alcoholics. One of the best things one can do for younger friends is to awaken them to the real facts and dangers of all alcoholic beverages.

There is a book, "Fruit of the Vine," by Grace H. Turnbull, (printed by the Lord Baltimore Press and published in 1950 at 223 Chancery Road, Baltimore 16, Md.) which is a mine of facts about liquor—the kind of information you will not get in the advertisements. Young people who learn these things the easy way (by reading such a book, for instance) may be saved the heartbreak of learning them the hard way.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

DRAFT CLASSIFICATIONS—Many persons from the Fourth District have written to me in regard to the draft status of their sons. Since this matter is handled by the local Selective Service Boards, the question also has arisen as to the appeal of draft classifications. After taking this question up with the National Headquarters, Selective Service System, which is headed by Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, formerly of Angola, I received the following explanation.

"When the Presidential Appeal Board, which is separate and apart from the Selective Service System, reaches a decision in the case of a registrant, the registrant will be advised thereof through his local board. If the Presidential Appeal Board continues this registrant in Class 1-A, this classification is final, unless subsequently, the local board learns of the occurrence of some very unusual circumstances, over which the registrant had no control. In this latter instance, the local board could reclassify the registrant if it thought the circumstances warranted such action."

"TAXES, THEY'RE WONDERFUL"—This statement by Leon Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, will draw more dissent than approvel, but I think it needs repeating because of the man who said it. Mr. Keyserling thinks the three tax increases totaling $15 billions in the last 18 months, to quote him, are "wonderful" and he hopes the Congress will "continue that good record" by passing another. I firmly disagree with his statement and his policy.

Keyserling said, "I think the Congress has increased taxes by $15 billions in the last year and a half. And that's a wonderful record. I would expect that a Congress that made so good a record over the past year and a half in increasing taxes would continue that good record."

EMERGENCY POWERS—The President has asked Congress to extend approximately 60 emergency powers which will expire upon the termination of the present state of war wih Japan or the national emergencies proclaimed by President Roosevelt in 1939 and 1941. The President said that as soon as the peace treaty with Japan is ratified the emergency powers will end, and he wants them continued.

Electric cooking is the big buy!

for comfort

Even in small kitchens like Mrs. P. F. Dillmore's, air stays cool and fresh when you've got an electric range. One big reason is the thick all-around oven insulation.

Electric oven insulation keeps heat in so well that electricity may be on for only a short while during a whole hour's baking! Stored heat does most of the job.

As Mrs. Dillmore says, "The safety feature of the electric range means everything to a busy mother with small children. There's no flame, no fumes, and no pilot light to go out."

Safe . . . cool . . . and MORE! Electric cooking is fast, clean, and thrifty, too. Big or small kitchens . . . large or little family—an electric range is your top-value buy.

Fancy Pancakes for Lenten Dessert

During the Lenten season when meals are frequently lean and meager, add interest to your menu by serving a delicious dessert such as the one pictured here. This Pancake Pie is made of giant-size pancakes spread with tangy red currant jelly and then stacked sky-high. Cut this unusual "stack of wheats" in pie-shaped wedges and serve with mellow maple-blended syrup which adds so much to pan-cakes whatever the form in which they are served.

Pancake Pie

1¼ cups sifted flour
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to the flour mixture, stirring only until smooth. Add shortening and mix thoroughly. Bake on hot greased griddle. Stack in pile; spread tart red currant jelly between cakes. Cut in pie-shaped wedges and serve with a generous amount of maple-blended syrup.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

THE vitally important problem before Congress is consideration of the $85½ billion dollar budget submitted by the President.

Consideration of the budget will force the Congress to determine once again the extent to which it will commit the American people to foreign economic and military aid, and draw a line that will eliminate unnecessary domestic expenditures.

The President's budget is for all government operations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952. The requests fill a volume of 1,700 pages—4⅛ inches thick, for the biggest peace-time budget in history.

Few, if any, have any concept of the meaning of 85½ billions of dollars. Perhaps it will be easier to understand when one realizes that if Congress accepts the figures presented by the President, it will mean an average cost of $550 for every man, woman and child in America. It is more than the United States government spent for all purposes—including four wars—the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil and Spanish-American wars—from 1789 to 1925—a period of 136 years.

Viewed in another way, the Administration wants to spend $162,565 every minute in fiscal 1953.

Where will this money come from? From either or both of two sources. The 85½ billions will have to be raised through taxes or the government will have to borrow.

The President estimates present tax laws will raise approximately 71 billions in Federal revenue, but he asks an increase in taxes to raise an additional 5 billions. Even with that, he states, there will be a deficit of nearly 10.4 billion dollars.

In other words, the Administration plans to spend 14⅛ billion dollars more than its income and the national debt would soar to approximately $275 billion.

Many times I have repeated that we have reached the saturation point in taxes. There have been two tax increases since June, 1950, when hostilities broke out in Korea.

These two boosts added $17 billion to the already burdensome tax load being carried by the American people.

It is a pretty safe prediction that Congress will not consider another tax increase—barring the outbreak of another world war.

So, the problem arises: How can we balance the budget, avoid spending beyond our income and escape the predicted deficit? The answer? Cut down on the spending.

This can be done only through genuine cooperation between the Executive and the Congress in a sound economy program.

Many members of Congress, on both sides of the aisle have emphasized that effective reductions in the budget can be made by slashing of government personnel. The charge has been made that the current budget provides for the creation of 8,300 new positions on the Federal payroll, added to the more than 2,500,000 already drawing government salary.

It is long past the time for retrenchment. ●

COBURNTOWN CHURCH NEWS

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jarrett entertained the Home Builders Class with 18 members, one visitor and five children and the host, hostess and family present.

The meeting was opened by president Maxine Goldsmith. Devotions were given by Vern Frederick. A short business meeting was followed by prayer by John Cook after which the meeting was turned over to the hostess. Several interesting games and contests were conducted including air plane rides for those who never had been in a plane before. Free hair cuts and shaves were given to the men. A delicious lunch of salad, sandwiches and ice cream bars and coffee was served. All departed at a late hour having had an enjoyable evening.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the second meeting of the life recruit club was held. Members met together in the church auditorium. There were pictures shown of missionaries of foreign countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hart had a surprise birthday party on their son, Eugene, and William Goldsmith at their home near Woodburn Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Those present were the Live Wire Class, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Frederick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goldsmith and son, Walter, and Bonnie Sweet.

Games were played and delicious refreshments of hot dogs, potato chips and ice cream and cake were served.

Sunday evening at 6:30 the Busy Beavers Junior C.E. met in the church auditorium. Bobby Jarrett was the leader. Mrs. Hamilton and Darlene sang a duet for the special number.

The Young People's C.E. met in the church basement at 6:30. The meeting was called to order by president Joan Curie. Lesson was led by Patsy Hook. Questions and the life problem were discussed. The meeting was closed with prayer.

At 7:30 regular church services were held with 115 in attendance. Charles Willard, minister of the church at Payne, O., gave the message. Mr. Onan Laughman sang a solo for the special.

Carlton Curie and Jack Mann were home from Cincinnati Bible Seminary over the week-end.

The St. Joe News

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, March 20, 1952 — NUMBER 12

Around the Town

With the Editor

Chuck Freeburn dropped a few lines last week. He said I didn't have to publish his letter just for him because "I am not a very good letter writer." Some of it sounded pretty good to me so I thought he wouldn't mind just a few quotes, such as—

"I haven't much to write about, but I thought I would write to let you know how much I enjoy reading the St. Joe News.

"I lived around St. Joe about all my life and have read many St. Joe News, but the ones you pub lish are the ones for me, because you put in the news around St. Joe and you put in a lot about sports. That is what I really like to read about."

Chuck was stationed at Great Lakes for quite a while and evidently had a soft touch there—

"When I was at Great Lakes I thought the Navy couldn't be beat, but now I know what the real Navy is like so now I will be glad to get out."

He expects to be released the latter part of April or July.

Bill Longerbone, the new locker man of St. Joe, has a sleek runabout—motorboat, that is—stored at his place. He and Ab Crosby of Fort Wayne built it. Bill is somewhat of a boat-racer and related an experience along that line which occurred during a race at Rome City. Bill cut one of the turns too short and sideswiped the buoy. The impact threw the left side of the boat upward and Bill's head whacked the deck. He hid under the boat after both spilled thinking it was the safest place as the other boats whizzed by. But he evidently was "out" for a short time. When he looked out, the boats were already coming around the turn towards him, having made a lap before he came to his senses.

Minstrel Show Coming April 4

"Say, Mistuh intuhlocketuh, suh, did you heah 'bout—"

There'll be loads of gags and entertainment in just two weeks, on Friday, April 4, to be exact. That's the date for the Concord Twp. P. T. A. Minstrel Show to be presented at the school gym in St. Joe.

Carl Zimmerman who is in charge of the show, has been rehearsing the chorus and soloists in several numbers preparing for the night of black-face fun. Endmen and dancing girls have also been rounding out their jokes and routines, Included in the program will be special acts, barbershop quartet singing, tap dancing and others.

The cast has been rehearsing for the past few weeks and is about ready to put the works together. The next two weeks will be busy for the show men and women.

Seminar Dates Changed

The Higley Press of Butler, Indiana, announces that its spring seminar for Sunday school teachers will be held at Butler April 28 through May 1. Classes will be held nightly from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Butler High School building. This announcement cancels an earlier report that the seminar would be held the first week of April.

The seminar is a service of the Higley Press for the training of Sunday school teachers in all churches. The public is invited to atend all classes.

Seniors Present Magician Friday

"Come and enjoy an evening of magic."

That is the invitation extended to the community by the Senior Class of Concord Twp. High School.

Jack Bartle will present his "evening of magic" this Friday evening, March 21, at the gym in St. Joe. Mr. Bartle of Grabill will present outstanding feats of magic for the entertainment of those present and in addition will award a live rabbit "pulled from the hat" to some lucky boy or girl in the audience.

The program will start at 8 p. m. and everyone is invited to attend this senior-sponsored entertainment.

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The March meeting of the Spencer Township Home Demonstration Club was held on March 12 at the home of Alice Kagey with assistant hostesses Marie Ward and Eleanor Crothers.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Dorothy Kimes. The history of the song, "It's Me, Oh Lord," was given by Miriam Hamilton. All members joined in the singing.

The home demonstration agent of Auburn, Miss Mary Lenore Moore, gave a very interesting talk on "Legal Procedure for the Homemaker." Many useful hints were learned from the lesson.

Devotions were given by Alice Kagey. The secretary's report was read and approved. Roll call was answered by all members giving their favorite hymn.

The treasurer gave a report on the club treasury. It was voted to give five dollars to the Red Cross.

Twenty-three members and four children enjoyed pleasant refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hazel Warstler on April 9.

MERCHANDISE SHOOT THIS SUNDAY AT CLUB GROUNDS

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold a merchandise shoot Sunday, March 23, at the club grounds just west of St. Joe.

The program will be 100 targets, also 10 bird events for Pickles and Practice.

The shoot will start at 12:01 p. m. CST.

Sgt. and Mrs. James Sessions of West Point, Ky., were Saturday evening and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kimes and relatives.

Little Randy Rediger was brought home from the hospital in Auburn where he was taken with after-effects of the flu.

CHICKEN SUPPER THURSDAY, MARCH 20

A chicken supper will be served Thursday, March 20, at the Newville Evangelical U. B. Church. Serving will continue from 5 until 7:30 p.m. CST.

The menu consists of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, choice of Harvard beets, string beans, or creamed corn, perfection salad, pie, coffee and relish.

New Appointments In Fire Dept.

The St. Joe Fire Department met Monday evening at the Town Hall for its regular monthly meeting.

Chief Roy Bowser was in charge of the meeting and Mose Yeiser acted as secretary in the absence of Merl Guilford. Fourteen members were present.

Donald McCann gave a report on the escape facilities at the school. He reported that the fire escape was found in need of repair and the necessary work had been started to correct the situation. Chief Bowser read the constitution and by-laws as recommended and revised by the committee appointed for that purpose. They were accepted for adoption by the department.

Mose Yeiser was officially appointed driver and Donald McCann engineer of the department. Other recommendations made by Chief Bowser included a request that firemen report to the firehouse when a call is given. Many, he said, have gone straight to the scene of the fire without seeing that there were men stationed at the firehouse for a possible second call while the truck is away.

The revision of the by-laws, appointments and recommendations are all part of a reorganization plan undertaken by the chief to modernize the local company and make it a more efficient fire-fighting unit.

The department will entertain their wives on the next regular meeting night, Monday, April 21. The ladies will be entertained to a dinner and an evening of cards and special entertainment at the legion home in St. Joe.

GRABILL STUDENT WINS 3rd IN ESSAY CONTEST

Ronald Shaw, Grabill, a student at Leo High School, was named third place winner in the recent essay contest on "Employ the Handicapped for National Security," it was announced last week.

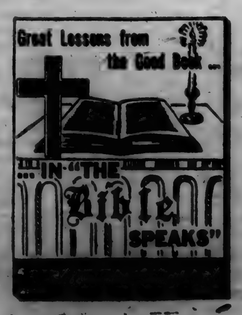
Mr. Shaw's essay was selected as one of the five best from the hundreds submitted by high school juniors and seniors throughout the state.

Governor Henry Schricker plans to present the awards to Mr. Shaw and the other winners in a ceremony to be held next month in his office. Other students who will share in the $100 cash awards provided jointly by the American Legion, AmVets, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars are Phil Stenger, Indianapolis, first; Gloria Mietzner, Gary, Second; and Elaine Mehring, Osgood, and Kay Marshall, Swayzee, who tied for fourth place.

NUISANCE CLUB TO HAVE SCRAP METAL AND PAPER DRIVE

The Nuisance Club is having a paper and scrap metal drive. The club would like to have the townspeople save their morning and evening papers and magazines.

Collection will be made around the fifth of April.



'Peter Beware' Coming March 28, 29

The Senior Class of Concord Twp. High School is pleased to present their class play Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29, at the St. Joe gym. The play is entitled, "Peter Beware" and is a comedy-romance.

The presentation will begin at 8 p.m.

Characters and seniors taking the parts are as follows:

Melinda Holland, Archie's niece—Sue Walter.

Peter Barrett, Eunice's half-brother—Bob Richmond.

Eunice Rogers—Diana Lawson.

Archie Rogers—Billie Mickelson.

Clara Witt, a model—Delores Ross.

Owen Williams, her agent—Dale Smith.

Jane Monsell, a good sport—Ruth Trenary.

Sam Disney, Peter's companion—Donald Walters.

Evelyn Bronson, an ex-deb—Carol Billow.

Timothy Weatherly, a cousin—Amos DeLong.

Flo, the maid—Sally Wade.

Miss Jones, a stenographer—Jeanette Osmun.

The price for admission will be sixty cents for adult reserved seats, forty cents for adult bleacher seats and forty cents for students.

K of P Square Dance Saturday Night

The K. of P. Lodge of St. Joe will sponsor a round and square dance this Saturday evening, March 22, at the St. Joe gym.

Two weeks ago the lodge sponsored a similar event to raise funds for the maintenance of the local cemetery. This second dance will be a benefit for the same purpose.

Caller for the dance will be Amos Snyder. Music will be furnished by Jerry McKown's Gang of Newville.

The evening of dancing will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Wayne Storer on Monday, March 3, for musical evening of the year.

The president called the meeting to order and Mrs. Lloyd Dunten read the collect.

Mrs. Carl Perkins and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, lesson leaders for the evening, then presented a varied and interesting program on "Music In Our Daily Living."

Mrs. Perkins gave a short preview on the uses of music in our daily lives. Miss Shirley Perkins gave piano solos, "Serenade" and "Indian Love Call," followed by Mrs. Yeiser who gave a short talk on the life of Stephen Foster.

Featured on the dialogue of "Music In Our Daily Living" were Mrs. Harold Baker, Miss Connie Stewart, Miss Shirley Perkins, Leoralina Shafer, Mrs. Wayne Storer, Mrs. O. L. Hanson, Mrs. Allen Haller and Mrs. Glen Cole.

After group singing, the program was brought to a close with Mrs. Harold Baker singing, "The Lord's Prayer."

The secretary's report was read and approved. Twenty-three members answered roll call. There were four guests present.

A report on the convention at Garrett was given by Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser followed by comments from others who attended.

A report on Heart Fund showed a collection of $14.23.

It was reported that Mrs. V. R. Monroe was suffering from a heart ailment.

The meeting was then adjourned.

LUTHERAN SUNDAY SCHOOL CHANGES TIME

The Sunday School of St. Mark's Lutheran Church voted Sunday to start at 9:45 a.m. The time was changed from the former meeting time of 10:45.

Auxiliary Bake Sale & Bazaar April 5

The Auxiliary of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post 283 of St. Joe will sponsor a bake sale and "parcel post" bazaar on Saturday, April 5. The sale will be held at the News Office in St. Joe.

Mrs. Doris Yeiser is chairman of the bazaar and has asked all auxiliary members and residents of the community to keep that date in mind. Members of the auxiliary have been contacted to contribute baked goods for the sale and also to send a twenty-five cent item for the "take-a-chance-for-a-quarter" bazaar.

THE AMERICAN WAY

It's An Ill Wind For Lefty

Changing Times - And Minds

Not so many years ago, before the United States became so involved in world troubles as today, one of the favorite gag lines of so-called Russian comedians and imitators of said comedians was, "Comes the revolution—" etc., etc.

Unfortunately, that line has lost its humor, particularly since it was "originated" by a victim of Russian's changing politics. We now have nothing to laugh about in connection with that nation.

After the past twenty years, the shoe begins to fit the other foot. High taxes, an unbalanced budget and deficit spending, crooked government officials, wasteful foreign spending, higher taxes and higher taxes may soon prompt Americans to think in terms of a "revolution"—or perhaps we should say "counter-revolution."

We in the United States have experienced a revolution in the last twenty years. It has been slow, "blood-less" and without pain in the process. But, as with a tooth pulled under anesthetic, the pain is an after-effect. With our suffering has come weakness. Witness the "ransom" paid for American flyers, the rumored negotiations for the return of a U. S. newsman in exchange for vital milling machinery—all of which benefits our enemies. Twenty years ago, other nations would just as soon commit national suicide as to antagonize the United States. Now even the "little punks" rub our noses in the dirt. We have been led to believe that this "friendly negotiating," this internationalism is the key to peace—making concessions and agreements which destroy the integrity and self-respect of United States citizens.

After several years of unprecedented foreign-aid spending, intended to promote peace by giving war-torn countries a lift in getting back on their own economical feet, we and they are no closer to economic stability than before. They have come to rely on our money thus destroying their own incentive, and we have abandoned a balanced budget and are, under the press of world conditions, operating on an economy geared to production of machines of war. We have been led to believe that money will cure the ills of the world. Actually, it has created more world unrest.

It is argued that a republican victory in November in the presidential election would be the worst thing that could happen to the United States and the world. The truth is that a republican president could destroy the false "prosperity" we are living under fostered by the money-mad philosophy of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" democrats. A republican president could destroy the powerful political machine built into the biggest government payroll in history. We have been led to believe that only the democratic party is capable of operating our government and is practically indispensable.

The one thing that can prevent a "counter-revolution" in the United States is forgetfulness—forgetting the Pilgrims and pioneers and their reasons for seeking new homes, forgetting the Declaration of Independence and the blood shed in its behalf, forgetting the Constitution and the wisdom of the men who wrote the document, forgetting the two-party system under which we became the strongest nation in the world, forgetting to teach our children the principles which made us great, forgetting that the best way to promote our way of life is to live it, as an independent republic.

Comes the counter-revolution???

Lesson for March 23, 1952

THERE were no timetables and no maps on the ship that carried Paul from Troas to Samothrace and Neapolis. But even if there had been maps posted in the passengers' cabin, and even if they had had the words ASIA and EUROPE where they ought to have been, it is doubtful whether Paul or any of his party would have thought that as important as we think it is.

Dr. Foreman

For the Christian religion was now for the first time, so far as we know, leaping from the continent of its birth to the continent where it would have power for more than a thousand years. But Luke, writing Acts, does not even notice this fact. To educated people of that day, the name of the continent of "Europe" meant little or nothing. It was mostly populated by barbarians anyway.

The important world of that day was centered around the Mediterranean. Going into Macedonia from Troas was simply going from one province of the Roman Empire to another. Centuries went by before Christians realized what an epoch-making step this was.

She Was at Prayer-Meeting

IF there were no maps, there were no Hotel Red Books, either. There was no way of wiring ahead for accommodations. When Paul arrived in Philippi, a strange city, he did not look up the Travelers' Aid or the Chamber of Commerce; he hunted up the nearest prayer-meeting.

There he met and converted the woman named Lydia, the first European ever to become a Christian. She is in many ways a kind of sample of many and many a Christian after her. For one thing, she was a business woman, a seller of purple, that is, the purple dye which was so expensive and so much in demand in those days.

It is an interesting fact that while Christianity draws from every level of society, top to bottom, the first convert in all Europe was not a rich man, not a beggar, not a professional man, not a slave, but an independent, middle-class business woman.

Successful Salesman

CHRISTIANITY has always appealed to salesmen. They do not pretend to be the greatest people on earth, but they have always helped to make the world go 'round.

One of the most vigorous Christian organizations in America is the Gideons, made up entirely of traveling salesmen. It would be interesting to think what it is about the Christian religion that appeals especially to business people, but we must pass on.

Lydia, we note, must have been successful in her purple-dye business, since she had a home big enough to entertain the entire missionary party. Able, successful people, people who can go out against stiff competition and make good—the Christian church is well supplied with such persons. They have always been the backbone of the church.

Then Lydia was also a successful woman. Some religions, such as Islam, appeal especially to men, and leave women out of the picture except in so far as they can be useful to men.

Christ, on the contrary, ever since the earliest days in Galilee has made an appeal to both men and women. Indeed, one of the greatest triumphs of Christianity has been what it has done for womankind.

If woman's lot over the world is better than it was 3,000 years ago, if women would rather live, if they had their choice, in Christian lands than where Christianity has never taken strong foothold, it is because of the kind of religion that Christianity is.

Open Heart, Open Home

FURTHERMORE and most important, Lydia devoted what she had to the service of Christ and his cause. She set her house at the disposal of Paul and his missionary friends, and we can well imagine that Lydia had a large part in later years, in sending those parcels to Paul in prison at Rome. How much the church owes to hospitable women!

A good church is one into which the women who are members carry the same hospitality that is their habit at home, not only opening their homes to ministers, missionaries, Christian workers, but making the church itself a home-away-from-home for the lonely.

Life without a woman's touch would be a dreary thing; and so would a womanless church.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

LENGTHY "POLICING" IS COSTLY—The fighting in Korea has lasted longer than this country fought to win World War I, and the cost in lives and materiel has been far greater. During the first 18 months of the Korean "police action," there have been more American casualties than we suffered in the Pacific in the first three years of World War II. American casualties in Korea have passed the 107,000 mark.

The total number of Americans killed in Korea is more than our nation suffered in the American Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican War and the Spanish-American War combined.

TO END INFLUENCE-PEDDLING—A bill has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Williams (R. Del.) to prohibit former federal officials from acting as counsel, attorney or agent in governmental affairs connected with their former office of employment for a period of two years after leaving federal service. The measure also would prohibit former members of Congress from appearing as counsel, attorney or agent, for other than federal agencies, before Congressional committees, within two years after leaving office

EIGHT BILLIONS FOR FOREIGN AID—The big guns on foreign aid support have been called before a joint meeting of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees, the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discuss the President's $7.9 billion foreign aid appropriation. The first to testify before these hearings were Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Mutual Security Administrator Harriman and Defense Secretary Lovett.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT UP—January showed a decided increase in the number of civilians employed in your government. According to the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures, nearly 13,000 employees were hired by the government during January to bring the present total of federal workers to 2,517,778.

Federal employment outside continental United States in January totaled 2,343,167, an increase of 12,717 over December. Outside the U. S. 272 employees were added to the governmental payrolls bringing the total to 174,611 in all four corners of the world.

KNOW WHAT A BILLION IS?—To give you an idea of what a billion dollars amounts to, listen to this: If a firm had started in business in the year One, A.D., with a billion dollars in capital, and if the business had been mismanaged and lost $1,000 a day, by 1952 the firm would still have enough capital from the original billion to continue in business until the year 2939.

The nation's debt today is approximately $260 billions.

PHEASANT EGGS AVAILABLE

The Conservation Club this year will make an effort to place as many pheasant eggs as possible with those who would like to have one or more settings of eggs.

Past experience shows the best results are gained with bantam hens but good results are also obtained from other breeds.

Those who wish to take part in this method of helping to restock our birds are asked to call Jerry Haver, St. Joe 21F3, and the names will be listed for delivery.

$4 buys the Service... $1 goes for Taxes

Most people think that for all electricity does, it's pretty reasonably priced. As a matter of fact, electricity is an even bigger bargain than it seems!

Yes . . . for what looks like five dollars' worth of electricity on your bill, you're actually paying four.

The other dollar? You pay it, of course. But not for electricity. And that's important to remember. It goes for taxes . . . federal, state, and local.

For 1951, Indiana and Michigan Electric will pay in taxes about $8,622,000. And companies affiliated with us in the American Gas and Electric System likewise pay substantial taxes. Systemwide, these taxes average one dollar out of every five that customers pay for electric service.

Another important thing: this tax money goes back to the public, whence it came, in the form of schools, police and fire protection, roads, public health, national defense, and all the other things tax money helps to pay for.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

ONE good place where the Congress is certain to apply the economy searchlight is in our foreign aid program. Only about two weeks ago the House of Representatives passed a resolution directing the Secretary of State to disclose any agreements, commitments or understandings between the President and Prime Minister Churchill which "might require the shipment of additional members of the armed forces of the United States beyond the continental limits of the United States or involve United States forces in armed conflict on foreign soil."

The resolution was prompted by Mr. Churchill's address to Congress in which he asked "at least" a token force to represent the United States at the Suez Canal trouble zone.

In speaking on the resolution House members said the American people have a right to know whether any agreement had been made involving the movement of additional American troops to any other part of the world, and that secret agreements have no place in American diplomacy.

More and more members of Congress are becoming increasingly alarmed over foreign obligations we already have assumed. In four years, the Truman administration has directly committed the United States to the defense of forty-one foreign countries. Thus, the United States, with a total population of 155 million people, is bound by treaty or military occupation to defend a foreign population of more than 560 millions. In other words, American armed forces must not only defend continental United States and its territories, but also plan the defense of more than 45 per cent of the inhabited areas of the world outside the United States.

Think of it! Some fifty nations, representing approximately 730 million people which is nearly one-third of the world's population, look to the United States for their military defense. Britain, at the height of its empire, never entered upon such far-reaching commitments.

As a result of these agreements now in effect, two-thirds or more of the combat division strength of the United States Army is engaged in overseas combat or occupation. In addition we have military garrisons in ten additional nations in connection with air base operations, and two major divisions of the U. S. Navy, the 6th and 7th Fleet, are stationed in Mediterranean and Far Eastern waters.

In carrying out these commitments since the end of World War II, American taxpayers have poured $40 billion into foreign countries in economic aid.

This is why Congress wants to know whether there are any more secret agreements or commitments, and Congressmen are wondering about the new financial and military obligations to which we have been committed in the agreements reached at the Lisbon conference concluded only a few days ago.

Already the President has asked $8 billion for military aid to foreign countries and $2½ billion for economic aid. None knows how much more will be needed to carry out the Lisbon commitments.

Already the nation's financial belt is strained, under a deficit-spending program and a national debt which is beyond all hope of payment in our lifetime or the lifetime of our children.

Letters to the Editor

1319 W. Fourth
Tyler, Texas

Mar. 15, 1952

Dear Mr. Haberkorn and St. Joe Friends:

I have just returned from a delightful trip to West Texas and Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico, with my grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hercules, and my great-granddaughter, Kathy Ramona. We spent five days on the trip, which we made by automobile, with stop-overs in Snyder, Texas, and Hobbs, New Mexico.

Carlsbad Caverns are the most beautiful place I have ever seen. They are located in the Guadalupe Mountains and the area surrounding them has been made a National Park. They are located six miles out of White's City.

The trip through the caverns requires nearly four hours. As many as 7,224 have visited them in a single day. There were 80 in our party. We had lunch in the cavern lunch room, 750 feet below the ground.

The formations inside the caverns are undescribable. Electric lighting adds to their beauty. One of the prettiest is the "Old Rugged Cross." Others were the "Veiled Statue," "Crystal Springs," "Twin Domes," "Baby Hippo," etc.

The park area includes 75 square miles of mountains with deep caverns and scores of caves.

The caverns are entered from a mountain top, 4,200 feet above sea level. Buildings at the entrance are of native stone. A beautiful cactus garden fronts the buildings.

We rode the elevator up from the caverns. The two elevator cars there are the fastest in the world, except for those at Radio City in New York. The 750-foot ride is made in 59 seconds.

Enroute, we passed through Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Sweetwater and other cities. Snyder, where we stayed overnight, is an oil-boom town--nothing but sand, store-box houses, oil wells, and no trees or grass.

We are having lovely weather here in Tyler, Our spring bulbs are through blooming, and dogwood, azaleas, and several other flowers are at their peak. Roses are blooming again and lawns have already been mowed. We had a mild winter--I didn't even see a snow flake.

I plan to come home in about six weeks. Until then, my best wishes to everyone.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth Milliman

Dear Ted and readers of the News,

May I take this opportunity to thank everyone for their gifts, well wishes and also their expressions of sympathy in our sorrow and my illness.

Also I would like to thank the many people who have donated to the "blood bank." I owe my life to twelve people who have done so and plead with many of you who are physically able to do so to show your appreciation for that health and go down and donate your pint of blood.

While lying there in the hospital one morning waiting for about 4 hrs. for that blood to come, I couldn't help but think of the boys out on the battle field to whom that blood may never come. When that blood did come, lying there and feeling new life pouring into my veins, I made up my mind that if I ever left that hospital again there were 2 things I was certainly going to do; first, thank the wonderful people who were roused to go far enough to donate that blood instead of just intending to some day do so, and 2nd, try to inspire those who haven't gotten there yet to please do so soon. Think of the boys who haven't at hand all the resources we have in our local hospitals, who lie there in all the filth and make-shift hospitals; then feeling the blood draining from their veins and then finding out here isn't any blood at hand because not enough people cared enough to give back here at home midst all of our comforts.

I feel as though I have robbed that bank of those dozen pints and cheated some boys out there on those far-flung battle fields of blood that may otherwise have gone to them. So far only 6 pints of blood have been replaced and I feel the least that I can do in appreciation is get several dozen of you to go down to give yours. There is no charge for this blood, just 6 dollars for the cost of handling, and is there for anyone who may need it, and once they find out you may need it at one of our hospitals, it is right there outside your door. Won't you give yours?

Thanks!

Mrs. Albert Keller

HENRY J FEATURES NEW STYLING, ENGINEERING

A new model of the Henry J—the 1952 Corsair—is now on display at Keller's Garage in St. Joe.

Don Keller, local dealer for the Henry J, says that the new sedang introduce the first major appearance and mechanical changes in the low-priced Henry J since its introduction in September, 1950. The Henry J is still the lowest priced of any full-size American sedan.

In addition to complete new front and rear styling, the 1952 models incorporate mechanical changes which enhance the "penny-a-mile" fuel economy and high horsepower to weight ratings of both the high compression 68-HP four and 80-HP six cylinder engines.

A broad double-bar grille, with built-in contour parking lights and a bronze "K" medallion, highlights the front styling treatment. New splash shields and wrap-around bumpers are other features. There is also a new lance-type chrome and plastic hood ornament with "Corsair" appearing in chrome script on the fenders.

Tail lights have been moved from their former position in the body below the trunk lid to the crown of the rear fenders, and are visible from the side as well as from the rear of the car. The former tail lamp positions are ornamented with circle "K" medallions which provide removal receptacles for custom installation of back-up lights, an accessory item.

A new convenience feature of the '52 models is a "pop-up" trunk lid which eliminates the need for trunk cover. A turn of the key releases a spring latch which raises the lid to a convenient height for easy opening.

Interiors have been completely restyled with new door panel trim patterns and vinyl plastic fabrics in a selection of authentic Scotch tartan plaids. The upholstery is washable and stain resistant, yet luxurious in appearance and seating comfort. The interiors harmonize with six new body colors developed in cooperation with home furnishings stylists of House and Garden magazine

Around the Town

With the Editor

Boy, that warm weather last week sure felt good. It brought some green into the grass and I guess everyone thought spring was just around the corner. But here we are, back to the chills again. If there's anything I dislike more than winter, it's more winter.

Spring is just around the corner—but the corner is two blocks away.

The St. Mark's Brotherhood was led in song Tuesday night by Charles McCreery. If anyone happened to pass by and wonder if their ears were hearing things, I can assure them that they heard right. The men were picking out songs from a song sheet and yours truly was trying to accompany on the piano. It got to the point where the choice was small as I didn't know all of the songs from memory and there was no sheet music handy. So "Chuck" said, "Let's try 'White Christmas'! "

—We did.

There ought to be some fireworks at the minstrel show next week. Some of the boys are getting up their acts and just indicating that they will have something for the program. Evidently the element of surprise is their goal. They should reach it. The cast is even beginning to wonder what's going to happen in the show.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The March meeting of the Concord Home Economics Club was held at the home of Mrs. Harriett Johnson with Ruth Coburn, Inez Hadsell and Mary Kinsey as cohostesses. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick, and all repeated the club creed and song. The song of the month was read by Mary Krise. "It's Me O Lord" was sung by the club.

Twenty-seven members, two visitors and five children were present.

Mrs. Mildred Dunten had charge of devotions.

The secretary's report was read and approved, followed by a poultry report by Emma Trenary.

The project leaders, Mrs. Violet Kline and Clara Foltz, prepared and served a broiler meal. The club then voted to furnish money for a tree for the new roadside park.

Ruth Coburn gave a reading and Mrs. Sam Wyatt conducted a contest. A skit was given by Mrs. Laura Washler and Mrs. Borthwick.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

The April meeting will be with Mrs. Emma Trenary.

Senior Class Play This Week

"Peter, Beware," a comedy-romance, will be presented this Friday and Saturday evenings, March 28 and 29, at the St. Joe gym. The play is sponsored by the senior class of Concord Twp. High School.

Admission prices will be sixty cents for adult reserved seats, forty cents for adult bleacher seats and forty cents for students.

Starting time is 8 p.m.

The cast is as follows:

Melinda Holland, Archie's niece—Sue Walter.

Peter Barrett, Eunice's half-brother—Bob Richmond.

Eunice Rogers—Diana Lawson.

Archie Rogers—Billie Mickelson.

Clara Witt, a model—Delores Ross.

Owen Williams, her agent—Dale Smith.

Jane Monsell, a good sport—Ruth Trenary.

Sam Dabney, Peter's companion—Donald Walters.

Evelyn Bronson, an ex-deb—Carol Billow.

Timothy Weatherly, a cousin—Amos DeLong.

Flo, the maid—Sally Wade.

Miss Jones, a stenographer—Jeanette Osmun.

Voters Must Register By April 7

County clerk Ralph Bruce is reminding eligible DeKalb County voters that the last day to register to vote in the May 6 primary is April 7.

Persons who voted in either the primary or general election in 1950 and have not moved from their precinct are already registered.

The county clerk reported that in January of 1951 his office mailed cards to approximately 2,500 eligible voters who did not vote in either the primary or general elections in 1950. Approximately 400 of the cards were returned. If cards stated that the voter had not moved from the precinct, he was reinstated. Persons who did not answer and those who moved must call at the clerk's office to register.

Persons who moved from their precinct or did not answer the registration card were purged from the voting lists.

Voting requirements are residence in the state for six months, the township 60 days and the precinct 30 days.

All registrations must be made at the clerk's office. Deputy registration workers do not work this spring for the primary but will canvass this fall.

Poultry & Egg Show April 10

A Poultry Improvement Association luncheon and planning meeting was held for the poultry leaders of home economics clubs and Farm Bureau units at the Auburn Hotel Thursday. The luncheon was sponsored by the Farm Bureau Hatchery. Plans were discussed and completed for the poultry and egg show which will be held on April 10 at the court house assembly room.

Those attending were Mrs. Stella Goldsmith, Union; Mrs. Ada Farrington, Richland; Mrs. Ida Fuller, Wilmington; Mrs. Mary Lower, Union; Mrs. Marie Christlieb, Union; Mrs. A. L. Antonides, Smithfield; Mrs. Doris Kline, Wilmington; Mrs. Lavern Stuckey, Grant; Mrs. Ethel Davis, Jackson; Mrs. Ray Weilbaker, Smithfield; Mrs. Cynthia Sipe, Newville; Mrs. Katy Crow, Concord; Mrs. Edna Goldsmith, Spencer; Mrs. Florence Bloom, Butler; Mrs. Mary Noel, Butler; Mrs. Hazel Sutherland, Fairfield; Mrs. Jesse Schlatter, Jackson; Mrs. Mildred Bell, Troy; Mrs. John Chittenden, Keyser; Mrs. Wayne Wood, Franklin; Mrs. Mildred Jarrett, Concord; Mrs. Emma Trenary, Concord; Mrs. Kester Cather, Stafford; Mrs. Anna Haynes, Richland; Mary Lenore Moore, home demonstration agent; George F. Aker, assistant county agent; Ernest J. Lesiuk, county agricultural agent; and Wayne Detwiler, Purdue poultry department.

RURAL YOUTH

The DeKalb County Rural Youth honored the Seniors at its regular meeting March 18. Rev. Garrigus of the Auburn Church of Christ gave the devotions.

The door prize was won by Nancy Tustison. A musical program was presented by the Timmerman Sextette of Edgerton, O. Dr. Earl Frisbie showed a movie on Alaska. Free skating tickets were given to the St. Joe seniors for having the largest percentage of seniors present.

The evening was concluded with refreshments and recreation.

The DeKalb Rural Youth is preparing a radio broadcast to be presented March 29 over station WKJG at 11:30 a.m.

The Rural Youth Club will sponsor a roller skating party April 1 at the the Silvermoon Rink. Tickets may be obtained from Rural Youth members.

Seven members of the Rural Youth Club attended the Rural Youth Co-op School at Kimmel, Ind., March 20. The dinner was served with the compliments of the Farm Bureau.

Vance Lockhart gave an interesting talk on "25 Years of Progress —Now What." After a question and discussion period, the evening was concluded with recreation.

Minstrel To Be Given 2 Nights

Mrs. Robert Coburn, chairman of the finance committee of the Concord Twp. P.T.A., has announced that the minstrel show, sponsored by that organization and originally announced for presentation on Friday, April 4, will be presented also on Saturday, April 5.

Anticipating a good turn-out for the local-talent entertainment, the committee decided to present the show on two nights to give community residents a better chance to attend.

Tickets are now on sale for both nights from P.T.A. members. Admission prices will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for grade and high school students. Children under school age will be admitted free of charge.

Included in the fun-makers for the two nights' entertainment will be end-men Carl Perkins, Max Doub, Bill Staman, Francis Dulle, Calvin Lessing and Carl Hart. Several other entertainers will be on hand for solos and chorus numbers: Marcia Sible, Frieda Guilford, Bernice Sechler, DuWayne Goings, Bill Sible, Pauline Doub, Harold Noragon, Walter Heyman, Bill Longerbone, Red Strombeck, Jean Perkins, Esther Longerbone, Connie Stewart, Harvey Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Bill LaRue, Martha Fisher, Charles McCreery, Walter Morr, Roy Koch, Bill Beebe, Mutt Coburn, Hubert Hudson, Katy Crow, Ann Beebe, Carl Zimmerman (director) and Ted Haberkorn (pianist).

There will also be tap dance specialties on the program.

Missionary Receives Appliance From Lutheran Churches

The sale of an electric refrigerator with an unique destination was made in Butler recently.

Dr. Virgil E. Zigler, a Lutheran missionary to India, and his wife selected the new refrigerator, stating that they have had one in India of the same make for the past ten years and wanted their new refrigerator manufactured by the same company.

Dr. Zigler, a native of Bryan, Ohio, has been in India for 23 years and is at present superintendent of the Lutheran Hospital at Rajahmundry, East Godvari District, Madras, India.

Mrs. Zigler, who is head of the nursing staff of the hospital, is the former Jane Mumaw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mumaw of Harlan, where the Zigler have been visiting. Dr. Mumaw is a former Lutheran pastor of St. Joe and Spencerville and is well known in Butler.

The new refrigerator is a gift of the Lutheran churches in this area to Dr. and Mrs. Zigler who will leave July first to resume their work in India.

BACH'S 'PASSION' TO BE PRESENTED MARCH 30

Music lovers of this community are cordially invited to attend the fifth annual performance of Johann Sebastian Bach's immortal oratorio "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew" which will be presented Passion Sunday, March 30, in St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Fort Wayne. The performance will start at 7:30 p.m.

Featuring the 100-voice Fort Wayne Lutheran Choral Society, under the direction of George Gerhard Arkebauer, the performance will also be highlighted by the appearance of four prominent young American soloists, and the Concordia all-girl choir of nearly 100 voices.

The performance is open to the general public without charge. A free-will offering will be taken to help defray expenses.

Candidates File Before Deadline

Several more declarations have been filed in the clerk's office at Auburn by those who will seek nominations in the May 6 primary.

They include:

REPUBLICAN

Frank Schuster, Waterloo, county commissioner, North district.

Perry DePew, Garrett, committeeman, Keyser No. 10 precinct.

John Davis, Garrett, precinct committeeman, Keyser No. 7.

Mrs. Evelyn Shafer, Auburn, precinct committeewoman, Wilmington No. 4.

Carload Indiana Hybrid For CROP

The generous response of Hoosier seed corn producrs has enabled the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) to send a carload of Indiana hybrid seed corn to the mountainous areas of Greece for spring planting.

Ralph Maggart of Delphi, who headed this project, says that the seed corn (Indiana 200 & 400 series) will double the yield for Greek farmers. Maggart became interested in the project while visiting Greece.

Commenting on the new shipments, John D. Metzler of Nappanee, national CROP director, reports that the seed corn sent experimentally last year produced an increased yield of 16 bushels per acre on the 1,600 acres planted.

This is the first shipment under the new Indiana CROP program. CROP nationally is now sponsored by Church World Service, a department of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America. Indiana CROP will be operated as a department of the Indiana Council of Churches.

Richard J. Fraser, Lafayette, continues as state CROP director, joining the staff of the Indiana Council of Churches, April 1, according to an announcement by Dr. R. L. Holland, general secretary of the Council.

Indiana farmers contributed $68,500 worth of farm commodities to the 1951 CROP appeal, Fraser said. This brings to total donated in the state since the program's inception in 1948 to $615,000.

Since 1948 CROP has been sponsored by three church agencies, Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service (representing 29 Protestant denominations), and Lutheran World Relief. They agreed to terminate their joint sponsorship of CROP on February 29, 1952. The other agencies recognized the continuing need and each will seek to meet it through its own channels.

CULTURE CLUB

Mrs. Lynn Fisher was hostess to the Culture Club Wednesday night, March 12.

Mrs. Meri Furnish, vice-president, took charge of the meeting in the absence of the president who had sickness in her home.

The collect was read in unison.

Mrs. Hulda Ressoner conducted the devotions. Mrs. Hearsel Shockley led the lesson on politics by Carrie Chapman Catt.

Mrs. John Mason presented the special work on the biography of Benjamin Harrison.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Furnish, served a tasty lunch.

Mrs. Albert Wade will entertain the March meeting.

Few Copies Of 'Spencerville History' Still Available

Dr. W. W. Carey of Fort Wayne, who has compiled a volume entitled "Spencerville History," has announced that a few copies are still available for those who would like a permanent record of the Spencerville community.

Dr. Carey said that the full order of the book has been sold, but the publisher has twenty-four extra copies left. Anyone wishing to obtain a copy should write Mrs. Golden High at Spencerville or Dr. Carey at 2525 S. Calhoun, Fort Wayne, Ind. The price is $3.00 plus ten cents for postage.

After these few copies are sold, there will be no more available.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Pigs Will Be Pigs

'Isolationism' Or 'Self-Preservationism'?

Taking care of one's self is not a sin—it is a necessity. It is the law of self-preservation. Looking out for others is a desirable attribute only to the extent that both parties involved experience mutual advancement. That may seem selfish and un-Christianlike. Perhaps it is. But the sacrifices made by mankind have not been made in the face of extinction of a philosophy, idea or belief. There have always been others to carry on. Today we protect animals, birds and plants by supporting sanctuaries and controlling the destruction of their numbers. We see to it that there are others to "carry on" their existence.

Men in the past have died for ideals but not in the face of extinction of those ideals, not without the knowledge that there would be others to take their places and carry on the propagation of their ideals. Self-preservation in this instance was figurative rather than literal—the individual may have been destroyed but his ideal was not.

History has recorded the names of men who have destroyed themselves, actually, because they would not abandon the thinking which resulted from exercising a free mind. Some of them died for good purposes, others not. The only difference was in the channel their thinking followed, the goals which they set out to reach—their idea on what was desirable. Unfortunately, a warped mind has its own conception of desirable conditions and is just as fervent in attaining them as a healthy mind, perhaps even more so.

It is difficult in times contemporary with changing ideas to decide whether or not people are thinking in the right channel. Americans are experiencing a conflict today between the idea of taking care of one's self first—which, we believe, was one of the primary purposes of our nation's founding—and looking out for others. But—in looking out for others as we have in the past several years, we have not experienced mutual advancement with those we were attempting to assist. Our zealous endeavor to set the world on its feet has been a case of biting off more than we can chew. In trying to help others—too many others—we have greatly weakened ourselves.

Some people will call such criticism of our present endeavors "isolationist." That is a wicked term—"isolationist." It is greatly misused today. To isolate is to "cut off from" or "separate from." We do not advocate a separation nor do we believe that it is possible to shut ourselves out from the remainder of the world. But it is possible and necessary to preserve and in a sense regain the idea of taking care of ourselves first. That includes NOT toying with foreign political ideologies and NOT expending such vast sums of money for foreign aid in such short periods of time, as we now are doing. We must remember that America has had the financial strength to carry the tottering nations of the world only because it has had the best economic system yet devised. It now faces extinction because we have not taken care of ourselves first, have for some reason become dissatisfied with our country.

It sounds almost as if a Christian had become dissatisfied with heaven.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1-3; 16: 6-10; 27:27; 28:1-10; Colossians 4:14; II Timothy 4:11.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 4:32-41.

Doctor's Hobby

Lesson for March 30, 1952

DOCTOR Luke is a man to whom we are all indebted. Without him, we in the church would have lost some of our finest hymns, the "Magnificat" and the "Nunc Dimittis;" without him we might never have heard of the story of that first Christmas night when the shepherds watched and the angels sang. He was the only Gospel writer who remembered to tell us those matchless parables, the Lost Sheep and the Prodigal Son, and many another.

Dr. Foreman

It is only from him that we know of Jesus' prayer at Calvary,—"Father, forgive them; they know not what they do." Furthermore, it is only Luke who conceived and wrote the book of Acts.

Some Hobbies Are Famous

THE interesting thing is that Dr. Luke was not a professional writer. He was a professional physician. All the writing he did was what we today might even call a hobby; that is, he got no money for it so far as we know, he just wrote because he loved to write.

Very likely he was a good doctor; he is called the "beloved physician," and we hope that enough people who loved him also paid their bills promptly so that he could make his living. But it was not the doctoring that endeared him to the church of Christ.

It was what he did in his spare time, it was his missionary work and his writing, it is the Gospel of Luke and the book of Acts that are his main claim to fame.

Luke is not the first man nor the last to accomplish more by a "sideline" than by his main job. We remember David in the Old Testament, whose rise to power began not with his sheep-herding, which no doubt he did to perfection, but with his music, which his father may well have thought a waste of time. We remember Marcus Aurelius the emperor not for his military campaigns, which were masterly, but for the "meditations" he wrote in snatches of spare time on those campaigns. We remember the Apostle Paul not for the churches he founded (most of which folded) but for the dozen or so letters he managed to squeeze into his busy evenings.

Other Doctors

LUKE was not the last Christian doctor who has found in what, for some, might be a "side-line" his finest means of service and best source of happiness. Dr. Howard Kelly of Baltimore was a cancer specialist of no small fame; but he was even better known as a scientist who not only saw no conflict between science and religion, but who brought his skill and his science to the service of Christ.

There was another doctor, a surgeon in a midwestern city, not many years ago, who was ready to retire. He had enough to live on in comfort, and the life of a successful surgeon in a great city is a wearing one. But instead of retiring, he went out to China, and in a remote province he spent his "retiring" years at his own expense, hardly knowing a word of Chinese, but having the time of his life and rendering himself if possible more nearly indispensable out there than he had ever been back in the states.

Again there was the surgeon Alexis Carrel, who with another scientist first succeeded in keeping living tissue (a chicken's heart) alive for years beyond the time when it "should have" died,—a surgeon who also believed in the power of prayer and whose book "Man the Unknown" is valuable as combining the scientific and the Christian view of man.

Or there was Dr. I. J. Archer of Chicago and North Carolina, who operated two sanitariums more easily than some doctors can run one office, and yet who found his life's deepest satisfactions in the Sunday school class he taught for years.

Life Is More Than Making a Living

MANY others besides doctors have made the same discovery. What is a "hobby," after all? It can be only an elaborate twiddling of the thumbs, something to "kill time"—horrible thought! It can be something done merely to relieve nervous pressure. It can be something not really worth doing.

But what Dr. Luke found, countless others, including some readers of these lines, have also found: that even when we have to spend most of our time making a living, we can dedicate our "spare" time, under God, to making life.

HINTS ON HEALTH

by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

MEASLES

MEASLES is practically universal. Ninety-five out of every hundred adults living in cities, and a slightly lower percentage of rural residents, have had the disease. Measles is found in all parts of the world, in every climate, race, nationality and at every economic and social level.

All persons are considered susceptible until they have had measles, although most babies born of mothers who have had the disease are immune for the first few months of life.

Owing to uniform susceptibility, measles is extremely communicable. In cities, over half the cases occur in children under five years of age. Permanent immunity usually follows recovery from the first attack of measles.

The characteristics of measles include fever, catarrhal inflammation of eyes, nose, and throat, congestion of the mucous membranes of the nose and mouth, and later eruption on the skin which spreads to all parts of the body. These symptoms appear about 10 days after exposure to the disease and the rash breaks out about 14 days after exposure.

Measles renders the patient especially susceptible to secondary infections such as laryngitis, bronchopneumonia, and encephalitis.

Preventive measures include protecting young children from exposure to others who have fever and acute catarrhal symptoms, and immunization of infants and children under three years of age.

There is no effective drug for measles after the disease has developed, but rest in bed, adequate food and fluids, and protection of the eyes are beneficial. In cases involved with complications, medical supervision is important.

In Indiana three times as many cases have been reported in 1952 as compared to the same period in 1951.

CHICKEN SUPPER SATURDAY AT MAGGINIS SCHOOL

A chicken supper will be served Saturday evening, March 29, by the Friendship Grange at the Maggins School. Serving starts at 5 o'clock and will continue until 7:30 p.m.

Meals will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children under ten years of age. The public is invited to attend.

The school is located two miles north of Jackson Center.

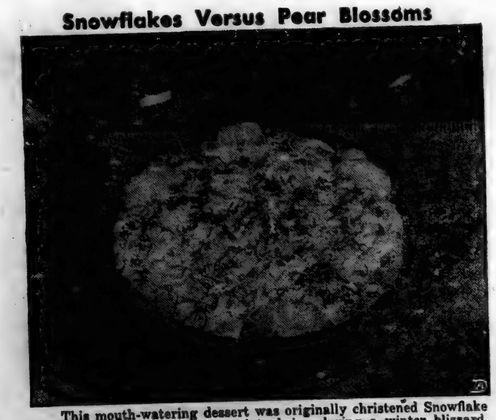
Snowflakes Versus Pear Blossoms



This mouth-watering dessert was originally christened Snowflake Pudding—not because it came into being during a winter blizzard, but because everything about it suggests the light airiness of snowflakes. It consists of a creamy custardy mixture with fluffy beaten egg whites folded in, lots of snowy-white lacy coconut, and luscious juicy pears—all combined in a wonderfully light and delicious dessert to serve with heavy winter meals.

But who wants to think of heavy winter meals! Our thoughts have turned to spring even if, for some of us, the landscape and the thermometer still argue that spring is far behind. So let's conjure up visions of blooming fruit trees and balmy days; and let's re-christen Snowflake Pudding and bring spring to the table with PEAR BLOSSOM DESSERT. A name and a dish to give the spirit a lift.

PEAR BLOSSOM DESSERT

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1¾ cups milk
⅓ cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1½ cups shredded coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups well-drained-canned pears

Combine egg yolks and milk in top of double boiler. Add sugar and salt and cook over hot water until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Combine gelatine and ¼ cup cold water in mixing bowl; mix well. Add hot egg-milk mixture and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in egg whites, 1 cup coconut, and vanilla. Place pear halves in bottom and around sides of shallow glass serving dish. Turn gelatine mixture over fruit and sprinkle with remaining coconut. Chill until firm.

Makes 8 servings.

STATE 4-H PROGRAMS 15 YEARS 'OLD'

Eight national 4-H awards programs, all more than 15 years "old," which have been important factors contributing to the widespread popularity of 4-H club work, are being conducted in this state for 1952.

The programs, their respective anniversaries and donors are: Girls' Record, 30th, Monthgomery Ward; Canning, 24th, Mrs. Ruth Kerr; Meat Animal, 23rd, Thos. E. Wilson; Food Preparation, 18th, Kelvinator; Farm and Home Electric, 17th, Westinghouse; Leadership, 16th, Edward Foss Wilson, Dairy Achievement, 16th, Lederle Laboratories; and Beautification of Home Grounds, 15th, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen.

Total enrollment in the eight programs exceeded 2,661,000 in 1950, indicating that many 4-H'ers enrolled in several of the programs.

Incentives for outstanding records of achievement in the programs are honor medals for county winners, educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for State or Sectional winners, and $300 college scholarships for national champions.

County extension agents will furnish complete information on any of these programs, all of which are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The 1952 Indianapolis Home Show will be held in that city April 18 through 27. It will be held at the Manufacturers' Building of the Indiana State Fair grounds.

The St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club entertained the basketball teams of the two towns Monday evening at the Lutheran Church in Spencerville. Special guest speaker for the evening was Herb Banet, coach of Central High in Fort Wayne, who gave interesting sidelights on coaching and showed movies of a Central-North Side game of this past season.

The Brotherhood of the Lutheran churches met Tuesday evening in the basement of the church in St. Joe. Regular meeting night of the organization was changed to the last Thursday of every month.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

IN A LITTLE MORE than seven weeks, a year will have passed since an American newspaper correspondent — a native of Indiana — was imprisoned by a satellite nation on trumped up charges of espionage.

For almost a year, relatives and former associates of William N. Oatis, in Marion, Indiana, have had no word from or about this Associated Press correspondent who was sentenced to and is serving a 10-year sentence on charges of being a spy in Russian satellite countries.

For almost a year, our State Department and President Truman have vacilated and used "silk glove" diplomacy as a means of rescuing this American national.

Since April 23, 1951, the day of Bill Oatis's arrest, despite the introduction of 15 resolutions in Congress; despite demands by newspaper correspondents and publishers; despite the nation-wide wave of anger on the part of the American people, our State Department has failed to take any action working toward the liberation of this young man who is presumably serving 10 years at hard labor in Czechoslovakia because he was carrying out his duties as a newspaper correspondent.

I am proud I was one of the first in the Congress to denounce this outrageous action against an American national. July 7, 1951, three days after Mr. Oatis was convicted and sentenced in a Czech Kangaroo Court, I demanded in the United States Senate:

"It is time to tell the government of Czechoslovakia to release Mr. Oatis or we will send an air mission to Prague and take him. We know what bullies do when their bluff is called."

Invoke Sanctions

I was proud to cooperate with Representative John V. Beamer of the Fifth District of Indiana, in the passage of a resolution introduced by the Congressman, calling upon the State Department to "employ all available diplomatic means to secure the release of William N. Oatis" and "economic sanctions be imposed to suspend all importation from Czechoslovakia."

Since that time, as far as knowledge of the members of Congress and the American people is concerned, only one step has been taken by the State Department in the Oatis case. Even that step is a serious indictment of the State Department for its failure to take immediate and positive action in Mr. Oatis's behalf. Instead of following the precedent set by Ambassador Charles Pinckney when Tripolitan bandits were seizing American vessels and seamen, who said, "Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute," and of President Theodore Roosevelt who demanded, when the bandit Raisuli seized an American who was not even born in this country:

"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead," the State Department has gently tapped Czechoslovakia on the wrist without even a request for the liberation of this Hoosier-born American.

The State Department's tap on the wrist consisted of a meeting in September in Switzerland, of representatives of member nations of the General Agreement on Trades and Tariffs, where the other nations gave permission for the United States to cancel trade agreements with Czechoslovakia.

Dollar Diplomacy

In other words, the life of Hoosier Bill Oatis is being weighed with trade balances in dollar diplomacy.

The William Oatis case is not political. This is evidenced by the introduction, February 18, 1952, by Senator Herbert O'Conor (D., Md.) of a resolution demanding the breaking off of American diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia. Despite the urgency and the seriousness of the Oatis case members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to which the resolution was referred have failed to give even preliminary consideration to the O'Conor resolution, although Senator O'Conor declared when he introduced the resolution:

"It is apparent that attempts (to gain Oatis's release) through diplomatic channels will be futile."

I consider it significant, even ominous, that although $120,000 was paid in ransom to satellite Hungary for release of four American flyers and although prolonged efforts to bring about the release of Robert Vogeler were successful, not one word has emanated from official sources as to what is being done to maintain respect for the American flag in Czechoslovakia.

Can significance be attached to the fact Mrs. Oatis is strangely silent? Is it significant every time action is demanded by members of Congress, that a hush-hush request is made by the State Department? Has the American government become so impotent it cannot protect an American national wherever he might be? Is there any reason for maintaining Air and Ground Forces in Europe if their combined efforts could not be used to effect Mr. Oatis's release?

Theodore Roosevelt once said, "speak softly but carry a big stick."

The time has come now for America to quit talking and use a big stick and bring Bill Oatis back home.

NEW 1952 Chevrolet

Lowest priced in its field! This beautiful new Chevrolet Bel Air—like many Chevrolet models—lists for less than any comparable model in its field. (Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

CENTERPOISE POWER — Vibration and power impulses are "screened out" as engine is centered and rubber-cushioned between new high-side mountings.

LARGEST BRAKES — Big 11-inch brake drums apply more leverage for more stopping power. Stops are smoother, safer, with less effort.

WIDEST COLOR CHOICE — 26 rich new colors and two-tone combinations . . . widest choice in Chevrolet's field. New De Luxe interiors are color-matched.

No other low-priced car offers these fine features!

BODY BY FISHER — Fisher Body sets the standard—for styling, for craftsmanship, for comfort! Fisher Unisteel construction is extra strong and sturdy.

UNITIZED KNEE-ACTION RIDE — Chevrolet's famous Knee-Action ride is now even softer, smoother. New shock absorbers give even finer ride control.

WIDEST TREAD — Chevrolet measures 58¾ inches between centers of rear wheels—a broader base to give you more stability, less sway!

4-WAY ENGINE LUBRICATION — Chevrolet's exclusive engine lubricating system supplies exactly the right kind and amount of lubrication to each moving part.

CAST IRON ALLOY PISTONS — Pistons are of same material as the cylinder block—expand and contract at the same rate. Reduces wear, saves oil!

SAFETY PLATE GLASS ALL AROUND — Chevrolet alone in its field gives you safety plate glass in windshield and all windows for a clearer, truer all-round view.

POWERGLIDE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION — Powerglide is simpler with fewer parts to wear. It's smoother—no complicated intermediate gears. (Optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.)

MOST POWERFUL VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE — Teamed with Powerglide is the most powerful valve-in-head engine in Chevrolet's field and an outstandingly fine performer in any field!

2-Z-EYE SAFETY PLATE GLASS — This superior tinted glass cuts down glare and heat from sun, glare from sky, show and oncoming headlights. (Optional at extra cost.)

Letters to the Editor

Spencerville, Ind.

Dear Editor:

There are a lot of boys from St. Joe and Spencerville that are in service now. Many of these boys are only hearing from their families and not from their friends. The reason is that many of their friends do not have these boys addresses. So I am suggesting that it would be nice if you would publish their names and addresses once a month. I have a few of these addresses that I will list below. They also enjoy boxes of food sent to them. Last week our family made up 14 boxes, wrote letters and sent Easter greetings. It know they will appreciate it

With the Editor

I really pulled a fox paw—that's French for "faux paux"—last week. The write-up about the minstrel show had everybody in except the king-pin himself—the interlocutor. Mr. D. B. Ridgway shouldn't have been forgotten.

John Crothers reports a deer on his mail route—easy Mrs. Crothers, that "deer" is spelled correctly. He saw one of the white-tailed variety while making the rounds of his route last week. It was seen east of town.

See, you don't have to go clear up to Michigan or Canada to get some hunting stories. We've got the material right here at home.

Foster Gee made an unusual request last week. He wanted some card board large enough to cover a card table. I couldn't help wondering what for so I asked.

"The Mrs. has a 1000-piece cross word puzzle and she wants something to put it on."

When she does something, she does it BIG.

The lady driving the "side-saddle" tractor into Spencerville Monday morning was Mrs. Robert Witt. She pulled up in front of Fisher's Market and had a little trouble figuring out how to shut the thing off. After experimenting with a few wires—and jumping when she contacted the wrong ones—she finally found the right one.

Jerry Baker is enjoying a couple of weeks at home before returning to the Marines in California. He was relating some of his experiences Thursday. One was about the cute trick he met while swimming—he taught her how to dive, incidently. The following week she invited him to her home for dinner.

But Jerry turned the invite down.

"I didn't want to get mixed up with the Colonel's daughter.—She was just the right age, too," he sez.

—A Marine saying "no" to a girl—THAT I gotta hear!

Burglary At Spencerville

Burglars broke into a bulk station at Spencerville some time over the week-end, the sheriff's office reported Monday, but the owner was unable to determine how much merchandise was taken on preliminary investigation.

The bulk station is located at the west edge of Spencerville and is owned and operated by Maurice Hollabaugh. The owner reported that the burglary was discovered late Saturday by an employee who found a window open on the south side of the storage building. Hollabaugh was out of town for the week-end and did not learn of the break-in until his return.

Police said the burglary occurred late Friday night or Saturday morning. A window was forced open to gain entry after attempts were made to force another window and a door. An adjoining office building was not entered.

Oil, grease and other supplies were stored in the storage building.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

Mrs. Carl Carpenter was hostess for the Ladies Literary Club on March 26.

The president called the meeting to order and Mrs. Calvin Lessing read the collect.

Mrs. Carlos Church, lesson leader for the evening, furnished many suggestions in her lesson on "Home Nursing and First Aid." She also read an article on anthrax.

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Henry Lung.

Mrs. Carpenter gave the critic's report and Mrs. Allen Haller gave a parliamentary review.

The secretary's report was read and approved. Twenty members answered roll call.

After the business session, meeting was adjourned. The last meeting of the fiscal year will be with Mrs. Fred Hart on April 9.

Dancers, Quartets Feature At Minstrel

Lots of special entertainment will be presented Friday and Saturday nights in St. Joe when the P.T.A. Minstrel Show will be given at the gym in St. Joe.

In addition to the fun-making by the end-men and chorus members and the solos by some of the local citizenry, there will be extra added entertainment by Frank Daugherty and his pupils of Hicksville who will give their tap dance interpretations. Another dance specialty will be given by Carl "Misery" Perkins.

On both nights barber shop harmony will fill the air with the Low-Down Harmony 4 of Butler performing on Friday and the Colonial Four of Fort Wayne on Saturday evening.

Approximately thirty local P.T.A. parents and offspring are participating in the community show. Carl Zimmerman, school band director, has been rehearsing the cast and Derwood Ridgway, who will serve as interlocutor, has gotten the end-men cued for their punch-lines.

Tickets are available from P. T. A. members. Several business establishments also have tickets on sale for either night. Admission prices are fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for school students. Children under school age will be admitted free of charge.

The dates, again, for the show are Friday and Saturday, April 4 and 5. Starting time is 8 p.m.

April Jury Drawn

The jury drawing for the long April term of the DeKalb Circuit Court in Auburn was made Monday morning by the county jury commissioners in the office of County Clerk Ralph W. Bruce.

The February session of court now in session ends April 5. The April term, longest of the year, starts the following Monday, April 7. The April term will extend until August 31.

During the April term, however, the circuit court will recess about July 15 for summer vacation. The court will be in recess until the start of the September term, Monday, September 1.

Following is the list of six grand jurors, twelve petit jurors and thirty talesmen selected for jury duty for the April term.

News To Present 'World Builders' Photos

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our nation and community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders."

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures---they must all be of uniform size and quality---we have again invited the Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally-known children's photographers, to take these special pictures for us.

The News has dealt with Woltz Studios on several previous occasions and has found them to be completely trustworthy and reliable.

An expert child photographer from the studio will be here Monday, April 14, the special studio will be set up at the Legion Home in St. Joe and will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. There is no age limit. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents need not be subscribers nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Those who do want additional prints may obtain them by arrangements with the studio represenative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

The News simply wants pictures of all the youngsters. The success of this feature depends upon your cooperation. You will be mighty glad afterwards if you did and sorry if you failed to allow your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun, and both Mother and Dad--and Grandpa and Grandma, too--will be very proud to see their pictures in print later. So be sure to bring the kids to the Legion Home on Monday, April 14, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

This will be the third year of this News feature.

Polio Collection Total Drops

Mrs. Dorothy Shugart of Auburn, DeKalb County chairman of the Infantile Paralysis drive for this year, reported last week that a total of $5,816.46 was collected in the county during the drive for funds this year. The 1952 total was about $1,500 less than was raised during the same campaign last year.

A report submitted by the county treasurer of the campaign, Lloyd Hoodelmeir, shows the following results:

St. Joe—Charles McCreery, chairman, $119.43.

Spencerville — Roger Hess, chairman, $68.88.

Auburn—H. L. Vallieu, chairman, $2,505.331.

Garrett—Mrs. George Mountz, chairman, $1,594.52.

Butler—C. E. Jenkins, chairman, $711.22.

Waterloo—Charles Overmeyer, chairman, $629.30.

Mrs. Albert Wade, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Culbertson, entertained the Culture Club Wednesday night March 26. Mrs. Russell Hoffer gave the devotion.

Mrs. Dewey White led the lesson on radio.

Special work on beauty culture was presented by Mrs. Hoffer. An interesting discussion followed and she answered the many questions asked her.

A tasty lunch was passed.

The April 9 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lester Anthony.

Combined Good Friday Service At St. Joe

Community services will be held Good Friday at the St. Joe Church of Christ from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

The pastors of the community will cooperate in this service each having approximately one-half hour with the four main topics:

The Upper Room—Rev. Shenault.

In the Garden—Rev. Gilford.

The Trial—Rev. Baker.

Crucifiction—Rev. Swenson.

Other pastors of the community assisting in these services are Rev. Dooty, Rev. Knisel, Rev. Hamilton and Rev. Foust.

Mrs. Ruth Butler Receives Honor

Mrs. Ruth Butler, instructor at the Concord Twp. Schools, has received the distinction of acceptance by recommendation into the Delta Kappa Gamma National Honor Soicety for Women Educators.

Mrs. Butler and twenty-five other new members were honored at a dinner Saturday at Potowatomie Inn at Lake James.

A new division has been formed to include DeKalb, Steuben, LaGrange and Noble counties. The new Indiana division will be recognized as Alpha Xi.

Legion Working For Queen Crown

England no longer has the corner on Queens!

So says the Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post of St. Joe.

St. Joe has a queen of its own, Miss Delores Ross. She has been entered in a statewide membership contest by the local Legionnaires. They are busy enrolling members for the American Legion anywhere in their district. Approximately 100 Indiana girls are entered in the eleven districts and a queen will be selected from each district by May 15. A state queen will be picked at the 1952 Department Convention in Fort Wayne in July. There are jackpots for district queens and the state queen will receive a dazzling array of prizes, including a deluxe convertible automobile.

Mr. & Mrs. Harvey Kimes To Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kimes of Spencerville will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 6, with a family dinner at the home of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Donald Kimes, of Fort Wayne.

They were married April 8, 1902, at the home of Mrs. Kimes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Fales, at Spencerville by Rev. W. H. Shrock, pastor of the Lutheran Church of which they are members.

They are the parents of two sons, Walter, living near Leo and Donald, deceased. They have five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Open house will be held at their home in Spencerville on Sunday, April 6, from 2 until 5 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited.

NUISANCE CLUB TO HAVE SCRAP METAL AND PAPER DRIVE

The Nuisance Club is having a paper and scrap metal drive. The club would like to have the townspeople save their morning and evening papers and magazines.

Collection will be made around the fifth of April.

THE AMERICAN WAY

When Will The Bureaucrats Relax The Policy Of SPEND And TAX?

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

RECOMMEND BUDGET CUT—A $10 billion reduction in the $85 billion budget for fiscal 1953 has been recommended by the Joint Economic Committee in a report to Congress. The Committee also recommended against a general tax increase and said there is "no possibility" that Congress will grant the President's request for a $5 billion tax increase.

Five Republican members of the Committee said "we are convinced that the cuts can and must be made if we are to maintain our basic economic strength." The majority members declared it would be "unrealistic" to expect Congress to approve the budget cut.

GOVERNMENT PRESS AGENTS—Did you know that the Government has 2,625 full-time press agents? Moreover, there are another 1,007 employes spreading government propaganda on a part-time basis. This service will cost the taxpayers this year $17,134,390, according to information furnished the House Appropriations Committee by the Budget Bureau. The Department of Agriculture has 176 press agents, the Mutual Security Agency 258, the Economic Stabilization Agency 419 and the Defense Department 2,098, to name a few of the agencies and their publicity employees.

RECOGNIZE MARINES—Legislation is under consideration which would set the minimum strength of the Marine Corps at 400,000 and make the Commandant of the Marines a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

CONGRESS SPEEDS ACTOIN—For the first time in several years Congressional action on budget appropriations will be out of the way before mid-summer. The Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee has announced that the House will complete action on all fiscal 1953 appropriations, except foreign aid, before an Easter recess begins April 10.

SOIL CONSERVATION — The Senate has approved and sent to the House a bill extending until December 31, 1954, the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture to develop soil conservation programs and make direct payments to farmers.

INTEREST COST MOUNTS—Starting with the new fiscal year, July 1, 1952, the Treasury Department estimates that the interest on the national debt alone will cost our taxpayers $6,150,000,000 per year. Twenty-five years ago, the cost of all government annually was only $3 billions.

CHINESE PROVERB—An old Chinese proverb says: "The more you sweat in peace, the less you bleed in war."

Fellowship Supreme

Lesson for April 6, 1952

THE church of the twentieth century is taking a beating. We are living in one of the dark eras when the Christian church in large parts of the world is on the retreat. One - sixth of the earth's surface, that used to be called "Christian," is now dominated by anti-religious powers.

Dr. Foreman

There were once 8,000 missionaries in China where now there are 300, and the number is growing fewer still. An inquiring minister in Georgia recently asked a number of American church leaders whether they thought we can call the United States a "Christian" nation. Most of them said No, and most of them thought that America is at present slipping farther away from Christ.

What Did the Early Church Have That We Haven't?

NOW the question is: What did the early church have that we don't have? Why did they succeed where we have not been succeeding?

One quality which was strong in the early church, weak today, is fellowship. Let us first see what the New Testament idea of fellowship is not. It is not organization. It was not any one Big Man or Big Church or any pattern of organization that made the early church "click." Also, it was not simple nearness.

For many persons today, "belonging to the same church" with another person means no more than that on occasional Sundays they find themselves sitting within a few yards of each other. They do not know each other's names, perhaps, much less take any personal interest in each other's affairs.

Furthermore, the New Testament does not hold up subscription to a creed as the main feature of fellowship. All mathematics teachers believe in the truth of algebra and geometry, but that does not make a fellowship out of mathematics teachers. So you can have several hundred or several thousand people repeating the same Creed without ever being a fellowship or even knowing what the word means.

No Tinker-Toy Business

ONE thing that fellowship did mean, when it meant something, Jesus made very plain. It is like the life of a growing vine. You cannot think of the branches without the vine, nor of the vine without the branches.

Carrying on the same idea, Paul (I Cor. 12) speaks of the church as the "body" of Christ. Christian fellowship is first of all an intimate growing-in to the life of Christ, sharing the same life with him.

You can make a tinker-toy man with two arms or no arms, you can pull the legs and arms out and stick them in again as you like, because the tinker-toy man is not real, it is only blocks and sticks. But you cannot stick branches in and pull them out of a vine like that; much less pull legs and arms out of a living body.

If the church today is weak, it is because too many individual "members" are not members of Christ. They belong to the church, statistically speaking; but they do not belong to Christ.

Belonging to One Another

ANOTHER thing that fellowship means, grows out of this first thing. The New Testament idea—the New Testament fact—is that all Christians are parts of one another, just as all parts of a living thing belong to one another.

It is quite true that not every one in the church then understood this, or Jesus and Paul would not have had to speak and write as they did. But the church at large did understand it. Every church then was a kind of family, indeed often a much better family than that into which its members had first been born.

Although each Christian was himself, indeed a new self ("If any man is in Christ, he is a new creation," Paul said), yet in the church every one belonged to every one else, just as in a good family. The good of one was the happiness of all; the sorrow and trouble of one was the trouble of all; the temptation of one gave the others an opportunity to fight for his rescue.

The church, when it IS the church, is the fellowship supreme, the united life, the life of God shared by those who love him and one another.

Perhaps the best thing the Christian church today could do, instead of getting more "members" who are not members, would be to rediscover and re-practice New Testament fellowship. Such a church would begin to win victories again.

COBURNTOWN CHURCH NEWS

The rally at Garrett Friday afternoon started at 2 p.m. and continued through the day until 10 p.m. One hundred people from Coburntown Church attended this meeting.

At 6:30 Sunday evening C. E. began for intermediates in the church auditorium. Leader was Tahoma Jean Laughman. A special number was given by Paul Baney.

Young people's C. E. began at 6:30. The meeting was called together by the president, Joan Curie, by singing a few songs led by Betty Mann. Offering was taken and prayer given by Mary Wilder. The lesson was led by Donald Mann. Questions were discussed by the group. Benediction was given by Wanda Sweet.

"Singspiration Service" will be held this Sunday evening, April 6. Everyone is welcome to attend and worship with the Lord.

Carlton Curie and Jack Mann were home again this week from Cincinnati Bible College.

CONSERVATION CLUB MEETS

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold its next monthly meeting Thursday evening, April 10, in the K of P Hall in St. Joe.

Three very fine pictures will be shown to make a full hour of education and fun. The ladies are getting quite interested and are also attending.

All are urged to attend as action will be taken on the lot committee report. This is vital to the community as well as the members.

Meeting time is 8 o'clock sharp.

HINTS ON HEALTH

by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

HYPOPROTEINOSIS

SOME persons feed their dogs, cats and farm animals better than they feed their own children. Unintentionally, of course, but true.

Many children suffer from what physicians call hypoproteinosis, a deficiency disease caused by insufficient proteins in the daily diet. The result is loss of appetite, failure to gain weight, vomiting, constipation, increased susceptibility to infections, dental caries, anemia and irritability.

It is not a question of how much a child eats but what he eats that is essential to his nutritional well-being. No child should be permitted to consume large quantities of any one food, even milk, whenever he desires. It is better that he be allowed to become hungry enough to consume a balanced diet at mealtime.

Many children are allowed to eat whatever pleases them between meals — such as cookies, crackers, soft drinks and candy. These are all highly refined carbohydrate foods, and animals could not survive on such a diet.

As much as a quart of milk a day will not provide sufficient protein for the child's adequate growth and development. The consumption of this much milk at certain ages is likely to spoil the child's appetite for solid foods such as meat, eggs and cheese, which make a greater protein contribution in proportion to their bulk.

Although the sweet, starchy foods taste better to the child, each meal should contain sufficient quantities of meat, eggs and cheese.

WOWO Starts New Public Service

At last week's Achievement Award Banquet in Fort Wayne honoring Tri-State agricultural leaders, it was announced that WOWO, in cooperation with other organizations throughout Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, had embarked upon an important Health Conservation Project. They believe it is destined to be counted among the most important Public Service activities ever undertaken by an individual radio station.

Under the leadership of Jay Gould, the project director, these groups hope to affect a genuine improvement in many of the factors of environment which influence health.

JAY GOULD

The name of the project is "Health From the Soil Up," which Mr. Gould says does not mean that activities will be restricted to soil and food produced by it. Anything pertaining to physical, mental, social or community health is included.

Some objectives to be pursued in furthering the effort are: the use and conservation of natural resources; a genuine improvement in the ration balance of the average home; a closer approach to the ideal of health conservation through healthful home environment, good personal habits and disease control; complete health checks for all school children; hot and better lunches for school children.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

TEN LONE MEN stood in the United States Senate Thursday, March 20, and battled to preserve the sovereignty of the United States of America.

While they lost their efforts to delay or prevent ratification of the State Department's peace treaty with Japan, the fight is not ended.

There is still opportunity to salvage some of our economy and save many billions of American taxpayers' dollars. There is some slight hope in the about-face of the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who now accuses the administration of continuing European economic aid in defiance of Congress.

Americans must be on guard against such public officials as Averell Harriman, mutual security director, who recently told a Congressional committee:

"Workers have fared better in countries with Socialist governments."

Blackout of News

I am not an alarmist or a jingoist. But because there was such an almost complete blackout of news about the debate on the Japanese peace treaty and the three Pacific security pacts, and the reservations offered by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.) and myself, I want to repeat here some excerpts from my remarks on the Senate floor during their consideration.

"I know one thing we have done here today. We have entwined ourselves in the coil of the United Nations. We have set up a situation very similar to that which brought on the Korean war. We have provided that the Japanese economy may have to pay as high as 50 billion dollars to the Chinese Communists. We have surrendered the power of the Sword to the Executive branch of the government. We have violated our Constitutional oath, and have created a death trap for American G.I.'s in the Orient.

American Sovereignty Limited

"Our foreign policy-makers are getting bolder. They have asked us to sign our names to documents that are limiting American sovereignty. Reservation 2 related only to the administrative set-up of going into Japan under this security treaty. But here is the gimmick. After we get in with our bases, and so forth, there is a provision for getting out, and it is that whenever such forces shall come into being in and about Japan for the collective security of the area, the President of the United States by a stroke of the pen can convert all our barracks, our equipment, all our supplies, and all our men into an army of the UN of which organization Russia is a member, and of which Red China will become a member.

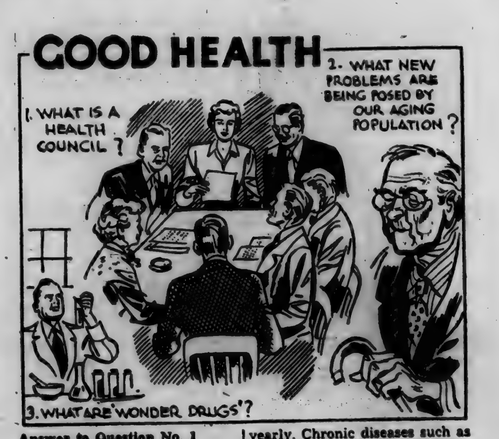
"I would cite this example. After the treaty becomes effective, and we enter into the security pact agreements, let us suppose that we have a truce and peace in Korea. I hope they will come. Let us suppose the Communists break that truce. Do Senators suppose we can go back and fight the Communists who have come down from the north and murdered American soldiers? NO. We must get the permission of the United Nations. That is what we have done here today. That is what we are doing in these security pacts.

Signing Blank Check

"I have spent hours working on this problem.

"Since that time the Foreign Relations Committee and the State Department have worked day and night to fill the Record in answer to my speech.

"I have talked with Senators on this floor—and I will not mention any names—no later than yesterday, who had not even read the Japanese Peace Treaty. Yet they are willing to turn our sovereignty over to the United Nations which we now know has become nothing but a death trap for American G.I.'s. There have been 109,000 casualties in Korea, and billions of dollars have been spent. Yet we sit here and sign a blank check to do the same thing over again."



Answer to Question No. 1

A Health Council is a group of individuals in a community organized to plan and improve local health conditions. It is usually composed of representatives of the local Medical Society, various health and welfare organizations and other interested citizens. For the last five years Health Councils have been growing in number at the rate of 20 per cent a year. Thirty-two states and more than 1,200 communities have health councils.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Present estimates indicate that eight per cent of our population today is over 65 years of age and the percentage is growing yearly. Chronic diseases such as heart ailments, cancer, brain disturbances and kidney conditions are common among this aging population. Accidents are a particular hazard.

Answer to Question No. 3:

"Wonder drug" is the popular name given to newly discovered drugs which at once help in the treatment and cure of a disease and eventually reduce medical costs. These drugs take years of experimentation and expensive research in laboratories to develop, but fortunately such efforts in the interest of health are actively pursued in America.

Budget troubles disappear when you serve economy supper dishes like this meat-and-vegetable topped biscuit square. Pour colorful tomato sauce over each serving.

Here's a main dish you can't afford to miss, for it costs just 11 cents a hearty, succulent portion.

Meat Square a La Mode tempts with a meat topping of ground beef flavorfully mixed with onion, tomato and green beans. Add to this a tender, fluffy drop biscuit base and you've a dish to please the family. Bake this meat square upside down, so that when you turn it out on a hot chop plate, the meat mixture is on top. Serve with catsup or spicy tomato sauce.

Included in the assets of this good dish is a lot of good nutrition. The protein; B-vitamins and food iron of enriched flour join those of meat. In addition, milk and vegetables contribute other food values essential for health.

Complete a tempting supper menu featuring Meat Square a La Mode with green salad, milk and ice cream with cookies from your baker's for dessert.

MEAT SQUARE A LA MODE

Biscuit Mixture

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup milk (about)

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to make a thick batter, stirring only until flour is moistened. Spread evenly over meat mixture.

Meat Mixture

2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup ground meat (½ pound)
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup condensed tomato soup or ½ cup canned tomatoes
1½ cups cooked green beans, drained

Brown onion in fat. Add meat, salt and pepper. Cook 5 minutes. Add tomato soup, or tomatoes, and beans. Mix well. Pour into greased 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan. Cover with biscuit mixture, spreading evenly to edge of pan. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 25 minutes. Turn out on hot chop plate. Serve with tomato sauce.

Makes 6 servings.

-And It Grew -And Grew

It's a fair assumption that not one of the members of congress or state legislators who voted for the 16th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States back in 1913 had the faintest idea of what it would lead to.

Woodrow Wilson's democratic administration made the income tax constitutional. There was an understanding all around that it never would be much of a tax, anyway.

And that was the way it started, just a little tap on the wrist. Under the first income tax bill passed by congress in 1913 a married person with two dependents and a net income of $3,000 a year paid no tax at all. On a net income of $5,000 he paid two-tenths of one percent. That came to $10.

A $10,000-a-year married man with two dependents paid six-tenths of one percent under the 1913 act—$60. If this person had a net income of $5,000,000 a year, the government told him to come across with 6.8 percent of it—$340,010. The $5,000,000 man today pays around $4,275,000 tax.

The married man with two dependents and a $2,500 net income was not hooked by the tax collector until World War I—the 1917 revenue act. Under that bill he paid $2.

His tax went to $6 a year under the 1918 wartime revenue bill but dropped to $4 before he was exempted altogether by the revenue act of 1921. It was not until 1941 that the $2,500 family man had to pay income taxes again. His bill then was a modest $12.

The $3,000-a-year family man under the 1945 World War II tax bill paid at the rate of 6.3 percent. That is just about the rate at which the $5,000,000 man paid in 1913.

The $5,000 men with two dependents who paid $10 in 1913 had to pay $156 under the wartime 1918 tax bill. The next year it was down to $104, then $68, and in the 1928 revenue act this man's payment dropped to $8 and then to $3.

The record will show that the democratic party has usually raised income taxes and the republicans have sought to lower them. The big bulge began in 1932 during the last of the Hoover administration, but taxes dropped back again briefly under FDR.

In 1941 they started to go up again and are still going.

I wish to announce that I am a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination for State Representative of DeKalb County.

It has been my belief that the most efficient use of tax money can be achieved through local agencies, that local units should not lose power to state and federal government.

Your support will be greatly appreciated in the May 6 primary.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, April 10, 1952 — NUMBER 15

Blood Typing Service Available

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau is sponsoring a drive to have all of the citizens of this county blood typed for a "walking blood bank" program. The following schedule has been set up for the residents of the various townships in DeKalb County:

Jackson—Thursday, April 10.

Spencer, Concord and Newville —Saturday, April 12.

Fairfield—Monday, April 14.

Franklin and Troy—Thursday, April 17.

Richland—Saturday, April 19.

Wilmington and Stafford—Monday, April 21.

Keyser—Thursday, April 24.

Butler—Saturday, April 26.

Smithfield—Monday, April 28.

Grant and Union—Thursday, May 1.

The officials of the Farm Bureau organizations are urging that all persons have their blood typed for their own protection and for the protection of others. A card will be issued to those persons typed.

The typing will be done in the assembly room at the court house in Auburn from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. on the designated dates. The cost is 75 cents per percon.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club held its March meeting at the home of Gladys Akey.

The meeting was opened with the repeating of the club creed, followed by singing of "Old Kentucky Home." Mrs. Lulu Allison gave the devotions.

Roll call was answered by eighteen members. Marcelle Storer gave a report on the plastic handbag workshop that was held in Auburn. Llulu Allison and Evalyn Walter then conducted an auction of the balance of bazaar items not sold earlier.

The committee reported that the plants for the roadside park are available as soon as conditions are right for setting.

Plans were completed for the bake sale to be held on Thursday, May 29, at Burgoynes in Auburn.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

1000 Attend Minstrel

Approximately 1000 adults and children enjoyed the Minstrel Show presented the past weekend by the Concord Twp. P.T.A

The program was presented on Friday and Saturday nights with local talent and outside help to complete the program. Frank Daugherty and his students gave their tap dance interpretations on both nights. The Low Down Harmony Four, a quartet from the Butler area, were unable to appear on Friday as it was announced previously. But the Colonial Four of Fort Wayne, Dave Erwin, Herman Martin, Walt Rosselot and Ted Haberkorn, Sr., were present Saturday, black-face and all, to add their special entertainment.

The P.T.A. took in approximately $307 both nights, thus assuring their treasury the necessary funds to pay for band instruments obtained this year.

R. H. C.

The Rural Housewive's Club met with Edna Jenkins as hostess on April 1. President Grace Laub called the meeting to order and Marie Ward gave the opening number by reading a paper on "The Ageless Age." A short business meeting followed, with committees appointed to make plans for the annual anniversary dinner June 5.

The entertainment for the day was furnished by Mrs. Winifred and Ellen Hart. Meeting was adjourned with Flossie Rediger to entertain in May, Inez Hadsell to give opening number and Winifred Hart and Ella Crothers special numbers.

Monday, April 14, Youth' Date With Photographer

Next Monday, April 14, is the big day for the picture taking of your youngsters! The News is having pictures taken of all children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Legion Home in St. Joe between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. absolutely free of charge.

The Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known children's photographers who have taken these pictures for the News in previous years, will again be in charge of the photography. The News wants a picture of your child to print in its forthcoming feature, "Citizens of Tomorrow," a series of photographic studies of local children. The more participating, the better the feature will be. Cooperation of mothers and fathers is urged.

It often seems to parents that children are little one minute and grown up the next. Here is a splendid opportunity to catch a likeness of your child or children at this present stage for the pleasure you will enjoy in future years because of its appearance in the hometown paper.

There is no charge or obligation faking these pictures. Parents don't even have to be subscribers to the News nor even a reader. You do not have to purchase pictures, though you may obtain additional prints by arranging direct with the studio representative if you so desire.

Candidate List Complete

The complete slates of candidates to be presented voters by the Republican and Democratic parties at the May 6 primary election in DeKalb County have been anpounced by County Clerk Ralph Bruce.

The Republicans will present a full slate of candidates including three major contests and one precinct committeeman race. The Democratic slate on the other hand, will have a number of vacancies. Candidates failed to file for eight major offices and several precinct committeemen posts.

On the Republican primary slate, several interesting battles loom. In the race for Fourth District Congressman, Rep. E. Ross Adair of Fort Wayne is pitted against Fred W. Green of near Ft. Wayne. There is a contest for state representative from DeKalb County. Incumbent candidate Charles T. Miser of Garrett is opposed for the nomination by Roscoe Walter of Spencerville.

A major contest on the Republican ticket for a county office has developed in the race for nomination as county treasurer. Hildred Ensley of Auburn, incumbent candidate, is opposed by the former county treasurer, John C. Brown, also of Auburn.

The only other contest on the Republican slate is for committeeman from No. 3 precinct in Keyser Township. Adrian V. Runion opposes Louis J. Sobasky.

There are five contests on the Democratic ticket. For Fourth District Congressman, Howard L. Morrison of Fort Wayne opposes Ray C. Girardot of New Haven.

The other contests are for precinct committeemen posts, all in Union Township where an intra-party struggle appears in the making. In Union No. 3 precinct Newell E. Donaldson opposes John F. Holman, In Union No. 3 Louis B. Cooper is oposed by the former Democratic county chairman, Robert W. Riddle, in Union No. 7 where Patricia L. Beuret and Correll G. Simanton are opposed and in Union No. 9 where Lloyd R. Rank and Ralph Rugman are in opposition.

After the primary, the Democratic central committee has until September 1 to certify candidates to fill vacancies on the party's ticket.

Among the major office nominations, the Democrats have failed to file candidates for the offices of joint senator from Steuben, Lagrange and DeKalb counties, prosecuting attorney from DeKalb County, county clerk, treasurer, recorder, coroner, surveyor and commissioner from the southeast district.

The party also failed to file candidates for eight of the 46 precinct committeemen posts. The vacancies exist in Butler, Fairfield east, Franklin east and west, Keyser No. 8, Newville, Smithfield north and Wilmington No. 2 precincts.

Following is the complete Republican lineup for the primary.

For Congress—E. Ross Adair and Fred Green.

For Joint Senator—Willis K. Batchelet.

Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

SHOULD the Congress grant the entire 7.9 billion dollars asked by President Truman for international security and foreign relations, it will raise the total in actual appropriations, loan authorizations and surplus property credits for the benefit of foreign governments from the beginning of such programs in 1940 to $133 billions.

"International security and foreign relations" is a new name for foreign economic and military aid.

An idea of the expansion of Federal spending in international programs can be gained by comparing the $133 billions with the actual expenditures for relief, work relief and all other Federal aid programs, totaling $20,994,448,806 in the seven years beginning in 1934.

Those seven years comprised the period when the United States was in the throes of a long depression.

By years the actual expenditures were:

1934	$ 1,804,413,150
1935	2,198,483,521
1936	3,142,031,098
1937	3,709,150,240
1938	2,912,628,934
1939	4,377,449,971
1940	3,850,291,892
TOTAL	$20,994,448,806

These funds were spent for the establishment and operation of the Civilian Conservation Corps, the National Youth Administration, the Works Progress Administration, Public Works Administration, and many minor projects affecting the social and economic life of our own country.

The $20 billions spent from 1934 to 1940, inclusive, was spent within the borders of the United States, and although some of the alphabetical agencies created then were pure boondoggling, yet many communities have various public improvements as a result of some of them.

Many members of Congress, as well as millions of American taxpayers, are beginning to wonder just when the United States, with only seven per cent of the world's population and six per cent of the world's land area, will cease carrying the other 93 per cent of the population.

With our own national debt approximately $260 billion, the President's $85 billion request for domestic appropriations would be $14 billions more than estimated income. The 1953 deficit, therefore, would take the national debt to the statutory limit of $275 billions.

The administration's money demands in this session of the 82nd Congress are equal to all Federal government expenditures in the 136 years from 1789 through 1925.

In the past 7¼ years the Federal government has taxed the American people a total of $310 billion.

These are some of the reasons I have joined with a group of colleagues in the Senate to demand a drastic reduction, if not entire elimination, of the foreign spending program. Then I want additional drastic reductions in the $85 billion domestic appropriation requests.

Not possible? The payroll of $10.5 billion annually for the 2¼ million employes on the Federal payroll is equal to the wages and salaries paid by the entire steel industry in America, and twice as much as the payroll of all the railroads.

These matters are not political. They are facts that touch every man, woman and child in America, and will affect several generations to come.

The Risen Lord

Lesson for April 13, 1952

IN all the chorusing Easter music, in all the multitudinous many-voiced "I believe . . .." in the midst of the Easter lilies, is it hard to believe? Some find it so; and feel ashamed that in the presence of others' bright faith their own doubts rise darkly dim, their faith once clear and warm now grown opaque and cold. It is at Easter time that such a person finds his case most tragic. Doubt that echoes a universal loss of faith is almost natural; but why must doubt stand like a dark rock in a sunny meadow, cold in the midst of flowing springtime?

Dr. Foremen

The Man of Dark Mind

TRAGIC such loss of faith may be; but not new. For in Christ's first Twelve—we must say first Eleven, for Judas had sold himself to another— even in that choice company there was one who, on the First Easter, when the voice of all his friends spoke as one: He is risen! could only answer, Is he risen, indeed?

The church has given the name of Saint to these eleven men; they will not deny it to Saint Thomas. For sainthood is not confined to those who have never wrestled with doubt; saints are not only those in whose eyes God and his ways have been always clearly seen.

High in the roll of Christian saints is the name of Thomas, a man of dark but honest mind. His doubt was very like him. He was not a man who most easily believed what was most pleasant.

When Jesus had set his face to go to Jerusalem, the other Ten looked for a Throne, and thrones for all; Thomas alone looked for death. Yet in the very hour, cheered by no bright illusion, Thomas could say what no other did: "Let us go too, that we may die with him."

In the upper room at the Last Supper, again the voice of Thomas bespoke his dark mind. "We know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?"

So it could have been small surprise to the Ten that when they went to Thomas with the glad news of Easter Day, he was slow to believe.

The Last Beatitude

NOW the Lord Christ did not rebuke this man Thomas, when at last the two came face to face once more; nor did he praise him. He knew that Thomas had acted as a Thomas will.

But our Lord also looked down the centuries, to us and beyond. Thomas had not asked the impossible; but soon, soon would come the time when a request like his could not be granted.

Not forever could Christ be seen on earth with the visible eye. To only a few would be granted even the dream or vision of what Saint Thomas could have touched if he had dared.

The time was shortly coming when men must believe, if they believe at all, without seeing. Easter days would come and go, the voice of faith would rise in a thousand songs: He is risen! But not on any Easter, for twice a thousand years at least, would Christ return to break bread with his friends in such a way that doubt could no longer be. Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet—!

The Risen Lord

SO Saint Thomas was wrong, and right. He was wrong if he thought: I cannot believe unless I see. The Christian way is not the seeing that is believing; it is the believing that is seeing.

But he was right if he thought: I must believe for myself, I can take no other man's faith for my own. And he was right at the last: "My Lord and my God!"

Was Thomas only a man of temperament, a man easily blown from depth of doubt to height of faith? By no means. He knew what difference Easter makes, once the truth of it comes home to a man's mind.

If the message of Easter is not true, Christ is dead,—rather Jesus is dead and there is no Christ; his brain is dust, his dream a cobweb in the wind of death. But if the message of Easter is true—and the whole Christian church is witness that it is true—then Christ who lived again on Easter morning lives forever past all the mornings of the world, lives to be man's only king, reigning from the very right hand of God.

If Easter is not true, we shall walk softly as befits those in mourning on the return of a day of sorrow; if Easter is true we shall say and sing with Thomas and all the saints: My Lord and My God!

Want a lot of mileage for your money?

WE'LL admit that the price tags of automobiles—all automobiles—aren't what they used to be.

But it's just as true today as ever before that some price tags are lower than others, and some cars cost less to own than others.

So let's see how a Buick SPECIAL fits into the picture.

Take first cost. If you put the price tag of this Buick against price tags of cars that have always been tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field"—you'll find that, in actual dollars, a Buick's surprisingly close to these cars of lesser size and horsepower.

But that's just the beginning.

What you're getting here is Buick quality—this SPECIAL comes down the same assembly line as SUPERS and ROADMASTERS.

Its heft tells you it has extra sturdiness in frame and structure.

Its Fireball Engine delivers extra power. It is an eight, a valve-in-head, with high compression, and the miles you can get from a gallon of gas make it a thrifty performer.

You get Buick's Million Dollar Ride, which protects you—and the car—from jars and jolts.

Even the tires are bigger—which, any tire man will tell you, lengthens their wear.

And if you pay a bit extra for Dynaflow Drive* you're easing the strain on the engine, the rear end, the tires—and eliminating clutch repair bills.

So when we talk about "mileage for your money" we're talking about the miles you'll get from your car—including the unused miles that are what you have to sell when you trade it in.

Maybe that's why Buick's doing so well in the present market. Why not come in and see what a great car this is for you?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Wheel Covers standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series. White sidewalls optional at extra cost when available. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Boy, it sounds good to hear ol' Bert Wilson back on the air again for the summer with the Chicago Cubs baseball broadcasts this year. Tuesday began the 1952 season and big Hank Sauer belted a grand slam homer to get off to a good start.

I"m kinda out-numbered, tho', by these Detroit Tiger fans around here, 'frinstance, Dick Freeburn, Roy Koch and a few others.

I don't care who wins, just so long as it's the Cubs—unquote.

Last week was a little short on space around here and I didn't get to say anything about the fun everyone had puting on the P.T.A. minstrel show. Of course, it was a success because everyone worked together to make it so. But particular mention ought to be made of the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Merl Guilford. Frieda did the costuming for the show and Merl helped in preparing the stage setting (lights, backdrop, etc.) Both of them also did most of the work last year for the Tom Sawyer play.

It's nice to have folks like them around.

Incidently, you might be interested to know that the P.T.A. has raised over $700 in the past year to buy band instruments. That is something to talk about.

Spencer PTA Spring Carnival Next Week

The Spencer Township P. T. A. has announced plans for a Spring Carnival to be held Saturday, April 26, 1952.

The organization is asking for donations from individuals, families and clubs for the purchase of equipment for the school cafeteria and the proceeds from the Carnival will be used for the same purpose.

An ideal room is available in the school buasement, Mrs. Janice Hollabaugh, the president, has announced, but it is necessary to purchase new equipment in order to have the cafeteria in full swing at the opening of school next fall.

The White Elephant Auction, incorrectly reported last week for April 22, will be held at the Carnival along with many other entertaining events. More details will be given next week concerning the evening's schedule.

The last meeting of the season of the Spencer Twp. P.T.A. will be held on the 22nd of April. It will be held at the school house.

All members and friends are urged to be present as this will be an important meeting. Election of officers for next year will be held.

A social hour has been planned by the committee in charge immediately following the meeting. Each family is asked to bring sandwiches for their own family, and one two-crust pie. Ice cream and coffee will be prepared by the committee.

GET-TO-GETHER CLUB

The Get-To-Gether 4-H Club met at the school house in the home ec room at 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 15. Gladys Ross presided.

The Seniors of Concord Twp. High School have designated Saturday, April 19, 1952, as Senior Work Day.

On that date the Senior Class will be available to the community for whatever tasks may be given them to perform. For instance, a car wash will be done for a dollar. Or other work such as spring housecleaning, yard work or what-have-you will be charged for at an hourly rate. The rate is seventy-five cents an hour for each boy and fifty cents an hour for each girl.

The workers will begin at 7 a. m. For further information call St. Joe 78W.

Linda Hawk, Eddie Collins Win Contest

Winners of the essay contest sponsored by the local Legion Auxiliary have been announced.

Winner in the boys' division of the junior high school contest is Eddie Collins. Linda Hawk was chosen winner of the girls' entries. Each was awarded $2.50 by the Auxiliary.

The theme of the essays was "America, the Land of Opportunity." The two winning essays in the local contest were entered in the Fourth District contest.

Judy Steininger, formerly of St. Joe now residing in Auburn, won first place in the junior high division of the district contest.

CULTURE CLUB

The April 9 Culture Club meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Lester Anthony.

Reading of the collect was followed by the devotions, given by Mrs. Olen Waltz who read a poem entitled, "Country Churches."

The lesson on Literature-Juvenile was given by Mrs. Frank Monroe. The special work for the evening, Juvenile Delinquency, was presented by Mrs. Howard Baker. An interesting discussion followed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Karl Hart and Mrs. Pluma Hamilton.

Wyatts Celebrate 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wyatt, who reside five miles south of Butler, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Easter Sunday with a family dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt were married on April 10, 1892. They have resided on their present farm for the past 52 years. The farm has been in the Wyatt family for nearly 150 years.

The Wyatt family includes four children, eight grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Civil Defense ID Tag Program Starts

Governor Henry F. Schricker receives the first official Indiana ID Tag, presented by Frederick T. Cretors, director, Indiana Department of Civil Defense, at the Alert America Exhibition, State Fairgrounds, Indianapolis.

Statewide distribution of the Official Identification Tag to citizens of Indiana was inaugurated on Monday, March 31, at the opening of the Alert America Convoy Convoy Show at the State Fair Grounds in Indianapolis.

The official Indiana ID tag as approved by the Advisory Council of the Indiana Department of Civil Defense is a small stainless steel quadrangle with a stainless steel chain suitable for wearing around the neck.

The tag carries the individual's name, address, city and state, his birth date and his religion. It will not melt under 2500 degrees fahrenheit, will not tarnish, discolor the skin, get out of shape or wear out.

The goal of the Indiana Department of Civil Defense is to have every Hoosier citizen tagged.

Applications for the tags can be obtained from the Indiana Department of Civil Defense, 777 N. Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana. The charge is only twenty-five cents for each tag.

THE AMERICAN WAY

But the aroma (?) lingers on

The Story Of Parris Island

You can have your Army Khaki
You can have your Navy Blue,
There is still another fighter I will introduce to you.

His uniform is different, the best you have ever seen,
Others call him devil dog, his real title is Marine.

He is trained on Parris Island, the land that God forgot,
Where the sand and fleas are ankle deep, the sun is scorching hot.

He has set up many a table and many dishes he has dried,
He has also learned to make a bed, and a broom he has learned to guide.

He has peeled a million onions and twice as many spuds.
He spends his leisure time by marching and washing out his duds.

Now listen, all mothers, take my advice, I am passing it on to you,
Be proud of your Parris Island Marine, there is nothing he can't do.

If he should leave for Heaven to St. Peter he will tell,
Another Marine reporting, Sir, I've done my stretch in hell.

But if St. Peter turns him down to another hell he'll go,
He'll kick the devil off the throne and from there he will boss the show.

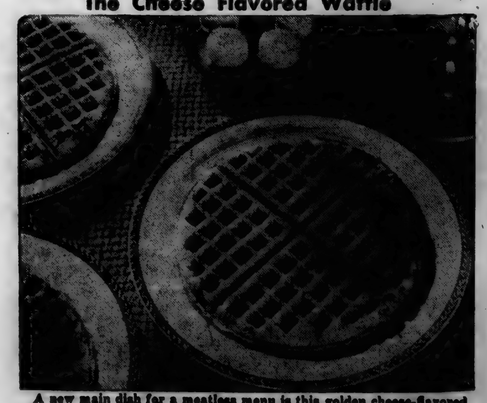
The Cheese Flavored Waffle



A new main dish for a meatless menu is this golden cheese-flavored waffle. It may be served with the usual butter and sirup or with creamed eggs or vegetables.

Our ancestors baked waffles in an iron with long handles held over an open fire. Today's homemakers have a much easier job of it!

Not only is there the convenience of an electric waffle iron, but waffles themselves can be made in a few minutes with the aid of a packaged mix. Besides, waffles today have added good nutrition because they are made with enriched flour, a thrifty source of protein, B-vitamins, and food iron.

There are so many simple—and simply wonderful—ways with waffles. Add grated cheese to the batter to make Cheese Waffles, a good base for creamed eggs, tuna, or vegetables for a Lenten luncheon or supper. You'll like waffles flavored with table ready meats or ham, and almost any fruit sauce makes a good waffle topping.

Entertaining comes easy when you serve waffles. Bake them right at the table and serve them crisp and hot until friends and family sit back in contentment. You can always bake a few ahead of time and keep them warm in the oven. This type of supper is inexpensive, too. Each Cheese Waffle costs just 10 cents.

CHEESE WAFFLES

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
1 cup grated cheese
2 eggs, separated
2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
½ cup melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and paprika. Add cheese. Beat egg yolks. Add buttermilk or sour milk and shortening. Mix well. Add to flour mixture. Mix smooth. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold into batter. Bake in hot waffle iron until waffle stops steaming. Makes 10 7-inch waffles.

Jesus and the Law

Lesson for April 20, 1952

THE ELKS' CLUB has a constitution and by-laws, but if you are not an Elk you can pass by the clubhouse a dozen times a week and never so much as wonder what the by-laws are. No Elk will think the worse of you for it, either. The laws of the Elks are for Elks, not the general public.

Dr. Foreman

The Christian church also has a set of laws posted somewhere in every church building, or at least written in a book you will find in every church: namely the Ten Commandments.

People who do not belong to the church sometimes give these laws no more thought than they would give to the Elks' constitution or to the ritual of the Signa Phi Nuthin' fraternity. But that is a mistake. The Ten Commandments are a kind of constitution of mankind, not a set of rules for a private club.

No Ladder to Heaven

HOWEVER, even inside the church, Christians often have mistaken notions about the law of God, particularly the basic laws embodied in the Ten Commandments. Two of these wrong ideas are almost exactly opposite each other, with the truth in the middle.

One mistaken idea is that the law is a kind of ladder to Heaven. That is to say: God is supposed to run a sort of book-keeping department, with a Recording Angel (or perhaps millions of them, one looking over every man's shoulder), jotting down everything a person does from birth to death. Every time he acts in accordance with the Commandments, down goes a plus mark. Every time he breaks one, down goes a minus mark. At the time of his death the account is balanced. If there are more pluses than minuses, then the man is admitted to heaven; if the minus side puts the man "in the red" with God, then off he is hustled to Hell. In other words, on this theory (which is very popular though false), you write your own ticket to Heaven, you climb there on a ladder of your own good deeds.

Jesus did not hold to this notion, indeed taught quite the contrary. Call no man good! he said. For one thing, plus-marks do not cancel out minus marks, and for another thing, seen with the eyes of God, as the famous Richard Hooker said, "the best things we do have somewhat in them to be pardoned."

Jesus, the New Testament, and the church after them, teach with one voice that we are saved by faith,—it is God that saves us, not we ourselves.

Love Is No Excuse for Sin

THE mistake at the opposite end of the line is to fancy that if we love God we can do as we please. In other words, the idea is that love is a substitute for obedience. If we just love God fervently enough, then his laws do not apply to us.

Now this mistake is just as bad as the first one. What would we say to a man who is a careless driver, and when arrested for hit-and-run driving tells the Judge, "Your honor, I love everybody, I have nothing against anybody, I love my country, and you ought not to bother me with traffic laws!".

What could we say about a man who claimed he loved his wife very much but never paid any attention to the commen rules of politeness when in her presence? What would a grocer say to a man who owed him fifty dollars if the customer claimed to be such a good friend the grocer ought not to send him a bill?

No: Jesus did not teach that God's children have any right to disregard their Father's will.

Living in Obedience

ON the contrary, a Christian will be all the more eager to do what God commands, not because he fears punishment, not because he thinks he can earn his way into God's love, but because obedience is the way God has given us by which we can sincerely show our love to him and to our fellowmen.

As Cardinal Newman put it: "Justification (the theologians' word for a person's being on right terms with God) is received by faith; consists in God's inward presence, and lives in obedience."

To put it another way: Doing what God desires is not the cause of being saved; it is the result of being saved. When we have done all we can, indeed all we have been commanded, Jesus said, we are still "unprofitable servants;" we have nothing to boast of, at our best, for our best comes from God.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

SMALL BUSINESS JEOPARDIZED—Small business which is the backbone of our economy almost had the rug jerked out from under it in the matter of defense production. But the efforts of a bi-partisan group in Congress, of which I was proud to be a part, saved the day. This was what happened. The House Appropriations Committee had recommended to the House the deletion of all funds for the continuation of the Small Defense Plants Administration in the Third Supplemental Appropriations Bill for fiscal 1952. In the ensuing battle, the House voted the necessary funds to keep the SDPA going.

The SDPA was created by Congress last year with three specific jobs to do. First, it was to see that small business got a fair share of the defense contracts. Second, to assure small business its share of critical materials. Third, to help small business obtain financial aid.

The Fourth Indiana Congressional District will be served by a SDPA regional office at Chicago. Yngvar Bryneldssen is the director with offices at 188 W. Randolph Street. Small business firms desiring information on defense contracts should contact his office, which will assist in securing specific contracts, analyze and stimulate sub-contracting, furnish technical and managerial assistance and develop inventories of productive facilities.

WASTE IN DEFENSE PROGRAM—Reports have been coming from the various "watchdog" committees concerning the defense program. They make it clear that a large measure of the military waste occurring since the Korean "police action" in June, 1950, has been caused by competition among the armed services for manpower, equipment and supplies. The committees also have charged the military with little concern for economy.

The four wachdog committees are: the Preparedness Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, the Procurement Subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee and two Subcommittees of the House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments.

The Senate Preparedness Committee had this to say about military waste: "It is a distressing—but inescapable— fact that one of our major shortages is a sense of prudence, zeal for frugality and an enthusiasm for economy on the part of the armed services. The inevitable result of these shortages is waste--waste of manpower, waste of equipment and waste of the taxpayers' money." The Committee added that "no one service is more prodigal or more prudent than the others."

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The last meeting of the Ladies Literary Club for the year 1951-52 was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Hart on Wednesday, April 9, 1952.

The president, Mrs. Maurice Kline, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser read the collect.

The lesson for the evening was centered on controversial subjects. The first on "Social Security" was debated by Mrs. Carl Sipe and Mrs. Cora Curie, the latter's papers being read by the president in Mrs. Curie's absence. The next subject on "United Nations" was given by Mrs. Allen Haller and Mrs. Lela Northrup. The last discussion was "Socialized Medicine," both pro and con given by Mrs. Don Burley in the absence of Mrs. V. R. Monroe.

Mrs. Frank Shull, entertainment chairman, provided games and contests for the entertainment period.

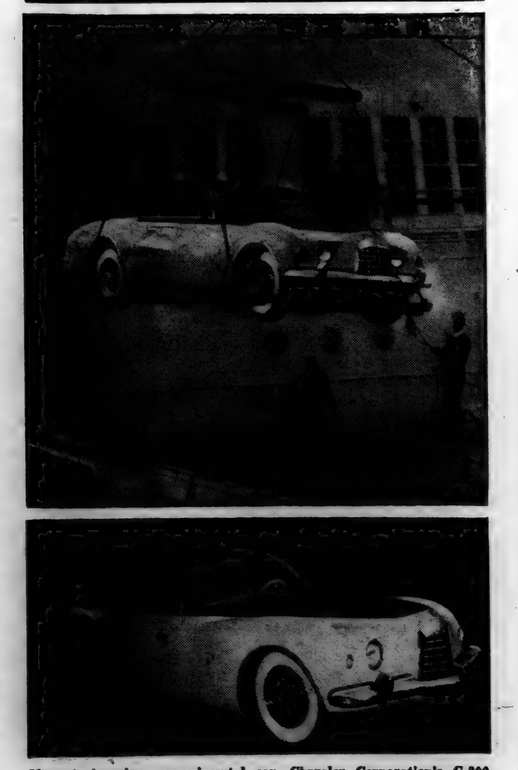
The secretary's report was read and approved. Twenty-one members were present.

Mrs. Carl Carpenter gave the critic's report. The secretary and treasurer gave their yearly reports.

Officers' mid-summer meeting was announced tentatively as the first Wednesday evening in June.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Kline, thanked everyone for the cooperation she received during her term of office. The meeting was then adjourned.

CHRYSLER C-200 MAKES DEBUT



Newest American experimental car, Chrysler Corporation's C-200 convertible, is being shown for the first time in New York City after arriving from Europe aboard the liner S.S. Constitution. Conceived and designed in Detroit by Chrysler engineers, the C-200 was built in Italy in a further experiment to explore the blending of sports car styling with practical automobile design and engineering features. Picture at top shows the C-200 being unloaded from the liner in New York after a fast trans-Atlantic crossing. Below, a close-up view of the experimental convertible.

March 26, 52

Dear Ted,

It seems it wasn't too long ago I wrote to you and I thought basic was rough. I can see that I just didn't know when I was well off. I could at least get a pass on week ends and go into town but here there isn't anywhere to go, but to bed. Sometimes you are ready to go there before they want you to.

It has been just a month ago today that I left the U. S. I'm telling you it seems like a lot longer. I never thought when I was going to school and studying about these far off lands that I would even be there, but that just goes to show you that you can never forsee the future. I know if someone would have told me a few years ago that I would be here today I never would have believed it.

Things over here aren't too bad right now, just as long as old Joe doesn't decide to come over those hills everything will stay alright. I saw a sight I never expected to see yesterday. There were 4 jets giving a hill a going over and straffing. The air power over here here is okay as far as I'm concerned.

The boat trip was another experience I haven't ever had and there's only one more I'm waiting for and that is the return trip! Some of the boys really got sea sick, but believe it or not the only effect I had was a headache and that was the first night out. Some of the boys didn't eat for 3 days. They would just lay in their bunks and look full in the face. There sure was a lot of weight leaning on those rails at times. A few of those guys on the ship were lucky and got to stay in Japan.

These guys that are coming back home now out of my outfit are the ones who fought on the battle of heart break ridge, so I guess they deserve to come home. I can stand not going through anything like that.

I'm up for fire watch and I'm writing this by candle light. I only have a half hour to go so I had better sign this off.

If my folks haven't given you my permanent address already, I will. I wish you would put it in the paper so some of the guys back home would write.

Respectfully yours,
Don

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

WITHIN four years the United States has been directly committed to the defense of 41 countries.

With a total population of 155 million people, the United States is bound by treaty or by military occupation to defend a foreign population of over 560 millions. American armed forces must not plan for the defense of the United States and its territorial possessions, but also for the defense of more than 45 per cent of the inhabited area of the world outside the United States.

The United States has also been involved directly, through military missions, military bases or the extension of military aid in the defense of nine additional countries with a population of over 170 million. Military technicians are scattered throughout the world in 24 countries including five nations not as yet included in formal treaty arrangements, Iran, Indonesia, Indo-China, Thailand and Liberia.

Outside of NATO and Pacific treaty states, nine nations, including one Communist nation, Yugoslavia, are receiving military supplies from the United States. Over a hundred American air bases are scattered throughout the world in ten different sovereign nations or their colonies including two nations not otherwise covered, Saudi Arabia and Libya.

In total some 50 nations or 730 million people, almost one-third of the world's total population, look to the United States for their military defense. No nation in the history of the world, not even Britain at the height of its empire, ever entered upon such far-reaching commitments. As a result, the present disposition of the U. S. armed forces involves two-thirds or more of the combat division strength of the U. S. Army in overseas combat or occupation. Military garrisons are also stationed in 10 additional nations in connection with air base operations. Two major divisions of the U. S. Navy, the 6th and 7th Fleet, are stationed in Mediterranean and Far Eastern Waters.

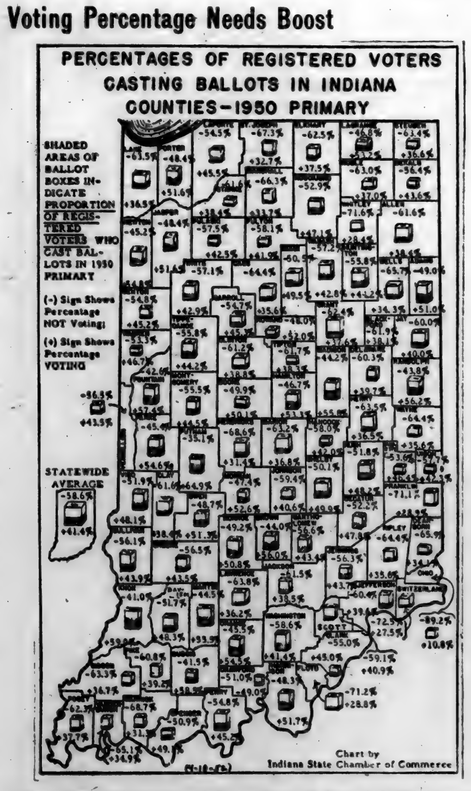
The following 41 foreign governments had personnel in training in the United States on September 30, 1951: Belgium, Luxembourg, Brazil, Canada, National Government, Republic of China, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Greece, Indonesia, Iran, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Philippines, Portugal, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Thailand, Turkey, Argentina, Australia, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, India, Lebanon, Pakistan, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela, Syria, Switzerland.

The approximate total of such foreign military personnel was 8,000.

There were a total of 40 United States Army, Navy and Air Force training missions in the following 19 foreign countries on December 31, 1951: Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, El Salvador, Venezuela, Iran, Liberia.

In addition, United States military assistance advisory groups (MAAG) are stationed in Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark, France, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, United Kingdom, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Indochina, Indonesia, Formosa, Korea, Philippines and Thailand for the purpose of administering the training activities programmed under the mutual defense assistance program. A similar group known as Military Assistance Section of the United States Embassy in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, was established on December 10, 1951, to administer the training activities programmed for Yugoslavia under the mutual defense assistance program. Of the above, the military assistance advisory groups located in Greece, Turkey, Thailand, Korea, Philippines and Formosa are also engaged in active training of foreign troops.

Voting Percentage Needs Boost



More than 43.6 percent of DeKalb County's registered voters must go to the polls at the coming Primary Election Tuesday, May 6, if the county is to improve its primary voting record as compared to 1950, according to figures compiled by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce and reproduced in the accompanying map.

The chamber's statewide statistics, based on reports following the 1950 Primary from local chambers of commerce, county clerks and newspaper accounts, show that of the county's 14,000 registered voters at the time of that election, 6,100 went to the polls and 7,900, or 56.4 per cent of those registered failed to vote. The county ranked 44th among Indiana's 92 counties in the percentage of registered voters casting ballots.

The tabulation further showed that 2,400 ballots were cast in the county for nomination of Democratic candidates in the 1950 primary and 3,700 ballots for Republican candidates.

The chamber pointed out that although only 41.4 per cent of all registered voters in the state as a whole went to the polls in the 1950 Primary, this low figure still constituted a new high in primary voting in Indiana in recent years.

TELEPHONE COMPANY TO CHANGE NAME

The name of Indiana Associated Telephone Corp. will be changed soon to General Telephone Co. of Indiana, Inc., H. E. Hussey, president, has announced. No change in management or operations is involved.

The name change will affect 12 subsidiary companies serving more than 1,435,000 telephones in 3600 communities from coast to coast. In each case the new name will include the word "General."

COBURNTOWN CHURCH NEWS

Saturday evening, April 12, the Home Builders held their regular class party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witt. There were twenty-one adults and eleven children present. Group singing was led by John Crothers. Devotions were given by John Cook. The recreation was carried out in Easter games. The most interesting game was the men designed an Easter hat for each lady. Karen Witt sang, "This Little Light of Mine." Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

The Senior C. E. opened their meeting with group singing led by Betty Mann. Jack Mann led the lesson, "A Day of Victory," and read scripture in John 20:1-18. Questions and life problem were discussed by the group. Pictures were shown on "Crucification." The young people were very happy to have Jack Mann and Carlton Curie back from Cincinnati Bible College. Further arrangements will be made next week for the trip to Cincinnati April 25. Linda Morris will lead next week's lesson and there will be more pictures shown.

Carlton Curie from Cincinnati Bible College brought the message, "Christ, Our Paschal Lamb," in the evening service. Carol Cook and Karen Witt both sang solos. Carol Spitter gave a flannelgraph story of the good Samaritan. Mrs. Alice Kagey and Mrs. Walter Baney sang a duet. The attendance was 132.

Saturday, 8:45 a.m., WKJG, Darris Hamilton, minister, will have charge of the Open Bible Hour.

The Missionary Study Group will meet for an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Witt. Pot-luck dinner will be served.

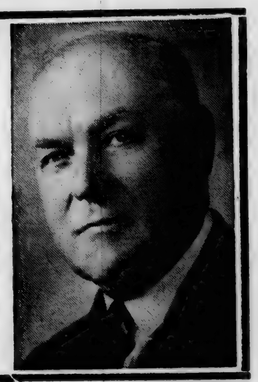
Your Support Appreciated



Republican Candidate for COUNTY TREASURER

John C. BROWN

Primary May 6, 1952

Your Vote Will Be Appreciated

I wish to announce that I am a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination for State Represenative of DeKalb County.

It has been my belief that the most efficient use of tax money can be achieved through local agencies, that local units should not lose power to state and federal government.

Your support will be greatly appreciated in the May 6 primary.

will your home be the 100,000th ON I & M LINES to have an ELECTRIC RANGE?

now more than ever, it will pay you to switch to clean, fast, modern

ELECTRIC COOKING!

Some home very soon now — maybe your home — will be the 100,000th served by I&M to have an electric range. And that calls for a real celebration!

If you've just been "thinking about" an electric range . . . or planning to get one "some day" . . . consider these two facts:

More women prefer electric cooking than ever before in history . . . millions throughout America have switched to this modern method.

The electric ranges your dealer is showing right now are the finest ever offered.

Those facts add up plainly to this: there was never a better time than today for YOU to start cooking electrically!

See your dealer NOW . . . during the big "100,000th" celebration. Get that electric range you've always wanted. You'll have real cause to celebrate, too.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, April 24, 1952 — NUMBER 17

Around the Town

With the Editor

Lots of excitement this week as Lester Baker's big road machinery came to town to repair and resurface the streets. That big job Able McCann and Joe Freeburn were using Monday has twa motors and about fifty levers, handles, wheels, etc., to manipulate. It mixes the gravel from a hopper on the front end (I think it was the front) with oil and deposits the resurfacing mixture as the machine moves slowly along.

Rain has put a crimp in the repair work this week.

Speaking of Joe reminds me that his brother, "Chuck" Freeburn, is home from the Navy temporarily. He has about a month to go after he returns to duty around May 13. Then it's back to civies for "little butterball." He's put on another ten pounds since last time he was home.

How about that. Ed Wade gets a long-awaited visit at home from his duties in the Marines and what happens—he gets sick.

Ralph Johnson, stationmaster for the Wabash depot at Spencerville, has moved—involuntarily. Last week after some steel had been loaded at the siding, the coupling job went haywire. Instead of coupling, the car rolled down the siding throught the barrier, ripped loose the track and jolted the station about two feet south, not to mention the smashed north wall.

Not to be outdone by the Concord Twp. P. T. A. in advancing their school program, the Spencer Twp. P. T. A. has raised about $600 through donations for the school lunch program, Janice Hollabaugh said Tuesday. They're having a big carnival at the school Saturday night to raise additional money for the lunch program.

Say, I get a lot of "public information" in the form of letters, booklets, pamphlets, etc., that I can't use in this publication because of limited space. But it's available for your reading at the News Office.

Here's a sample list:

"These Are the Facts, Mr. President" (address by Clarence Randall, president of Inland Steel, concerning the government seizure of steel mills).

"Let's Talk Politics" (pocket size folder of facts every citizen should know by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce).

"Strength For the Long Run" (quarterly report to the president by the director of defense mobilization).

"1952 Policies" (Indiana Farm Bureau).

"Brief In Support of Proposed Constitutional Amendment Limiting the Power of Congress to Tax Incomes, Inheritances and Gifts" (Committee for Constitutional Government).

"The Shameful Years" (House Un-American Activities Committee).

—And several others on foreign aid, our foreign policy and others concerning our State Department.

May 1 Deadline For Assessment By Trustee

Don Keller, Concord Twp. trustee, has announced that after May 1, residents of the township will be assessed at the county assessor's office if they haven't been assessed by the trustee.

Residents who wish to avoid the necessity of making a trip to Auburn are asked to contact Mr. Keller before the deadline date for an appointment. Two "rounds" were made by the trustee for assessing and those who were away when he called must contact him to get their assessment in order before next Thursday. Otherwise it will be necessary to give the information at the county assessor's office in Auburn.

Mrs. Ada Loftus Passes Away

A resident of St. Joe nearly all of her life, Mrs. Ada Mae Loftus died in the Community Hospital at Hicksville at 6 a.m. Saturday of diabetes. Mrs. Loftus had been bedfast about a we k and was takn to the hospital on Wednesday of last week while she was in a diabetic coma from which she never recovered.

Th 68-year-old woman was born in St. Joe on March 18, 1884, the daughter of the late George and Mary Tiffney Bleeks. She was united in marriage to Jesse Loftus, who survives.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Dan Johnson of Auburn and Mrs. Robert Wappes of Albion; a son, Lewis Loftus, of South Bend; two grandchildren, Donald and Delmar Johnson, of Auburn; and a brother, Jay Bleeks, of Newville.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. at the Church of Christ in St. Joe. Joseph Shenault, pastor of the Newville Church of Christ, officiated at the services assisted by Donald Foust, pastor of the St. Joe Church of Christ. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery at St. Joe.

Auxiliary Seeks Photos Of Servicemen

In connection with Poppy Day observance May 23 and 24, the Auxiliary of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post 283 plans to present a display of servicemen from this area to be shown in the window of the News Office.

Mrs. Louise Church has requested that pictures of servicemen suitable for this display be turned in to the Auxiliary through its members not later than Monday, May 19. The Auxiliary will arrange the photos and present them in an attractive background for window display.

The Auxiliary would appreciate the cooperation of the families of servicemen in allowing temporary use of the photographs. They may be turned in to Mrs. Church or any member of the Auxiliary.

Thieves Have Busy Week-End

Burglars made an unsuccessful attempt to break in the Amstutz Hardware store in St. Joe Thursday night or Friday morning.

A blow torch was used in the attempt to enter the local business establishment. The would-be intruders gave up after cutting through the major portion of a bolted night lock.

The Country Market north of Garrett was also broken into the same night. There thieves took a six-pound box of frankfurters and 11 pounds of cheese valued at $12.

A third break-in over the weekend was reported at a Butler bulk plant Friday night or Saturday morning where an estimated 20 gallons of gasoline were taken. The thieves evidently filled the tank of their automobile and put the remainder of the gasoline in cans. The gasoline was valued at $6.

HOME DEMONSTRATION WEEK, APRIL 27—MAY 3

The seventh annual National Home Demonstration Week will be celebrated April 27 to May 3. Nearly 69,000 rural homemakers in 2,521 clubs in Indiana will observe this week along with homemakers in almost every state in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The nationwide theme for the week is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." This year again as last the Indiana Home Demonstration Association has an additional theme, "Educate a Girl for Citizenship." The Association is nearing the goal of the project which was started in 1948. This project is to establish a "Live At Home and Learn House" at Purdue University, which will be re-emphasized during the week. Association members are interested in encouraging girls to continue their education so they may become better leaders in their communities, state and nation.

Junior Play Given This Week-End

The Junior Class of St. Joe High School will present the romantic comedy, "Our Gal Sal," Friday and Saturday nights, April 25 and 26, at 8 p.m. in the St. Joe gym.

Our Gal, Sal, when last seen by the Vandynes, was a boistrous girl of twelve. She now has been to Europe to receive her finishing touches. Upon returning, Sal hears Glenn Vandyne making insulting remarks about her. She decides to act just like a moron to make life miserable for him. Sal plans many plots in which Glenn is the victim.

The cast will be as follows:

Cecelia Vandyne—Shirley Dowden.

Allison Vandyne—Nelda DeLong.

Nella Yardley—Janice Miller.

Sally Skinner—Joanne LaRowe.

Glenn Vandyne—Junior Wurm.

Daisy Jundkins—Norma Tharp.

Dexter Westbrooke—Norman Morr.

Ronald Spangler—Ed Smith.

Dagmar Waring—Anita Lawson.

Admission prices will be sixty cents for reserved adult seats, forty cents for reserved student seats and forty cents for bleacher seats.

St. Joe Goes On Daylight Saving Time Saturday Night

It's getting close to that time of year when the morning's work begins earlier and the evening sun sets later.

At midnight Saturday, April, 26, St. Joe clocks will move ahead one hour for the annual observance of daylight saving time.

Indiana law provides for yeararound central standard time but the majority of Indiana communities and most of those in the northern half of the state still operate on DST during the summer.

Clocks on the DeKalb County court house will remain on CST for the summer but offices in the court house will open an hour earlier and close an hour before the regular time in conformity with the plan followed in recent years.

Poppy Day Captains Announced

Appointment of team captains for the 1952 Poppy Day drive were made Tuesday evening at the April meeting of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post 283 Auxiliary at the post home in St. Joe.

Mrs. Louise Church is chairman of the collection for this area and her assistants are Ruth Collins, Harriett Baker and Gretchen Noragon.

The Auxiliary sponsors the observance of Poppy Day in this community which will be on Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24.

The poppies, made of crepe paper by disabled war veterans, will be worn in memory of the nation's war dead, and contributions toward the American Legion Auxiliary work for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans will be asked in exchange for them.

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner we wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kind consideration and sympathy at the recent death of our wife and mother.

Spring Carnival Saturday At Spencerville

The Spencer Twp. P. T. A. Spring Carnival will be held Saturday night, April 26, at the school house in Spencerville.

A full evening's entertainment family to begin at 5 p.m.

has been planned for the entire

The P. T. A. will present a supper at 5 o'clock featuring homemade chicken and noodles, hot sandwiches, potato salad, baked beans, home-made pie, coffee and there'll probably be some milk for the kiddies.

After every one has had their fill of those good eats, the way will lead to several rooms of attractions prepared by students and parents. Room I will feature "Fancy Hats." Room II will present a "White Elephant Auction" under the direction of Bill Weninger and John Haverstock. Room III will have a "Fish Pond." Boxing will be the main event in Room IV with bouts at 6:30, 7:15 and 8 p.m. The seventh grade will have a "Baseball Throw," the eighth a "Dart Throw" and pop concession.

High school freshmen will operate a "Fun House" of novelty concessions, including a "Pie Throw." The sophomores have planned a "Peep Show" and "Photo Shop" and will have home made candy to sell. The junior class offers "Dunk the Juniors" and a "Museum." "Bowling," "Weight and Age Guessing," "Fortune Telling" and a "Style Show" are the seniors' offerings.

The P. T. A. will present a cake walk in addition to the other activities and the Spencerville band will play during the evening.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used in furthering the school lunch program which begins next fall at the opening of school.

The community is invited to enjoy supper at the school house Saturday evening followed by an evening of worth-while entertainment.

Services For Mrs. Addie Maurer, Former Resident

Funeral services for Mrs. Addie Patterson Maurer, 85, a resident of the Peabody Memorial Home at North Manchester, Ind., were conducted at the Peabody Chapel Thursday morning. Burial was in the Hicksville Cemetery following graveside rites.

Mrs. Maurer died in the hospital at the Peabody Home at 1 p.m. Monday of last week from a heart condition. She had been a patient at the hospital for about three weeks and became seriously ill about two weeks ago. She had been residing at the home for about a year

Prior to that time she lived in Fort Wayne with a granddaughter, Mrs. Kenneth Cooper, for about six months and before that lived at 1307 South Main in Auburn for a number of years. During her first marriage she resided in St. Joe where her husband, C. A. Patterson, operated a dry goods store.

Mr. Patterson died in 1936 and she later married Simeon Maurer, an Auburn real estate dealer who passed away in 1948.

She is survived by a granddaughter, Mrs. Donald Wise, of Burbank, Calif.; the granddaughter in Fort Wayne; three nieces, Mrs. Bessie Tustison, of Springfield, O., Mrs. H. S. Kendall and Mrs. Mildred Walker, both of Ft. Wayne; and a nephew, George Patterson, of Deflance, Ohio.

Mrs. Maurer was a member of the Presbyterian Church in Auburn, the Fort Wayne Garden Club, the Auburn Garden Club and the WCTU.

Every key but the right one

Thanks

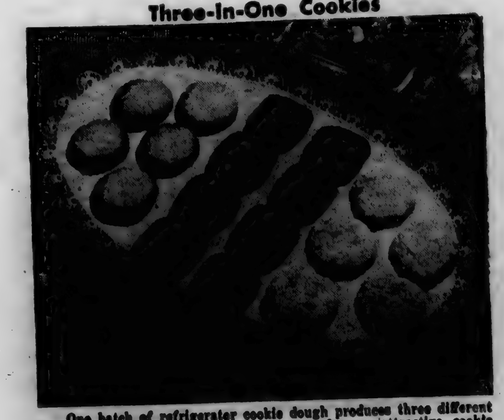
This might be more appropriate for the week in November set aside for turkey consumption, but we purposely didn't present the following at that time in the hope that it might mean more to our readers at a later comparatively insignificant date.

This is a note of thanksgiving—our giving "thanks" to our readers, young and old, for their cooperation in bringing news to the News. Maybe it's our imagination, but there seems to have been more to read about, locally that is, in the past few months than before. We attribute that to our helpers—that's you—who have been bringing items and stories to the News Office. Of course, the past few months have been rather active, what with plays, minstrels, work days, carnivals, bake sales, etc. However, it's not the season, the reason is plain as the moon—as the song goes—it's the cooperation of the people living in our community who take time to give us their news.

In a small community it takes the help of a lot of people to make their newspaper worthy of that name. We're getting a lot of help—and we'd like to get more so that our community will come to rely on its newspaper for information.

The more each one of us puts into our paper, the more each one of us will get out of our paper.

Three-In-One Cookies



One batch of refrigerator cookie dough produces three different flavors—vanilla, chocolate and orange—for an attractive cookie assortment.

Desserts are never a problem when you keep the cookie jar well stocked. That's easy to do when you depend on your baker for a tempting variety of cookies, or make your own at home.

Home baker's choice are cookie doughs which make up into two or three or even four different kinds by the simple addition of flavorings, nuts or coconut. In this class is today's featured refrigerator cookie. Flavor one-third of the batter with melted chocolate, another third with orange juice and rind and leave remaining third plain vanilla.

Chill the dough thoroughly for several hours or overnight. It keeps well when wrapped in waxed paper or pressed into a cookie mold, so that you can make up just the number of cookies needed at one time.

With a full cookie jar, you can dress up servings of fruit sauce or ice cream at a moment's notice, and have a ready accompaniment to hot chocolate or tea. Cost of these cookies is only about one-half cent apiece.

Sweets can be good for you as desserts made with enriched flour prove, for they provide protein, essential B-vitamins and food iron.

THREE-IN-ONE COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 square chocolate, melted
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 tablespoon shredded orange rind

Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg, milk and vanilla extract. Beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Divide dough into thirds. To one-third add melted chocolate, mixing it in thoroughly. To another third add orange juice and rind, mixing well. Leave remaining third plain. Shape each third into a roll. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill until very firm. Slice thin and bake on greased baking sheets in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 10 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen small cookies.

Idols Up-to-Date

Lesson for April 27, 1952

SOME PEOPLE THINK Jesus somehow did away with the Ten Commandments. Nothing of the sort. He showed them in new lights, showed them in a depth and height few if any had suspected; but he had no intention of abolishing them. One thing he seldom did—merely repeat the Commandments. That was hardly necessary, as most of his hearers knew them by heart. We fail not so much because we don't know what they mean.

Dr. Foreman

To the First Commandment, Thou shalt have no other gods before me, Jesus gave a startling new meaning. Readers of the Gospels will observe (and not only in this week's Scripture by any means) that Jesus demanded supreme loyalty, absolutely without exception. Christians take this seriously, when they are serious Christians, and we accept the tremendous claim sounding through such words as "if any man hate not . . . he cannot be my disciple."

In short, Christians understand that loyalty to God means loyalty to Christ. Taking orders from God means taking orders from Christ. We do not believe this to be idolatry because when we worship and honor Christ we do not pay this tribute to a mere man but to the One God who was one with his Son, and in him.

The "Almighty Dollar"

THE KIND of idols the ancient Israelites worshipped are no more. At least we see no more gilded calves, no more sacred pillars or brass snakes.

But modern man worships idols still, and even Christians are tempted to do so, just as much as any ancient Israelite. One of these perennial idols, of course, is money.

We measure success with a dollar yardstick; a man will do almost anything, not only not to be poor but even in order not to seem to be a little worse off than his neighbor. We should never forget Martin Luther's definition of a god: Whatever a man hangs his heart on and depends on, that is his god.

How many people hang their heart on property? It is not that money and what it will buy are evil things; the evil begins when we take a good thing and look at it as if it were the best thing.

The Crowd

ANOTHER POPULAR IDOL goes by various names. The most common name for this many-headed idol is "everybody." When we let "everybody" make our minds up for us; when we feel we just must do something, or have something, that "every one"else has or does; when we decide on what's right and what's wrong by taking a poll, or counting noses, then we are putting people in the place of God.

You can't get "ought" out of "is." You can't find what is right to be done merely by looking at what is done.

It is very poor arithmetic that adds up a million wrong acts and concludes that if a million people act that way it must be right! Everybody may be right, everybody may be wrong; but in either case it is God who is Judge; not man, not a million men. "One with God is a majority."

The Last Idol

ABOUT THE LAST IDOL a man ever throws away is one that is hardest to see, because to see it you have to look at yourself. The idol to which each of us bows down—far too often; the idol that takes God's place over and over again; this is none other than a man's own self.

"I am the master of my fate," he says, "I am the captain of my soul." Most sins come about in this way, don't they? Essentially that is what sin means, saying to God, "Get out of my way, let me by. Stop giving me orders, let me run my own affairs as I see fit."

Not that a sinning man consciously says such a thing, but when a man steers by his own cloudy notions instead of God's eternal Light, he has the wrong piles in the cockpit. Perhaps the most foolish of all things is to try to use God, in such a way that these idols may smile upon us!

We want God to bless us so that we can become rich; we want God to make us popular with the crowd; we demand that God help us in our own selfish plans. So even our prayers may be idolatrous.

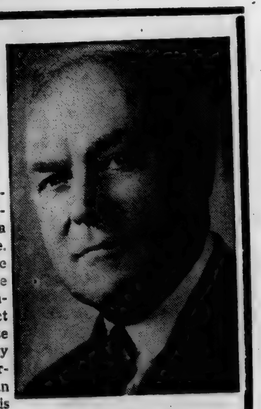
A Timely Suggestion



The desire for good government has increased so much recently that it now appears as a demand direct from the people. Past political records alone are not positive proof to support these new demands. Wholesale governmental changes are predicted. Act on this timely suggestion and vote for any change that is basicly sound and free from any apparent weakness. Your support in this coming primary election is sought on the promise of my best efforts for good government. Voting is more than a privilege. It is your duty. Think and then vote intelligently.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

In many parts of the United States, several neighboring small towns or several counties with sparse population are joining forces in order to afford a qualified medical officer and set up good public health services. In some states a new law is required to permit such consolidation.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Every parent knows that the right toys are very important to a normal child's development. They contribute to both his mental and physical health. Experts are developing special toys that encourage handicapped children to use crippled hands and feet.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Not if they are really frozen. Thaw them at room temperature—and call a doctor. Until you get help, wrap the frozen members warmly but keep them away from extreme heat, and rub above the frozen areas to increase circulation. New drugs that retard or prevent clotting of the blood are proving helpful in experiments with severe frostbite, reducing the number of amputations necessary. These experiments are particularly important now that frozen feet are a major reason for casualties among the fighting men in Korea.

100,000th ELECTRIC RANGE TO BE INSTALLED

A milestone in the history of Indiana & Michigan Electric Company will be reached this month when the 100,000th electric range will be connected to the utility's lines somewhere in its service area.

This fact was revealed last week by F. H. Korsmeyer, district manager of I & M, who said that the company is conducting a company-wide promotional program to celebrate the event.

Significance of the utility company's achievement to people of this area is found in comparison of local electric uses to national figures.

When the 100,000th electric range is installed, homemakers in about one-half of the homes served by Indiana & Michigan Electric Company will be cooking electrically. This represents a saturation of almost fifty percent as contrasted to the national average of only twenty-three percent.

The acceptance in the Butler District area of electric cooking as an important contribution to modern living somewhat parallels the growth of the electric appliance industry as a whole, according to Mr.Kosmeyer.

Around the turn of the century, the first product of the electric appliance indusry hit the market. It was a modest flatiron promoted by the electric companies. There were no appliance dealers then so utility company employees canvassed the areas they served with door-to-door selling.

Prompted by the reception of the flatiron, appliance manufactureres brought out a washing machine in 1907, followed by a vacuum cleaner. In 1914 the first electric refrigerator took its place among accepted household appliances.

In the years that followed, the combined efforts of the appliance dealers and manufacturers contributed to the growth of the appliance industry which today ranks second only to the auto industry in production of consumer hardgoods.

The electric utility industry's growth reads like that of the appliance industry. Acording to Mr. Korsmeyer, at the turn of the century, electricity was used only for lighting, and very litle at that. Even in the late '30's the average residential customer used only about 600 kilowatthours a year.

"Our 1951 average was 2824 kilowatthours and it is expected that by the end of this year, that figure will exceed 3,000," Mr. Korsmeyer said.

The utility manager points out that there are today over 300 different applications of electricity on the farm and in the home. He added that I & M is keeping pace with the increasing demands of their customers and evidenced that by pointing out the present expansion of facilities which calls for the expenditure of $88,000,000 during the next three years.

COBURNTOWN CHURCH NEWS

Last Thursday the Missionary group met for an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Witt. A pot luck dinner was enjoyed by all. It was the birthday of Darris Hamilton. There was a large chocolate cake with 38 candles on it for this occasion. He was presented with a beautiful white shirt. There were 21 ladies and eleven children present. Mrs. Hazel Littlefield presented the lesson. This group quilted a single and double size quilt for a Missionary group. It has not been decided as yet where to send it.

Saturday evening Coburn Corner's surprised Darris Hamilton at a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baney and son, Paul. He received lovely gifts. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The Busy Beaver's C. E. had an attendance of 22 boys and girls. Paulene Sweet led the lesson.

The Senior C. E. had an attendance of 16 young people. Group singing was led by Bonnie Sweet. Linda Morris led the lesson, "Enlarging Your Faith." Mr. and Mrs. Darris Hamilton sang two specials. Questions and the life problem were discussed. Bonnie Noack will lead next week's lesson.

There were 118 at the evening service. Mr. and Mrs. Darris Hamilton sang a special. The sermon was "Automobile Religion," followed by lots of spirited singing.

The young people will leave at 3:30 Friday morning on their trip to Cincinnati.

SHOOT SUNDAY

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold a practice shoot Sunday, April 27, at the club grounds west of St. Joe.

The shoot starts at 12:01 p.m.

The main program will be at 100 targets. There will also be practice and 10-bird events for merchandise if time permits.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my old friends and neighbors for their kindness and consideration expressed in their letters and lovely cards sent to my family and self during the illness and at the death of my son, William Robert, who passed away March 15.

Let's look at the Record

The House Journal, which is the voting record of your Legislature, shows that I have been an advocate of the following:

1. The return of more State money to local government units.
2. Less invasion of the Federal Government into State and Local units. Also less encroachment of the State Government into Local Governments.
3. Better and more adequate educational facilities.
4. The abolition of certain useless, worthless State bureaus, boards and commissions. Also combining those having similar or like powers and duties.
5. Raising Indiana among the states in Health Standing and more particular for mental health patients.
6. Expanding State Police to insure preservation of our highways and to make them safer from unscrupulous drivers.

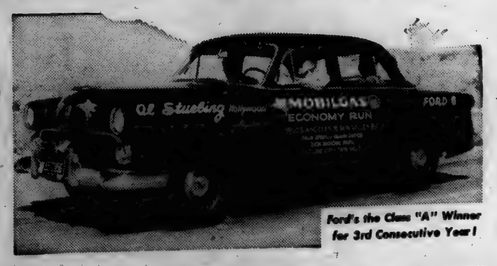
Mobilgas Economy Run



Ford's the Class "A" Winner for 3rd Consecutive Year!

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

Again this year . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this toughest test, a Ford Six with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53.855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon. A very important contributing factor is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas. Pound for pound, Ford's All-New Mileage Maker Six is definitely the most economical low-priced car to run!

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chances for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons consumed.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, May 1, 1952 — NUMBER 18

Around the Town

With the Editor

Dewey White had a double dose of trouble last week.

His school bus was jacked up just north of town for a flat tire. But it wasn't just one—he had two blowouts within a short distance, both wheels of his left rear duals.

The "carnival" at Spencerville reportedly netted around $470 for the school cafeteria fund. That totals approximately $1100 with which the P.T.A. can work.

Ilef Ringenberg and Lois and Lynn Fisher described some of the concessions the students had prepared. One of them was called "Fancy Hats." Everything but the proverbial kitchen sink was used to create the various styles. In fact, Lynn said Noel Young had to buy one of the hats in order to get back his fishing lure feathers.

The chicken and noodle supper and white elephant auction were very successful, too.

—All of which shows what we can do for ourselves if we try.

The track team doesn't get much notice in the smaller schools probably because suitable facilities aren't available for that division of sports.

But Coach Jim Tatlock nevertheless has had fairly satisfactory success with his boys this year, having won a meet from Waterloo, tied Ashley in a three-way meet with Garrett, dropped another to Ashley by only 8 points and then there's that one with Auburn and Butler in which they got only 9 points.

One of the bright spots in the track efforts has been Ambrose Dulle. I hear he's greased lightning on the cinder path. I believe it was in the mile relay last Friday against Waterloo that he was anchor man—that means last one of the four-man team to tote the baton, I just found out. Anyhow, Ambrose overcame a 45-yard lead the Waterloo team had—in a quarter of a mile!

1st Track Win In School's History

The St. Joe High School track team won the first meet in the history of the school Friday, outpointing Waterloo 70-61. The locals copped 8 firsts, 3 seconds, 3 ties for second and 7 thirds. Waterloo had 5 firsts, 8 seconds, 3 ties for second and 2 thirds.

The first efforts of the trackmen on April 15 weren't too successful. Against Auburn with a total of 79 points and Butler with 29, St. Joe gained but 9. Then on the 17th the locals came home defeated but respectably so. In spite of taking 6 firsts to Ashley's 5, the Tigers were outpointed in the seconds and thirds and dropped a 60 1-2 to 52 1-2 meet.

The freshmen and sophomores tied Ashley April 18th with 63 points as Garrett totaled only 12.

Jo Bowser Honored By Music Society

Jo Anne Bowser is one of three freshmen at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, to be chosen for membership in Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a national honorary musical society for women.

A student in the Conservatory of Music at Wittenberg, Jo was an honor guest at a "pledge" banquet given April 26 by the Sigma Alpha Iota chapter of the society. Membership is conferred upon students who show excellence in scholarship and musical ability.

After the annual "closed" recital in early April, only three freshmen from the Conservatory were pledged, due to the high scholarship quotient requisite for membership. Jo was "tops" as a major in piano, the other pledges being majors in voice and instrument.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowser, Jo is a graduate of Concord Twp. High School, Class of '51.

Judging Teams Win Laurels In District Contest

St. Joe 4-H livestock judging teams placed first and second and captured five of the six individual awards at the county elimination event April 16 at the Chas. Mason farm near Auburn. The competition included teams from Waterloo, Garrett, Spencerville and Butler.

The team placing first was composed of Neil Wisler with a score of 334, Joe Wagner 324, Junior Westrick 304 and Sam Morr 275.

The second team, composed of freshmen, was as follows: Lee Davis 315, David Fry 298, Lorn DeLong 287 and Robert Lochamire 272.

Individual placing in competition with 29 participants were as follows:

Wisler 1st, Wagner 2nd, Davis 3rd, Westrick 5th and Fry 6th.

The winning team was first in the county last year and placed 14th in final ranking in the state finals out of a starting field of about 600 teams.

Publicity of this event was withheld until a decision from the county council could be made regarding a school winning both first and second places. The council voted that St. Joe would be given both awards.

By placing three teams in the first or second bracket in county competition, St. Joe High School represented DeKalb County with three teams at the district judging contest at Wabash Wednesday, April 23. There were 12 counties represented in the meet and two teams from each county. In each event the maximum of 24 teams competed. Only the top 25 percent of the teams from each event were permitted to advance further in state competition. Therefore, six teams from this district in livestock judging, dairy judging, poultry and eggs, crops and entomology will compete at Purdue University on June 11. During the contest the boys were required to judge two classes each of sheep, hogs and beef cattle. The boys were required to give reasons "why" they placed three of the classes as they did.

The St. Joe team, composed of Joe Wagner with a score of 334, Junior Westrick 366, Sam Morr 362 and Neil Wisler 342, placed fourth in the livestock judging event. This qualifies St. Joe to enter a team in the Purdue event in June.

The second team did nearly as well but missed the the qualifying score by only 8 points. The 6th place team scored 1048 and the local boys 1040.

The second team and scores are as follows:

Loren DeLong 363, Paul Baney 356, Lee Davis 319 and Robert Lochamire 275.

Lochamire was pinch-hitting for David Fry.

The lowest score on each team is not counted in the team score when the results are tabulated.

The crops team did not qualify for further competition in the district event. The local team and their scores are as follows:

Norman Morr 635, Dale Smith 625, Kenneth Walters 665 and Bob DeLong 583.

The winning team from Kosciusko County scored 2095 to St. Joe's 1925.

CULTURE CLUB

The Culture Club met with Mrs. Frank Monroe Wednesday night, April 23, with Mrs. Harvey Carr as co-hostess. The collect was rea in unison to open the meeting.

The club regrets very much to lose Mrs. Margaret Wagner as an active member and has presented her with a gift of remebrance.

Mrs. Duker, a former member, extended an invitation to come to her home at Wabash for the mid-summer meeting and the club accepted the invitation.

After the business session, election of officers was held with the following results:

President—Mrs. Lynn Fisher.

Vice president—Mrs. Roy Bowser.

Secretary—Mrs. Merl Furnish.

Assistant secretary—Mrs. Virgil Laux.

Treasurer—Mrs. Olen Waltz.

Critic—Mrs. Joseph Baidinger.

Assistant critic—Mrs. Sam Armstrong.

Press correspondent—Mrs. Dewey White.

Assistant press correspondent—Mrs. Rose Anthony.

A tasty lunch was served by the committee.

Achievement Banquet May 9

On Friday night, May 9, the Concord Twp. P. T. A. will present its first School Achievement Banquet. Scheduled to get under way at 6:30 p.m. DST, the banquet will be a community pot luck, with families bringing their own table service. The meal will be held in the school gym, with tables provided.

As a part of the entertainment, the school band will give a demonstration of its ability under the direction of its leader, Mr. Carl Zimmerman. This will be an excellent opportunity for the community to see and hear the band it has so nicely begun supporting.

The principal feature of the banquet will be the presentation of the awards for achievement in high school. Awards will be given for the highest academic rankings (the valedictorian and salutatorian), citizenship (one boy and one girl), attendance, language arts, social studies, commerce, vocational agriculture, home economics, mathematics science and best all-around athlete (one boy and possibly a girl).

The committee in charge of the program is as follows: Mrs. John F. Dilley, chairman; Mrs. Robert Sechler and Mrs. Charles E. McCreery. The committee on decorations and food are Mrs. Ruth Butler, chairman; Mrs. June Baker and Mrs. Victor Coburn. Information pertaining to the banquet may be had from members of the committees or by phoning the school.

May Month Of Senior Activity

The Senior Class of Concord Twp. High School begins its final month of school activities Friday, May 2, when they visit Fort Wayne with the Junior Class on a field trip. The classes will inspect the International Harvester plant and Coca Cola bottling plant. They will dine at the English Terrace and then attend a movie at the Clyde Theatre

On Tuesday, May 6, the senior girls will go to Fort Wayne for a trip through the home furnishing department of Wolf and Dessauer. They will also visit a paint store for a demonstration in home decorating and a hosiery manufacturing plant.

The trip is sponsored by the home ec club and is in charge of Mrs. Butler.

The senior trip this year will feature a two-day visit in New Orleans, passing through Memphis on the trip down south and returning through Birmingham and Nashville. The class leaves May 10 and will return a week later. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Akey and Mr. and Mrs. James Tatlock will accompany the seniors.

The calendar for the remainder of the senior month of May is as follows:

Saturday, May 17—Junior-Senior Banquet at Howard Johnson's Restaurant in Fort Wayne.

Sunday, May 18—Baccalaureate services at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe at 2 p.m.

Tuesday, May 20—Exams begin.

Friday, May 23—Last day of school.

Saturday, May 24—Commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Dr. Thurman Rice of the state board of health will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the school band. Guest soloist will be Mr. Lawrence Merriweather, outstanding negro spiritual and classical soloist. Mr. Merriweather can be heard Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. over station WGL. He is also a member of the Philharmonic Choir of Fort Wayne.

Parents' Band Booster Club Organized

A few weeks ago the parents of school band members discussed with Mr. Carl Zimmerman, band director, the possibilty of organizing a band booster club. They elected Lehr Wilder president, and Olivia Keeler vice-president.

Mr. Wilder appointed several committee chairmen, namely Harvey Carr as head of the finance committee, Rose Anthony head of the nominating committee, Olivia Keeler head of the constitution and by-laws committee and Katy Crow head of the membership comittee. This group met with Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. McCreery at the school house to round out the comittees and make other plans. Organization of the group was completed Wednesday night of last week at band practice.

Mrs. Dorothy Kimes was elected secretary, Mrs. Gretchen Noragon assistant secretary, Mrs. Fern Carr treasurer and Mrs. Ralph Hook assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Keeler presented the by-laws which were changed slightly and then accepted. Dues were set at fifty cents per member and all who are interested in the band are invited to join.

It was voted that parents of the band members purchase white duck trousers, white long sleeve shirts, black shoes, belts and bow ties to make a better appearance for the band.

Mr. Zimmerman made the assurance that the group will have many interesting things to do. The band will practice marching until school is out in preparation for Memorial Day observance. It is planned to participate in the county fair next fall also, in addition to other acitivities.

Meetings of the booster club are held on the third Monday of each month at 8 p.m. DST and at 7:30 p.m. during the winter months.

The membership committee is Mrs. Crow, Mrs. William Longerbone, Mrs. Clayton Baker, Mrs. Fred Kruse and Mr and Mrs. Wilder.

The nominating committee included Mrs. Anhtony, Mrs. Virgil Gerig and Mrs. Lenard Fisher.

The by-laws committee was Mrs. Keeler, Mr. Karl Hart, Mrs. Dorothy Kimes, Mrs. Gretchen Noragon and Mrs. Clayton Baker.

The finance committee is Mr. Carr, Mr. Holman, Mrs. Ewell, Mrs. LaRowe, Mr. Kimes, Mr. Gerig and Mr. Woodring.

Visitors Day For 6-Year-Olds

The annual "day of reckoning" has arrived for the six-year-olds of the community.

Friday, May 2, has been set aside by the primary department of the Concord Twp. School to acquaint the new enrollees for next fall's school term with the surroundings of the school.

Each year the yong boys and girls who give up their year-around life of fun and play get a small dose of what is in store for them for the next twelve or more years of their lives. In order to be eligible for school enrollment next fall, a child must be six years old by October 10, 1952. Birth certificates will not be necessary for this visiting day, but will be required to enroll in the fall. It is recommended that the child have smallpox vaccination and diphtheria shots.

Children may visit all day in order to become familiar with school surrondings. Parents are urged to let their children make the visit if at at possible. Mr. Charles McCreery, principal, and Mrs. Frieda Guilford, primary teacher, have given their assurance that the day will be made as pleasant an experience as possible.

The way most kids feel, that should read—"if possible"!

Movies Begin Next Week In St. Joe

St. Joe will be the center of attraction for the kids again this summer as several of the local business men will sponsor the outdoor movies this year.

Mr. Forrest Harding, who has been showing pictures here for the past two years, will be the conductor of the weekly entertainment and has booked several entertaining movies for the entire family.

The first in the series of eighteen will be shown next Wednesday, May 7, on the main street in St. Joe. The title of the first show is "Blondie's Big Moment."

PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY

Voters will go to the polls on Tuesday, May 6, to name their candidates for the coming November elections.

St. Joe voters will go to the town hall to cast their ballots. The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p.m. DST.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Washington whitewash

Where Are We Going?

Where are we going—perhaps that question should be preceded by—"where have we been?"

Apparently too few Americans actually realize "where we've been." The "we" refers to mankind in general in his quest for perfect government. Of course, perfect government is not possible because perfect man is not possible. But perfection is the goal of imperfect man and, likewise, perfection is the goal of imperfect government. —Or should be.

Where have we been?

Anyone with a high school education should have a general idea of where we have been. History has recorded the rise and fall of nations, the first to come to mind being "the rise and fall of the Roman Empire." And in the recording of history, including accounts in school text books, we find the familiar words "corruption," "lust," "personal gain," "favoritism" and the like. Those words come, however, after other descriptive chapters of a "great nation," "honesty," "good government" and "good leaders." The undesirable characteristics came after a certain amount of perfection had been reached. Instead of eliminating the vices and corruption, thus preserving the stability gained through years of struggle and hardship, people gave in to the temptations of material possessions, accepted and practiced the very things which are contrary to the Christian conception of freedom and liberty, and brought about their own destruction.

Where have we been?

It seems like ages ago, when we read accounts of the Pilgrims, of those who relinquished a place to live—oppressive though it may have been, our forefathers nevertheless abandoned their homeland—to come to an unknown land to rebuild their lives and prepare a place for coming generations which would not bear the marks of oppression they had suffered. But it really hasn't been so long. Not long enough, at least, that we should forget our early American history; not long enough to forget that this nation was born because of oppression—in religion, in government, in personal lives; that it was a momentous decision to make in leaving "home," that conditions which arose three and four hundred years ago can and do arise today and will continue to arise unless the people themselves take action.

1776—1876—1976—why it hasn't been two hundred years yet since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It isn't too rare nowadays to read of men and women who have lived half as long as our nation has existed independently. And here we are—the United States of America—turning our noses at the thought of preserving and practicing the fundamentals which built the United States of America.

History should be our greatest teacher. But mankind's overwhelming weakness—forgetfulness—shuts his eyes from the lesson.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH I. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:7; Matthew 6:33-37; 23:16-22; Mark 7:6-8; Luke 6:46; 11:1-4.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 1:10-18.

Profane Living

Lesson for May 4, 1952

NO ONE has ever claimed that profane language is good language, not even the people who use it. But there is something worse than profane language: a profane life.

We are told in the New Testament that Esau was a profane man, but in all that the Bible tells of him we never hear him uttering a single bad word. The Third Commandment is: Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain. (In some numberings it is the second commandment, but it's not the number that is most important, it is what is in it that counts.

Dr. Foreman

Most people think that all that means is that we should not take lightly the name of God. Indeed we should not; it is surely a sin to treat the Almighty God with less respect than you would treat your own parents. But irreverent language is only a symptom; the disease is the irreverent life.

• • •

God's Name Should Mean Something

LOOK at that Commandment a little more closely. What does "in vain" mean?

In the Old Testament the same word is often used to mean useless, uselessly, or to no purpose. (See, for example, Psalm 60:11; 89:47; 108:12; Jeremiah 4:30; 46:11.)

What the Third Commandment means, then, most of all, is this: Do not take the name of God and make a lie out of it. Do not take the name of God to no purpose.

If This Is Your Father's World—

LET'S ASSUME you are a Christian. If so, you have already taken God's name, when you were being baptized into "the Name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost." You have taken upon yourself the great Triune Name of the living God, you are one of his namebearers, you have acknowledged your place in his family.

Now then, look on the world around you, the stars above you, the atoms below and in you, all that lives and moves and is . . . Do you sing, "This is my Father's world"?

MY Father's world—do you mean that? You ought to mean it. If you do, you will always treat that world with respect; you will not, for instance, waste its resources. If you own land you will treat that land as if it were your Father's—which it is. If you own animals you will remember that the same Lord who made you made them, and you will not be cruel.

You Have a Birthright

ESAU is called a profane man, and in the same sentence it is said that he despised his birthright. Profane living means not living up to the plans God has for you, it means living below your true self.

The man who lets the image of God in him get all smeared over with sin and self-indulgence, the man who prefers the society of God's enemies to that of his friends, the man who in spite of his baptism lives as if he had never been baptized, the man who never reminds any one of God even though in some card-index he is listed as a "church member," the man who though he is God's namebearer is a God-forgetter, living as if the devil were his father and not God,— this is the profane man.

If such a man uses profanity of speech, and he probably will, his language is only the bubbles on the top of a very sour life. You the Christian have a birthright as a child of God; do you live up to it?

Whose Plans?

IF you are a name-bearer of God, then if you live up to that name the least you can do is to take God into your plans, or rather to fit yourself into his plans.

If, for instance, you are going to be married you will not leave God out. You will want to be married in a Christian way, and take the Christian vows. The word "God" used hurriedly in a merely legal ceremony is taken lightly and vainly enough.

But even more profane is the married life which began in a church at an altar, with the most solemn vows; but ends in loveless neglect or in cruel bitterness. Don't leave God out!

FARM WAGE RATES CONTINUE TO RISE

Indiana farm wage rates as of April 1 topped rates of a year ago which were then acclaimed to be at the highest level on record, according to agricultural statisticians at Purdue University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Even though farm wage rates have risen in Indiana during the past year, there are only two states in the 12 North Central states that have lower farm wage rates than Indiana.

Monthly farm wage rates with house average $135 as compared with an average of $122 a year ago for the same date. Monthly wages with board and room average $104 this year but were only $98 on April 1, 1951.

Universal Starts Tractor Deliveries

Universal Tool made its first shipment of farm tractors last week from its Butler plant. The shipment included four units and went to northern Wisconsin.

The tractors, considerably larger than those used in this part of the country, were formerly produced at Shelbyville. Universal took over that plant last year and Saturday's shipment was the first from Butler

Raymond Pratt, superintendent of the tractor division, said that Universal is proud of the new units and it is expected to produce five tractors a week on the production lines.

Although the tractors are large, they have the same general appearance as most farm tractors. At the present time, two sizes are being built, in both row-crop type and wide-track front wheels.. The larger model has a drawbar rating of 48 horsepower, while the smaller model is rated at 42 horsepower. They are referred to as three and four-bottom plow units and are used extensively in the wheat districts of the United States and Canada.

The tractors are powered with 6-cylinder Chrysler industrial engines with fluid-drive transmission.

The units are not marketed under any particular trade name, but are produced for distributors under various names. The first shipment carried the brand name "Custom."

Several tools and attachments such as corn plows are also expected to be in production at the Butler plant in the near future, Mr. Pratt said.

INDIANA-MICHIGAN TAX BILL $972,175.73

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. this week paid its spring tax installment of $972,175.73 on 1951 real and personal property owned in Indiana, it was announced this week by Frank Korsmeyer, Butler district manager.

I&M owns property in 32 Indiana counties. In addition the company will pay $179,203.58 in taxes on real and personal property in four Michigan counties.

Indiana & Michigan will pay over $2,123,000 in real and personal property taxes which is in addition to all other taxes levied on the company totaling this year nearly $10,000,000, according to Mr. Korsmeyer.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

A mother's milk is the best food for baby. The nutritional start so received by the infant is a determining factor in the growth and development of the child and in later health of the adult. Human milk is the natural food for infants during at least the first six months of life.

Mother's milk for baby has many advantages. Easily digested, it is readily available at the proper temperature. No preparation is necessary, it is economical, and such errors in preparation are avoided as contamination of the formula by bacteria. Fewer and less serious feeding difficulties occur with breast fed infants than with artificially fed infants.

The psychological factor should not be overlooked, for breast feeding vastly improves the mother-child relationship.

Many modern mothers are reluctant to nurse their offspring. They claim it curtails their activities and they fear it will cause them to lose breast tone and gain weight, neither of which need be true.

There are infants who must be fed artificially, such as premature babies unable to suck and those with cleft lip or palate. A few infants are allergic to their mother's milk. And, some mothers, for one reason or another, are unable to supply the necessary amount of milk to nourish the baby.

If the mother wants her child to have the proper start in life, she should nurse her infant if she can.

Experience of thousands of homemakers proves it: an electric range is your best dollar-for-dollar buy. The reason is the extra features that you won't find in any other range.

1. Extra Safety . . . as safe as your electric lights.
2. Extra Cleanliness . . . no soot to get walls and curtains dirty.
3. Extra Coolness . . . measured heat — automatic control — heavy insulation assure this.

And other conveniences that you want, too, like the automatic timer—minute minder—warming oven—deep-well cooker — and lighting for top of range cooking.

For all the "plusses" of an electric range, you'll find—as Mrs. G. Glazier says—"It's definitely cheap to operate." See the newest electric ranges at your dealer's today. There's a model just for you.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Jr Home Demonstration Club held its April meeting at the home of Marcelle Storer. The meeting was opened with the singing of the club prayer. Mildred Hanson then gave the history of the song "Old Oaken Bucket" and the ladies joined in singing that song.

Devotions were given by Ruth Coburn. Miss Mary Lenore Moore, guest of the evening, gave a very good lesson on legal procedures.

Katy Crow prompted every one to be sure to attend the poultry school which was held in Auburn on April 10.

Marcelle Storer gave a report on the monthly roadside council meeting. The club voted to give a donation to the cancer fund.

Roll call was answered by 19 members. Mrs. Esther Longerbone was accepted as a member. Secretary's report was read and approved. The meeting was then closed by repeating the club creed. The hostess then served delicious refreshments. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lulu Allison.

LEO AUXILIARY NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of the Leo Legion Auxiliary will be held May 7 at the post home on the Leo road. Mrs. Vernon Halter, president, will preside over the business meeting and Mrs. Walter Dean, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the slate.

According to Mrs. Hubert Hudson, Poppy chairman of the unit of the Amercian Legion Auxiliary, making memorial poppies to be worn in honor of the nation's war dead on Poppy Day in May is providing profitable employment for the idle hands of thousands of disabled war veterans. The work is going forward in veterans hospitals and convalescent workrooms in all parts of the country. It is considered highly valuable as occupational therapy, Mrs. Hudson said. It also gives the disabled men the encouraging experience of earning money again. More than 25 million of the little red crepe paper memorial flowers have been ordered by auxiliary units for Poppy Day distribution.

The regular monthly social party was held last week at the post home. Cards were played and refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The April meeting of the Concord Home Economics Club was held at the home of Emma Trenary. The meeting was called to order by the president, Gertrude Borthwick, with members reading the creed and singing the club song. This was followed by the song, "I Would Be True." Devotions were given by Laura Washler. Secretary's report was read and approved.

23 members, one visitor and 2 children were present. Project lesson on detergents was given by Emma Trenary and Mable Tustison.

A musical contest was conducted by Cora Curie. A reading then was given by Myrtle Pugsley followed by a reading by Lula Armstrong on her visit to the fair and the funny people she saw there.

The song of the month was read by Harriett Johnson and sung by the members in closing the meeting.

Emma Trenary, Mary Trenary, Marie Akins and Edna Jenkins served a delicious lunch.

The members were shocked and grieved to hear of the death of Laura McClellan, a member of the club. Sympathy was extended to the bereaved family.

Let's look at the Record
The House Journal, which is the voting record of your Legislature, shows that I have been an advocate of the following:
1. The return of more State money to local government units.
2. Less invasion of the Federal Government into State and Local units. Also less encroachment of the State Government into Local Governments.
3. Better and more adequate educational facilities.
4. The abolition of certain useless, worthless State bureaus, boards and commissions. Also combining those having similar or like powers and duties.
5. Raising Indiana among the states in Health Standing and more particular for mental health patients.
6. Expanding State Police to insure preservation of our highways and to make them safer from unscrupulous drivers.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, May 8, 1952 — NUMBER 19

Roscoe Walter Takes Local Primary, 2-1

Less than fifty percent of Concord Township's 400-plus eligible voters turned out at the primaries Tuesday. 172 to be exact requested ballots at the town hall in St. Joe.

An incomplete Democratic ticket and but three contests on the Republican side contributed to the light voting.

Roscoe Walter polled 88 votes to Charles Miser's 47 in the race for nomination for state representative on the Republican ticket. Miss Hildred Ensley also topped her opponent, John Brown, 80 to 53.

The complete unofficial returns for Concord Township are as follows:

Legion Fights Senate Bill

The American Legion, through its posts and members, is endeavoring to stop passage of a bill before Congress (S-1140) which would merge the medical and hospital service of the Veterans Administration "with other Federal medical services and call the new creation the Department of Health."

The Legion is fearful that medical services now given veterans under the VA would be eliminated under the proposed bill and is urging that members write to their congressmen before May 10 to voice their disapproval. It contends that the veteran is "now faced by a vicious foe in the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, who, by false and misleading propaganda are in the process of destroying all that the American Legion has accomplished for the welfare of the veteran."

"The Citizens Committee has a big slush fund and are spending it freely through the press, radio, magazines, television, motion pictures, the public rostrum, pamphlets, posters, etc. -- all this to influence the public and to bring pressure on the Congress to pass their sponsored bills."

Walter Whitehurst Post 283 of St. Joe is participating in the effort to prevent the passage of the Senate bill.

County coroner—Clayton B. Hathaway 119.

County surveyor—Arnold Milks 118.

County commissioner, north district—Frank Schuster 111.

County commissioner, southeast district—Claude Laub 112.

Delegate to state convention—Lloyd Yeiser 115.

Precinct committeeman—William J. Staman 117.

ORDINANCE NO. 27

An ordinance to regulate the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, labeling, regrading and sale of milk and milk products; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants, the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors; permit fees; appointment of inspectors and sanitary police; the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products; repealing all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith and fixing penalties.

Be it ordained by the Town Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana:

Section 1. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or his authorized representative shall have supervision over the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, regrading, labeling and sale of all milk and milk products sold for ultimate consumption within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants; the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors and the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products.

Section 2. Grade A Milk Ordinance. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, in the performance of his duties under Section 1 of this ordinance, shall adopt as the standards to be followed the provisions in paragraph HDP4G entitled "Certified Milk Identity" and paragraph HDP4H entitled "Grade A Milk and Milk Products" of a regulations of the Indiana State Board of Health duly passed on September 13, 1945, and filed with the Secretary of State on October 18, 1945, entitled "Regulations Relating to Dairy Products, Including Definitions and Standards of Identity." For the purpose of interpreting the aforesaid requirements, the unabridged form of Public Health Bulletin No 220 entitled "The 1939 edition of the Milk Ordinance and Code recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service," and such future amendements as may be made to this Bulletin shall be used. Two certified copies of said Public Health Bulletin No. 220 shall be placed on file in the office of the Town Clerk-Treasurer for public inspection.

Section 3. The sale of adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk products prohibited. No person shall within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, produce, sell, offer or expose for sale, or have in possession with intent to sell, any milk or milk prodcut which is adulterated, misbranded or ungraded. It shall be unlawful for any person, elsewhere than in a private home, to have in possession any adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk product.

Section 4. Permits. It shall be unlawful for any person to bring into or receive into the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, for sale, or to sell, or offer for sale therein, or to have in storage where milk or milk products are sold or served, any milk or milk product defined in this Ordinance who does not possess a permit from the health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana.

Only a person who complies with the requirements of this ordinance shall be entitled to receive and retain such a permit.

Such a permit may be suspended by the health officer, or revoked after an opportunity for a hearing by the health office, upon the violation by the holder of any of the terms of this ordinance. Any person, firm or corporation shall have the right to take an appeal from any decision of the health officer to the DeKalb County Circuit Court, as in other civil cases.

Section 4a. Permit fees. The permit fee for the sale or disposal of milk or milk products in the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, shall be as follows:

(a) All milk plants engaged in the processing and distribution of pasteurized fluid milk or milk products shall pay a permit fee of four cents (4c) per hundredweight on all milk received for such purposes.

(b) All milk pasteurization plants purchasing sweet cream for resale as pasteurized cream shall pay a permit fee of one cent (1c) per pound butterfat on all cream received for such purposes.

Fees referred to in (a) and (b) shall be paid on or before the 15th day of the month for the previous month, the first payment being due thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Ordinance. The original weight sheets and other records shall be made available once each month to the Town Clerk for determination of these fees. All plants operating under provisions (a) and (b) above shall purchase milk by weight and not by volume. Any dairy selling direct to any other dairy or dairies which purchasing dairy or dairies pay the permit fee on the hundredweight as above set out on the milk so produced shall not be required to pay either of the aforesaid permit fees. Provided, further, that any person, firm or corporation having a permit issued by the health officer of any other municipality or other unit of government operating under the standards required by this ordinance shall be exempt from paying permit fees required in Section 4: provided, however, every such person, firm or corporation shall, in lieu of such permit fees, pay a flat license fee of $25.00 per year for each truck or other vehicle used in transporting or delivering milk or other dairy products to distributors or ultimate consumers within the corporate limits of said town and every such truck or vehicle shall display a suitable license tag issued by the town evidencing the payment of such license.

These fees shall be paid to the Town Clerk of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, and shall be used only for the salary, expenses and supplies of an enforcement officer.

Section 5. From and after twelve (12) months from the date on which this Ordinance takes effect no milk or milk products shall be sold to the final consumer, or to restaurants, soda fountains, grocery stores or similar establishments, except Grade A Pasteurized or Certified Pasteurized milk or milk products as defined in the standards required to be adopted by this Ordinance; provided that when any milk distributor fails to qualify for one of the above grades the health officer is authorized to revoke his permit, or in lieu thereto to degrade his product and permit its sale during a temporary period not exceeding thirty (30) days or in emergencies such longer period as he may deem necessary.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the President of the Town Board to employ such sanitary police and inspectors, with the approval of the health officer having jurisdiction and the State Board of Health, as may be necessary for the enforcement of this ordinance and who shall be the authorized representative of the health officer having jurisdiction to perform such duties of inspection and reports as may be necessary for the full enforcement of this Ordinance.

Such sanitary police and inspectors shall be persons well qualified for the performance of said duties and shall be paid such sum as may be agreed upon by the President of the Town Board and the health officer having jurisdiction out of such funds as may hereafter be appropriated therefore by the Town Board.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this Ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollers ($100.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty (30) days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Each and every violation of the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 8. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after its passage and legal advertising.

Section 9. If any section, subdivision or clause of this Ordinance shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance.

Passed at a regular meeting of the board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe on the 5th day of May, 1952.

Mrs. Daisy Markle Fatally Injured

A 73-year-old Spencerville widow, Mrs. Daisy Markle, was fatally injured early Thursday morning when she was struck by an automobile while crossing state road 1 in Spencerville.

The elderly widow was struck by a 1951 Ford driven by Mrs. Jean Nebehy, also of Spencerville.

Death resulted from a broken neck. In addition, Mrs. Markle sustained severe body bruises, a compound fracture of her left leg and probable internal injuries. She died a few minutes after the accident.

Her death was the third traffic fatality in DeKalb County in 1952.

According to Sheriff Frank Carpenter who investigated the accident, Mrs. Markle had gone to the post office shortly after 7:30 a.m. Thursday to pick up her mail. She was enroute home when the accident occurred at 7:45 a.m.

The sheriff said Mrs. Markle had walked in the street around several parked cars because the sidewalk in front of a factory at Spencerville was obstructed with boxes. At an alley intersection with the state highway she started to cross the street.

Mrs. Nebehy, driving south, said she saw Mrs. Markle approach the center of the highway and swerved to the left to pass to the rear of the widow.

At the same time, the sheriff said, Mrs. Markle, apparently seeing the car approaching, hurriedly turned to return to the sidewalk. Mrs. Nebehy was unable to stop or swerve to avoid striking the woman. The impact knocked the elderly woman about 25 or 30 feet.

There was only minor damage to the car.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at the Methodist Church in Spencerville. Rev. E. J. Gilford officiated at the services and burial was in the Scipio Cemetery near Hicksville.

Mrs. Markle was born June 3, 1878, in Springfield Township, Allen County. She resided nearly all her life in the Spencerville community. Her husband, the late Louis Markle, died in 1949. Six years ago the couple moved to Spencerville after retiring from their farm near the town.

Mrs. Markle was the daughter of the late Harry and Samantha Beery. Surviving is a brother, Harley Beery, of Fort Wayne.

COUNTY TO BE HONORED

DeKalb County will be saluted on the popular radio program, "Sunday on the Farm," to be broadcast by radio station WLW, Cincinnati, Sunday, May 11, 1952.

Fair Budget Set At $13,417

Directors of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair Association recently approved a budget of $13,417 to cover expenses of the forthcoming 1952 event.

The directors and superintendents met in the assembly room of the court house to approve the budget.

The budget, approximately the same in amount as the expense budget setup for the 1951 fair, includes all anticipated expense.

One item in the budget sets aside funds for hiring a 15-piece commercial band to play each day at the fair.

Fair officials said receipts at this year's event are expected to offset the expenses in the budget.

Fair officials also announced appointment of the remaining superintendents for the fair. They include: Richard Smith of near Waterloo, superintendent of the tractor pulling contest; Paul Post of east of Auburn, chairman of the membership committee; Derwood Ridgway of St. Joe, chairman of the Old Settler's Day program.

THE AMERICAN WAY

"... which the taxpayer doth deny!"

Keep Cool

With the primary election now a thing of the past, for 1952 at least, attention will now turn to the conventions of the two major political parties. There probably will be quite a bit of bickering and perhaps mud-slinging within and without each party. It sometimes is puzzling why men of high standing resort to such childish antics until we realize that everyone is guilty of the same at some time or another and, therefore, it probably has its desired effect on at least some of the population. And after all, that is what the candidates will be seeking in their campaigning—an effect on the population.

It would be best if, as we experience the frenzy of the coming months, we pay little attention to the speeches, accusations, counter-accusations, and so on, which will be heard, and make our decision as to the leaders of the United States for the next four years on the basis of the past records of the candidates. Too many base their choices on what so-and-so says about this or that candidate rather than on what that candidate has done. Too many base their decision on whether the candidate has done anything for "me" instead of "my country."

Don't pay too much attention to politics' hot air during the next few months. According to an unofficial report received this week, they're just trying to get your vote!

Spencerville Class Graduates May 19

Graduation exercise for the Spencerville Class of '52 will be held on May 18 and 19.

Baccalaureate will be held at the Spencerville Lutheran Church on Sunday, May 18, at 7:30 p.m. The address will be given by the Rev. Allen K. Trout, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Auburn.

The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. E. J. Gilford, pastor of the Spencerville Methodist Church. Mrs. Virgil Koch will play the processional while the school chorus will present "Ave Verum" and "Softly Now the Light of Day."

Commencement exercises for the class will be held at the community building on Monday, May 19, at 8 p.m.

The program for the commencement is as follows: Processional, Mrs. Virgil Koch; Invocation, Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Spencerville; Salutatory, Patsy Akey; music, "Thou My Only Light," graduation address, Rev. Gerald H. Jones; presentation of Bibles, St. Joe Spencerville Lions Club; Valedictory, Margery Hollabaugh; music, "Farewell"; presentation of diplomas, Roger A. Hess, principal; acceptance of diplomas, Edward Hook; presentation of awards, Mr. Hess; and benediction. Rev. Baker.

The members of the graduating class are as follows: Patsy Akey, Margery Hollabaugh, Carolyn Kimes, Helen Surfus, Madolyn Reid, Patricia Timmerman, Gloria Steward, Bonnie Furnish, Peggy Romine, Shirley Ritenour, Gerald Baker, Dale Butler, Jack Haas, Edward Hook, James Knop, Raymond Carnahan, John Witt, Arthur Warner and William Wilder.

The members of the Junior and Senior classes will leave for a trip to Washington, D.C., on May 20 and will be gone for six days.

COBURNTOWN CHURCH NEWS

(Due to space limitations last week, the Coburntown Church News was omitted. Here it is, better late than never.)

Last Monday evening the helpers and teachers for daily vacation Bible school met at the church with the minister to make complete plans. It will start the first week in June. The superintendent, song leader, secretary, helpers and teachers have been selected. The lesson books and materials will be ordered soon.

Last Tuesday evening the Youth Rally was held at the Church of Christ in Butler. Forty-two young people from here attended. It included special music, a good message, group singing and refreshments.

Friday morning at 3:30, 17 of the young people left for their C. E. Cincinnati trip. They had a very enjoyable trip.

The C. E. opened their meeting with group singing led by Phyllis Sweet. Prayer was given by Carlton Curie. The lesson, "Enlarging Your Faith," was presented by Bonnie Noack. She also read the scripture in John 20:24-29. Sentenced prayers were given. Questions and life problem were discussed by the group. Rhoda Ulm sang a solo. Next week's lesson will be led by Bonnie Sweet. The group was happy to see Carlton Curie and Jack Mann from Cincinnati Bible college and Doris Longardner from Manchester College.

Becky and Janet Fredericks sang a duet and the junior Bible school presented four specials along with a good sermon for the evening service. Attendance was 111.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We now have 2 Harvester 7-ft. freezer demonstrators for sale at a very substantial discount.

We have also taken on sale of A. B. C. Automatic and regular washing machines, General Electric television and radios. Of course we accept Harvester employee purchase discount certificates in addition to liberal trades.

We have been very careful to take on only the best of brands as well as only brands which are not for sale elsewhere in St. Joe. Last year our own daughter preferred to purchase an A. B. C. Automatic washer over other brands. She could not buy it in St. Joe.

We are trying to have the best store economically possible in a town of this size. Every purchase made with us helps to give the trading community a better store.

We are doing our best to make arrangements to have our fountain and lunch open Sundays, this by popular request.

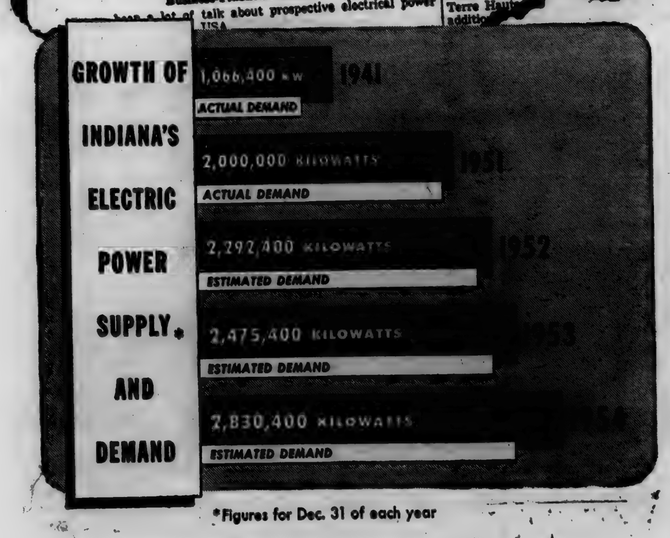
Indiana Should Be Skipped In Talk Of Power Shortages

By ROBERT KELLUM
Business-Financial Editor



*Figures for Dec. 31 of each year

● Indiana uses lots of electric power, as indicated by the "power demand" bars in the chart. And the reason the Electric Companies of Indiana are investing over $704,000,000 from 1941 through 1954 to extend their facilities is to keep the electric power supply well ahead of the growing demand of Indiana electric users.

It is our responsibility to make sure there's plenty of electric power for all those we serve—farmers, REMCs, municipalities, business men, homemakers and industrialists alike. We've made sure in Indiana—there's never been a power shortage in our State! And we will continue to plan and build, years in advance, to provide plenty of electric power.

Whose Sunday?

Lesson for May 11, 1952

A newspaper column is entitled "My Day;" not such a conceited title as you might think at first glance. Whose day is this, anyway? Yours, of course. What? you ask in surprise. My day? I have to work from morning to night in the house or on the farm or in the schoolroom or in the office or on the road somewhere. My day, indeed! I'd like to get ten minutes of it for myself if I could.

Dr. Foreman

Now wait a minute. Suppose you do have only ten minutes' worth. What do you do with your own personal uninterrupted part of the day?

But that's not the whole story, not the whole question. The day is more yours than you think. For you can bring, and you do bring, to every day you live, a certain mood, an intention, a spirit. The same scene in sunlight and under heavy clouds is quite different. The same person in sickness and in health is not one but two people.

How Will You Feel on Monday?

THERE is one day of the week which, as Christians believe, is God's special gift to man. It is for everybody's benefit.

Let us suppose there is a town where everybody works, one way or another, for one man, spending most of their time making one man rich. Six days a week, that is; then comes Sunday and nobody works. This is everybody's day, not the boss's day.

Such a town would be a little hard to find; but even there everybody does have one day.

Jesus said, The Sabbath is made for man. Not for preachers, not for a favored few, not even for Jews and Christians only: but for man. The Jewish Sabbath of which Jesus spoke has its successor in the Christian Sunday. It is quite true that Christians appreciate the day more than atheists; but God made Sunday for man just as he sends rain and sunshine on one and all.

Our forefathers sometimes got hold of Sunday by the wrong handle, just as the Pharisees did in their time, with the Sabbath. They talked a good deal about not "breaking" the Sabbath as if it were a very fragile something to be kept under glass and never touched.

No, Jesus meant that the day is to be used; and the purpose of it is to keep man from being broken.

But that is still not all of it. This blessed day is not simply a day which we rise back, so to speak, to our normal level after the weariness of the week has dragged us down. It should be, and it can be when wisely used, a day on which we can grow, mentally, socially, spiritually.

Do you need a rule or guide on how best to spend your Sundays? Then ask yourself this question: How do I feel Monday mornings? I should be a better person Monday morning than I was on Saturday night. The best way to spend Sunday is to spend it in such a way that I shall begin next week a little better than I began last.

The Lord's Day

WHOSE day is it? Jesus said something else about it: The Son of Man (by this he always meant himself) is Lord of the Sabbath. So the Christian church has called it the Lord's Day ever since.

Now this particular Sunday in May happens to be "Mother's Day" in the United States, and every one can understand that there are good ways and poor ways to celebrate Mother's Day. You write your mother or visit her, or if she is gone from this earth you think about her, you spend the day doing the kind of things that she would enjoy doing with you.

So on the Lord's Day you celebrate in Christ's honor.

The Day of God

WE must also remember that this is God's Day, the "Sabbath of the Lord thy God." It is his because he gave it; his because it is dedicated to him.

It is for man, yet; but man is never fully man so long as he leaves God out. Man without God is a ship without water, a bird without air, an earth without the sun. Man needs God; and Sunday is the golden day for finding him.

This is the day when we have the most time for reading and hearing and thinking about God's Word; a day when we have greater freedom to do something in his service; a day when the loneliest soul may find the heavenly Friend.

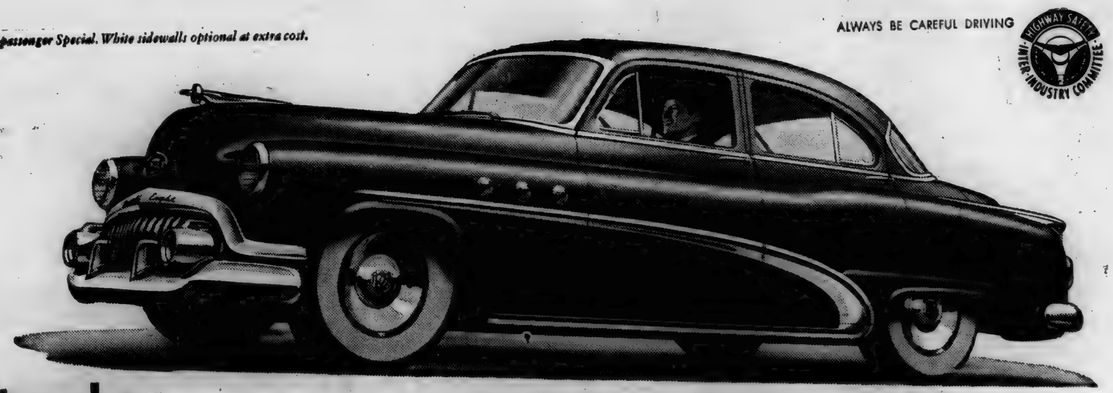
4-door, 6-passenger Special. White sidewalls optional at extra cost.



It makes each drop of gas say uncle

According to combustion experts, there's as much energy locked in a drop of gasoline as there is in a drop of nitroglycerine.

But the problem is to put that energy to work.

So Buick engineers aren't content just to mix that drop with air and touch it off. They've designed an engine that brings it catapulting into a cylinder head where it strikes a turbo-top piston—gets whipped into a churning, swirling ball of tight-packed energy.

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood—and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Now, power is great, but what goes with it?

Mister, that's something you ought to find out—and soon.

What goes with it is an automobile as sweet-handling, eager and willing as anything that ever made your pulse leap to a faster beat.

It's a car that seems to know what you want it to do—true and sure in its course on a straightaway—beautifully balanced on curves.

It's a car with Dynaflow Drive* to feed power with infinite smoothness—and a road-hugging levelness of ride that took a million in cold cash to perfect.

And it is, with all this, a very tidy bargain. Why not price it, drive it, know it for yourself? We'll be glad to arrange a demonstration.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, May 15, 1952 — NUMBER 20

Around the Town

With the Editor

Aw now, Maude, why'd you hafta say that?

Maude Porter of Fort Wayne was in town this week and stopped in to pay her subscription. She made the remark that there wasn't enough news in the paper. And right after I brag about the people bringing in items more than they used to.

Tell you what. Everyone who gets an item in for next week's paper will get an appropriate gift as a token of my appreciation.

—And Maude will get her news.

Mrs. Ray Allison says she's going to get mad if somebody doesn't start recognizing her around here pretty soon. I guess I'm guilty, too. She came in a week ago to pay for an ad and I didn't recognize her.

So, if you see a very distinguished lady on the streets of St. Joe sometime, be sure to speak to her by name. It's bound to be Mrs. Allison.

Station WKJG has a very interesting weather report daily at around 1 p.m., I believe. They have the report given directly from the weather bureau at Baer Field. Not only do you get the forecast, but also an explanation of why the particular weather conditions exist in this area.

—Very interesting.

I don't envy farmers in cool, windy weather such as we had Monday. Don Burley was riding his tractor, plowing the fields bundled in a coat and sporting a cap pulled down over his ears.

There's going to be a big day at the ball diamond pretty soon. Watch for the news.

Many Order ID Tags

Issuance of the Official Identification Tag for individuals has reached 4000 per day and is increasing daily, Frederick T. Cretors, Director of the Indiana Department of Civil Defense, reported today.

"County and city schools alike have taken hold of this important matter with a vigor that is impressive," Mr. Cretors said. "School after school has sent in applications for ID Tags for more than 90 per cent of its entire enrollment."

Sweetser School at Sweetser, Grant County, was the first school in the state to file applications for members of its student body and in that instance the number totaled more than 93 percent of the entire enrollment. Other school applications received since have reported similar results.

"The super-importance of being able to identify children quickly in any difficulty or disaster appears to be well understood," Mr. Cretors said.

Citizens of Fort Wayne and Allen County have been issued the largest number of ID Tags of any county in the state up to this moment, but the actual number is not static anywhere in Indiana, Mr. Cretors reported.

ORDINANCE NO. 27

An ordinance to regulate the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, labeling, regrading and sale of milk and milk products; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants, the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors; permit fees; appointment of inspectors and sanitary police; the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products; repealing all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith and fixing penalties.

Be it ordained by the Town Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana:

Section 1. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or his authorized representative shall have supervision over the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, regrading, labeling and sale of all milk and milk products sold for ultimate consumption within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants; the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors and the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products.

Section 2. Grade A Milk Ordinance. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, in the performance of his duties under Section 1 of this ordinance, shall adopt as the standards to be followed the provisions in paragraph HDP4G entitled "Certified Milk Identity" and paragraph HDP4H entitled "Grade A Milk and Milk Products" of a regulations of the Indiana State Board of Health duly passed on September 13, 1945, and filed with the Secretary of State on October 18, 1945, entitled "Regulations Relating to Dairy Products, Including Definitions and Standards of Identity." For the purpose of interpreting the aforesaid requirements, the unabridged form of Public Health Bulletin No 220 entitled "The 1939 edition of the Milk Ordinance and Code recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service," and such future amendements as may be made to this Bulletin shall be used. Two certified copies of said Public Health Bulletin No. 220 shall be placed on file in the office of the Town Clerk-Treasurer for public inspection.

Section 3. The sale of adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk products prohibited. No person shall within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, produce, sell, offer or expose for sale, or have in possession with intent to sell, any milk or milk prodcut which is adulterated, misbranded or ungraded. It shall be unlawful for any person, elsewhere than in a private home, to have in possession any adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk product.

Section 4. Permits. It shall be unlawful for any person to bring into or receive into the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, for sale, or to sell, or offer for sale therein, or to have in storage where milk or milk products are sold or served, any milk or milk product defined in this Ordinance who does not possess a permit from the health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana.

Only a person who complies with the requirements of this ordinance shall be entitled to receive and retain such a permit.

Such a permit may be suspended by the health officer, or revoked after an opportunity for a hearing by the health officr, upon the violation by the holder of any of the terms of this ordinance. Any person, firm or corporation shall have the right to take an appeal from any decision of the health officer to the DeKalb County Circuit Court, as in other civil cases.

Section 4a. Permit fees. The permit fee for the sale or dispensal of milk or milk products in the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, shall be as follows:

(a) All milk plants engaged in the processing and distribution of pasteurized fluid milk or milk products shall pay a permit fee of four cents (4c) per hundredweight on all milk received for such purposes.

(b) All milk pasteurization plants purchasing sweet cream for resale as pasteurized cream shall pay a permit fee of one cent (1c) per pound butterfat on all cream received for such purposes.

Fees referred to in (a) and (b) shall be paid on or before the 15th day of the month for the previous month, the first payment being due thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Ordinance. The original weight sheets and other records shall be made available once each month to the Town Clerk for determination of these fees. All plants operating under provisions (a) and (b) above shall purchase milk by weight and not by volume. Any dairy selling direct to any other dairy or dairies which purchasing dairy or dairies pay the permit fee on the hundredweight as above set out on the milk so produced shall not be required to pay either of the aforesaid permit fees. Provided, further, that any person, firm or corporation having a permit issued by the health officer of any other municipality or other unit of government operating under the standards required by this ordinance shall be exempt from paying permit fees required in Section 4: provided, however, every such person, firm or corporation shall, in lieu of such permit fees, pay a flat license fee of $25.00 per year for each truck or other vehicle used in transporting or delivering milk or other dairy products to distributors or ultimate consumers within the corporate limits of said town and every such truck or vehicle shall display a suitable license tag issued by the town evidencing the payment of such license.

These fees shall be paid to the Town Clerk of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, and shall be used only for the salary, expenses and supplies of an enforcement officer.

Section 5. From and after twelve (12) months from the date on which this Ordinance takes effect no milk or milk products shall be sold to the final consumer, or to restaurants, soda fountains, grocery stores or similar establishments, except Grade A Pasteurized or Certified Pasteurized milk or milk products as defined in the standards required to be adopted by this Ordinance; provided that when any milk distributor fails to qualify for one of the above grades the health officer is authorized to revoke his permit, or in lieu thereto to degrade his product and permit its sale during a temporary period not exceeding thirty (30) days or in emergencies such longer period as he may deem necessary.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the President of the Town Board to employ such sanitary police and inspectors, with the approval of the health officer having jurisdiction and the State Board of Health, as may be necessary for the enforcement of this ordinance and who shall be the authorized representative of the health officer having jurisdiction to perform such duties of inspection and reports as may be necessary for the full enforcement of this Ordinance.

Such sanitary police and inspectors shall be persons well qualified for the performance of said duties and shall be paid such sum as may be agreed upon by the President of the Town Board and the health officer having jurisdiction out of such funds as may hereafter be appropriated therefore by the Town Board.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this Ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollers ($100.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty (30) days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Each and every violation of the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 8. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after its passage and legal advertising.

Section 9. If any section, subdivision or clause of this Ordinance shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance.

Passed at a regular meeting of the board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe on the 5th day of May, 1952.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Housecleaning badly needed

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

THE citizens of America have heard much about "big business" in recent weeks, but those who are lashing out at "special interests" and the "privileged few" are strangely silent about the biggest business of them all.

That is the United States government itself.

The Federal government collected taxes to the per capita tune of $305.68 from every man, woman and child in Indiana in 1951.

Of the $1,202,616,546 Uncle Sam siphoned out of Indiana last year in internal revenue collections, only $85,093,494, or 7.08 per cent, was returned to the state as so-called Federal grants-in-aid.

I wrote last week that the Federal government collected $51,487,378,963 in internal revenue in fiscal 1951. But it returned to the individual states only 9.42 per cent of that amount as grants-in-aid. The answer is that the taxpayers of America, individual and corporate, are financing the greatest bureaucracy in the country's history, which can control, through its paternalistic grants-in-aid program the economic and political life of the nation.

7.08 Per Cent Returned

While Indiana gets back only 7.08 per cent of the internal revenue paid the Federal government, Mississippi gets back 93.58 per cent of the total internal revenue collections for 1951, of $113,976,845. Alabama gets back 42.44 per cent, Arkansas 72.96 per cent, Louisiana 43.69 per cent.

Delaware gets back only 1.47 per cent, Michigan 3.47.

If this trend continues it won't be long until Washington will exert all-powerful influence and control over state and local activities with its Federal aid to this-and-that, which in the final analysis comes from the states themselves and the individuals and corporations therein.

The power of the purse is the greatest power in government. That is the reason I have been working in close cooperation in the United States Senate with that group which is studying every appropriation request submitted by the administration, with a view to elimination of every unnecessary or "pork barrel" item in the bills.

Grants-in-aid and payments to individuals within the states for the past four years were:

1948	$5,551,054,046
1949	5,493,710,763
1950	5,522,020,743
1951	4,350,097,620

80 Programs Under Way

The limited programs in effect in 1932 which contained grants-in-aid totaled $269,425,252. At present there are 80 programs and activities under which Federal revenues are shared with, or funneled back to, the states and local governments or as direct payments to individuals.

It must be remembered these payments from the Federal treasury to individuals or local governments are exclusive of payments to civilian employes of the Federal government. These now number more than 2,500,000 with an annual payroll of more than $10 billion.

American Principle In Jeopardy

Down through the ages, the Christian way of conduct, which we regard as the "good"or most desirable way of life, has had for its opposition the "bad" way of life, or the undesirable. And through the ages it has been the consistent adherence to the good side that has been the strength of Christian peoples. It has not been an easy way of conduct, to be subject to the ridicule of the un-Godly, the taunts of those who point out the easy-going way of their class. It has been necessary for good men to stray not an inch from the straight and narrow. To do so is to admit that it is not worth the reward of a good life to live a good life as closely as possible.

Striving for the right kind of living is necessary in every instance of the human existence. Whether it is a man's conduct with his friends, business associates, yes even enemies, he must maintain those good qualities regardless of the situation or lose his high standing.

We mention "enemies" in particular because in the past week, we have had a good example set, or to be set, to illustrate the point. A general of our army, in conflict with communism, allowed himself to get in such a position that enemy prisoners could overwhelm him and take him into their custody. Used as a hostage to gain concessions from United Nations forces, he was released upon the granting of those concessions. Now the general who negotiated for the former's release has been relieved of his command because of the concessions granted.

Actually, what were those concessions—simply a ransom for the life of an American. Just a few months ago ransom was paid in return for American aviators, but no one was "bumped" for that act. The crowning point is the revelation that the commanding general may "repudiate" the concessions because they were granted under "duress."

It seems wrong, many times, to stick to principle when the other fellow is hitting below the belt. But it is that "sticking" to what we know is right that is our strength. We have no better weapon against the poisoned minds of our enemies than our sticking to what is right. And we have no better example to set for those who are confused and undecided as to which way to go than our sticking to what is right.

If it was proper to turn one hundred fifty thousand American dollars to our enemies for the lives of American pilots, then it was proper to make concessions to prisoners for the life of an American general. And we cannot "repudiate" our promises without losing our self respect and the respect of those people who want to live as Christian nations and look to us as an example.

Perhaps there is a difference in those two incidents, a difference which can account for the opposite conclusions. But for the present, we can see none. We shall never see any reason for breaking our word, whether it be associated with our friends or our enemies.

If the concessions are repudiated, we shall have sunk as low as the proverbial snake's belly.

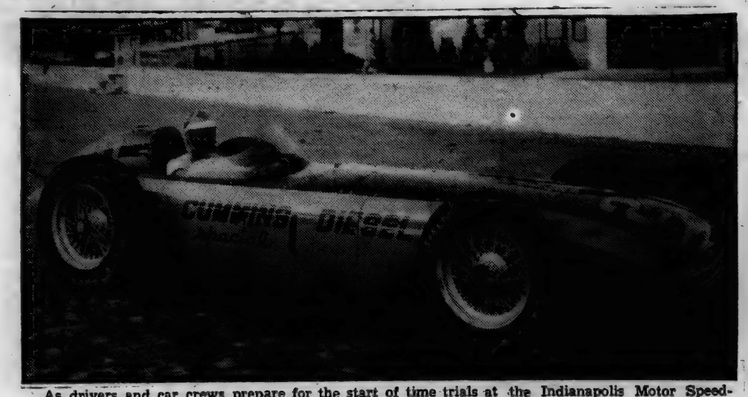
Diesel Entry Creates Interest In '500'



As drivers and car crews prepare for the start of time trials at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the most discussed car at the track is this beautiful Cummins Diesel Special driven by Freddie Agabashian. The engine is mounted horizontally, instead of vertically, to make possible the extremely low center of gravity.

Biscuit Ring Casserole

There's a good meal in this casserole, and a thrifty one. Meat and vegetables are well-flavored and topped with a ring of golden biscuits. Eat hearty!

Taxes are high and prices are high, but your need for substantial, nourishing meals is just the same. One excellent solution is to stretch your food dollar in meat-saving dishes which combine meat with economical enriched flour.

Such a dish is Biscuit Ring Casserole, a meal-in-one taste delight that combines meat with peas, carrots and lima beans, and tops all with biscuits. The biscuit ring makes a mighty good-looking service. It contributes B-vitamins and iron in addition to economical protein at small cost.

With this flavorful casserole, serve a crisp salad and milk or coffee. Apple pie with cheese completes a menu your family will approve. To save time and work, often you'll want to call on your baker for a luscious pie, cake or cookies for dessert.

BISCUIT RING CASSEROLE

2 cups cooked, cubed meat
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons fat or drippings
2 tablespoons enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup meat stock, vegetable liquid or water
1 cup cooked peas
½ cup cooked carrots
½ cup cooked lima beans
Biscuits

Brown meat and onions in hot fat. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add liquid and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add vegetables and mix well. Pour into 2-quart casserole. Top with biscuits.

Biscuits

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ to ¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out ½ inch thick and cut with floured biscuit cutter. Arrange on top of meat-vegetable mixture. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) about 15 minutes or until biscuits are golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

The Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club held its May meeting at the home of Lula Allison.

The meeting was opened with repeating of the club creed followed by the singing of "America, the Beautiful." Devotions were given by Marcelle Storer.

Katy Crow gave a report on the egg show. Marcelle Storer gave the safety report of the month. Gertrude Rinehart and Ann Beebe told of their visit to the county home.

The club voted for each member to make one pillow case to be donated to the county home. Billie Mason reported on the lesson given on slip covers.

Ruth Coburn and Marcia Sible gave the lesson on soaps and detergents which proved very interesting and helpful.

Roll call was answered by fifteen members. Secretary's report was read and approved. The meeting was closed with the repeating of the club collect.

Delicious refreshments were enjoyed by everyone.

The next meeing will be held at the home of Billie Mason.

POPPY DAY DONATIONS BRING FULL VALUE IN HELP TO WAR VETERANS

Dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into the Poppy Day contribution boxes of the American Legion Auxiliary in exchange for the memorial poppies to be worn on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 24, in honor of the war dead, will bring their full value of help to disabled veterans and needy children of veterans during the coming year, said Mrs. Anne Sechler, Rehabilitation Chairman of Waltre Whitehurst Unit of the Auxiliary, today as the Auxiliary continued preparations for the annual Poppy Day observance.

"There are no campaign expenses to be deducted from the Poppy Day contributions," she explained. "All workers are unpaid volunteers, except the disabled veterans who make the poppies. There is no elaborate publicity or advertising campaigns, all newspaper space and radio or television time being donated. The materials for making the little crepe paper flowers cost only a tiny amount per flower.

"Thus practically every penny of the amount dropped into the contribution boxes Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, will go into American Legion Auxiliary rehabilitation and child welfare funds. Part of it will stay right here in St. Joe and will be expended locally to aid war veterans and children of veterans during the coming year. As the Auxiliary's rehabilitation and child welfare programs are carried out by volunteers workers, there are no administrative costs to eat into these funds.

"Small percentages of the contributions will go to state and national funds, where, too, volunteer workers make every dollar count its full value in aid to veterans and children. American Legion Auxiliary Volunteer Hospital Workers, especially trained to perform many types of services for sick and disabled veterans, are on duty in practically every veterans hospital, while Volunteer Field Workers look after the welfare of veterans and children in communities throughout the nation. Poppy Day contributions count big for the disabled and needy children."

In connection with the observance of Poppy Day, the Auxiliary is preparing a display of local servicemen's photos to be on display in the News Office window. Families of servicemen are asked to cooperate by contacting Mrs. Louise Church or any member of the Auxiliary of St. Joe to inform them of available pictures.

Also to be displayed are war souvenirs of World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

These items will be displayed in the drug store window from May 17 to May 31.

Those who have war souvenirs are asked to bring them Friday evening, May 23, from 6 p.m. on. They may be picked up Saturday evening, May 31.

House or Home?

Lesson for May 18, 1952

ANYBODY with pencil and paper can count the number of houses on a street. Counting the homes is something else. Anybody can sell you or build you a house, any kind you can pay for; but no one can sell you a home. A house is a house the minute it is finished. A home never is finished, it goes on being built year after year.

Dr. Foreman

Edgar Guest said what everybody knows: "It takes a heap o' livin' to make a house a home.' A house begins to be a home when two people move in who love each other; but it is much more of a home after the grandchildren start coming back for visits.

A house may be running down while a home is growing better and better. Besides, a home does not necessarily have to have a house.

Does the Family Live There?

ALL of us would rather have a home than a house if we had to choose. Whatever we live in—a separate house, a "flat" or "duplex," an apartment, a trailer, or what not—it can become a home—IF.

A house becomes a home in the first place only if the family live there. If all they do is to come in when there is nowhere else to go; if they seldom see one another and then almost by accident; if the place is only a lunch-counter, a rooming-house, a place to be fed and to stay in when it rains; then it is no home, it is only a house.

Animals don't have homes; they have kennels, barns, styes, stables. They can have very expensive stables too, as you can find around the Bluegrass country. But no one has ever succeeded in making a home for horses because horses have no family life, they are quite content if the roof doesn't leak and if there is enough to eat and a clean place to lie down in.

People have minds and hearts and souls, and they can know comradeship and unity such as are completely beyond the reach of even the most intelligent of animals. Living is much more than existing; and it takes a heap of living, not just existing, to make a home.

Who Runs the Place?

A HOUSE is a home if it is well run. This does not refer to paying the bills, keeping up the repairs, keeping down waste in the kitchen and so forth. A house is a home only if it is in charge of those who have the most wisdom and can best bear responsibility.

The Bible comes to us from a time and place in history very different from ours; so that we are not wise if we take just any family in the Bible and use it as a model. Solomon had 700 wives and 300 minor wives or "concubines;" Abraham had at least three.

We have progressed (thanks to Christianity) past these things. But still the Bible does give us some indispensable guidance in this matter of the home. And one of the points you will find in both Old Testament and New is that the parents ought to have the place of authority in the home,—that is, they are expected to run it.

Some families aren't run by any one; they are pure anarchies, continual rumpus and riot. Some families are run by the children, which means they are run by those with least sense and experience. "Honor thy Father and thy Mother" also means, "Father and Mother, be honorable."

Are Children a Nuisance?

A HOUSE IS A HOME if children are expected, welcomed and loved. It is not a home if children are regarded either as nuisances, as items of expense, or perhaps shut out entirely.

Now there are true homes which are of necessity childless; but a house where children would not be welcome and where they are not loved, is no home.

The parents ought to be in charge, by all means. But they ought not to be tyrants, dictators. They run the home for the childrens benefit, which is quite a different thing from letting the children run it as they please. Eventually, if the parents are wise, they will send out into the world young people who have been taught to stand on their own feet. They will cut the apron-strings, they will train their children so that they will be capable of founding and living happily in homes of their own.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

YOUR SIGHT

SOME people find more profit in feigned disability than in earning their own living. Malingering, a word derived from the French "malingre," is defined as the feigning of illness.

With increased benefits to the unemployed, to the sick, to the disabled, to the indigent, and to the aged, it appears to be more profitable not to work than ever before.

The problem of detecting and exposing malingerers is a difficult and distasteful one. The eye doctor, known as oculist and ophthalmologist, is faced with this problem and he must exercise care to distinguish between the patient who tries to deceive the examiner and the hysterical patient who is deceiving himself.

The deceiver who feigns complete blindness has difficulty in maintaining the pose, and the detection of such cases is relatively easy for the oculist. Feigning blindness in one eye is a more common practice of the malingerer and the physician has to prove first that some vision actually exists, and second, the amount of vision present.

Some malingerers claim they see single objects as double, while others claim they are colorblind. Dimness of vision is a common complaint with malingerers and oculists are armed with certain tests which indicate whether or not the eye is actually defective. A knowledge of the patient's personality is an aid in detecting the difference between a true malingerer and one acting from hysteria.

The ophthalmologist is on the alert for fakers.

FOUNDERS DAY PROGRAM HONORS I.U. STUDENTS

Fourteen DeKalb County students were honored for scholastic achievement at traditional Founders' Day ceremonies Wednesday, May 7, at Bloomington as Indiana University observed the 132nd anniversary of her founding.

Specially invited guests at the morning ceremonies, held in the I. U. auditorium, were parents of the 2,400 students honored for scholastic achievement. They also attended Deans' receptions for the honor students in the afternoon.

The first Wednesday in May is traditionally observed as the anniversary of the founding of the university. The legislative act establishing the Hoosier state school was passed and approved January 20, 1820. This date makes Indiana the oldest of the major state universities west of the Alleghenies operating continuously since the opening of classes.

Those who have achieved scholastic honors during the past year at I. U. from this area include:

Spencerville—James E. Bowser, Lavon E. Furnish.

Butler—Emily Weirich.

Waterloo—Patricia Bowers, Robert G. Stanley.

Auburn—Betty Haggerty, John H. Hines, Roberta Little, Donald Messenger, Eric Schaab, James F. Schooley.

CHEVROLET
first in truck value in sales
MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Stack up what you get for what you pay . . . and join the nation's largest group of truck users by choosing Chevrolet

By far the biggest number of truck users today are Chevrolet owners . . . and for good hard-headed reasons. Because what they get is this:

Low Cost—in purchase price and in upkeep. A truck that gets the job done. A truck that's rugged, long lasting.

Take a look at the four facts below . . . and see why you, too, will be money ahead with a Chevrolet truck. Come in and see us about it!

FACT NO. 1
Save money on purchase price
Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck with comparable specifications. You'll find the Chevrolet truck lists for less.

FACT NO. 2
Save money on operating costs
Hundreds of thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain.

FACT NO. 3
Save money on job efficiency
Chevrolet trucks are factory-matched to your payload requirements. You don't buy "too much or too little truck."

FACT NO. 4
Save money on low depreciation
Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale than any other make which costs about the same new.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, May 22, 1952 — NUMBER 22

Around the Town

With the Editor

I hope nobody's disappointed in their "appropriate" token of my appreciation for bringing in items for this week.

In case you're interested—they received three pencils inscribed with "St. Joe News, St. Joe, Ind.," and News-addressed stamped envelopes to send more items in.

What could be more appropriate????

The John Crothers's are having a family gathering this week-end which is unusual. What's so unusual about a family get-together in May? Nothing—except that this one will be the family's Christmas exchange. Two members were awaiting the stork at Christmas time, so the exchange was postponed.

Signs of the times—

A hobo was walking along the highway thumbing his nose at the passing cars. Another hitchhiker watched the hobo's gesture in amazement. "Hey," he cried, "if you're looking for a lift, why thumb your nose at the cars? You'll never get a ride that way."

The hobo shrugged. "Who cares? This is my lunch hour."

Mark up a snafu for Joe Robinson.

Roy Bowser, fire department chief, appointed Joe as a committee to construct a small box for the department's use in keeping a key safely stowed away.

Joe built one alright, a beautiful job with a little glass window to break to get at the key—something like the fire alarm boxes in schools and factories. The only trouble was that in order to fasten the box on the wall you had to break the glass and in order to replace the glass you had to take the box off the wall.

A pessimist thinks all women are bad whereas an optimist only hopes they are.

SPENCERVILLE MAN PASSES AWAY AT GARRETT

Delbert W. Brooks, 79, of Spencerville died Saturday at 10:30 p. m. at the Garrett Convalescent Home where he had been a patient since February 9. High blood pressure caused his death.

Final rites were conducted on Tuesday and burial was in Bowers Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Brooks was born July 10, 1872, in Milan Twp., Allen County, and had farmed in St. Joe Twp. for more than 30 years. Surviving besides the widow, Bertha, and son, Ivan, are two other sons, Willis of Bellevue, O., and Raymond of Cincinnati; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Clark of Fort Wayne; two step-sons, Argyle and Virgil Van Zile of Leo; two step-daughters, Mrs. Clifford Hoke of Fort Wayne and Mrs. Richard Chapman of Spencerville; three grandchildren and 11 step-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Frank Hodges, of Milan Twp.

Legion Completes Memorial Day Plans

Plans for the Memorial Day observance in this community have been completed by the Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post of St. Joe, Ralph Sechler, chairman, reported this week.

The program to be given on Friday, May 30, will begin with a parade from the Legion Home at 2 p.m. The St. Joe-Spencerville band will provide music for marching and all ex-servicemen, fraternal organizations and children are urged to take part.

The parade will proceed to the cemetery in St. Joe where Judge Walter Stump will give the main address. The Legion Post will carry out their usual part in honoring the war dead.

The program at the cemetery will begin promptly at 2:30. Seating arrangements are being made.

In case of rain, the program will be held in the high school gym.

Four Hurt In Collision

Four DeKalb County teen-agers were injured early Sunday night in a two-car collision that occurred three miles east of St. Joe at an intersection on the township line road.

The injured were Arnold Fetters, 19, of near St. Joe, and Lois Mack, 16, Jerry Lee Richmond, 14, and Shirley Ludwig, 17, all of near Butler.

Delmer Mickelson, 20, of near St. Joe, driver of a 1948 Chevrolet involved in the accident, escaped wtih minor bruises. Fetters was the driver of the other car, a 1940 Ford.

The injured were taken to the hospital in Auburn. Miss Mack, Fetters and Richmond sustained cuts, bruises and shock.

Both cars were demolished in the accident.

Fetters reported that he was traveling south and did not see Mickelson's car in time to avoid a collision. The car smashed broad side into Mickelson's automobile that was traveling west. Neither vehicle upset. Mickelson said he did not see Fetter's car until the impact.

According to Sheriff Frank Carpenter, the view at the intersectiin is obstructed by a woods on the northeast corner.

Miss Mack and the Richmond youth were passengers in Fetters' machine. Miss Ludwig was riding in Mickelson's car.

The accident occurred at 7:10 p.m.

Fair Centennial Slated This Year

With an eye toward making this a real Centennial Celebration the Indiana State Fair Board officially released the premium list for its 10 day fair. The fair will be held August 28 though September 6 in Indianapolis.

Hitting an all-time high of 405 thousand 914 dollars, the premium total is 50 thousand more than was offered in 1951. If you really want to do some comparing, the first Indiana State Fair in 1852 offered only 2 thousand dollars in premiums.

Many divisions received an increase this year. Livestock classes gained the most. In the beef cattle division, more than 39 thousand dollars will be handed out in premiums. That's a gain of 8 thousand dollars over last year. The dairy cattle division also received a large share of the increase. Their total was moved from 18 thousand to over 22 thousand in premiums.

The sheep and swine divisions also received an increase with 5 thousand dollars being added to the sheep division and 7 thousand more dollars to the swine division.

Increases showed up in both the open and 4-H classes, with the number of exhibitors at te 1952 Centennial State Fair expected to be the heaviest on record. All open class entries at the fair close August 9 and all 4-H entries close August 15.

This year's fair will feature the theme, "One Hundred Years of Progress---Agriculture and Industry." The old and the new will be seen in nearly every department and in most exhibits.

1st Registered Shoot Sunday

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold its first registered shoot of this season next Sunday, May 25. The shooting will commence at 12:01 p.m.

The program will be at 100 targets from the 16-yard line and 100 handicaps. This is the longest program the club has ever held and may make it necessary to shorten the practice period or eliminate it entirely.

Practice shooting will stop as soon as there are enough entries to start the main event.

Votes Cost $1.55 Each

Every time a voter stepped to the polls in the May 6 primary election, taxpayers in DeKalb County dug into their pockets for $1.55.

County clerk Ralph Bruce reported Saturday that the total cost of the primary election was $7,430.23. All bills were approved by the official county election board, R. Wayne Smith of Auburn, Cleve Grube of Stafford Township and the county clerk.

An estimated 4,826 votes were cast in the primary election, 3,499 of them by Republicans and 1,327 by Democrats.

The bigest vote by Republicans was cast in the race for treasurer. Judge Walter Stump, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for judge, received the most votes cast by members of his party.

The bigest single expense item for the primary was salaries paid to election officials, a total of $2,668. Inspectors, who received a total of $18 each, based on $9 a day salary, collected a total of $828. Inspectors were paid for one day for picking up election supplies and returning supplies and one day for work at the polls.

A total of $644 was paid, at the rate of $7 to each person, to the clerks at the polls. The judges also received $644, $7 per person.

Sheriffs collected a total of $552 at the rate of $6 each per day.

Election supplies for the primary cost $1,266.70 and ballots cost an additional $992.70.

Meals for the election boards in the county's 46 precincts cost $805. It cost $350 for rental of voting places.

The salaries of the three members of the official county election and canvassing board amount to $187.50 each for a total of $562.50.

Clerks on the canvassing board collected $48 and clerical assistance in preparation for the election in the county clerk's office cost $195.

There was expense of $36.90 for postage and $318.93 for advertising and publishing of legal notices. Officials records cost $100 and there were expenditures of $7.25 for stationery and printing, and $1.14 for other office supplies. Erecting and tearing down of voting booths and repair of the booths cost $141.04.

Full House At Graduation Ceremony

A full house gathered at the Spencerville Community building Monday evening in spite of bad weather to honor the nineteen maroon-gowned youth who successfully completed twelve years in the Spencerville schools.

The main address was given by the Rev. Gerald H. Jones of the Fort Wayne Wayne Street Methodist Church, a very inspiring and well-received message.

Other features of the program were the fine farewell orations given by the valedictorian, Margery Hollabaugh, and salutatorian, Patsy Akey, who gained these honors to be given on their last big night by having achieved the two highest averages in their four years of high school work.

Also as is the custom the St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club presented each graduate with a Bible. Mr. Morris Kline represented the Lions and made the presentation.

Mr. Roger Hess, principle, presented medals to the valedictorian and salutatorian, the all-around school activities medal to Jack Haas, who also won a county medal, and the American Legion Award medal from the St. Joe Post, awarded on a four-year basis of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and services to Arthur Warner.

Diplomas were then presented by Mr. Hess and the acceptance given by Edward Hook.

Three numbers were well-presented by the high school girls' chorus under the direction of Mr. Carl Zimmerman. The processional was by Mrs. Virgil Koch with the procession of graduates preceded by the junsors with lighted candles.

Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. W. H. Baker of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Spencerville.

Piston Fastballers To Feature Dedication Of Lights

Friday, June 13, 1952, will be a big day in St. Joe—or rather a big night. That is the date chosen for the dedication of the lighted ball diamond by the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club, Inc.

Though the lights were in use last fall, several jobs remained to be completed before the diamond would be completely suited to the wants and needs of players and spectators. There still remain the erection of bleachers and completion of the backstop. But these will be ready by the official "opening day" ceremony.

The main attraction for the dedication night will be the appearance of the world champion fastball team from Fort Wayne, the Zollner Pistons. Arrangements were completed last week with Carl Bennett, Piston atheletic director, for an intra-squad exhibition game. He hinted that since this was to be a rather special occasion, the Pistons might "do a little something extra" in the line of entertainment. That means a worth-while evening in itself.

In addition to the fastball exhibition, a preliminary game has been planned with one of the local teams participating, yet to be announced. And there will be other attractions in the form of a miniature "trap shoot," basket shoot and two or three other games and contests.

Mr. Carl Zimmerman will direct the St. Joe-Spencerville school band in several numbers.

Chairman of the dedication day committee is Derwood Ridgway. He is being assisted by Jim Tatlock and Ted Haberkorn.

Auxiliary To Sell Poppies Saturday

Saturday will be Poppy Day in St. Joe and surrounding community as well as throughout the United States. Millions of Americans will observe the day by wearing memorial poppies in honor of the nation's war dead and by making contributions for the welfare of war's living victims, the disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

Woment of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets from early morning with crepe paper poppies made by disabled veterans, offering everyone an opportunity to pay individual tribute to the war dead by wearing one of the little red memorial flowers. No price will be asked for the poppies but contributions to the rehabilitation and welfare funds of the Auxiliary will be received.

All of the Auxiliary's poppy workers will be unpaid volunteers, giving their services for the dual purpose of honoring the dead and aiding the disabled. Among them will be members of three generations, wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of men who have served America in the three wars of this century. The poppy distribution is being directed by Mrs. Louise Church, Poppy Chairman of Walter Whitehurst Auxilliary Unit.

The poppies to be distributed here have been made by disabled veterans at Marion Hospital in Marion, Indiana, and are crepe paper replicas of the famous poppies of Flanders Fields which took root and bloomed in the raw earth of the battle graves in Europe, providing nature's floral tribute to the heroic dead. Ever since World War I they have been worn annually throughout the English-speaking world as a symbol of remembrance, and to raise funds for the aid of disabled veterans and children of veterans.

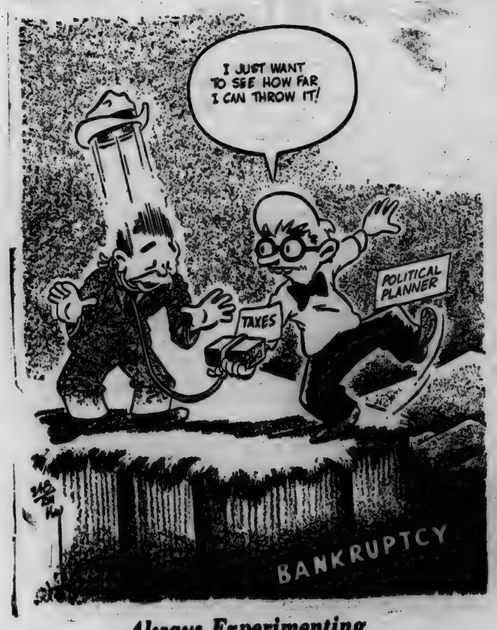
THE AMERICAN WAY



Always Experimenting

On 'Security'

Two years ago this paper published an appeal for readers to sign a coupon and return it to us if they agreed with six ideas on the functions of our government as voiced in the coupon.

One of those items was: "Stop the Social Security program in its present compulsory path before it becomes an economic monster destroying my independence."

At that time we received the signed coupons from several readers, but also received some comments along the line that they, the readers, agreed with all the ideas on reducing expenditures, taxes, etc., but did not agree that the Social Security program should be stopped.

This may seem like a late date to be commenting on those replies. But something happened this week which shows just how much "security" we are paying for. A bill to increase Social Security benefits was defeated in the House of Representatives. The explanation has been given that the bill was rejected because of a provision giving the security administrator broad powers over determining disability payments, a step towards socialized medicine.

We do not propose to go into the technical espects of the bill to determine whether or not socialzed medicine would result from the authority given the security administrator. We would like to point out that here again is an instance of what looks to be a program for our benefit turning into something much less than what was promised or anticipated.

We spoke out before against the Social Security program because it says we must participate. There is no choice given. Now after compelling us to participate, it fails to give genuine recognition to the needs of the aged and increase their benefits to compensate for higher costs of living. Why —because another political football gets tossed into the picture and messes up the whole works.

We aren't changing colors—the Social Security program still "ain't American" to us. But it also "ain't cricket" to spend our money on someone else if such a program is set up for our number and fails to meet their requirements.

SPRING FIRES ARE GREATER WOODS' RISK

"The woods are on fire!"

That alarm in the spring means greater loss to timber owners than at any other time of the year, say Purdue University foresters.

Trees are more sensitive to fire during the early part of the growing season, when active cell division is taking place. Hardwood trees which would escape injury in the fall may be killed outright or very seriously injured by afire of equal severity in the spring.

For this season, double care should be given to avoid woods fires in the spring, says Ed Lott, Purdue forester. "Make sure that matches and cigarettes are out before discarding them; drown out camp fires and warming fires completely; burn brush on calm days only, have both help and tools on hand at the start, and kill every spark." Lott warns that setting fire on someone else's land is a violation of the law.

ORDINANCE NO. 27

An ordinance to regulate the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, labeling, regrading and sale of mflk and milk products; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants, the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors; permit fees; appointment of inspectors and sanitary police; the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products; repealing all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith and fixing penalties.

Be it ordained by the Town Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana:

Section 1. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or his authorized representative shall have supervision over the production, transportation, processing, handling, sampling, examination, grading, regrading, labeling and sale of all milk and milk products sold for ultimate consumption within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction; the inspection of dairy herds, dairies and milk plants; the issuing and revocation of permits to milk producers and distributors and the placarding of restaurants and other establishments serving milk or milk products.

Section 2. Grade A Milk Ordinance. The health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, in the performance of his duties under Section 1 of this ordinance, shall adopt as the standards to be followed the provisions in paragraph HDP4G entitled "Certified Milk Identity" and paragraph HDP4H entitled "Grade A Milk and Milk Products" of a regulations of the Indiana State Board of Health duly passed on September 13, 1945, and filed with the Secretary of State on October 18, 1945, entitled "Regulations Relating to Dairy Products, Including Definitions and Standards of Identity." For the purpose of interpreting the aforesaid requirements, the unabridged form of Public Health Bulletin No 220 entitled "The 1939 edition of the Milk Ordinance and Code recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service," and such future amendements as may be made to this Bulletin shall be used. Two certified copies of said Public Health Bulletin No. 220 shall be placed on file in the office of the Town Clerk-Treasurer for public inspection.

Section 3. The sale of adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk products prohibited. No person shall within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, produce, sell, offer or expose for sale, or have in possession with intent to sell, any milk or milk prodcut which is adulterated, misbranded or ungraded. It shall be unlawful for any person, elsewhere than in a private home, to have in possession any adulterated, misbranded or ungraded milk or milk product.

Section 4. Permits. It shall be unlawful for any person to bring into or receive into the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its police jurisdiction, for sale, or to sell, or offer for sale therein, or to have in storage where milk or milk products are sold or served, any milk or milk product defined in this Ordinance who does not possess a permit from the health officer having jurisdiction within the territorial limits of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana.

Only a person who complies with the requirements of this ordinance shall be entitled to receive and retain such a permit.

Such a permit may be suspended by the health officer, or revoked after an opportunity for a hearing by the health offic, upon the violation by the holder of any of the terms of this ordinance. Any person, firm or corporation shall have the right to take an appeal from any decision of the health officer to the DeKalb County Circuit Court, as in other civil cases.

Section 4a. Permit fees. The permit fee for the sale or disposal of milk or milk products in the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, shall be as follows:

(a) All milk plants engaged in the processing and distribution of pasteurized fluid milk or milk products shall pay a permit fee of four cents (4c) per hundredweight on all milk received for such purposes.

(b) All milk pasteurization plants purchasing sweet cream for resale as pasteurized cream shall pay a permit fee of one cent (1c) per pound butterfat on all cream received for such purposes.

Fees referred to in (a) and (b) shall be paid on or before the 15th day of the month for the previous month, the first payment being due thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Ordinance. The original weight sheets and other records shall be made available once each month to the Town Clerk for determination of these fees. All plants operating under provisions (a) and (b) above shall purchase milk by weight and not by volume. Any dairy selling direct to any other dairy or dairies which purchasing dairy or dairies pay the permit fee on the hundredweight as above set out on the milk so produced shall not be required to pay either of the aforesaid permit fees. Provided, further, that any person, firm or corporation having a permit issued by the health officer of any other municipality or other unit of government operating under the standards required by this ordinance shall be exempt from paying permit fees required in Section 4: provided, however, every such person, firm or corporation shall, in lieu of such permit fees, pay a flat license fee of $25.00 per year for each truck or other vehicle used in transporting or delivering milk or other dairy products to distributors or ultimate consumers within the corporate limits of said town and every such truck or vehicle shall display a suitable license tag issued by the town evidencing the payment of such license.

These fees shall be paid to the Town Clerk of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, and shall be used only for the salary, expenses and supplies of an enforcement officer.

Section 5. From and after twelve (12) months from the date on which this Ordinance takes effect no milk or milk products shall be sold to the final consumer, or to restaurants, soda fountains, grocery stores or similar establishments, except Grade A Pasteurized or Certified Pasteurized milk or milk products as defined in the standards required to be adopted by this Ordinance; provided that when any milk distributor fails to qualify for one of the above grades the health officer is authorized to revoke his permit, or in lieu thereto to degrade his product and permit its sale during a temporary period not exceeding thirty (30) days or in emergencies such longer period as he may deem necessary.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the President of the Town Board to employ such sanitary police and inspectors, with the approval of the health officer having jurisdiction and the State Board of Health, as may be necessary for the enforcement of this ordinance and who shall be the authorized representative of the health officer having jurisdiction to perform such duties of inspection and reports as may be necessary for the full enforcement of this Ordinance.

Such sanitary police and inspectors shall be persons well qualified for the performance of said duties and shall be paid such sum as may be agreed upon by the President of the Town Board and the health officer having jurisdiction out of such funds as may hereafter be appropriated therefore by the Town Board.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this Ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollers ($100.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty (30) days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Each and every violation of the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 8. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after its passage and legal advertising.

Section 9. If any section, subdivision or clause of this Ordinance shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance.

Strawberry Scone Puff

Sweetest dessert story of the season is this meringue-topped scone filled with juicy red strawberries.

Strawberry shortcakes ride the crest of public favor during the spring and summer—and the most elegant shortcake of them all is Strawberry Scone Puff.

Make this party dessert using a rich scone batter which is made quickly like a drop biscuit dough. After baking, edge the golden scone with frothy meringue and brown until it, too, is golden. Then spoon chilled berries into the warm scone puff and serve plain or with thick cream.

You can also make this dessert using bakery sponge cake in place of the scone and framing with meringue. Fill with raspberries or fresh peaches when they are available.

Budget memo to the man of the house is that each serving of the scone puff costs only 4½ cents, though berries are additional. This dessert story also has a happy nutrition ending, for the enriched scone puff provides protein, essential B-vitamins and food iron.

STRAWBERRY SCONE PUFF

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs, separated
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 pint strawberries, sliced and sweetened

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Beat egg yolks, reserving whites for meringue topping. Combine beaten yolks and milk and add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is well moistened. Spread in greased 9-inch round pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 20 minutes. Remove from pan. Make meringue by beating egg whites until stiff, gradually adding ¼ cup sugar. Spread meringue on scone puff, piling high around edge. Brown meringue in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Fill center of meringue ring with sliced sweetened strawberries. Serve plain or with cream. Makes 6 servings.

Globetrotters Meet Vans Saturday

The North American Vans, who up until now have been strictly a Sunday ball club with the exception of one game, step into four straight days of action this week on their home grounds.

One of the four games is a Central Indiana League contest with the Richmond Mercurys Friday night. The Vans won their opening league test from Richmond on the latter's diamond a little over a week ago, and also hold a practice game decision over the Richmond nine.

Probably the most interesting of the four games to be played at Fort Wayne will be this Saturday night's engagement with the fun-loving Harlem Globetrotters, Abe Saperstein's baseball edition of his famed basketball attraction. The Globetrotters are an independent team, travelling the country with their talented roster of players who are also masters of comedy and showmanship.

Thursday night's game with the St. Joe Auscos opens the four games in four days stretch for the Vans. The Auscos have played against local teams in league competition in years past, but this year are operating independently and building a strong contender for national semi-pro honors.

The three week-day games will all begin at 8:15 at Dwenger Park and then the Camp Breckenridge Army club will be in for a Sunday afternoon tilt at 2:30. The Breckenridge team has built up a fabulous 20-1 record this spring against all types of competition ranging from college teams to the high minors. The Sunday game will probably be, as a result, the toughest one yet for the Vans who go into the four-game series with a record of 5-1 for the year.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Home Economics Club met at the home of Mrs. Alice Reidenbach. The meeting was called to order by president Gertrude Borthwick. A poem was read by Hulda Reasoner followed by the Lord's Prayer by the club. The club creed and song were then read and secretary's report given. Roll call was taken with response, "My mother's favorite dish."

Motion made and carried to accept Mrs. Amstutz' suggestions on decorating the booth for the fair.

Housecleaning hints were given by club members, led by Mrs. Mary Trenary. Music followed by the accordion band, Mrs. Borthwick, Mary Krise, Mable Tustison and Edith Saylor. A reading, "A Touch of the Master's Hand," was given by Hulda Reasoner.

There were 24 members, two visitors and six children present.

The song of the month, "America, the Beautiful," was read by Mary Krise and sung by the club in closing.

The hostess and committee, Ethel Wineland, Doris Yeiser and Nancy Coburn served a delicious lunch.

The next meeting will be "June breakfast" at Cora Feters' home.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26; 19:1-6, 10-14; Mark 1:40-43; Luke 6:31-36; 12:4-7.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 8.

God and Life

Lesson for May 25, 1952

IF THERE IS any one commandment which Jesus not only did not abolish but made far clearer and sharper, it is the commandment, Thou shalt not kill.

By word and act, the Master showed that life is sacred. It is sacred because we are God's children; and whatever injures life, whatever makes it less worth living, whatever tempts men to do way with their own lives, whatever shortens life and makes it wretched and unbearable, this violates the will of God, this is a form of killing.

Dr. Foreman

Jesus' attitude to disease is a case in point. We do not read of a single case where he came in contact with a sick person and urged the patient just to be patient. He always restored the sick to health; sickness in his eyes, is a thing that ought not to be.

Blunt Instruments

MURDER MYSTERIES are always solved in the detective stories. In real life we are not always so fortunate. Many a murder mystery remains a mystery after long years. All the police could ever be sure of was that "some person or persons unknown" hit the victim with a "blunt instrument."

Now you would think that a murderer would pick out something more efficient. Why not a sharp instrument? However, the blunt instrument, whatever it was—a sash-weight, a brick or whatever,—did the work. A man can be just as dead from being hit with a sandbag as from being shot with a rifle.

As Simeon Stylites pointed out some time ago in the "Christian Century," there are all kinds of blunt instruments besides crowbars, sash-weights and bricks. Whatever tends to shorten life is a kind of blunt instrument; it may take a long time to have its effect but if it is deadly in the long run, then it is deadly, period.

Any sort of habit that cuts down one's good health; any carelessness or neglect; any stupidity or foolishness such as driving too fast on a wet night; giving way to worries and getting indigestion from them; these are not un-heard-of ways of shortening life. They are, in plain language, murderous.

Alcohol the Killer

AS THIS IS the temperance lesson, this is a good place to recall the fact that alcoholic liquor is a too popular deadly weapon.

You have heard of the so-called antibodies or phagocytes which are in a healthy blood-stream. These are the little fighting cells which gather around invading germs and kill them. Without these in our blood we could scarcely survive a single day, the air is so full of germs which we cannot help taking into our throats and lungs.

But alcohol taken internally will paralyze these phagocytes to such an extent that they are no use. This is not to say that a single bottle or drink of liquor kills all a man's phagocytes at once.

But still, as David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, once said, if a man were telling the whole truth he would not say, Let us have a drink together. He would say, Come, let us paralyze our phagocytes together!

Insurance companies which insure only ministers and religious workers, that is to say, which insure mostly non-drinkers, can and do offer insurance for much lower premiums than companies that have to insure all sorts of people including "moderate" drinkers.

Hit by the Bottle

A DRINKER is said to be hitting the bottle. Not at all. The bottle is hitting him. Liquor kills, in more ways than by paralyzing the health-cells in the blood. Time is the stuff life is made of; and how much time liquor kills, how many "lost week-ends" it is causing this very week, only God and the devil know.

Liquor also creates poverty and poverty helps to shorten life. Liquor also makes a man reckless. The trade of prostitution would not be quite as flourishing without liquor. Many a serious disease is contracted under the effects of liquor.

As for violent and sudden deaths, read carefully next Monday's papers for the lists of the people killed on our American highways this beautiful May week-end. Read again after Decoration Day. Read carefully: how many of these dead people, if sober, might have lived?

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The April meeting of the Spencer Twp. Home Demonstration Club was held on April 9 at the home of Hazel Washler as hostess with Margaret Cook and Ellen Hart as co-hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Kimes. Donna Mae Davis read the Easter story from the Bible for devotions.

The history of the song, "Old Oaken Bucket," was read by Irma Allen. All members joined in singing.

A project lesson on soaps and detergents was given by Mrs. Lola Moore. Good point to remember is to make it a habit to measure soap powder.

Eleanor Crothers gave five danger signals of cancer. The club voted to give $5 to cancer research.

The secretary's report was read and approved. Roll call was answered by an "Easter I Remember."

Seventeen members, three guests and two children enjoyed pleasant refreshments and games.

A bazaar was held which netted the club $18.10.

The May meeting was held on May 14 at the home of Elizabeth Akey as hostess with Jean Moore and Dorothy Kimes as her assistants.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Mrs. Donzella Graham. Devotions were given by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Kimes.

The history of the song, "America, the Beautiful," was read by Mrs. Miriam Hamilton. All members then joined in singing the song.

A project lesson on frozen desserts was given by Mrs. Lola Moore and Mrs. Lois Fisher. The dessert was then served as refreshments.

Other leaders in the club gave many useful points on gardening, poultry and literature.

The secretary's report was read and approved. Roll call was answered with "An Embarrassing Moment We Remember."

Twenty members, two guests and two children enjoyed pleasant refreshments and games.

The June meeting will be held on June 11 at the home of Mrs. Lois Fisher at 7:30 p.m. with a bazaar.

Around the Town

With the Editor

You can give Kenny Coburn a good share of the credit for the improved appearance of the cemetery this year. With Memorial Day coming on, the K of P Lodge naturally wanted to have it looking nice, so Kenny did his share to please those who will be in attendance at the services. He was busy with the trimmers this week getting rid of the tall grass.

I guess we ought to know now who's boss in the McCreery household. Tuesday evening "Chuck" walked out of the house with a fish pole and departed with Don Keller. Five minutes later the little woman was out shoving the lawn mower.

I liked the example of fellowship made at the commencement exercises when a negro was asked to be on the program. He had a nice voice, too.

Lee Davis Wins Freshman Judging Contest

The Freshman Livestock Judging Contest was held the week before the close of school. Sixteen members particiapted and the results were as follows:

1st—Lee Davis with a score of 382 of a possible 450.
2nd—Paul Baney 372.
3rd—Loren DeLong.
4th, 5th and 6th—Franklyn Wade, John Heyman and Robert Lochamire.

The contest was conducted on the same scope and by the same rules as district and state contests. Classes of barrows and breeding gilts were judged on the Merritt Sechler farm, sheep on the Lawrence Wagner farm and beef cattle on the Rinehart farm northeast of St. Joe.

The first and second place winners were given prizes of $3 and $2 by their instructor as a reward for their proficiency.

Parade Forms At 2 P.M. Friday

Memorial Day services will be held Friday afternoon, May 30, in St. Joe at 2:30 p.m. at Riverside Cemetery.

The St. Joe-Spencerville School Band under the direction of Carl Zimmerman will lead a parade from the Walter Whitehurst American Legion Home at 2 o'clock. Local organizations, individuals and children have been invited to participate in the parade which will march to the cemetery.

Judge Walter Stump of Auburn will give the main address and the local legion post members will perform their appropriate observance honoring those who served their country in the armed forces.

On Friday morning American Legion post members, including the rifle squad, will visit Spencerville at 9 a.m., Newville at 10 a.m. and Alton at 11 a.m. for the Legion observance of Memorial Day at those cemeteries. They will then participate in the afternoon services at Riverside Cemetery.

Bible Schools Begin Next Monday

Daily Vacation Bible School Classes will begin Monday, June 2, at the St. Joe Church of Christ.

Classes will be held daily except Saturday and Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

All children are invited to attend. Anyone needing transportation is asked to contact Ed Storer.

The school will hold classes until June 13.

Newville Church of Christ will hold their annual Vacation Bible School June 2 through June 13.

Mrs. Earl Koeppe will direct this year's school. Anyone in the community interested in attending should notify Mrs. Koeppe or the minister.

Over 400 At Commencement

Graduation exercises of the Class of 1952 of Concord Township High School were held Saturday evening at the school gym.

The main address was given by Dr. Thurman Rice of the Indiana State Board of Health..

The St. Joe-Spencerville School Band played for the processional and Lawrence Merriweather of Fort Wayne, outstanding negro soloist, presented two numbers before Dr. Rice presented his address.

Carl Stallman, county superintendent of schools, presented diplomas to forty-four graduating students. Mr. Merriweather then sang "Deep River" and Harvey Hull made a few remarks on behalf of the alumni of Concord Twp. High School. Carl Zimmerman then led the band in the recessional after which the graduates received the congratulations of parents and friends.

Bibles were presented during the program to the seniors by the St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club with Mr. Calvin Lessing representing the club. Principal Charles McCreery made reognition of the valedictorian, Diana Lawson, salutatorian, Wanda Hawk, and American Legion Citizenship Award winner Merle Bassett.

LAVON HART RECEIVES DIPLOMA

Mr. Lavon G. Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart, Spencerville, is among the 182 seniors of Manchester College who were granted a diploma at the graduation exercises on May 26.

Mr. Hart received the degree of bachelor of science in the field of mathematics and physics.

'Chicken-In-A-Sack' Supper Planned For Gala Diamond Dedication

Tentative plans for a "chicken-in-a-sack" supper have been made in connection with the official dedication of the lights at the local ball diamond on Friday, June 13.

In preparation for a big evening in St. Joe on that date, the program committee has announced that this special supper treat will be part of the celebration enabling everyone to enjoy the various concessions, games and entertainment from 5 p.m. until the completion of the program.

The program as planned thus far by the committee includes the St. Joe-Spencerville School Band; running contests for boys and girls; concessions including pie throwing, miniature trapshoot, baseball toss and basketball toss; a pony league game with Holsom Dairy's team opposing an out-of-town team yet to be announced; attendance prizes for those holding lucky numbers and also for the largest family, the oldest person and the person traveling the farthest to attend the program; dedication ceremonies with local and outside dignitaries officially "opening" the diamond; the Zollner Piston World Champion fastball team; and, of course, the "chicken-in-a-sack" supper.

A program booklet is planned for those who wish to have a souvenir of St. Joe's big night.

Methodist Minister Renamed

Over three hundred ministers and an equal number of lay delegates of the Methodist church met at Trinity Methodist Church in Elkhart May 21 to 25 to hear reports of progress for the past year, formation of new committees, decide upon business for the coming year and hear reports on local and conference projects such as the Bashor's Children's Home at Goshen, Warren Memorial Home for the Aged and the Parkview Memorial Hospital and nurses home at Fort Wayne. The conference also met to hear and visit with missionaries of the local and world wide church.

New missionaries were commissioned and ministers given their ordination in very impressive services. The Spencerville-Concord Church was one of the few privileged churches to obtain a newly commissioned missionary couple to India, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond E. Lanham, to speak in Spencerville on July 13.

The Spencerville Charge was represented by Mrs. Harvey Leonard. This Charge is new history, because at the reading of the appointments by the District Superinendent and the authorization of the same by the Bishop of the Indiana area. The new charge is now called the Spencerville-Concord Church. There are also a newly formed Harlan-Scipio Charge and Taylor Munson Chapel Charge.

A request by church members that Rev. E. J. Gilford return for another year was granted. It has unanimously been requested that the Bishop return for another four years, but this will not be ascertained until the North Central Jurisdictional Conference convenes later this year.

MUSIC BOOSTER CLUB

Mr. Lehr Wilder opened the meeting of the Music Booster Club on May 21. The meeting had been postponed because of commencement held at Spencerville.

The secretary's report was read and approved. The membership committee made a report that 11 new members joined the club that evening.

Mrs. June Baker was selected club reporter.

The band will play June 13 for the dedication of the ball diamond in St. Joe from 5 p.m. until the start of the ball games.

A committee for band jackets was appointed including Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Keeler.

The next meeting will be held on June 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the 4th and 5th grade room.

GET-TO-GETHER CLUB

The St. Joe, Concord Township, 4-H club met at 1 p.m. in the home ec room Tuesday.

Sandra McCann presided.

The meeting was as follows:
Song "America."

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Leaky Trough

This Week's . . . . .
Washington Story
By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

DESPITE claims of administration propaganda artists of "full employment" and "unprecedented prosperity," payments made by Federal, State and local governments for direct relief in 1950 totaled $2,360,000,000 as compared to $635,000,000 in 1936.

These payments were made to destitute people, or those who claimed to be destitute, and include no payments under the social security laws or for unemployment benefits under Federal or State acts.

None in this country would withhold assistance from those who are destitute. But, it must be remembered, one of the principal reasons advanced for the passage of the social security act was that it would reduce the costs for direct relief. Paymenta under the social security act began in 1937.

If these vast direct relief payments were reduced substantially and unnecessary payments eliminated there would be a greater amount available for distribution to the elderly citizens of our country who find it difficult to subsist on the meager payments they are receiving during this inflationary period.

Regardless of the payments being made for benefits such as unemployment insurance, old age assistance and retirement payments, direct relief paymenta of 1950 were 3.7 times those of 1936, and 2.3 times those of the highest year of the Roosevelt administration.

Here are some interesting comparisons:

More Than Bank Income

The direct relief item for 1950 was 3.7 times that of the bad year of 1936.

It was 1.3 times the total taxes collected by the Federal government in 1932.

The entire income of all banks for 1950 — even before taxes — would have paid this direct relief cost for less than eight months.

It is a little more than the total of expenditures of public schools (including buildings, etc.) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1942, and 1.6 times the pay of all teachers in the public schools for that year.

In 1950 the Federal, State and local governments paid to individuals a total of $14,330,000,000 as direct relief, unemployment compensation, old age and survivors' benefits, pensions and from other trust funds for which no services were performed in that year.

This is more than the average annual expenditures of the Federal, State and local governments for the 10-year period ending in 1940.

Exceeds Farm Income

It is more than the farm income for 1950 — and included in the farm income was the estimated rental value of the farm homes, the value of the food grown and consumed on farms and the value of the fuel taken from and consumed on the farms.

It is 1.6 times the dividends paid by all corporations in 1950.

Indiana is fortunate in its relief laws and its social security enabling law, in that provisions were written into them in 1951 which are designed to eliminate insofar as possible those who would receive benefits to which they are not entitled.

I cite the figures merely as a report on government spending and to illustrate why government costs are mounting annually.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

HALT GRAIN PILFERING—Following strong Congressional criticism of the Department of Agriculture's grain storage program, officials of the Department announced strict new procedures to halt pilfering of millions of dollars in government grain from private warehouses. Revelations of the loss to the taxpayers, by Congressional investigation of charges of this pilfering, were one one of the startling exposes in recent months.

Gus Geissler, president of the Commodity Credit Corp., which handles the grain storage program, said the new regulations increase the bond posted by warehousemen when they agree to store the grain. Another step which is being taken to halt the loss of grain, from the warehouses, is to strengtehn the inspection system.

EXTEND SOIL CONSERVATION—Congress has recognized the need for maintaining sound soil conservation practices in the nation, a need which was further emphasized this year with the terrific floods which sent top soil tumbling down the swollen rivers, by passing a bill extending soil conservation for another two years. The program of soil conservation payments to farmers for following recommended soil conservation practices would have expired this year, if Congress hadn't acted.

INVESTIGATE PRICE HIKE—The House newsprint subcommittee of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee has taken action to protest the proposed $10 a ton increase in Canadian newsprint.

The Chairman of the subcommittee, Rep. Lindley Beckworth, of Texas sent the following message--an official protest--to Price Administrator Ellis Arnall, urging him to take all possible steps to head off the hike:

"I hope you will see that every possible step is taken to forestall the newsprint price increase of $10 a ton.

"I had expected to be advised when the Canadian representative notified you of their intention to increase the price. Our House newsprint committee then could have held hearings before a decision was reached.

"Already I have learned from several publishers that a $10 increase would have an extremely serious effect on newspapers of our country. I am inviting all publishers to send me their views.

"If you are unable to obtain prompt reconsideration of this increase, our newsprint committee will hold hearings forthwith. Notify me of developments."

AID CUT URGED—Further support of a reduction in the foreign aid program has come from Senator Ellender, Democrat, of Louisiana, member of the Senate Appropriations Committee. The Senator said that without cuts in the President's budget requests, "The U. S. will, under the guise of expanding defense, spend itself into bankruptcy," and added, "by cutting out some of the military frills and by shifting a larger portion of the burden of foreign defense to our Allies, a substantial foreign aid cut can be safely made."

He asserted that the foreign aid program can be reduced at least twice the billion dollar cut voted by House and Senate Committees. The original request was for $7.9 billions.

Answer to Question No. 1:

The answer is definitely yes. In any mass screening when supposedly healthy individuals have X-ray pictures of their lungs, a certain percentage of early lung tuberculosis is found among unsuspecting individuals. In these early stages tuberculosis is curable.

Answer to Question No. 2:

In 1900 about 20 of every 100 babies died before their first birthday. In 1950 three out of 100 died before they were one year old. The chief causes of death in these three are prematurity, severe deformities present at birth, birth injuries, blood diseases and acute infection. Some of the causes are avoidable and medical science is rapidly eradicating them. Others are beyond the control of science.

Answer to Question No. 3:

It is a disease caused by parasites which are introduced into the body by the bite of certain types of mosquitos. The parasites invade the red corpusles. The chief signs are chills and high fever. Proper sanitation measures have almost wiped out the disease in the U.S.A.

'500' Attractions At Indianapolis

Freddie Agabashian, Andy Linden and Jack McGrath (left to right) will be in the front row positions at the start of the 500-mile race Friday. Agabashian won the No. 1 spot by setting new one-lap and four-lap records of 139.049 and 138.010 m.p.h. respectively.

Everything was in readiness for tomorrow's (Friday's) 36th annual 500-mile race as the starting field of 33 drivers and their pit crews gathered in the pagoda yard this afternoon (Thursday) for final instructions.

With Freddie Agabashian in the no. 1 starting position after qualifying at 138.010 miles per hour on May 17, all indications point to the fastest race in the history of the speedway. Agabashian will be in the cockpit of the six-cylinder oil-burning Cummins Diesel Special, but all of the other 32 cars in the starting field will be powered by conventional gasoline engines.

Arlene Dahl, Hollywood movie star, will present the Borg-Warner victory trophy to the winner of Friday's 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Morton Downey of New York, movie and radio star for two decades, will sing "Back Home Again In Indiana" during the colorful pre-race ceremonies and Arlene Dahl of Hollywood will be on hand in victory lane to greet the winner. Special music will be provided by the Purdue University Band.

The 33 starting drivers, selected from a field of 70 entries on the basis of speed displayed in the time trials, will be shooting at the race record of 126.244 miles an hour established last year by Lee Wallard. Burns sustained in a dirt track race last summer will prevent Lee from defending his honors, but he will be in the pits during the long grind.

Radio accounts of the race will be carried by more than a dozen Indiana radio stations, including WKJG in Fort Wayne.

PRISCILLA PRIM 4-H CLUB

The fourth 4-H meeting of the Priscilla Prim 4-H Club of Spencerville was held May 21, 1952, at 2:30 p.m. in the home ec room.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Betty Beckman. Pledges to the 4-H and American flags were led by Jerry Woodring. Two songs were led by the song leader, Patsy Hook.

Roll call was answered with "favorite foods" by all seven members.

The secretray's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. A business meeting was conducted with a general group discussion. Several poems were read by John Weninger and Jerry Woodring. Lois Kimes then gave an effective demonstration on baking an angel food cake. Several games were led by the recreation leader, Mary Beckman.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Piston Stars To Appear In St. Joe

Appearing in St. Joe on June 13 will be the Fort Wayne Zollner Piston fastball team who recorded an amazing total of 101 victories as against only 6 defeats in 1951.

Included in the squad which will play an exhibition game here will be such stars as Elmer Rohrs, Ernie Flowers and Neal Barille. Elmer is fast earning the distinction as the fastest pitcher in the game and last year had an unbeaten season, winning 23 games. He struck out 254 in 175 innings and allowed 18 runs in 31 games. He walked 31, an average of but one per game.

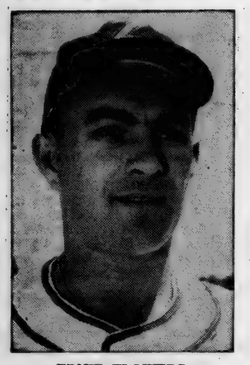
"Mr. Swat" with the Pistons is Ernie Flowers. He set an all-time home run record last year with 20.



ERNIE FLOWERS

Appearing in all 107 games with the team last year, he batted .261. Ernie was second in the runs-batted-in department with 70. A free-swinger, he has turned out to be the "Babe Ruth of Fastball."

A great drag bunt artist, Neal Barille is the smallest man (only 5' 3") on the team and for that reason toughest man to pitch to.

NEAL BARILLE

One of the veteran outfielders of the game, he had a slumping season last year, hitting only .214 in 97 games, but he drew more walks than any other player on the team, 61.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH I. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:8, 13-16, 27-32; Mark 10:2-12; Luke 8:40.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Ephesians 5:1-10.

Why Purity?

Lesson for June 1, 1952

AMONG THE NEW IDEAS that come into the world with the Christian religion is the ideal of purity, as we understand it. We acknowledge our debt here to Judaism, but Judaism never pushed into all the world as Christianity did.

Christianity took over from the Old Testament and renewed with fresh emphasis an idea of which the entire ancient world knew nothing, the ideal fo purity as God's will for all of us.

Dr. Foreman

The Greeks and Romans admired vestal virgins and the like; but they looked on them as a small and special class, not like ordinary mortals. All peoples even the most primitive have some kind of sex taboos; even those that permit adultery impose some limitations on it.

What Purity Means

THE TRUE CHRISTIAN idea, the New Testament idea, Christ's idea, of purity means something far deeper and higher than merely not committing adultry. It means chastity in its full sense.

It is not the same thing as celibacy or not marrying. It is not the same thing as perpetual virginity, otherwise we could never speak of a chaste wife. Put as simply as possible, purity in the Christian sense of the word means that sex is always to be thought of in the closest connection with love and the home.

It is not true New Testament teaching to say that sex is bad in itself. It is even farther from the New Testament to say that sex is good in itself.

Pursued for its own sake, it destroys the happiness of the pursuer; taken into the atmosphere of true love, bound in the solemn vows of genuine marriage, it can belong in a life of real happiness and goodness.

Forsaking All Others

CHRIST QUITE CLEARLY taught as the ideal of marriage a lifetime unbroken union of one man and one woman. Since the times in which he lived were, like ours, a time of easy divorce, his disciples, good men though they were, felt puzzled about this.

Today on all sides the Christian ideal of marriage is still under attack as too rigid, as beyond the capacity of normal human beings, as being a sort of cage invented by priests and preachers. Love should be free, we are told.

You do not need to go to the Bible to see how wrong this is. Just fall in love and you will understand the truth. When a man and woman are in love, really in love, enough to dare marriage together, they do not need a priest or a preacher or a Bible to tell them what God who made them has already put into their hearts: that true love means just each for the other, for always.

What young man would care to marry a girl who would say to him on their wedding day, "Darling, you are the only man I love—with maybe half a dozen exceptions." What girl would feel like going on with the ceremony if at the altar the young man said, "I take thee for my wedded wife, from this day forward, for better not for worse, for richer not for poorer, in health but not in sickness, till discontent do us part."

The flower-to-flower notion of love is something every couple truly in love can see is nonsense, and worse.

Heart of the Home

PREACHERS HAVE BEEN saying for a long time, but now they don't need to say it any more for a while, because scientific investigators, sociologists, psychiatrists, probation officers, juvenile court judges, all are saying the same thing: It is the home that makes, or unmakes, the boy and girl.

Juvenile delinquents, we are told by those who know, come from all sorts of homes, but not from homes where the parents live in harmony.

So it is not only for one's own sake that purity is an ideal to be cherished and lived out. It is for the sake of the rising generation, it is for the whole community's sake.

Do you want to know whether the next generation will be strong and good or weak and bad? Look into the homes where they are now growing up. The homes of today tell the story of the characters of tomorrow. And nothing eats out the heart of a home so quickly, no other serpent has so potent a poison, as impurity.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

WATCH THAT BULL

"THE most dangerous animal on the American Continent." In these words a Pennsylvania farm paper editorially classifies the bull. The story states that for a number of years it has been collecting and reporting bull accidents and its records show that 304 persons have been killed and 503 seriously injured by bulls. Although the accidents so publicized did not all occur in Pennsylvania, most of them took place in that and surrounding states. Most of them, the article stated, were due to carelessness of farmers working around bulls.

Farming is one of the most dangerous of occupations.

Industries generally are compelled by law to provide safety devices for their employees, and care and compensation for any one injured. Many industries conduct safety courses on the operation of machines and penalize those failing to comply with safety requirements.

This is not true of the farming industry, the farmer being in most instances, his own boss, with comparatively few men in his employ. The farmer handles seasonally a variety of machines as powerful as many other industrial machines and handles them customarily over rough ground. Machinery in most industries is bolted securely to a solid floor.

A 2,000 pound bull is a potent force and not always securely tied—he starts to move when he gets the notion.

The farmer gets accustomed to an animal, becomes careless, and is frequently killed or seriously injured. Watch that bull!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

Enclosed is check for $2.00, for which please extend our subscription from June 1, 1952, to June 1, 1953.

To speak plainly, I think it is quite a bit to pay for a small weekly newspaper. Our daily Auburn paper costs $4.00 per year and we receive the Cedar Creek Courier at no cost, and it contains quite a lot of news items.

We intend to continue taking the St. Joe News and will not think the subscription increase unjustified if the paper contains a fair amount of news items we would not learn about elsewhere. We are not much interested in the advertisements (although there are exceptions, of course) or the news which is old, having appeared previously in the Auburn paper.

The subscribers and townspeople can do much to improve the readability of the paper by sending in worth while items. I mean those of some importance, such as births, deaths, marriages, changes of residences, anniversaries, social meetings, etc.

Personally, I think the editor is doing a commendable job. It is not easy to come into a small community and make it your "home town." You seem to belong in St. Joe as much as if you had lived there all your life. I feel like calling St. Joe my home town although all my early years were lived in Spencerville.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Paul Drerup

French Coffee Ring

Give your coffee cakes a look of elegance with a shaping borrowed from French pastry chefs. The intricate looking design is amazingly simple to make.

With a coffee cake at your command, you are prepared for entertaining on a budget. Buy it baked or bake it at home for a party feature that's good at any hour.

French Coffee Ring is an attractive packaging for the favorite Cinnamon Roll. Serve it for a special breakfast or luncheon menu with fruit cup, plain omelets and browned pork sausages. Many folks like sweet breads for other meals, too. Occasionally tuck slices of French Coffee Ring in a basket of dinner rolls.

When French Coffee Ring has cooled, it may be frosted with confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkled with chopped nuts. This enriched bread helps solve your problem of giving your family good nutrition at a thrifty price. It provides protein, essential B-vitamins and food iron for under 35 cents.

The basic sweet yeast dough from which French Coffee Ring is fashioned is the starting point for many a tempting sweet bread. Just vary the filling, shaping or topping and another menu star is born.

FRENCH COFFEE RING

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (if desired)
Melted butter or margarine
Brown sugar
Cinnamon
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour. Mix well. Add softened yeast, egg and lemon rind. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Pat or roll out to a rectangular sheet about ½-inch thick, and three times as long as it is wide. Brush with melted butter or margarine and spread with brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll, sealing the ends. With scissors cut through ring almost to center, in slices about 1-inch thick. Turn each slice slightly, lifting every other one to the center of the ring. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar icing.

Makes 1 French Coffee Ring.

VOLUME LXVII — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), INDIANA — Thursday, June 5, 1952 — NUMBER 23

Around the Town

With the Editor

That was a very nice Memorial Day service conducted by the American Legion Post of St. Joe last Friday. I'm sure the many visitors and former residents who attended weren't disappointed in any way, except possibly the absence of a public address system. But "Shorty" Stump had enough volume even without to carry and everything else was fine. The school band sure is coming along fine and Carl Zimmerman deserves credit for its progress.

It was a solemn ceremony, and reached what you might call a climax as Russell Walter placed the memorial wreath at the foot of the tall monument, stepped back and gave a salute of respect to our deceased servicemen. It made my blood tingle. If you were there, I think you know what I mean.

Incidently, the inscription on the monument read, "One Flag, One Nation." Some folks seem to want us to forget that.

When we were back home, Mike and Dave were telling about their marching in the parade and the goings-on at the cemetery. Mike said, "—and they played that song I like."

I knew the band didn't play "Goodnight, Irene" and was puzzled momentarily. Esther said, "What song—on, you mean 'The Star Spangled Banner'?"

"Yeah, I told the other kids to stand up when they played it but they all wouldn't do it."

—That's m'boy.

I said it was a solemn ceremony before. But I had to chuckle a little when a couple of the gun-toters had trouble at the "load" command. If they were in the army, I know who'd be on KP right now.

Picnic Pot-Luck For Bible School Friday

The final day of the daily vacation Bible school at the Lutheran Church in St. Joe will see the children and parents enjoying a picnic pot-luck dinner at noon. School will be held as usual from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. The pot-luck will follow.

Parents and friends are invited to come for the picnic lunch and stay for a short program. Those who attend should bring a picnic lunch basket—filled, of course.

Attendance at the school averaged 55 to 60 pupils per day, with some abence due to the measles and mumps.

The Bible schol was in charge of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Baker, assisted by Mrs. Louise Church. Mrs. Frieda Guilford and Anita Lawson taught the juniors. Mrs. Marvella Dilley and Mrs. Audree Collins led the primary group. Beginners were taught by Mrs. Marcia Sible and Mrs. Mary Carpenter led the nursery department. Teachers' helpers were Becky Harts, Sandra McCann and Katherine Shuff. Bill Billow spoke to the school on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Roy Reidenbach was chairman of the committee which served mid-morning refreshments.

One June Draftee

The chief clerk of the DeKalb County selective service board reported Monday that one youth will be drafted for induction on June 11 with the remainder of the quota to be filled by voluntary enlistments.

Laurin A. Smih said the number who will be inducted into active service as volunteers has not been determined. The group will leave Auburn by bus at 6 a.m. on Wednesday, June 11.

The chief clerk said he has received no quota for physical examinations in June.

Fifteen were summoned for physical examination on May 19. Three youths were inducted into active service on May 14.

Only A Week Until Dedication

If the weather man permits, Friday, June 13, should be a big day in St. Joe. With the prospects of a chicken supper to start that evening off, the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club has high expectations for a big turn-out for their official opening and dedication of the lights at the softball diamond.

A generous portion of chicken, potato chips, celery and coffee or milk will be the feature of the chicken-in-a-sack supper. In addition, the concession stand will have ice cold pop, ice cream, pop corn and candy on sale through the evening so no one should be lacking in nourishment.

Of course, the main attraction will be the exhibition intra-squad game which will be played by the Fort Wayne Zollner Piston world champion fastball team. After a rather mediocre spring training record including five losses the Pistons have now fashioned a win streak of seven straight. Many of the stars of the national Fastball League are members of the Zollner squad, including Big Bill West, Sam Lombardo, Hughie Johnston and manager Bernie Kampschmidt.

The program will start at 5 p. m. with the supper and the St. Joe-Spencerville school band presenting a concert. Also to start at 5 o'clock will be the various concessions and amusements. It had been planned to have a miniature trap-shoot as one of the atractions, but it has been made unavailable for that evening. But there will be others to take its place. Races for boys and girls will be conducted and attendance prizes given throughout the evening. A prize will be given to the oldest person attending, the person traveling the farthest to attend and the largest family in attendance at the dedication ceremony.

At approximately 7:30 p.m. a short ceremony will be conducted to officially recognize the opening of the field. The Piston game will follow.

ROADSIDE COUNCIL

The DeKalb County meeting of the Indiana Roadside Council, Inc. met at the court house assembly room in Auburn on Monday, May 26. Mr. Paul Post, first vice-president of the council, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Ray Bell, accompanied by Mrs. John Smith at the piano, led community singing.

Mr. Vern Clark, second vice-president of the council, resigned. His resignation was accepted. The council voted to leave the vacated office open until new officers are elected for next year.

The roadside council will not meet in July. The next meeting of the council will be September 22.

Mrs. Lois Smith, chairman of beautification, gave a report on the progress of the roadside park recently planted. Most of the trees and shrubs are growing. There will be a fall planting for the trees and shrubs not planted this spring. Red barberry is the only shrub needed. All other plantings have been previously donated.

Mrs. Clarence Pease, chairman of the safety committee, gave her report. Mrs. Pease read two letters she had received in reply to safety recommendations her committee had suggested. One letter was from Mr. George Lutz, district supervisor of the highway department, and the other from the Auburn City Council.

Dr. Earl Frisbie of Butler showed pictures of the state parks of Indiana. This part of the program proved to be very interesting and educational.

Special music for the evening was presented by the "Harmonettes" of Butler. They sang "Strolling Through the Park," "On Top of Old Smoky" and "In the Garden." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mildred Cole.

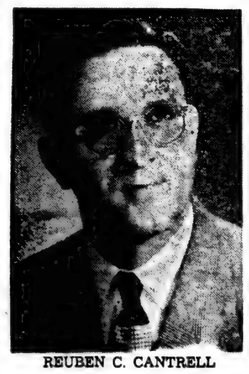
Revival At Spencerville, June 8-22

Organized to conduct, sponsor and encourage community revivals, the Tri-State Evangelistic Association will present a community revival at Spencerville beginning Sunday, June 8, at 2:30 p. m. The revival will be held at the school grounds. Dedication of the tent and equipment will be held on that Sunday afternoon.

Service each night will begin through June 22 at 7:45 p.m.

Evangelist and director of the revival will be Reuben C. Cantrell. He will come to the Spencerville community from a two-week meeting held in a Methodist Church near Louisville, Ky.



REUBEN C. CANTRELL

Song leader will be Ben Saint who has gained wide experience through travels with his brother, the noted Gospel artist, Phil Saint.

Pianist will be Bert Lang, a native of Peoria, Illinois, who is studying in the field of music at the Huntington College, Huntington, Indiana.

-And They Call It 'Prosperity'

Housewives now have to pay $24.47 for a basket of groceries that cost $10 just before World War II and $21.15 when the Korean war started. Labor Department figures showed this fact when released this week.

Government economists predicted that the cost will be even higher in a few months.

Grocers have been authorized by the Office of Price Administration to boost prices on 14 types of foods.

Officials who compile the Labor Department's cost-of-living index said every one of the 26 items in its sample $10 pre-World War II market basket has risen in price.

Here are samples of the difference in retail food prices now and just before World War II—and the Korean War:

Flour—10 lbs cost 36 cents in 1939, 98 in June, 1950, and $1.15 Monday of this week; sugar—five pounds cost 26 cents in 1939, 47 cents in 1950 and 51 cents now; rib roast—39 cents a pound in 1939, 76 cents in 1950 and 86.4 cents now.

Here's what $10 would put in a market basket in August 1939:

Ten pounds of flour, five pounds of sugar, 15 pounds of potatoes, two loaves of bread, seven quarts of milk, a six-pound rib roast, two pounds of bacon, two pounds of butter, one package of rolled oats, two dozen oranges, two dozen eggs, one pound of coffee, five pounds of cabbage, three pounds of green beans, two pounds of veal cutlet, two pounds of pork chops, one can salmon, three pounds of onions, three pounds of apples, two cans tomatoes, two bunches carrots, one head lettuce, one can peaches, one box dried prunes, two cans peas and one pound of cheese.

In June, 1950, the $ 10 bought only the first eight items on the list. Now, it goes only as far as the first six items

County Valuation Highest Yet

An all-time high in assessed valuation of personal property for 1952 in DeKalb County, representing an increase of nearly $700,000 despite considerable losses in livestock, was reported last week by County Assessor Elmer O. Likens.

In the final report filed by the county assessor after compilation of assessments by township trustees and elected and deputy assessors, shows a total personal property valuation of $11,814,148. Last year the grand total was $11,129,965. Actual increase was $684,183.

The figures do not represent all the taxable property in the county or all the personal property which is taxed. Excluded in the report is all machinery equipment which in Union Township alone amounts to an estimated $500,000.

The valuation of real estate is not included in the report and the grand total also does not include assessments of railroads and utilities which are annually assessed by representatives of the state board of tax commissioners.

The assessed valuation of all livestock, farm equipment, household goods, automobiles and trucks and farm tractors totaled $9,947,853 for 1952. Personal property assessment of retail stores and shops and inventories was $1,332,284. The valuation of retail furnishings and fixtures was $481,096. Valuation of personal property in gasoline service stations amounted to $52,915.

In 1952 the total of personal property for business assessments, including retail stores and shops inventory and furnishings and fixtures and gasoline stations amounted to $1,866,195, an increase of more than $400,000 in comparison with the 1951 assessment of $1,458,093.

The total of assessments of livestock, automobiles and trucks, farm implements and tractors, and household goods in 1951 was $9,671,872, approximately $275,000 under this year's total. In 1950 this total was only $6,757,033, but in 1949 the total was $8,174,414.

Drop in hog and milk prices caused a big decrease in the number of animals on DeKalb County farms this year.

The 1952 report shows 573 less milk cows and a drop of $139,224 in valuation. A big decrease of 1,506 hogs and a valuation drop of $115,846 also was reported by the assessors.

Part of the loss in the number of animals was offset by higher average valuation.

The 1952 report showed 691 less sows and a drop in valuation of $60,156; and 479 dozen less poultry and $5,423 less in valuation.

The average valuation of sheep dropped sharply. The assessors report showed 633 more sheep but a drop of $910 in total valuation.

The report also disclosed 253 less automombiles and trucks but an increase of $242,460 in valuation, and a drop of 64 farm implements but an increase of $63,256 in valuation.

Assessment of households increased $187,312 with a slight increase in the number of households.

Mules gave up to progress in 1952 and assessors reported they could find none of them on DeKalb County farms. The animals had held on stubbornly with five reported in 1950 and two, both of them in Union Township, reported in 1951.

There was another big decrease in the number of horses. Ninety-four disappeared during the year and valuation dropped $2,860.

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner I would like to thank the boys and girls of the second and third grades who so kindly remembered me with their lovely gifts and cards during my recent illness with the mumps.

Mrs. Velma Rainier

County Wins Silver 4-H Award

DeKalb County is one of 62 Indiana counties that have won special merit awards for having an outstanding 4-H club program in 1951, the county extension office in Auburn has reported. The award will be made at the annual 4-H Round-Up at Purdue University in June.

DeKalb County will receive a silver award which will carry the numbers of members enrolled and the number of standard club members for the year. 4-H membership in the county in 1951 totaled 807 and of these 736 completed requirements for "standard club" members. Last year the county also received a silver award. This is the sixth year that the county has received this 4-H merit award.

Counties are given recognition for improvement in local programs and increased membership. Awards have been made annually for eight years by Prairie Farmer WLS in co-operation with the Purdue University agricultural extension service. Last year a similar number of counties was honored. This year 17 counties, as compared to 12 counties the year before, will receive gold awards. The counties are Benton, Boone, Cass, Fayette, Fulton, Huntington, Jay, Johnson, Montgomery, Ripley, Rush, Tippecanoe, Tipton, Union, Wells, Whitley and Warren.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Even Unto the Night

This Week's . . . . .
Washington Story
By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

PRACTICE of the national administration in employing an army of press agents, cameramen, radio and television broadcasters to spread propaganda will be stopped if the effort now being made in Congress is successful.

For many years the practice of bureaucrats of hiring newspapermen and other propaganda media to publicize public officials at the taxpayers' expense has grown by leaps and bounds in the past 20 years.

Senators Ferguson (R., Mich.) and Byrd (D., Va.) have sponsored amendments to every appropriation bill coming before the Senate, which would slash by 25 per cent funds used for this purpose. A large number of Senators, including myself, are giving enthusiastic support to the amendments.

Growth of these propaganda agencies is despite the fact they are forbidden by the Act of October 22, 1913, unless funds are specifically appropriated for that purpose. Bureaucrats get around the law by appointing press agents under other designations and are thus unidentifiable. Some of the designations are "supervisors", "administrative assistants" or "technical experts".

Costs Millions Annually

In 1947 a committee headed by former Representative Harness of Indiana asserted:

"The record reveals clearly the manner in which government lobbyists operate on the Federal payroll, how they are always at work to expand their fields of interest, to perpetuate themselves in office, and to impose their ideas and systems upon the American public by organized propaganda paid for entirely by the diversion of public funds from their true purposes to the secret purposes of top bureaucrats and planners."

The task force of the Hoover Commission reported this publicity racket cost the taxpayers $50 million a year in printing costs, and mailing costs of $40 millions computed at regular mailing rates, with an added staff salary cost of $13 million annually. But these figures do not include the added employes in research, stenographers, etc.

Here are some samples of the deep thinking of these press agents in various government bureaus:

A pamphlet called "Filipino Women—Their Role in the Progress of Their Nation," published by the Labor Department.

Elephants Need Rest

Raccoons of North and Middle America, North American Fauna No. 60, published by the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior.

And this gem:

"ECA's Dilemma — Can Elephants and Water Buffaloes Outwork Machinery?" published by the Economic Cooperation Administration. This was an article about 5-day weeks for elephants working in Burma wherein ECA found that elephants do not like to work in the hot sun, that they should be sent to a rest camp in March and April and that they should be given two weeks vacation in October.

The Children's Bureau of the Federal Security Agency sent to editors four sample columns. The first sentence of one read: "How many 'latch-key' children are there in the Nation?" The second had for its purpose the promotion of fluoridated water supplies. The third had as its theme a story about a little boy who wouldn't go to school because his fear of war had become an unbalancing obsession, and, the fourth, according to one editor who received it, wasn't fit for mention even in the Congressional Record.

These are some of the reasons why I, and other Senators, receive letters saying "For Heaven's sake, stop them from sending all this mail."

And this is another place where some practical economy can be applied.

Local News

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Waltz were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Waltz of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Waltz of Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foust are the proud parents of a baby boy born May 28 at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett. The baby has been named David Loren. Mr. Foust is pastor of the St. Joe Church of Christ.

Mrs. Grace Tussing and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tussing and son of Findlay, O., visited Sunday with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Buckingham.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey C. Griggs last Friday, May 31. She has been named Veda Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Caropenter were visitors in the Harvey Hull home over Memorial Day.

Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn and sons were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn, Sr. and Carl Hauke and Carolyne Endorf of Fort Wayne. Mike Haberkorn's sixth birthday was observed.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

"FIDO, you, too, can get rid of that B.O. Don't look like a mutt, wear one of our smart, tailored dog-about-town sport-coats—with a buckle in the back." "Fido—make your mistress proud of you—have a Poodle Pompadour."

Man is doing his best for man's best friend—the dog. He is spending some half a billion dollars a year on food, clothing, shelter, training, recreation, toys, and medical attention for canines.

There are 22 million dogs in the United States and the dog population has been increasing faster than the human population.

Dogs eat well, approximately $200 million worth of specially prepared dog food being consumed every year. Many pharmaceutical houses cater to dogs as well as humans. There is a vast array of medicines ranging from anti-distemper serum to the new antibiotics at $5 a shot.

Dogs are born in modern dog hospitals with doctors and nurses in attendance and when dogs die, many of them are buried in lovely landscaped dog cemeteries. More dogs are living longer and in better health today than ever before.

Many dogs have served in medical research laboratories so that other dogs and humans might live. Man is not unmindful of this contribution to the advancement of science.

Research men lavish much attention on their own pets. Dogs are sharing the responsibilities of the world's progress and they are also enjoying a better life today than ever before.

Heavenly Hamburger Bake

These sandwich "dreams" were baked en casserole, have that French-toasted look. Inside, a meltingly lush cheeseburger filling with the tang of mustard awaits you.

Where there's a will, there's a way with a food budget. Four people can dine happily on Heavenly Hamburger Bake for under 20 cents a serving.

In this dish, one-half pound of hamburger serves four, when combined with shredded cheese and flavored racily with mustard and onion. This is the filling for enriched bread sandwiches made en casserole. Pour an egg-milk mixture over them and bake to a tantalising doneness.

Dinner is practically ready. Butter cooked green peas, slice tomatoes and cucumber for salad and fix a dish of crisp relishes. Complete the meal with milk and cottage pudding.

You'll want to keep this dish in mind for church supper or club group, because it can be easily multiplied and prepared for a group.

Heavenly Hamburger Bake scores high in food value from enriched bread, cheese, milk, meat and eggs. All of these foods contribute protein needed daily for body building and repair. Together they also offer important amounts of vitamin A, three B-vitamins, vitamin D, calcium, phosphorus and food iron.

HEAVENLY HAMBURGER BAKE

8 slices enriched bread
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ pound ground beef
¼ cup diced onion
2 tablespoons diced celery
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 cup shredded American cheese
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk

Cut 4 slices of bread diagonally (if desired). Spread lightly with butter or margarine and arrange in bottom of an 8-inch square baking dish. Toast lightly in moderate oven (350°F.) about 15 minutes. While bread is toasting, brown meat with onion and celery. Mix in prepared mustard.

Spread meat mixture over toasted bread. Sprinkle shredded cheese on top of meat. Cover with remaining bread slices (also cut diagonally) to make sandwiches. Combine egg and milk and pour over bread. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Picture of a Pair who just waked up

HERE in the driveway is a Buick. It has just arrived. It belongs to this proud young couple. They've just "arrived" too.

They've arrived at a discovery—the discovery that owning a Buick instead of a "low-priced car" isn't so much a matter of money.

It's a matter of knowing the facts of life. Buick prices are closer to the prices of smaller, less powerful, less distinguished cars than most people think.

Why don't you check into this?

You'll find you could pay $300 to $400 more—and still not match the horsepower of this nimble beauty.

You could pay hundreds of dollars more—and still not get any more interior room, or richer fabrics.

But that's only part of the story.

The big thing about any car is the way it goes.

So you ought to find out how this car rides the road—the freedom from bobble and sway that cost a million real dollars to develop.

You ought to sample the way Dynaflow Drive* feeds the power—with a steady swoop and unbroken smoothness in city traffic, on hills, or out on the open road.

And you ought to know how it feels to touch off that Fireball 8 Engine. With all its might, this high-compression valve-in-head gets a lot of miles from a gallon of gas.

We'll tell you this—because a lot of folks have told us this: No matter what car you're driving now—no matter what cars you've looked at—they'll never seem the same after you try this one.

Just give us a chance to prove it—and you'll have a lot of fun.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:15; Luke 16: 1-13; 19:1-10, 45-46.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Amos 8: 4-12.

Persons and Property

Lesson for June 8, 1952

STEALING can be done in more ways than one. The essence of it is keeping some one from having what he should rightfully have, and what he would have if you did the right thing by him. This "some one" may be a railroad company, or it may be yourself. If you pass your little girl off for ten years old when you buy a ticket when she is really twelve, you are stealing from the railroad. If you waste good money while you are making good money, and never learn to save, so that you become a pauper in your old age, then you are stealing from an old man—yourself in fact.

Dr. Foreman

Money Should Be Good for Something Good

JESUS never bothered to tell people stealing is wrong. They know it. As Billy Sunday used to say so often: "When a man starts to tell you that stealing's no sin, don't argue with him. Search him!"

Jesus said a great deal about property, but most of what he said was positive, not negative; about the right use of property, not its abuse. One of his most difficult parables is the one in Luke 16 known as the parable of the "unjust steward."

On first reading it looks as if Jesus, or the rich man in the story, were praising a man for being dishonest. But we know Jesus would not do this. Dr. A. B. Bruce suggests that what Jesus was driving at was something like this: the employer of the "unjust steward" was not praising his dishonesty but his shrewdness in making the most of his opportunities.

We can all admire the smartness of a rascal even while we are condemning his rascality. We can wish that so much smartness were used for a better purpose.

"The children of this world are wiser . . . than the children of light" suggests that good people are not as smart as they ought to be. Jesus goes on to say, "Make friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness." That is to say, although money in itself is neither good nor bad, and although money is often used for bad ends, it can be used for good purposes.

The real value of money is the good that can be done with it. Money lost by gambling (for instance) does no good; it is picked up by another gambler who will lose it in his turn. Money spent on an education, on the other hand, or sent to support a foreign missionary, is money invested in a brighter future.

The Pocket-Book Nerve

DR. J. G. PATTON says it's very doubtful whether a man is a true Christian unless he dedicates to God not only himself but what he has. It is easy to say to God, "Take my soul," because (as most people suppose) they have no special use for their souls right now; but it is much harder to say, "Take my money", because most people can think of plenty of uses for their money.

And yet it is never possible to give money to God, of course. He has no pockets, he has no bank account, he does not need to buy anything. When we speak of dedicating our possessions to God what we mean is devoting them to the cause and the service and the purposes of God.

The story of Zacchaeus is a case in point. This wealthy (and none too honest) businessman never did say right out, "I believe in Christ," or, "I want to go to heaven", or even, "I repent of my sins." So far as the story goes he was not even baptized.

Yet Jesus—and who should know better than he?—said, "Salvation is come to this house." Long before this Jesus had said, "By their fruits ye shall know them." And what Zacchaeus said he was going to do with his money was a very good sign of his conversion. When a man's pocket-book has been converted, the man usually goes with it.

Stealing in Church

THE STORY of Jesus and the money-changers brings out something else. Right there in the Temple stealing was going on, and respectable people had done nothing to stop it before Jesus came on the scene.

Stealing can still be done in church. When a congregation underpay the minister or the janitor, they are stealing; or if the minister and the janitor are lazy and no-account, they are stealing from the congregation. No one is free from the temptation.

CROPS FIELD DAY TO BE HELD JULY 2

The first small grain and forage crop field day to be held at the new Purdue University Agronomy Farm is schedued for Wednesday, July 2. The new farm is located on U.S. Highway 52 about six miles west of West Lafayette and can be recognized by a plaque marker at the entrance and the long double row of maples bordering the entrance drive.

New features of be seen on the tours of the farm in the morning include: an irrigation demonstration; band seeding trials of establishing legume stands in small grain; spacing trials of corn rows for direct establishment of legume-grass mixed stands in growing corn; and heavy fertilization of corn.

Variety trials of wheat, oats, clover, brome grass and alfalfa will also be shown along with breeding work in developing new varieties of these crops. The high price of alfalfa seed in recent years has caused farmers to be interested in the performance and winter survival of various alfalfa varieties, including the cheaper southwestern grown common and other alfalfas.

A general program has been arranged for the afternoon, under the direction of the department of agronomy.

Plans are being completed for exhibits of machinery and equipment of the newer types. Included in the exhibits will be applicators for liquid nitrogen and anhydrous ammonia, a band seeding drill for improved establishment of legume-grass mixtures in small grains, fertilizer deep placement tools, subsoilers, pan breakers, mulch farming equipment and pasture aerifiers.

Lunch will be served on the grounds.

LOYAL WORKERS CLASS

Mrs. Alma Hart very pleasantly entertained the Loyal Workers Class of the Spencerville Lutheran Sunday School at her home in Spencerville on Wednesday evening, May 28.

Fourteen women and four men were present for the monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. Flossie Rhodes, presided. The program was arranged and supervised by the program committee, Mrs. Alda Pervines, Mrs. Blanche Culbertson and Mrs. Ira Leighner.

The meeting was opened by a thought for the day from the president and then all sang a song. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Culbertson, followed by prayer.

Readings were given by members of the class. Several concerned mothers and Mother's Day.

The remainder of the program consisted of a song, business, contests and a closing prayer.

During the meeting letters were written for two of the members who are sick, Mr. Calvin Laux and Mrs. Frank Beams.

A very delicious lunch was served at the close of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartel will be host and hostess for the June meeting.

NEXT WEEK AT THE BALL DIAMOND

Activity at the softball diamond next week will be as follows:

Monday—St. Joe Churches vs. Spencerville Lutheran; Newville vs. Harlan Methodist.

Tuesday—Leo Lions Club vs. St. Joe Lions Club. 8:30 p.m.

Wednesday—St. Joe Churches vs. Spencerville Methodist; Newville vs. Salem.

Thursday—Leo High School vs. St. Joe High School.

A complete schedule of games for the church league, high school league and little and pony league appeared in last week's edition of the News.

The Lions Club schedule has not yet been completed.

FARMERS URGED TO ENROLL IN 5-ACRE CORN CLUB

Less than two weeks remain in which adult and junior farmers of DeKalb County can enroll in the Five Acre Corn Club, the county agricultural agent, Ernest J. Lesiuk, warned this week. Deadline for entries is June 15.

Last year 52 corn growers of this county finished the Five Acre contest. The state event attracted 2,182 senior and 1,537 junior growers. Sponsors of the project to promote higher corn yields through improved practices are the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Service and the Indiana Corn Growers' Association.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Well, heh-heh, we had a little rain Friday evening, heh-heh----

!?-&@!!?-@-&!b@ !!

There we were, all set for a big night, the crowd coming in, the chicken going out, the Pistons coming in, and—woosh!

The recreation club bought 100 chickens for the supper and when the rains came, they were left with about 50 or 60 of 'em. Bill Longerbone kept them in his cooler at the locker overnight and on Saturday Gene Baker at the West End Grocery, Lloyd Dunten at his store and Pete Walters at the Trading Post kindly consented to sell the remaining chickens.

Incidently, if anyone picked up the wrong roaster after the affair, Mrs. Harold Lawson would like to see it. She borrowed one to help prepare some chicken and now it can't be located.

I'd like to thank all the ladies who helped me out Friday morning and noon by consenting to fry or roast the birds. Maybe I can't remember all of them but I started at Katy Crow's, then to Marcia Sible, June Baker, Harriett Baker, Frieda Guilford, Mrs. Albert Ewell, Callie Ridgway, Mrs. Leon Kees, Audre Collins, Mrs. Lawson, Madonna Wade, Doris Yeiser, Pat Yeiser, Carol Billow, Edith Cole, Avis Staman, Alice Reidenbach, Mrs. Cliff Billow, Louise Church, and Laura Burley. The Mrs. Walter Reinhart and Moor picked some up at the locker so maybe someone else did likewise and I don't know about it.

After it rained a few minutes and we knew the diamond couldn't be used, Bernie Kampschmidt who had been talking to us in the concession stand left with some sacks of chicken for the players. I didn't tell him at the time but one of the sacks contained two necks and a back—just for fun. Billie Johnston said Monday when I stopped at the Zollner plant that Ernie Flowers got the joker.

Vic Kelly made a nice catch a couple of Sundays ago at a Piston game in Fort Wayne. He got a free ticket for another game for catching the foul ball that came into the stands.

When the Lutheran Bible School in St. Joe held its final session a week ago Friday, there was a short program for presentation of attendance awards, recitations, etc. Rev. Baker was conducting an impromptu quiz session trying to get the little ones to show what they had learned about the Bible and the people in its stories. One question he asked was, "Who were the three men we read about the most?"

There was no immediate answer so he tried to prompt the boys and girls with the name of the first of the trio, "Abraham,—"

From among the youngsters came a quick retort "—Lincoln!!"

Tuesday I looked out the window expecting to see a young hot-rodder rolling by because of the deep-throated sounds emitted from the exhaust of a Ford. I blinked and looked again—there was Harold Lawson going by. He says he got tired of puting on a new standard muffler every year because they rust out. So he asked Jiggs for a solution. Result —Harold's got a Hollywood.

If anyone sees Stanley Emenhiser of R1, Hicksville, tell him I have something that belongs to him.

—No, there wasn't a paper last week. I spent the time preparing a 24-page program for the dedication program and look what happened—!!!&@?*!@&?!

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner I wish to thank all my friends for their get-well wishes with cards, flowers and personal calls during my stay in the hospital. They were greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Frank Beams.

Annual Slapping Off To Good Start

One of the mose frequent objects of conversation in St. Joe now that summer is again in season is the plague of the mosquito. And it would appear that the measures undertaken last year to ease the discomfort of the local citizenry are losing their effectiveness

Last summer a collection was taken to finance the fogging of St. Joe and those operations were successful as much as could be expected. The fogging operation last year eased the situation for about a week at a time, then the biters returned.

This year the fogging is again being used by the local town board to fight the mosquito, but so far has evidently been less effective. One disadavantage has been the frequent rainfall which keeps the lowlands east of St. Joe supplied with pools of water for the breeding of more mosquitos. Another possibilty contributing the loss of effectiveness is the fact that the mosquitos may be becoming immune to the fogging compound. One local resident presented that theory this week.

At any rate St. Joe—and many other communities—are faced with quite a problem in combatting the plague of the mosquito. It is bad enough to have the pests around during the evening hours. Here in St. Joe they are present through the entire day.

K of P Elect

Nomination and election of officers for the ensuing term of 1952 was held Wednesday night, June 4, by the St. Joe Lodge No. 400, Knights of Pythias.

The results were as follows:

C.C.—Jerry McKown.
V.C.—John Mason.
Prelate—Richard Strombeck.
M. of W.—Delbert Furnish.
Sec.—Tennison Jubinville.
Fin. Sec.—Joe Robinson.
Treas.—Paul Kitchen.
M. of A.—Walter Heyman.
I.G.—Charles Butler.
O.G.—Lyle McMaken.
Lodge Deputy—Paul Kitchen.

The elected officers will be installed by District Deputy Kenneth Coburn on July 9.

Lodge will suspend meetings with the exception of the second Wednesday nights of July and August.

TB Officers Named

All officers of the DeKalb County Tuberculosis Association, Inc., were renamed to serve during 1952-53 at the annual meeting of the organization Saturday afternoon in the city hall in Auburn.

O. K. McKittrick was re-elected president. Mrs. Mabel Brownand was renamed executive secretary.

Other officers elected were three vice-presidents, Dr. F. B. Kantzer of Garrett, Dr. E. E. Rogers of Auburn and Mrs. Mabel Cushing of Garrett. Mary Ruth Miller of Auburn was selected again to serve as secretary and Mrs. Miriam Tracy of Auburn was re-elected treasurer.

Re-elected to the board of directors are Fred Knott, Mrs. Hope Stoy, Charles Overmeyer, Wayland Mutzfeld and Lester Boger. Elected to the board for the first time was Roy Williams.

The financial report of the association was read by Mrs. Tracy and approved by members of the association. The report showed collections from Christmas seals and health bonds of $5,052.

RURAL YOUTH

Eighteen DeKalb County Rural Youth members and Mr. Albert Yoder, club counselor, recently enjoyed a sight-seeing trip to Kentucky and Southern Indiana. The trip was held June 6 to 8.

Some of the sights seen were the Lincoln Memorial Park, the mammoth Onyx Cave, the Floyd Collins Crystal Cave and Brown County State Park.

Program, Pistons Rained Out; Try Again July 9

Rain was the feature attraction at the dedication program planned for last Friday night in St. Joe by the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club.

After a late start, the pony league teams from Leo and Hoisom Dairy of St. Joe played three innings. A little league contest was in progress when the downpour occurred and the remainder of the rpogram had to be cancelled. The Zollner Pistons who were to have appeared at 8:30 were on hand but didn't have a chance to get into uniform. One exception was Hughie Johnston who gave a helping hand in the little league game by serving as base umpire in his Piston uniform.

The recreation club began serving chicken-in-a-sack suppers at 5 p.m. and a large crowd had assembled thereafter to enjoy the program. It was announced as the rain began falling that the program would be presented on Saturday night. But due to the quantity of rainfall, the diamond was not in playing condition on the following day.

Arrangements have been made with Carl Bennett, Piston athletic director, however, to have the fastballers return again on July 9, a Wednesday night, to participate in the dedication program. It was impossible to obtain an earlier date as the team has 13 straight nights booked before getting a night off, then another string of 10 nights before a night's rest. In addition, the Pistons will stage a big industrial tournament during the 4th of July holidays which will mean a full schedule for the next few weeks.

The appearance of the Pistons on July 9 will be of great interest to local residents as they will see a team composed of local area players furnishing the opposition.

882 Enroll In 4-H Clubs

Final enrollment of the 4-H clubs in the county shows a total of 514 girls participating and 368 boys. These members constitute 36 clubs, 22 girls' clubs and 14 boys' clubs.

The names of the clubs from this vicinity and their leaders are as follows:

Concord Twp. Get-To-Gether, leader, Mrs. Ruth Butler, 28 members.

Newville Twp. Willing Workers, leader, Mrs. Violet Baker, 30 members.

Spencer Twp. Juniors, leader, Mrs. Izabell McClellan, 11 members.

Spencer Twp. Priscilla Prim, leader, Mrs. Izabel McClellan, 7 members.

Concord Twp. St. Joe Valley, leader, A. H. Lawson, 42 members.

Newville Twp., Junior Farmers, leader Arthur Krieg, 16 members.

Spencer Twp. Winners, leader, Harold Lochamire, 11 members.

POLIO PRECAUTIONS

Avoid fatigue from work or play.

Don't get chilled. Don't swim too long in cold water nor sit around in wet clothes.

Don't mix unnecessarily with new groups. Don't take children out of camp where there is good health supervision.

Watch closely for signs of illness, headache, fever, sore muscles, stiff neck or back, trouble in breathing or swallowing.

Put a sick person to bed at once, away from others, and call your doctor. Follow his advice.

Contact your local March of Dimes Chapter for whatever assistance or financial help you may need.

1st Polio Case Reported

DeKalb County's first 1952 polio victim is Tommy Muzzilo, five years old, of Waterloo. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Muzillo, Tommy was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Wayne Monday afternoon and his condition has been described as "fair."

The boy became ill Sunday evening. He was taken to the office of an Auburn physician and then sent to the hospital in Fort Wayne.

This, the first polio case of the year, came much earlier than the initial case reported in previous years. Last year there were only three confirmed cases in the county. 1950 was an epidemic year, however, as 30 persons were reported afflicted with the disease. Five deaths were recorded in 1950. In 1949 there were only two polio cases.

Virginia Ulm, Gloria Horn Complete Schooling

DeKalb County had 15 students participating in the annual June commencement Monday, June 16, at Indiana University.

The list of students who took part in the University's 123rd commencement numbered 2,788, including those who will finish their work this summer.

Among the county students who received degrees were Virginia Ulm of St. Joe, A.B., Biology, and Gloria Horn, Spencerville, dental hygiene certificate.

Motorist, Beware

Motorists who break speed laws and occasionally get by with it will have a tougher time doing so in the fututre, at least as far as the city of Auburn is concerned.

The Auburn police department now has a portable radar traffic control set which automatically clocks and records the speed of automobiles and other vehicles. Now being tested before use in bringing motorists to court, the set should be in operation within a few days.

Auburn city councilmen authorized purchase of the radar unit May 5 at a cost of $850. Police report the device will be a valuable aid to control traffic speed in the city.

The speed range of the set is up to 100 miles per hour with a guaranteed accuracy within two miles per hour throughout the range. The unit is not affected by weather conditions and may be used day or night.

The speedometer weighs 45 pounds and is a compact but complicated unit.

Tax Review Ends Next Week

The DeKalb County Board of Review is hearing compliants of taxpayers on assessments in the county's 24 taxing units.

Hearings began June 16 and will continue through June 25.

Members of the board appointed by the circuit court are Harry Wert of Garrett and William Staman of St. Joe. Ex-officio members with the county assessor are Auditor Guy Myers and Treasurer Hildred Easley.

The schedule for next week is as follows:

Monday, June 23—Ashley, Smithfield, Franklin and Troy townships.

Tuesday, June 24—St. Joe, Concord and Newville townships.

Wednesday, June 25—Spencerville, Spencer Twp., Waterloo and Grant Twp.

The county assesor requested all township and elected assessors to be present on the day hearings are scheduled for their unit.

Strawberry Festival Friday Evening

It's Strawberry Festival time!

Yes sir, with thise big red berries now in season, it is Strawberry Festival time. And the Spencerville Lutheran Church is going to see to it that the community has one. Friday evening, June 20, to be exact, there wil be a strawberry festival in the church basement.

The menu will present a complete supper with sandwiches, salads, pie, coffee, ice cream and strawberries and cake.

Serving begins at 5 p.m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS VISITS ZOO

On Saturday, June 14, the Intermediate Class of the St. Joe Church of Christ took a trip to the Brookfield Zoo at Brookfield, Illinois. The group included Andrea Carr, Doris Dowden, Gailanna Holman, Mary Longerbone, Fletta Griggs, Marvin Dowden, Jerry McMaken and Mr. Willard Hurni, teacher of the class, who drove.

As they made their way thru the zoo, they took pictures of the many interesting animals. Later in the evening, they visited Morris Hurni and watched television.

The group returned home around midnight.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Discrimination

This Week's . . . . .

Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

LITTLE wonder that some people examine the doings of the government in Washington these days and suffer dizzy spells.

The report of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the proposed $6,920,000,000 Foreign Aid Fund contains so many examples of double-talk, inconsistency and fraud it is amazing a responsible body would have the gall to make it.

The Marshall Plan is praised. It is explained the government wound up the Marshall Plan after Congress appropriated $12 billion in a little more than three years.

In then explains Communist aggression necessitated military aid for Europe and a new program was put forward.

When Congress bowed to the request of the Truman Administration for huge new foreign aid appropriations last year, it took seriously the claim that the Marshall Plan had fulfilled its purpose and what was proposed in the new program was military aid.

Congress sharply limited economic aid funds. It was very generous with military aid. But it developed the bureaucrats running the program wanted unlimited authority to transfer military aid to economic aid. In other words, the new Mutual Security Program, together with NATO, was largely a subterfuge in order to continue and expand the give-away part of the Marshall program.

The bureaucrats were fearful they could not pull the wool over the eyes of Congress far enough to obtain blanket authority to use military aid funds for give-away so-called economic aid.

So a new category was devised. It is called "Defense Support" and would replace the "Economic Assistance" category. The argument is made that economic aid must be continued in order to support the defense programs in Europe.

The program proposed by President Truman totaled $7,900,000,000 of which $2,500,000,000 was for so-called defense support, economic and technical aid. Thus the Marshall Plan was being continued on a broad scale and more than $5 billion of military aid was being added.

An examination of the program shows military and economic aid is proposed in all parts of the world. A great deal of it is give-away and supports bureaucracies of other governments.

The United States presumably is a free enterprise country but the bill contains $25 million for economic assistance and technical cooperation with Iran, which has just nationalized oil. Huge sums are provided also for other countries where strong movements are under way to destroy the rights of private property and initiative and install socialistic schemes. Among these is Burma, which would get $18 million. Bolivia, where an effort is being made to nationalize tin mines, is another.

The average citizen looking into Washington matters would doubtless express amazement at this situation. He would recall that repeatedly President Truman, Secretary Acheson and others have frightened the people with predictions World War III is at hand and a grave emergency necessitates pouring out American billions in all parts of the world.

The "give-away" crowd never lacks for an answer. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee was concerned whether other countries were paying a fair share of the cost of cooperative programs. It found some countries contributed nothing. A witness came forth with the novel explanation that in some cases "a fair share" is nothing at all.

The average citizen probably would conclude, as many people in Washington have concluded, that many of the war scares and dire emergencies proclaimed by the administration are merely for the purpose of whipping up sentiment for huge appropriations.

after 60 years of cooking...
Electricity is my choice

When you've tried them all... you know what's best

From river boat cook stove to an automatic electric range—that's the story of Mrs. Nora Clark's 60 years of cooking.

"I changed from one method of cooking to another until I tried them all," says Mrs. Clark. "Now that I have an electric range I wouldn't consider changing to any other method."

Veteran homemakers and brides-of-a-month agree with Mrs. Clark — they never want to change from electric cooking. And why should they? Electric cooking is so easy. Automatic, accurate oven controls practically do the work for you. Your kitchen keeps clean longer . . . stays cool even when you're baking.

And for all those wonderful benefits, you'll find electric cooking economical, too. Next time you pass by your electric range dealer's, stop in and see which model electric range you like best.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:17; Luke 12: 13-34.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 15.

The Sin of Greed

Lesson for June 22, 1952

GREED is not modern. The only modern thing about it is its forms. The Tenth Commandment is easy to dodge if you go by the bare words, like a shyster lawyer. Suppose your neighbor is a bachelor, lives in a rented apartment, has neither manservant nor maidservant, and no cattle of any description. Nothing you can covet! But wait a minute . . . It says here, "Thou shalt not covet — any thing that is thy neighbor's." That covers everything he has. You can covet his reputation, his job, his girl; you can covet his insurance, his money in the bank, his watermelons. "Any thing" covers a great deal of territory. And any sort of coveting is still sin. Greed in the fourteenth century B.C. and the twentieth century A.D. are all the same thing at heart. And "at heart" is where greed begins.

Something for Nothing

THE ESSENCE of greed, of covetousness, is wanting something that does not belong to you, without wanting to give anything in return. If I have eggs for sale and you buy a couple of dozen, you are not covetous for wanting the eggs and I am not greedy for wanting the money. It's fair exchange.

Of course, if I charge you too much for the eggs, then I am covetous, to be sure. Or if you want to sneak the eggs out of my henhouse before day, then you are covetous. But buying and selling are neither one sinful. If you have worked for a week and want your pay, that is not greed. If you have rented a house and the landlord wants his rent, he isn't greedy unless he is charging you too much.

The profit motive is not wrong if the man who takes the profit has given fair value in return. The profit motive is dead wrong if all the profiteer thinks about is the profit, without ever a thought of service.

The gambler, the tax "fixer," the sports "fixer", are trying to get something for nothing, and that is the very essence of the sin of greed.

Selling What Ought Not To Be for Sale

SOMETIMES greed reaches the point where the greedy man will sell what ought never to be sold. There are things in this life that are priceless, literally; they can never be tagged with a price-mark. But the covetous spirit will eat out a man's sense of values till he begins to put price-marks on priceless things. There are always buyers, alas!

After the American Civil War, some business men came to Robert E. Lee, who had lost everything he had but his reputation, and offered him what was then a tremendous sum if he would just let them use his name as an officer of their company.

"You won't have to do any work," they said. "All we want is the use of your name." "It's not for sale," said Robert E. Lee.

Another thing that should never be put on sale is the simple doing of duty. True, honest work should be fairly paid. But that is not the point at the moment. Take this Skipper Carlsen of the Flying Enterprise. When he came into port after that famous voyage in which he stuck with his ship till the last hour before Davy Jones took it down, he was due a certain amount of salary, no doubt, and he had well earned it. If the company paid him a bonus besides, we should all be glad. But Captain Carlsen turned down offers totaling around $100,000, from radio and television people, just for letting them use him as advertising. No sirs, said Carlsen in effect, what I have done, I did in the line of duty. I'm not selling myself.

So it is with convictions, or with love. They should be priceless; when they are sold, they become worthless. Greed destroys their value.

Out of the Heart

THE TENTH Commandment shows plainly what is true of both evil and good alike. Right and wrong do not consist simply in right and wrong actions. Back of the action is the attitude. Back of the act is the mind, the motive, the desire.

Stealing begins in coveting; adultery begins in lust; murder begins in anger or in contempt. The laws of man can never reach beneath the surface. Even when motives are involved, they are exceedingly hard to prove. But God sees the heart. And he will finally judge us by what he sees there.

Around the Town

With the Editor

St. Joe's "Beau Brummel" of hats, Jim Shuff, is wearing a new model. Maybe you saw him in that coonskin creation during the winter months. With a change in the weather, he's changed to a sporty new job in light brown.

I wonder if he gave up the coonskin because folks began calling him "Estes."

At the Lions meeting Monday evening, our table happened to be occupied by H's, Allen Haller, Carl Hart, Bill Hurni and yours truly. I was sort of out of place conversationally as the others were lelating farm experiences of their youth and I have had none—that I can remember anyhow. Bill Hurni told of one of his experiences as a boy. He was bringing in the cows one time and the last straggler happened to be a bossy with an exceptionally bushy tail. As the cow passed, Bill took a playful kick at the swishing tail and his boot got caught in it by the fasteners at the top. The cow took off and pulled him through the barn yard—and the manure pile.

It was the first time he was ever dragged into something.

Parents are again reminded that a representative of the Woltz Studios will be at the Legion Home Saturday, June 28, to show proofs of pictures taken for the News' children's photo contest.

Pictures will be entered in the contest and appear in the paper only if parents call in person and select their favorite proof. There is no obligation to purchase photographs, but the representative will take orders for photos from those who wish to do so.

The proofs may be seen from 9 to 11 a.m., Saturday, June 28.

29 In 2nd Registered Shoot

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Gun Club had a good crowd for their second registered shoot. Except for the "dratted muskeet-o's," it was a near perfect day and some high scores were posted.

The first squad, Crabill, Braden, Sweeney, Hawkins and Johnson broke 124x125 in their second event. 29 shooters took part in all or part of the regular events while a number of others shot in extra events and practice.

Lois Beach again demonstrated her ability by getting two 22's and a 23x25.

The next shoot will be held July 27.

Lions Install Officers

The St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club held its installation of officers Monday night at Chaney's Restaurant in Spencerville.

Guests were Vinson Klenk and Herman Schmink.

Mr. Schmink was in charge of the installation of the officers elected at the previous meeting for the year 1952-53.

The new officers are:

President—Ralph Keeler.

1st vice-president—Virgil Gerig.

2nd vice-president—Williard Hurni.

3rd vice-president—Lynn Fisher.

Secretary-treasurer— Derwood Ridgway.

Lion Tamer—Lloyd Dunten.

Tail Twister—Roger Hess.

Board of directors—Frank Shull, Ted Haberkorn, Bill Weninger and Don Burley.

The club voted to suspend its meetings until September. It was also decided to operate a lunch stand at the county fair next fall.

Spencerville GI's In Rotation

Two Spencerville combat veterans left the 25th Infantry Division in Korea on June 7 for rotation to the United States.

The men and their assignments were:

Cpl. Dale E. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perl K. Lawrence, route 1; cook in Service Company, 35th Infantry Regiment, and

Cpl. Jack W. Schultz, route 1; supply clerk in Company H, 35th Regiment.

Both men arrived in Korea last August and Schultz was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge for his performance of duty in action.

Before entering the army in March 1951, they farmed near Spencerville after attending high school in Harlan.

Members of the Rural Housewives Club and their guests, former members, held their 39th anniversary celebration June 6 at Alton Park pavilion with a 12 o'clock dinner. A long table beautifuly decorated with club colors, bouquets and garlands of flowers and the club symbol, the bluebird, greeted the guests as they assembled for the bountiful noon meal prepared by club members and the hostesses of the day, Mrs. Andrew Ward, Mrs. Leona Mason and Mrs. Inez Hadsell.

After dinner Mrs. Claude Laub, president, conducted the regular monthly meeting. Welcome remarks were extended to members and guests, all former members. Roll call was reminiscences of former club day experiences which provided much amusement. Group singing was led by Mrs. John Crothers who also read "The Making of Friends" by Edgar A. Guest and "Homesick" by Ida M. Traxler. The hostesses and Mrs. Minnie Gee entertained with contests and poems appropriate for the day.

Those present to enjoy the day were Mrs. Inez Hadsell, Mrs. Fred Hart, Mrs. Clyde Hart, Mrs. Claude Laub, Mrs. Minnie Gee, Mrs. Leona Mason, Mrs. Lehr Wilder, Mrs. Pluma Hamilton, Mrs. Edna Jenkins, Mrs. Clarence Rediger, Mrs. Andrew Ward, Mrs. John Crothers and guests, Mrs. Lela Northrup, Mrs. Abner Trostel, Mrs. Paul Carpenter, Mrs. Dale Trostel, Mrs. H. O. Waltz, Mrs. Mark Murphy and Mrs. Leonard Jarrett.

Regrets were received from Mrs. Lottie Burley, Mich., Mrs. Jessie Sommer, Spencerville, Mrs. Josephine Shuff, South Bend, and Mrs. Ruth Buss, Garrett.

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The June meeting of the Spencer Twp. Home Demonstration Club was held at the home of Mrs. Lois Fisher as hostess with Mrs. Nellie Allen and Vaida Brown as her assistants.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Kimes. Devotions were given by Mrs. Elizabeth Akey.

All members joined in singing the song, "Day Is Dying In the West," led by Irma Allen.

A short business meeting was held. A report was given by the outlook leader, Mrs. Lolo Moore.

The secretary's report was read and approved. Roll call was answered with "a vacation I would enjoy."

Twelve members and two children enjoyed pleasant refreshments. A bazaar was then held.

The next meeing will be held at the home of Mrs. Bernice Wilday on July 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Spencer Twp. 4H Clubs Active

The Junior 4-H Club of Spencerville enjoyed a picnic and swimming party Tuesday, June 17.

The picnic lunch was held at the Cedarville Park and then the group went to Memorial Park in Fort Wayne where they spent the afternoon swimming.

Those enjoying the event were Sandra Barnes, Nancy Brown, Rosemary Evans, Karen Keating, Kathleen Keating, Bill McClellan, Joy McNabb, Judy Miller, Carol Spitler and Mary Woodring, junior leaders Mary Beckman, Lois Kimes and Mary Wilder and Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Miller, mothers who drove cars.

Mrs. Stevens, home demonstration agent from Noble County, judged the completed 4-H girls work at Spencerville Monday, June 16, beginning at 9 a.m.

Spencerville had 18 members enrolled in girls 4-H projects and these members completed 100 percent in the 31 projects in which they enrolled April 23.

Mrs. Isabel McClellan, vocational home economics teacher, was the local leader and she was ably assisted by Mary Wilder and Lois Kimes, junior leaders, while Mary Beckman served as assistant junior leader.

The blue ribbon winners in Clothing One were as follows: Sandra Barnes, Nancy Brown, Rosemary Evans, Kathleen Keating, Joy McNabb, Carol Spitler, Rosalind Storer and Marie Woodring. Red ribbon winner was Judy Miller.

In Clothing Two Mary Beckman was a blue ribbon winner.

In Clothing Three Karen Keating was a blue ribbon winner.

In Clothing Four the blue ribbon winners were Patsy Hook, Lois Kimes and Mary Wilder while Betty Beckman was the red ribbon winner in that group.

In Baking One (a plain loaf cake was the exhibit required), the following were blue ribbon winners. John Weninger, Nancy Brown and Bill McClellan. Sandra Barnes and Karen Keating were red ribbon winners in this division.

Jerry Woodring was a red ribbon winner in Baking Three with an angel food cake.

In Baking Four with plain yeast rolls, Mary Wilder was the blue ribbon winner with Lois Kimes and Betty Beckman taking second place.

Mary Beckman placed in the blue ribbon group in Food Preparation Four.

All members enrolled in Crafts were awarded blue ribbons. They were as follows: John Weninger, Jerry Woodring, Lois Kimes and Bill McClellan.

This made a total of 22 blue ribbon winners and seven red ribbon winners, a very good record with only nine and ten-year-old members.

Following the judging the work was on display at the school building and from 2 to 4 p.m. the members served mothers and their guests iced tea, cookies and mints.

The next 4-H activity will be the county demonstration contest June 30 at which time Mary Wilder will represent the club with her demonstration, "Pressing Magic."

3 Vehicles In Mix-up

Three vehicles were involved in an accident about three miles southeast of Auburn on the St. Joe Road at 9:40 a.m. Saturday.

A 1936 International pickup truck, driven by Bruce Baker of St. Joe and owned by Derwood Ridgway, was traveling west around a curve when it suddenly came upon a Ford tractor which was proceding west while mowing grass near the highway. A truck belonging to the Auburn Grain Co. and driven by Bernard Shaw of near Edon, Ohio, was traveling east along the highway.

Bruce skidded about 90 feet in an effort to keep from striking the tractor but rammed into the rear of it, driving it forward about 24 feet. The pickup truck then grazed the side of the oncoming grain company truck.

Arthur Stephenson of route 1, Auburn, who was driving the tractor, complained of a sore back from the accident, but he was not hospitalized. None of the other drivers were injured in the mishap.

Damage to the pickup was estimated at $50, to the tractor $100 and to the grain truck about $10.

County Chorus To Visit Canada

More than 3,000 voices from the Indiana Home Demonstration choruses, including the group from DeKalb County, will be heard at Purdue University on July 30 in preparation for the Canadian National Exposition.

This musical organization made up of farm and rural women is unique and there is no other like it in the world. The chorus, under the direction of Albert P. Stewart of Purdue University, represents the best in non-professional music.

Canadian music critics will be on hand to attend the rehearsal of the program, "Unguarded Borders," which the Indiana choruses will sing in Canada on August 22 and 23.

The DeKalb County chorus will leave by bus on Thursday, August 21, for Toronto. After singing with the Indiana group on Friday and Saturday evening, the DeKalb County chorus members will return home on Monday. They will spend Sunday sight-seeing at Niagara Falls.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Twp. Home Economics Club met for June Breakfast at the home of Cora Fetters who, with her committee of Mary Krise, Edith Saylor, Gertrude Borthwick and Mable Tustison, served a delicious luncheon.

The meeting opened with an accordion solo by Connie Fisher followed by an imitation of Don McNeill's Breafast Club with Ethel Wineland as announcer and responses by club members that brought entertainment and fun.

The regular meeting began at 1 p.m. called to order by the president, Mrs. Borthwick, followed by instrumental music on the accordion by Connie Fisher. The club creed and song were given by the members. Devotions were given by Cora Curie. Roll call was answered by 29 members, five guests and one new member. A reading was given by Victoria Means. Corsages were presented to members having birthdays up to the month of June by Doris Yeiser. An announcement concerning the Home Economics Picnic June 26 at Eckhart Park at Auburn was made. Camp Webster dates are July 17-19.

The next meeing will be held at the home of Nancy Coburn.

On July 2 the club will be entertained by the Troy Twp. Club at the home of Wilma Colbert who resides west of Waterloo on old road 6 across the railroad track to third house on the right side.

Mr. & Mrs. Reasoner To Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner of St. Joe will observe their 50th wedding anniversary next Sunday, June 29, 1952.

The golden anniversary will be appropriately observed at St. Mark's Lutheran Church during the church service at 9:45 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Reasoner exchanged their wedding vows on June 28, 1902, at the parsonage of the late Rev. W. H. Shrock, then pastor of the St. Joe and Spencerville Lutheran churches.

They are the parents of one son, Floyd E. Reasoner, of Fort Wayne, and have two granddaughters, Mrs. Daniel A. Ferber and Miss Susie Reasoner.

A family dinner will be served Sunday at Bunny's Restaurant in Butler. Folowing the dinner, open house will be held at the Reasoner residence from two until five in the afternoon. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the open house reception.

Mr. Reasoner has been a resident of the St. Joe community all his life. Mrs. Reasoner lived in Van Wert County, Ohio, prior to her family's moving here about three years before her marriage.

1st vice-president—Mrs. Robert Tharp.

2nd vice-president—Mrs. Walter Dean.

3rd vice-president—Mrs. Richard Derck.

Secretary—Mrs. Wilbur Shears.

Cor. Secretary—Mrs. Elmer Sordelet.

Treasurer—Mrs. Harold Kryder.

Chaplin—Mrs. Ed Martin.

Historian—Mrs. Dale Halter.

Sergeant - at - arms— Mrs. Al Tharp.

Color guards—Mrs. Art Levy & Mrs. Robert Bobay.

Alternates—Mrs. Lavon Bender & Mrs. Wayne Rosselot.

Executive comittee—Mrs. Ell Warner & Mrs. Fred Maroll.

Plans were completed for a rummage sale July 26. All members are urged to bring their rummage to the post home before that date.

Several unit members volunteered to serve one night a week at the refreshment stand at Lions Field during the summer schedule of community activities. There was no further business and the meeting was adjourned.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

EXTEND FARM PARITY—A bill has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee to peg farm price supports at 90 percent of parity for the six basic crops, cotton, peanuts, rice, tobacco, wheat and corn, through 1955. It will now go to the House for further consideration.

The 90 percent price support would apply except where producers have disapproved marketing quotas.

Further assurance that the 90 percent parity will prevail for farmers in the immediate future is seen since the House Banking Committee has included a provision in the Defense Production Act to continue mandatory 90 percent support for these crops during 1953.

Parity is the price for crops the Government determines is fair to the farmer in relation to the things he buys.

LAG IN AIR POWER SCORED—The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee has declared that the President ignored the "solemn warning" of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in deciding to "postpone, beyond date of our gravest danger, the attainment of our necessary modern air power."

The subcommittee in its report also was sharply critical of the decision announced earlier this year by the Administration to abandon the 1954 target for completion of a 143-wing Air Force, substituting 1955 as the new goal.

Because of this stretch-out, the subcommittee said, "we have consciously exposed ourselves for a longer time to the danger of aggression and increased the ultimate cost of the Air Force build up by 2 1-2 to 3 percent for each plane."

HOUSE TO CHECK BUDGET—The House Rules Committee has approved a bill to give Congress a firmer hold on the Government's purse strings. This will be accomplished by setting up a joint committee, with a sizeable staff of year-round investigators, to study and analyze the President's annual budgets.

The proposed budget committee would serve in an advisory capacity to the regular House and Senate Appropriations Committees, which have lacked the personnel and time to inspect closely all of the huge budget requests of the President. This action is definitely a step in the right direction. It will, if adopted, permit Congress to eliminate waste and extravagance in government spending and place previous "untouchable" bureaucratic budgets under sharp scrutiny. It should mean more efficiency and economy in all branches of our presently heavily tax-supported centralized bureaucracy.

STRIDES IN ATOM POWER—While we all would much rather see the atom-age turned to making life more pleasant under peaceful and scientific progress, the government is successfully using atomic energy to increase our defensive strength. The latest announcement along this line comes from the Navy. It says it has completed designs for an atomic engine to drive a super aircraft carrier at a speed of 50 knots and plans to start building the ship in 1954. The nation recently witnessed the start of construction of an atomic-engined submarine.

Surely the same intelligence and leadership can also be applied to the use of atomic energy for building a better wor'd dedicated to peace and happiness for all people.

LIGHT OPERA SEASON OPENS JULY 11

The complete 1952 season of the Fort Wayne Light Opera Festival has been announced by Lou Culp, business manager. The opening show will be Sigmund Romberg's "The Desert Song" on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 11, 12 and 13 followed by Jerome Kern's "Roberta" on August 1, 2 and 3, and concluding with "The Great Waltz," featuring the music of Johann Strauss, Sr. and Jr. on August 22, 23 and 24.

For the first production, the Festival has engaged Emalyn Remmel of New York City to play the starring role of Margot Bonvalet. Miss Remmel starred in two of the Festival's 1951 presentations.

Playing opposite Miss Remmel will be Paul Gilbert, gifted young Fort Wayne tenor, who formerly lived in Chicago, where his father is manager of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. Mr. Gilbert, who is currently starring on his own radio show over station WGL in Fort Wayne, will play the role of Pierre Birabeau.

Mail order reservations for tickets are being acepted at 408 Strauss Building, Fort Wayne 2, Indiana.

Prices for tickets are $2.40 for box seats, $1.65 for upper and lower terrace and $1.00 for general admission.

All orders should be accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank those who sent get-well wishes during my stay in the hospital, and especially the employees of Universal Tool Co. for their "sunshine box."

The Rev. Richard Diemer, pastor of the Evangelical Mennonite Church at Grabill, officiated at the services, and burial was in South Whitley.

Time for Strawberries!

Calumet Baking Powder Photo

What more enchanting Spring dessert than good, old-fashioned Strawberry Shortcake! A family favorite—a party favorite—is the old-fashioned kind, made with hot baking powder biscuits, split and buttered, and then filled with crushed sweetened berries and topped with cream. Just brush up on your biscuit-technique; the recipe given below will assure a culinary victory.

Strawberry Shortcakes

2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons milk (about)
1 egg, well beaten
2 quarts strawberries, sliced and sweetened
Sweetened whipped cream

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Cut in shortening until consistency of coarse cornmeal. Combine egg and milk; add to flour mixture, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 20 times. Roll ¼ inch thick and cut with floured 3-inch biscuit cutter. Place half of circles on ungreased baking sheet, brush with melted butter, and top with remaining circles. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 12 minutes, or until done.

To serve, separate hot shortcakes and place sweetened, sliced strawberries between layers and on top of each shortcake. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 7 shortcakes.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

New Commandment

Lesson for June 29, 1952

WHICH of all the commandments is the most important? They kept asking this question century after century, and no one ever quite answered it before Jesus. It can easily be a puzzling question so long as you think of the Laws of God as if they were a set of municipal regulations or by-laws of a club. They are not like that. They are all of a piece. When your tire is flat it doesn't make much difference where it is flat. If it is flat in one place it might as well be flat in a dozen places. The Ten Commandments are all linked together, indeed one can say much more than that. All the laws of God, everything God desires and orders man to do,—it is all linked in one.

Dr. Foreman

Thou Shalt Love—

JESUS' answer to the old, old question about the "great commandment" was not absolutely original. Shortly before his time, a smart-aleck young man, so the story goes, had come to a great Rabbi named Hillel, and said to him: "The law is much too long and complicated. Can you tell me the law while I stand on one foot?"

"Yes," said Hillel. "Lift one foot up. Now: Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart . . . Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself . . . Now, put your foot down. That is the law; all the rest is commentary."

So Jesus quoted the same two laws that Hillel did,—from Deuteronomy 6:5 and Leviticus 19:18.

The link of the law is love; this is what ties all the laws together.

Two Kinds of Love

THE WORD "love" in English has been dragged around till at times it is very hard to tell what it means, if anything. Girls love ice cream and boys love basketball and a movie actress claims she loves her fifth husband, and the preacher tells us we should love God. How can we use the same word for so many different things?

Now a famous Swedish Christian thinker named Nygren has written a book to straighten us out on this. He calls the book "Agape and Eros," this being the two different Greek words for "love." It's the same word in English for two different things; the Greeks knew better, and used two words that don't even look alike.

"Eros" means the kind of love girls have for ice cream or the movie actress has for her fifth husband. It is definitely not the word used in the New Testament where Jesus commands us to love God and our neighbor. "Eros" means possessive love, the love that wants to control and keep, the kind of love some parents have for their children when they do not want them to grow up or to make choices of their own.

"Agape" (Agahpay) is a quite different thing. It means self-giving, self-sacrificing concern for another person. You might have "eros" for an ice-cream cone, but not "agape."

Yet the great and distinctive point about Agape is that it does not insist on something or anything in return. It is not bargaining love, it is not careful, cautious love, it is free outpouring of life for life.

If you really want to know what "agape" love is, you must look at the Cross and consider that "while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8).

Love Is the Answer

ST. PAUL, who could just as well be called the Apostle of Love as St. John could, understood these things very well. He says that "love is the fulfilling of the law" or as J. B. Phillips happily translates it, "Love is the answer to the Law's commands." (Rom. 13:10.)

We shall never even want to obey the will of our Father in heaven unless we first love him. And we shall never really desire to treat our neighbor as God wants us to treat him if we have no "agape" love for him in our hearts.

Love is not a substitute for law. Love is rather the atmosphere in which we begin to understand God and our neighbor. Eros-love will not do; the Bible never once commands it and never commends it. It is only the outgiving, self-forgetting devotion, that Jesus taught and demonstrated, that is like the love of the true God. Whatever we may do, if we have no love, we have still done nothing.

State Fair Facts

A record total of more than $62,000 in cash premiums will be paid during the 1952 Indiana State Fair to the owners of champion cattle.

The exact amount is $62,550 according to an announcement by Walter Wimmer, Director of the Cattle Department. That record amount of premiums is an increase of $12,654 over last year's amount and it includes $8,120 for 4-H exhibitors.

Even though more than 3,000 entries are expected it probably will be necessary for several hundred of the Calf Club entries to be eliminated on the day before the fair opens. Although Indiana's cattle building is the largest in the world, covering four-and-a-half acres under one roof, the 2,646 spaces available will not be sufficient to accommodate all entries.

The Women's Building at the Indiana State Fair will have as a feature attraction an outstanding historical exhibit this year in keeping with the fair's centennial celebration.

The fair board felt that to emphasize the great changes that have taken place in Indiana during the last 100 years, it would be well to present an exhibit of rooms in which our ancestors might have lived 100 years ago.

The exhibit will present four rooms showing scenes as they were in a middle-class Indiana home in 1852. The exhibit is to be authentic. Everything to be shown will be an article that was in use back in 1852.

Did you ever hear of a counting thuub? Stu Parsons, ticket manager at the Indiana State Fair, has one. He also has a good sense of hearing because he counts the tickets by listening to them click as they are released by his counting thumb.

Parsons has worked in the ticket office for the past five years. He recently completed the counting of 1 1-2 million tickets for the big Centennial Indiana State Fair.

HINTS ON HEALTH

by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

A NEW method of manual artificial respiration has been adopted in this country. It is known as the Holger Nielsen push-pull method and will supplant the Schafer prone-pressure method, up to now the standard artificial respiration technic.

The Holger Nielsen system has been standard procedure in Norway and Denmark for many years. Experiments on the Nielsen system have been carried on in this country in many of the nation's medical centers. Reports on these, and other experiments, convinced the National Research Council that this method is to be preferred to all others as a standard procedure in most cases.

Practically every national organization active in first aid work has approved this new method of manual artificial respiration. Included as approving are the Council of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of the American Medical Association, the armed forces, Red Cross, U. S. Public Health Service, Federal Civil Defense Administration and Boy and Girl Scouts.

Experiments were performed on animals, on sick and injured humans who had stopped breathing, on human volunteers holding their breath, and on volunteers whose breathing ability had been paralyzed for short periods of time by the use of drugs.

It was found that this method exchanges about twice as much air as the Schafer method.

There have been many various types of manual artificial respiration for persons who have stopped breathing. First aid groups are now being taught this new method.

New plants move in, bringing new jobs, new opportunities. New homes spring up and soon new neighbors are being welcomed. New stores appear and shopping becomes more convenient...

Why do they pick one town against another? Why do some towns continue to grow and improve?

There are lots of reasons, of course ...climate, resources, local labor skills ...But no matter what other attractions it has, no community can flourish without an ample, reliable supply of low-cost electric power.

Electricity is one thing that every home today—and every kind of business—needs. So one big answer to what makes a town grow is kilowatts. And in the area served by this company and its American Gas and Electric System affiliates there are twice as many kilowatts available as there were in 1941.

Between 1952 and 1954, AG&E companies will spend about $319,000,000 for additional plants and facilities to provide still more kilowatts for the 2260 communities they serve to grow and prosper on.

Will your town get the kilowatts it needs for healthy growth? It will. Because the AG&E System is entirely interconnected.

All of its resources back up the power company that serves you.

Around the Town

With the Editor

A word to the wise is supposed to be sufficient. —I guess I'm not so wise.

Remember that item a few weeks ago warning motorists about the radar set-up the Auburn police have purchased. Well, I found out how it works. I guess I stepped on it a little too soon as I left the north limits of the city Monday and the unit was there to find out. Sheriff Frank Carpenter was waiting down the road a short way and flagged me down.

Take it from me, you'd better slap on the brakes as soon as you hit that city limit sign. There are "eyes" watching you.

Everett Collins gave me an interesting note about the Reasoners' golden wedding anniversary open house. One of those who attended apparently was standing alone and unrecognized for some time watching the people as they entered and registered in the guest book. Finally, according to Everett, he revealed his identity. He was Mrs. Reasoner's "long-lost" brother whom she hadn't seen in over forty years.

There was plenty of excitement Friday night at the diamond as the little league and pony league teams from St. Joe took a double header from Woodburn.

The little leaguers had a scare thrown into them, however, before the final out. Leading 8 to 3, they appeared to have victory in the bag. But Woodburn scored 4 to come up to 8 to 7.

Then the pony leaguers put on a 7th innings rally to nose out their opponents, 5 to 4.

The dairy-men had been leading before Woodburn scored in the top of the 7th to lead, 4 to 3. Then St. Joe rallied, with the climax furnished by pitcher Cal Coburn who tripled to drive in the winning run. —All this after two were out. —Just like the Cubs.

This is a couple of weeks old but it sounds better every time I hear it.

While Mike was laid up with the measles, he had to miss the Wednesday night show and, of course, was pretty much disappointed. He told Esther that he "wished there were two of me, one to go to the show, the other to have the measles."

Then he could tell himself what he had seen at the show and himself could tell he what himself had built with the tinkertoy set while he was at the show.

—Or something.

St. Joe Vs. Spencerville On Donkeys

Local residents are in for a special treat this Fourth of July as the Junior Class of Concord Twp. High School presents a Donkey Baseball at the diamond in St. Joe.

The Juniors are sponsoring the game to be played this Friday and have rounded up some of the best donkey riders in these parts to ride the occasionally-stubborn beasts. From past experiences on the ball field with the animals, this should prove to be an interesting experiment.

Here are some of the mule-drivers who will participate:

Pete Akey, Arnold Fetters, Dewey White, Norman Morr, Gene Baker, Dale Smith, John Schull and others.

Jack Haas is rounding up a team from Spencerville to oppose the St. Joe riders.

The game starts at 7:30 p.m.

Charles Kimes Passes Away

Charles Langley Kimes, 63, died at 11 a.m. Sunday at his home in Spencerville following a heart attack. Employed 15 years by the Tokheim Oil Tank & Pump Co. at Fort Wayne, he retired in June, 1951, due to injuries received in an automobile accident. Mr. Kimes was a member of the Methodist Church in Spencerville.

Surviving are the widow, Violet; six sons, Virgil and Blaine of Spencerville, Charles and Gerald of Angola, Bernard of Fort Wayne and Richard with the U. S. Army enroute home from Japan; two daughters, Mrs. Kathryn McEwen of Fort Wayne and Mrs. Margaret Session of Fort Knox, Ky.; 18 grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. William Young of Huntertown.

Summer And Poison Ivy Time

If you don't want to be poisoned by poison ivy this summer, the best thing is to recognize the plant and stay away from it. Remember the saying, "Leaves three let it be."

Poison ivy leaves grow in threes and there are small white berries that form in clusters. During autumn the plant is attractive, its leaves turning many shades of red, yellow and brown.

It may grow as a dwarf plant or may be several feet high climbing on posts and trees. There is also a harmless ivy, but it has red berries and its leaves are in groups of five.

Often this poison weed grows near picnic and play grounds, where it is necessary to destroy it. Two chemicals will kill roots as well as tops. They are 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T. Either of these, or a mixture of both, can be used as a spray.

Mix about a quart of the concentrated material in 20 to 25 gallons of water. Spray enough to wet all the plants. Best results come from applying sprays during the growing season. Care should be taken not to allow the spray to drift onto useful plants. Sprayers should be thoroughly cleaned before using other spray materials.

Most authorities agree that the poisonous property of ivy is a non-volatile oil. Either direct or indirect contact with the plant can cause poisoning, and it is often caused by touching shoes or clothing that have touched the ivy plant. Although the poison is most virulent during summer, ivy poisoning can be contracted during the winter by handling dormant twigs and vines of the ivy.

Four Escape Injury

The sheriff's department reported last week that a mother and three children miraculously escaped injury early Wednesday morning when the pickup truck in which they were riding turned over twice on a county highway north of St. Joe.

The mother and driver of the 1950 Chevrolet pickup was identified as Mrs. Irene Riggs of route 1, Auburn.

The four escaped with minor bruises and scratches. The accident occurred at 9 a.m. Wednesday four miles north of St. Joe near a driveway to the Lewis Strater farm.

Police said Mrs. Riggs apparently lost control of the truck when she attempted to slow her vehicle after and egg truck pull from the driveway onto the road and the pickup reached the crest of a hill. Mrs. Riggs was traveling east.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $300.

175 At Reasoner Golden Anniversary Open House

On a rainy Saturday, June 28, 1902, Miss Huldah Collins, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Collins, a Methodist minister, and Ray Reasoner, son of Chalmer and Celesta Reasoner, were united in marriage at the Spencerville-St. Joe Lutheran parsonage by the late Rev. W. H. Shrock. Their lives have been happy ones, full of service to the community and their church.

Many of their early years together were spent on the late Mervin and Hattie Widney farm where Ray was in charge of the apple orchard, later moving to the Aunt Kate Leighty farm where he held a similar capacity and where every worker was happy and contented. Later they moved to the home where they now reside, the old Hamm homestead.

The golden anniversary observance began with a family procession into St. Mark's Lutheran Church Sunday morning led by Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Collins. Hymns selected by Mr. and Mrs. Reasoner were "The Church's One Foundation," "Lord, Speak To Me" and "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee." Their granddaughter, Dorothy Ann Ferber, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Rev. W. H. Baker's sermon was "Cast All Your Cares On Christ." Members of the old-time choir assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Reasoner, their son, Floyd, and wife, Dorothy, granddaughter, Dorothy Ann, and and husband, Danny Ferber, granddaughter Susie Reasoner and Rev. and Mrs. Baker enjoyed a fine dinner at Butler.

Open house was held at the Reasoner residence from 2 until 5 p. m. and though the heat was scorching, approximately 175 called to wish Rey and Huldah many more years of happy life. One of the big surprises was the presence of James S. Collins, a brother, from San Diego, Cal., whom none of the family had seen for 44 years. Others present were Barton and Roy Collins (brothers) and their wives of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Savilla Collins Miller (sister) and son of Auburn; Mrs. Effie Reasoner Collins (sister) and husband, Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Counts, Miss Ocie Collins, Mrs. Agatha Collins, Mrs. Dora Zimbeck (only living aunt of Mrs. Reasoner) all of Van Wert, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kitchen of New Haven; Rev. and Mrs. Frank Stevenson and family (former Lutheran pastor in St. Joe) of Muncie; and numerous cousins, nieces and nephews.

Refreshments were served guests by Mrs. Neva Hurst, Mrs. Madonna Wade, Mrs. Parlia Hull, Mrs. Elizabeth Milliman and the Misses Carol Billow and Susie Reasoner. The refreshment table was covered with a lace table cloth with a center piece of roses and carnations, a gift of Rev. and Mrs. Baker. Golden candlesticks and holders from Dorothy Ann also were placed on the table.

Many gifts and messages were received, including a special delivery letter from Dr. C. R. Price and a telegram from a cousin, Mrs. Dessie Reasoner Potter, of Elon City, Ill.

St. Joe All-Stars Face Pistons Wednesday

Lewis Walter and his St. Joe All-Stars will face the Zollner Pistons next Wednesday evening, July 9, at St. Joe lighted diamond.

The St. Joe Valley Recreation Club, Inc., rained out a few weeks ago in its first attempt to formally dedicate the lights, will try again to officially "open" the season for softball and hardball activity.

Walter has been named coach of the All-Star team and will have reins in hand over such local athletes as Pete Akey, Pete Storer, Bob Draggoo, Francis Dulle, Gene Diederich, Herb Kleeman, Blaine Kimes, Bruce Baker, Paul Moore and Bud Shockley. The squad is not yet complete and will be augmented before game time at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

There won't be any chicken for this second dedication try but there will be the usual refreshments plus hot dogs. The club was "hard-pressed" to dispose of a hundred chickens prepared for the first rained-out affair.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. with a softball game between the Country Hams and the City Slickers. Walter Morr is coaching the Hams and Herb Amstutz will direct the Slickers.

At 7:45 Derwood Ridgway will begin his master-of-ceremonies duties and introduce Karl Mavis of the Auburn Star and Ralph Sechler, chairman of the board of directors of the rerceation club.

The invocation will be given by Rev. W. H. Baker and music will be furnished by the St. Joe-Spencerville school band.

At 8 p.m. the Pistons and All-Stars will take their warm-ups and at 8:30 the game will get under way.

Fourteen attendance prizes will be awarded during the evening, to be given from lucky numbers appearing on the club's souvenir programs. Those who purchased programs a month ago are eligible to win next week.

RESEARCH SEEKS BEST USE OF DOLLARS FOR DRAINAGE

How to get the most from dollars invested in drainage systems is a problem facing farmers who may be paying 100 dollars or more per acre tiled at today's prices.

That's why Purdue University agricultural engineers are engaged in a research project aimed at digging out the facts concerning tile drainage. Studies are being conducted this spring in Ripley, Scott and Jennings counties. The engineers believe that a better job of drainage can be done if fundamentals of water movement through soils are better understood.

One of the most important factors affecting the operation of tile is soil permeability. This is a measure of how quickly water can move through soil. Permeability varies with soil type and is also greatly influenced by the system of management or cropping history of the soil. Layers of different permeability at various depths in the soil further complicate the problem.

The researchers are depending upon mathematics and physics to work out formulas describing the flow of water through soil into tile. By checking these theories against a limited number of field trials they hope to be able to predict the proper depth of tile and spacing between tile lines in a given soil type.

Yessir, Those Ties Do Bind

Usually its the unseen ties that bind, but in this case it was a few railroad ties that bound a Newville youth to the long arm of the law.

Raymond Delain Richmond was given a suspended sentence Saturday morning by Judge Harold Stump in the Auburn city court for taking a few railroad ties.

The difficulties arose when Richmond decided that railroad ties were just the thing to use as corner posts for a garage. But the B & O railroad didn't wish to part company with the ties and refused his offer to purchase.

In court Richmond said he stole the ties on June 20. When recovered they were being used as corner posts for the garage.

LOYAL WORKERS CLASS

The Loyal Workers Sunday School class of the Lutheran Church was entertained June 27 by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartell. For devotional Mrs. Lee Hollopeter read the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. Izetta Chaney read a selection entitled, "June." Lee Hollopeter recited a poem he had memorized 50 years ago.

The social hour was spent in reminiscing of happenings of "long, long ago."

Fourteen members and one guest were present. All enjoyed the bountiful carry-in dinner and departed thanking the host and hostess for a wonderful evening.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

TELEVISION FOR AREA—Fort Wayne is 12th on the list of hundreds of cities throughout the nation whose applications for new television broadcasting stations will be processed by the Federal Communcations Commission.

I have just received this information from the FCC after conducting an extensive campaign urging the agency to lift the TV freeze and approve adequate television broadcasting facilities for our area.

The FCC advised me that it had "issued its final Report in the television proceedings, lifting the freeze on the authorization and construction of new television stations, promulgating a new Table of television channel assignments and reserving channels in certain communities for non-commercial educational use.

"It should be pointed out that while the freeze on the construction of new stations has been lifted, it will take some time before new stations commence operation. You will realize that the processing of applications, which in many cases will involve lengthy hearings, will be time-consuming. Furthermore, the Commission added, after the granting of construction permits an additional period of time will be required for the construction of new stations. The Commission, therefore, cannot estimate at this time when new stations will commence operation. Let me assure you, however, that the Commission is doing everything in its power to consider applications and grant licenses for television stations in the Fort Wayne area and in all other areas at the earliest possible date," the Commission said.

Fort Wayne has been assigned Channels Nos. 21, 27 and 33. Angola also has an application in for TV broadcasting facilities and has been assigned Channel No. 15.

AIR FORCE JUGGLING—In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, the Air Force admitted that it has juggled its books, using "questionable arithmetic" to absorb the "arbitrary cuts" in its budget, made necessary by the president's "stretch-out" of the defense program.

In essence, the Air Force witnesses said they keep two sets of books; one to show Congress that the Air Force dutifully spends no more than the president and the Congress say it can spend. On the other hand, it has another set of books for its own use which is much more realistic as to Air Force spending.

Assistant Secretary E. V. Huggins testifying for the Air Force said: "Make no bones about it, the cuts were imposed by the Budget Bureau and the Defense Secretary simply to get the amount to conform--fall within--the president's budget." In other words, this is fine for everyone but the taxpayer continuing to get soaked for waste, extravagance and budget padding for unwarranted increases in many defense items.

Local News

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carpenter were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hull.

Ray Moore, local B & O section forman, is the manager of the local girls softball team. Ray has been devoting his time to coaching the girls and giving them the benefit of his baseball experience.

The St. Joe-Spencerville school band has received their white uniform pants and will participate in the dedication program next Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Llyod Dunten had as their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hoover of Parkersburg, W. Va., and their daughter, Virginia, of French Creek, W. Va.

Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall and daughters of Fort Wayne were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn and sons.

Sammy Morr was rated in the upper 12 percent of livestock judging contestants at the Purdue Roundup in June.

Sales Up, Profits Down

While the volume of manufacturing sales in the nation is increasing, profits after taxes are dropping.

Noting this trend, which was revealed in latest Government statistics, the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce today declared: "This is evidence that high Federal taxes on businesses are reaching the point of diminishing returns both for the Government in tax revenues and for the American people in opportunity and jobs."

The State Chamber said joint quarterly reports of the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities Exchange Commission showed that in the 18 months between July, 1950, and December, 1951, the total net income after taxes of all manufacturing corporations in the country declined steadily in each quarter, except one, even though total sales kept increasing.

These reports revealed that while sales of all manufacturing corporations rose steadily from $48,600,000,000 in the third quarter of 1950 to $54,300,000,000 in the fourth quarter of 1951, the percentage of net income-after-taxes to sales dropped from 7.64 to 4.80 percent.

The smaller manufacturing businesses of the country, taken as a group, were revealed in these reports as faring even worse. Over the same period manufacturing corporations in the asset size group of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, which the reports listed in the category of small business, showed a drop in their aggregate quarterly net income-after-taxes from $391,000,000 to $156,000,000 even though their total sales rose from $6,600,000,000 to $7,300,000,000. Their percentage of net income after taxes to sales decreased from 5.93 to 2.14 per cent.

The State Chamber said, "A net income of as little as 2.14 percent of sales simply will not permit a small company to grow, or even in some cases to keep on going."

The State Chamber added that taxes for all government--Federal, state and local--will take a third of the American people's income next year, and more than three-fourths of this "take" will go to Washington.

PURDUE TO STAGE DAIRY FIELD DAY JULY 18

Morning tours of experimental fields and afternoon talks on forage production and use will be featured at the first Dairy Field Day at Purdue University on July 18.

Beginning at 9 a.m. CST visitors will tour the hay-silage experimental field, demonstration areas for tests on cooling cows with showers and the affect of water temperature on them and the facilities of the new Dairy Center. Dr. N. S. Lundquist, associate professor of dairy husbandry, is in charge of the program.

Headquarters for the field day will be the Dairy Center on Cherry Lane, north of Ross-Ade football Stadium. There, visitors will inspect the herd and barns and will see an experiment on daily rotation of cows on pasture areas compared to the usual rotation system. Use of a "laying back" pasture will be explained.

Among exhibits will be silage and hay from the experimental field and silage preserved with sulfur dioxide gas. Operation of a self-feeding hay keeper and the treatment used in drying the experimental hays will be described by A. M. Einerson, agricultural engineer.

Other reports will cover dairy feeding tests with ground corn cobs and Purdue Cattle Supplement A, developed by the animal husbandry department for winter feeding of beef cattle; experiments on milking and feeding time requirements, relation of production to udder measurements, electric dehorning and bedding.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

The ability to relax is very important and gives promise of a longer, healthier life. Most recreation is as strenuous as our work and should be sensibly regulated. A person's mental attitude greatly affects his ability to get the most out of his periods of relaxation. At these times he should cast his worries aside. Otherwise, sleep will be disturbed and recreation fruitless.

Answer to Question No. 2:

It is a system of printing for the blind which uses combinations of tangible points or impressions representing letters and numbers and which the blind can "read" by feeling the points on the paper with their fingers. It is named after Louis Braille (1809-1852), its original designer. Any book can be printed in Braille for use by the blind.

Answer to Question No. 3:

The best thing to do with an oncoming sneeze is to sneeze—into your handkerchief of course. It is better to sneeze normally through the mouth which is better equipped than the sinuses and ears to take the blast. Suppression of sneezes may lead to considerable damage to the ears.

Letters to the Editor

Attending 43rd Annual American Home Economics Convention

Eastbourne Hotel

Dear Ted:

I am tired, hot, happy and enlightened in many ways from rubbing elbows with the Home Economists from the whole world, India, Germany, England, etc. It's wonderful to see the many careers for Home Economists.

We are also familiarized with everything under the sun that a home maker uses in the home. Every firm presents gifts. I've received everything from orchids to pens, trays and refreshments of "all" kinds.

Atlantic City is (next to St. Joe) the most hospitable place in the world.

On the Boardwalk you can buy "anything" you have money to and they even told me my credit was good when I hesitated on buying a linen lace table cloth costing $1500,00 (I didn't buy it.)

I'm going swimming in the Atlantic Ocean now and on an Ocean Boat Tour tonite.

Sincerely,

Ruth Butler

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Judges 1:1—3:6; 21:25.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Deuteronomy 30:15-20.

Prodigal Nation

Lesson for July 6, 1952

"YOU'RE going a long way back for a sermon," said a neighbor who reads this column, once when the topic was Jeremiah. Well, this column isn't intended to be a sermon. It is intended to be an offering of some thoughts on the Bible passages which are used as the Sunday school lesson in more than eighty different denominations of the Christian church. The writer, whether the writer of this column or those who write the books such as Tarbell's and Peloubet's that contain lessons for a whole year, does not pick out the topics. They were selected by a large interdenominational committee some years before.

When They Did as They Pleased

HOWEVER, let's have no apologies for going anywhere in the Bible, back or front. The voice of God speaks to us through it, and we can learn something from all parts of it.

For the next three months the lessons are to be about the rise of the Kingdom, from just after Joshua's time to the reign of Solomon. This week we have before us the first and last parts of a book (Judges) that covers many generations. This book contains some inspiring stories, and some so harsh or revolting that they never are studied in Sunday school.

The inspired prophet who first put these stories together and commented on them makes a significant postscript at the end, as if to explain some of the more shocking tales: T ose were the days when there was no king, and every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

There you have one of the keys for understanding this strange Book of Judges. It is the story of anarchy, of men doing as they pleased. Do laws annoy you? Do you sometimes feel that this would be a better world if we could do away with government entirely and let every man do as he likes? The Book of Judges shows what sort of world that would be—and you wouldn't like it.

BANKING experts talk about business cycles, and show diagrams to illustrate them. The stories in Judges also make a kind of pattern, a wavy line that climbs up and dips down, over and over again. The curve is freedom, the low dip is slavery.

The little nation of Israel, or rather the little gatheration of tribes not yet a nation, that went by that name, was struggling for a place in the sun. Sometimes they had no better than a place in the shade, in the shadows of national weakness, disgrace, defeat, slavery of one sort or another.

Other nations would "oppress" them in the various ways by which one nation can oppress another: by armed invasion, by military occupation, by making slave laborers, by exacting huge sums of money, by depriving them of trade or territory. And then after a long time of this, a hero would arise and lead the people back to freedom.

The Moral Cycle

IF that were all, the Book of Judges would not help us very much. But the question is: Why does a nation lose its freedom?

The answer given in this ancient book has been confirmed in history many a time since. A nation is free when it deserves to be free; it loses its freedom when it no longer deserves it.

The careful reader can see in the Book of Judges another line rising and falling, the curving line of the nation's faith and moral life. When they "went after other gods,"—that is, when they sank to the sins and crimes which went with the worship of these "other gods," they lost their morals and at the same time lost their morale and their character. And a nation that loses its character is one that easily loses its freedom.

It is the way mighty Rome fell, and Spain, and many another. It is the way our own nation can fall. But the way out is also shown in the Bible.

The Book of Judges has been called the Book of the Prodigal Nation. It is the story of man's sin, but also of God's mercy. It sometimes takes long to learn the lesson, and sometimes it is never learned; but God holds out hope for the repentant nation, as he holds out hope for the soul that turns from its wickedness. Is it ever too late to repent?

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

HOUSECLEANING

IT'S housecleaning time. And it should be medicine cabinet cleaning time, too. The medicine cabinet becomes conveniently a catch-all for a miscellany of odds and ends, some of which are a hazard to health and life.

Poisons in old bottles, with labels stained and illegible, are taken sometimes by mistake for a headache or an uncomfortable stomach. Chemical changes occur in many medicines and fresh supplies should be stocked in the medicine cabinet from time to time.

Medicine cabinets should be out of the reach of children whose curiosity leads them to eat the pretty pink pills or drink the sweet tasting medicine in the bottle, sometimes with tragic results.

Rusty razor blades, unwashed teaspoons used for taking sticky medicines, germ-infested toothbrushes, unwound dental floss, unsanitary eye-cups, and dad's soggy shaving brush get all mixed up with a layer of tooth and face powder covering all.

Even fastidious housekeepers by-pass the medicine cabinet when doing their annual spring cleaning. Yet, this is a most important receptacle in the home. The medicine cabinet is the point to which all look when a health emergency occurs in the family.

It should be a haven of security and aid.

Careful thought should go into stocking the medicine cabinet, for therein may at some time be found the very item which is sorely needed.

Looks BIGGER
You can believe your eyes when you see its size because the '52 Ford is actually a bigger car! Wheelbase is longer, front tread is wider and its modern-design body is really six people big.

Feels BIGGER
You can tell it's a big car when you drive it, for beneath Ford's brawny beauty, there's greater strength. New Ford bodies are sound and solid. Chassis has a more rugged K-bar frame.

Powers BIGGER
You know it's a big car when you step on the gas! New 101-h.p. high-compression Mileage Maker Six or the 110-h.p. high-compression Strato-Star V-8 give you "go" to rival the highest-priced cars. Automatic Power Pilot sees to gas-savings.

THE '52 FORD is the only low-priced car that brings you new, easier-acting Power-Pivot Clutch and Brake Pedals; Ford's the only car in its field to bring you new convenient Center-Fill Fueling; Ford's the only low-priced car with a curved one-piece windshield, a car-wide rear window, Full-Circle Visibility. And, Ford's the only car in the low-price field to give you a choice of power—V-8 or Six, a choice of drives—Fordomatic, Overdrive or Conventional.

Ford's the BIGGEST package in the low-price field!

With all its big-car looks, big-car feel and big-car power, the '52 Ford is in the low-price field! And with new lower center of gravity, new diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers, and new tailored-to-weight front springs, Ford's exclusive Automatic Ride Control brings you a big-car ride. A "Test Drive" will convince you the '52 Ford is the big-car buy of the low-price field.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

WE SHALL soon mark the second anniversary of the fateful day on which we entered Korea to fight the Communists. This war that is not a war, for the sake of a peace that is not a peace, has cost us 109,000 casualties so far. The money cost is estimated at $9 billions. We have taken years out of the lives of our young men to send them to the Korean hills. We have burnt up our armaments faster than we can replace them.

For what? The fighting, so far, has not cost Soviet Russia a single man. We are constantly told that we have "stopped aggression." I do not understand such vague words. I want to know: have we stopped Russia? Is there any good reason why Russia should be stopped by a war which costs her nothing and costs us a 109,000 casualties, a frightful loss of young men who should be the commanding officers of the future, and our reserves of ammunition, while cutting out of our economy about $5 billions a year?

It is just one year since the Soviet Union proposed these "peace" negotiations. At that time, I said on the Senate floor, that the Soviet peace proposal was a booby trap. I said:

"Look closely at this peace offer and you will see what it really is. It is the 'peace' program that Marshall took to China in December, 1945."

Why do we go back and study the past? Because, properly understood, it helps us avoid suffering in the present. We knew in June, 1951, that the Communists in China used the "armistice" to rest their forces, equip them with new and better weapons, build new airfields, and carry on a continuous propaganda.

What have they done in Korea? Haven't they rested their troops, filled up their ranks, given them better equipment, and carried on a world-wide propaganda battle?

Do you think Americans should be proud to have the world see they were caught twice in the same booby trap?

A year ago I said, "No one wants to end the Korean war more than I . . . but we cannot end it on Soviet terms. We can best meet the Russian mock peace terms, by submitting genuine American peace terms."

I want to quote what I proposed then as an American counter proposal, and ask you to look at it today, one year later.

I said in June, 1951, "We can agree to a cease-fire today. But we cannot agree to moving a single American soldier from the dark and bloody ground his comrades have bought with their lives, until we have a trustworthy program for keeping that peace.

"That means only one thing. We must replace American battle-hardened soldiers with well-equipped, well-trained Asian soldiers—Free Chinese, Koreans, Filipinos. This is the same answer that we found for the Philippines.

One year has gone by. Have you heard of any Free Chinese being permitted to fight shoulder to shoulder with our men in Korea? Admiral Cooke says the young Chinese on Formosa (many of them trained by us) are rotting in despair, while their parents and brothers are being executed by the Communists. How much have we accomplished in two years in training of young Koreans to take the place of our men? How many Filipinos could be fighting for a free Asia with the funds we are spending there?

Do you know the American Navy still is—by Presidential Order—guarding the Red China coast so that Chiang Kai-shek cannot blockade the Communist ports and stop their imports of gasoline and equipment?

One problem faces the people of the United States today, which must take precedence over all others. We do not have military security. We do have military men, well able to organize our defense and help our friends at half the money we are spending today, but they cannot act until the political leaders give them the responsibility.

SWEET CORN WILT CONTROLLED BY DUSTING

Sweet corn plants may be stunted or killed by bacterial wilt or Stewart's Disease, according to a recent Purdue University bulletin by Dr. Arnold J. Ullstrup, crop pathologist.

Symptoms of the disease appear from the time the plants are six to eight inches until the corn is full grown and mature. The disease is easily recognized by pale yellowish streaks running the long way of the leaf blades, Ullstrup says. The streaks become dry, often shatter, and the plants may wilt as though suffering from lack of soil moisture.

Corn flea beetles spread the disease by feeding on infected plants and then migrating to healthy plants where they introduce the bacteria into the leaf tissues through feeding punctures. Controlling the flea beetle helps to reduce spread of the disease.

Thoroughly dusting the plants with DDT or rotenone will control the beetle, Ullstrop advises. Badly wilted plants should be destroyed. Another means of control is by planting resistant hybrids or varieties. Late hybrids and varieties are more resistant than early maturing types. Country Gentleman and Evergreen types are more resistant generally than the Bantam or yellow types. Among the yellow types Golden Cross Bantam is resistant. Seed treatment has no effect in controlling Stewart's Disease.

TOM MERTENS RECOGNIZED FOR "A" WORK

Thomas R. Merten of St. Joe, a senior at Ball State Teachers College, has been recognized for having maintained an "A" average for work during the spring quarter.

Mr. Mertens is a member of Sigma Zeta, national honorary science fraternity, Biology Club, and president of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity. He is a graduate of Fort Wayne South Side High School.

GOOD CONSTRUCTION AIDS GRAIN STORAGE

Construction and proper care of grain storage bins are important factors in the prevention of insect damage and contamination of grain, declares I. D. Mayer, extension agriculture engineer at Purdue University.

Added emphasis has been placed on safe storage conditions and grain cleanliness by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration's action in condemning contaminated flour and other cereal products. This has caused millers to require clean grain from elevators, which in turn are clamping down on farmers.

In constructing new storage bins, Mayer advises use of material such as metal, plywood or dressed lumber which will have a minimum of cracks in which insects can harbor. A concrete floor provides long life and gives mice or rats no place to hide. Condensation may be a problem, but it can be reduced by putting waterproof paper under the grain or loose boards on top of the floor.

The engineer cautions against double wall construction with boards on either sides of the studs. This makes an ideal place for rats and insects to hide and they are hard to get out. If a single thickness of lumber is not strong enough, another layer may be placed on top of the first with waterproof paper between.

The bin should be strong enough to withstand pressure from the grain inside, particularly at the floor line. If it is elevated, such as above a driveway, this strength is especially important. For example, a standard grain bin above an 11-foot driveway should have 2-by-12 floor joists 12 inches on center or the equivalent to support eight feet of grain.

If thoroughly dried grain is stored, the bin must be kept as tightly closed as possible. A cover on top will keep out contamination.

Where necessary, old bins should be repaired to make them strong enough to hold the required amount of grain. If the walls are full of cracks, they should be replaced or repaired to permit cleaning and disinfecting. Covering the wall with another material does not always solve the problem because insects could be behind the wall. They must be screened out completely.

Arranging the bin for convenient unloading and cleaning it out before putting in new grain are other sanitary practices. The bin should be arranged so that a man does not have to stand in the grain to unload it.

Broadcast For Area Servicemen

Radio Station WGL, Fort Wayne, is planning a special overseas broadcast on Sunday, August 17, 1952, to enable service families throughout the WGL listening area to broadcast greetings to their servicemen stationed overseas.

The Auxiliary of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post has been asked to contact the families in the St. Joe community who would like to participate in the broadcast.

These greetings will be transcribed in the WGL studios Sunday, July 13, and will be broadcast overseas on August 17.

Those who wish to be on the broadcast are asked to notify Gretchen Noragon or Doris Yeiser as soon as possible as the studio must be notified before the 13th of July as to the number of persons who will appear.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Some of the characters in that daily comic strip, "Mickey Finn," have been discussing a 40 dollars-a-day hotel room during a big convention. But they don't have anything on Milt and Edith McGrath. They recently were guests at an insurance convention and enjoyed their stay in North Carolina—in a 40 dollars-a-day hotel suite.

Milt says, "That's the life for me!"

The little woman and I went to the Windy City last week with Red and Lois Strombeck to see the Cubs play Pittsburg. I got want I wanted—the Cubs won two and big Hank knocked one clear out of the ball park.

If you were listening to the abbreviated All-Star game Tuesday, you heard him do the same in Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh has been using a bunch of kids in their lineup and haven't been doing too well. But the hustle of those new boys should pay off some time. Bobby DelGreco crashed into the center field wall trying for a long fly ball and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher.

Frankie Kessler came in a couple of weeks ago and said he wanted to put an ad in the paper to find his dog.

He said the dog was a "huskie" and "his name is 'King'."

I don't know too much about dogs but I was pretty sure that the only huskie about "King" was in Frankie's imagination. So I suggested that he ask his grandpa what kind of a dog King was and we'd fix up an ad.

He came back shortly—but not with the information I expected. He said, "I found him already. He was home when I got there."

See how much good an ad in the St. Joe News does??? He got results even before the ad got in the paper!

Hilliard Gates threw a scare into me Sunday evening when, during the broadcast of the 13-inning final game at Fort Wayne Zollner Stadium, he announced that the Pistons would be at Harlan Wednesday. I buzzed right in to town and asked Carl Bennett if there was a mistake somewhere. He confirmed the Wednesday date here and I breathed a sigh of relief.

The World's Greatest Announcer shouldn't make those mistakes!

I stayed for a couple of innings before leaving and saw another example of good public relations which the Pistons should be thanked for. There was a little girl being taken out as I arrived who had been hit on the eye by a foul ball. Naturally she was in tears and her dad was holding her in his arms trying to comfort her. Carl Bennett gave a little advise on how to reduce the swelling and then asked her if she would like to have a softball. At first she shook her head, but on second thought, she sniffed a "yes." One of the ushers was sent to the dressing room and quickly came back with a gleaming white softball. Carl told her to practice with her sister and brother the next day. She said she would and happily left the stadium firmly clutching the white ball.

Bill Billow Assumes Duties In Arizona

William Billow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billow of St. Joe, is continuing in his studies for the ministry as assistant pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mr. Billow left for Arizona on Monday, June 30. This, his clinical year from the Chicago Lutheran Seminary of Maywood, Illinois, will be spent in guiding Luther League activities and other such duties which will be of assistance to the pastor of the church.

Mr. Billow's address is 1124 N. Third Street, Phoenix, Arizona.

Pistons Beat All-Stars, 19-3

A large crowd witnessed the dedication program of the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club at the diamond in St. Joe Wednesday night. The feature attraction was the appearance of the Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons in an exhibition game against an all-star group of local players. The score of the game was 19 to 3 in favor if the Pistons.

The evenings program was opened with a game between the "Country Hams" and the "City Slickers." The Hams came out on the top of a 9-5 score.

A formal ceremony was then presented with Derwood Ridgway acting as master of ceremonies. Rev. W. H. Baker gave the invocation after which Mr. Karl Mavis, sports writer of the Auburn Star who is active in the softball and little league activities in Auburn, gave a short talk. Mr. Ralph Seehler, chairman of the board of directors of the recreation club, gave a resume of the club's history and efforts in financing the lights for the diamond. The St. Joe-Spencerville school band, which played several numbers between innings of the preliminary game, then played the national anthem. The Piston-All-Star game followed.

Jim Kees of Harlan, who did the pitching chores for the local team, suffered a little nervousness along with his mates in the first inning as the Pistons scored 3 runs. A walk, a hit batsman and an error accounted for the runs.

In the second Kees put the Fort Wayne team down in order. But the third inning saw 7 runs cross the plate before the third out of the frame. Manager Bernie Kampschmidt had a homer to top the scoring in the inning.

The Pistons completed their scoring with 5 in the fourth, 1 in each the fifth and sixth and 2 in the seventh.

Meanwhile, Chuck Shearer, whom the Pistons recently brought up from the reserve club, was holding the locals in check with three hits. He fanned 13 and walked five. Francis Dulle, Herb Kleeman and Kees were the only ones able to solve Shearer's variety for safeties.

Man Found Dead On Tracks

Michael S. Foley, 49, a GR&I railroad section worker, was found dead along the tracks a mile north and a quarter of a mile west of St. Joe. Death resulted from heart disease, Indiana State Police reported after an investigation with county officials.

Foley, whose address was given as the Sunshine Mission, St. Louis, Mo., had been working with a section crew out of Butler. He had been discharged from his work earlier in the day, officials said. His body was found at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The body was taken to the Gerig Funeral Home in Auburn. Officials were attempting to locate relatives Wednesday night.

Ask $19,000 For Cattle Test

County Auditor Guy Myers received last week a notice from the Indiana State Livestock Sanitary board requesting DeKalb County to include an appropriation of $19,295.85 in the 1953 budget for testing of cattle in the county for tuberculosis.

The requested sum seems staggering in view of the sum of less than $2,000 requested in 1949 and 1950 during the last testing period.

The appropriation alone would raise the county's rate about 5 cents on the $100 valuation.

The state veterinarian said the appropriation will be used for the purpose of carrying out testing of cattle as required under regulations to have the county re-accredited as a modified TB-free area.

BIG PRIZE LIST FOR SHEEP AT STATE FAIR

Champion sheep representing both the mutton and wool breeds will compete for a part of the $19,333 offered in cash awards at this years Centennial Indiana State Fair beginning August 23 in Indianapolis. Cash awards this year represent an increase of $5,000 over last year's offering and includes $2,137 for 4-H exhibitors.

One of the features of the sheep barn will be the annual Sheep Shearing Contest Contest on Saturday afternoon, August 30, with $480 offered in prizes. The Junior Division is open to anyone of 4-H age (must not have passed his 21st birthday on January 1, 1952). The winner and runner up in this division will be eligible to compete in the National Junior Sheep Shearing Contest at the International Livestock Exposition.

The professional division is open to any person except previous winners of the state contest who shears sheep in Indiana. Climaxing the program will be the Champion of Champions Contest open only to former winners of the professional division.

BALER DESTROYED BY FIRE

The St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department made a run Wednesday afternoon when a baler, owned by Walter Morr, caught fire in the field.

It was reported that the fire started when an accumulation of dust and chaff around the air-cooled engine of the baler ignited.

The baler was a total loss from the fire.

Donkey Aces End In Tie

Before a large Fourth of July crowd at the St. Joe softball diamond, the Spencerville Aces played the St. Joe Aces to a 2-2 tie in a donkey softball exhibition.

It was a pitching battle all the way, with the donkeys doing the best pitching.

Several players on both teams apparently were stymied by the lack of cooperation, it being a common sight to see players tugging heavily at the reins trying to retrieve the softball. There was some bit of cooperation on the part of the players, however, one of whom left his own mount to help another fielder get some action out of his transportation by shoving on the aft end while the other pulled on the reins.

Several long balls were hit appearing to be home runs. But they only turned out to be outs. The baserunning donkeys had the knack of stopping a few feet short of first base and tossing the riders over their heads. One of the tosses wasn't so gentle, Joe Robinson getting a bump on the head. Fortunately he was not seriously injured.

The game was sponsored by the Junior Class of Concord Twp. High School.

A pony league prelim went to Butler over Holsom Dairy.

Methodist Church Ice Cream Social Saturday

The Livewire Class of the Spencerville Methodist Church is holding an ice cream social on Saturday, July 12, on the Methodist parsonage lawn. Serving begins at 5 p.m.

The menu will include home made ice cream made from pasteurized milk, chicken sandwiches, pie, cake, coffee, cold drinks and pop corn.

The public is invited to attend.

Nation-Wide Alert Set For Monday

A big nation-wide around-the-clock air test alert is scheduled to start Monday, July 14.

The test will continue on a 24-hour basis for an undisclosed length of time.

Dean Sigler, deputy director of aviation and ground observation for the DeKalb County Civil Defense organization, issued a call Saturday for 100 volunteer ground observers for the Auburn post.

The observers will be neded to man the post at the Auburn airport on the big nation-wide alert.

Also in operation in DeKalb County on July 14 will be posts at Garrett, St. Joe-Spencerville, Butler and Waterloo.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hertey given that at the hour of ten o'clock A.M. on the 14th day of July, 1952, the undersigned Surveyor of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all materials and labor and equipment necessary for the repair and the re-clean of the Frank Sebert et al drain, according to the plans, profiles and specifications now on file in the office of said Surveyor of DeKalb County.

Such plans, profiles and specifications shall be open for the inspection of any landowners interested or any contractor who may be a prospective bidder on the work.

The contract therefore will be let as a whole to the lowest and best bidder, the right being reserved to reject any and all bids and to re-advertise for new bids. Bidders will be required to file non-collusion affidavits and bidder's bond in the amount of $50.00.

The successful bidder will be required to give bond unto the State of Indiana in an amount equal to the amount of his bid.

For further particulars, inquire of the undersigned.

Mary Wilder, Lynne Lawson Take Honors

Twenty-one demonstrations were presented last week in the assembly room of the court house in Auburn at the DeKalb County 4-H demonstration contest.

The demonstrations began at 10 a.m. and continued through 5 p.m.

Mary Wilder, a member of the Priscilla Prim club, Spencer Twp., gave the winning senior demonstration on "pressing magic." The adult leader of the club is Mrs. Isabelle McClellan.

The junior winner was Lynne Lawson with "party cookies." She is a member of the Get-Together club in Concord Twp. led by Mrs. Ruth Butler.

Demonstrations were divided into three classes, A, B and C. The winning demonstration was taken from the "A" class in each the junior and senior divisions. The two girls who were champions will receive free trips to 4-H club camp which will be held at Epworth Forest on Lake Webster August 20-23.

Adult leaders who served as demonstrator assistants during the day were Mrs. Isabelle McClellan from Spencer Twp., demonstration chairman; Mrs. Lazeal Boger of Union Twp. and Mrs. Mildred Wappes of Butler Twp.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

LATTIMORE AIDED REDS—After an 18-month investigation, a Senate Committee has reported unanimously revelations that Owen Lattimore was "a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy." Based on its findings, the Committee advised the Justice Department to submit perjury charges against Lattimore to a Federal grand jury. It accused the former State Department consultant of "lying under oath" in at least five important instances when he was questioned by the Committee.

In discussing the work of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee before the Senate, Chairman McCarran of Nevada said: "China today would be free and a bulwark against the further advances of the Red hordes in the Far East except for the machinations of the small group that controlled the Institute of Pacific Relations of which Lattimore was a leader."

The Senator added that through the activities of the IPR, evidence was disclosed showing that government agencies were infiltrated by Communists; official secrets were given to Soviet agents; loyal Americans were driven from their diplomatic posts; and the nation's Far Eastern policy was tinged in favor of Communist objectives.

According to the report, a Moscow board of commissars in 1937 passed a formal resolution putting Lattimore in charge of a propaganda campaign.

The report cited testimony of Gen. Alexander Barmine, former Soviet intelligence officer, now an American government employee, that the IPR was "a cover shop for military intelligence in the Pacific area" and Barmine quoted the Russian military as regarding Lattimore as one of "our men."

Lattimore, the report said, collaborated with Frederick W. Field, wealthy support of Communist causes, in the IPR although he knew Field was a Communist and failed to reveal this to the Committee.

The report also labeled John Carter Vincent, former Chief of the China Division of the State Department, as "the principal fulcrum of IPR pressures and influence in the State Department."

The Subcommittee said "on the basis of these facts, and many others, (we) can come to no other conclusion but that Lattimore was for some time, beginning in the middle 30's, a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy."

REDS IN STATE DEPARTMENT—Since 1947, a total of 420 persons, against whom there was adverse security information, have left the State Department. This fact was revealed in testimony by Carlisle Hummelsine, Deputy Undersecretary of State, to a Senate Appropriations Committee on June 25.

On the basis of the conclusions of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee report and the testimony of Mr. Hummelsine, there is no question about the seriousness of Communist sympathizers in government. They must go! Our national security is in danger, and the State Department is to blame!

TOO MUCH WASHING CAN RUIN CLOTHING

Laundering is an exception to the old adage, "If a little is good, more would be better." The homemaker's enthusiasm for cleanliness and whiteness should not lead her to overdo the washing.

Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension home management specialist at Purdue University, points out that over-washing is hard on clothes. It tends to shorten their usefulness and causes the clothes to wear out sooner than they should. Time and electricity are also wasted.

There is a tendency to overwash clothes in any washer. Five minutes of agitation for mild soil and ten minutes of agitation for heavily soiled fabrics should be long enough. The full, cycle in the automatic washer is usually excessive agitation.

The tensile strength is lessened by too long a washing time. Even fast colors in clothes tend to bleed or dull. In some instances, over-washing may cause the clothes to shrink.

In grandmother's day it may have been considered a necessity to soak the clothes overnight. The use of plenty of soft hot water and a good detergent has made soaking an out-dated practice. Over-soaking tends to re-deposit the soil in the fabric and may even fade the colors. To remove the most soil, twenty minutes of soaking on only excessively soiled items is long enough. The fibers are weakened if a bleach solution is used in the water during that long soaking perrod.

Miss Monhaut cautions the homemakers that if a bleach must be used, it should not be over-done. Bleach only stained or badly discolored garments, never bleach the average soiled items. Garments should not be soaked too long in a bleach. Manufacturer's directions should determine the amount to use. Bleaches are also hard on the wash tubs and aluminium agitator in the washing machine.

Blueing covers up the dirt not washed out. Too much blueing may make clothes gray and streaked and increase the rust stain possibility instead of whitening them as desired.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

PLAY SAFE—LIVE LONGER

CAESAR said, "Beware the ides of March." We say, "Beware the accidents in July." More lives are lost and more persons suffer injury from accidents in July than in any other month. Every 11 days of the average July, as many Americans are killed by accidents as lost their lives in the Revolutionary War.

July's list of dead from accidental causes is 30 per cent greater than that of the average month. Approximately one million people suffered some disabling accident last July—one out of every 150 persons in the United States.

July tops every other month for lives lost by drowning, falls, excessive heat, electric shock and food poisoning. One-quarter of all drownings occur in July.

July's usually clear weather is no safety panacea for motorists. Four out of five automobile accidents happen when the weather is clear and the roads dry.

Laws against the use of fireworks have reduced the number of deaths and injuries on the fourth of July, yet people will crowd the highways, beaches, and other places of amusement on Independence Day, and accidents will result.

We can legislate against permitting children and adults to handle explosive fireworks, yet, the control of swimming beyond one's depth, over-exposing the tender skin to the strong rays of the sun, reckless driving of an automobile, and other indulgences is not so simple.

Play safe on the fourth and be alive on the fifth.

Pistons Lose Crown To Detroit In Holiday Tourney

The re-appearance of an old star on the softball horizon was made at Fort Wayne's Zollner Stadium last week end when Detroit Briggs Beautyware re-ascended old heights by capturing the world's industrial tournament championship from a star-spangled field of 11 other teams.

Briggs dethroned the defending champion Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons by taking a 13-inning thriller in the championship game, 2-1. The Pistons, battling their way up through the loser's bracket, forced the tournament into the 23rd game by winning the first half of the championship set, 3-0.

But there was no stopping the Briggs club and their mainspring pitcher, Johnny Spring. It was poetic justice that the winning blow came off the bat of acting manager Jerry Zarick, who was filling in for Briggs' honeymooning manager, George Slis. Zarick tripled home two runs in the top of the 13th. Bill Jones homered in the last half of the frame but that was the extent of the Pistons last-ditch effort.

The final game was the fourth in one day for the Fort Wayne club. They began playing at approximately 12 noon Sunday and went through four complete teams, including mileage, meals finale for a total of 34 innings of softball in little more than 12 hours.

The Zollner organization, sponsor of the tournament, presented the winning team members with clock-radios. Expenses of the 12 teams, including mineage, meals and hotel accomodations, were paid by the Fort Wayne firm.

WOWO To Carry Lutheran Hour

Regular weekly broadcasts of the interantionally famous radio program, "The Lutheran Hour," will begin Sunday, July 13, on station WOWO, Fort Wayne. Programs will be heard from 10:00 to 10:30 a.m. CDT each Sunday and will be presented in cooperation with the Lutheran Layman's League.

Speaker for this broadcast will be the Reverend Kenneth Hoffman, chaplain of Lutheran Hospital in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Reverend Hoffman will be the first of three summer guest speakers. His topic will be, "Is Our Worship Sincere" Choral music for the broadcast will originate from campus studios of century-old Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri.

The Lutheran Hour, one of the oldest programs on radio, is entering its twentieth season. It is broadcast in 36 languages over more than 1150 radio stations in 57 countries.

The Reverend Armin C. Oldsen, well-known regular speaker for the Lutheran Hour, will return to the microphone in September.

URGES FARMERS TO CHECK ON STORAGE BINS

Proper care of storage bins is an important factor in the prevention of insect damage and contamination of grain, county agent Ernest J. Lesiuk, advised Monday.

The county agent recommends 50 percent wettable powder DDT at a rate of two pounds in five gallons of water for cleaning grain bins. In addition to the bins, farmers should clean and spray all other parts of the building where grain residues collect including spaces behind the bin linings and between partitions.

Emphesis has been placd on safe storage and grain cleanliness by the U. S. Food & Drug administration's action in condemning contaminated flour and cereal products.

She Led Men

Lesson for July 13, 1952

WOMEN complain that this is a man's world. Well, it's half a man's world anyhow, because about half the grown people in it are men. But that's not the point. Women complain because men are the bosses, men get the big salaries, men run the government. Women are teachers but men run the schoolboard, and so forth. As a matter of fact, it can be doubted whether women actually would like it the other way. Women like men who are leaders, men with minds of their own, who can take hold of troublesome situations and straighten them out.

Dr. Foreman

Wife, Mother, Judge

ANYHOW, Deborah was a woman like that. Her name means "Bee" and she was the sort of women who would somehow sting lazy or timid people into doing their duty. She is the only one of the "Judges" of Israel who was a woman.

Now some female heroines are a bit odd, to say the least of it. Take Joan of Arc, who was a kind of bee herself, and who took over when the rightful leader hung back. Joan was the kind of girl who could hear voices no one else heard. She was not exactly the kind of girl any man would feel quite comfortable with. And naturally she never married.

But this Deborah was a wife and a mother. She made some man happy, she was a home-maker, children cuddled up in her lap.

When later she became a "judge" she had all the wisdom of common-sense and of normal experience as the basis of her other wisdom. She knew how mothers and home-makers feel.

When it says that she "judged Israel" it does not mean that she ran for office like modern judges, or that any king had appointed her, for there was no king to do it. It means simply that everybody respected her judgment so much that when there were problems more tangled and twisted than common, they would go ask Deborah what she thought.

She Didn't Like a Sissy

ON one famous occasion Deborah did not wait for the man to come; she sent for him. He lived far from her home, and his name was Barak. She put an idea into his head, only it was not her idea, she claimed for it the authority of God.

Barak was to be a general, he was to recruit an army. She told him, there under the palm tree, where he was to get his army, where he was to take it and what to do with it when he got there.

Space does not permit the details that would show that Deborah's ideas were absolutely sound from a military point of view. She was a whole General Staff by herself.

But Barak backed off from his great opportunity. He would go, he said, provided she would go along. Now Deborah didn't like that. She liked a man who would go out on his own without having to have a lady at hand to tell him what to do. So she went; but she told him the journey would not be for his honor.

That, however, is another story. The point is that this Deborah was a woman so wise that the ablest man in the country at the time was not willing to do anything important without her advice.

Deborah's Daughters

DEBORAH was not the last woman whose wisdom and whose decisions have led men to success.

There are today in the United States women in congress, both in the senate and in the house; a woman is in charge of manpower; at least one woman is a U.S. circuit judge, the next highest in rank below the Supreme Court. There was a woman governor of Wyoming as far back as 1924.

But for every woman who makes the headlines and Who's Who, for every woman who has some official position, there are hundreds of others, un-nominated and unsung, who are known in their homes and in their home towns for their unfailing good advice.

"Ask Mrs. ———" is the first thing the neighbors think when something comes up. And sometimes a wise woman's reputation doesn't even get around to the neighbors. Sometimes it is only her family that know how wise she is.

But it is a safe guess that if you took out of our modern life all that women contribute, all the good acts and far-sighted policies that they have thought of first, ours would be a much worse world than it is.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

WE HAVE NOT had much news from Korea, recently, but I find it safer to assume that, where there is no news, something very important may be brewing. What are the plans for peace or war in Korea?

We have to watch everything—Panmunjoh, Washington, London. But some really important news has been coming out of Pusan, the temporary capital of South Korea.

Reports began coming out several weeks ago that President Rhee had been quarreling with the Legislature of Korea. He had arrested several legislators and imposed martial law. Then we heard that he had refused permission for the Voice of America to broadcast into Korea.

You will be interested to see how different were the facts from the rumors in the paper.

I knew only one thing at this point—that the Communists hate Syngman Rhee, as they hate Chiang Kai-shek, and for the same reasons. They both understand Communism as it really is. They both have fighting hearts. They both are Christian and pro-American. The Communists already have told us they are determined to remove Syngman Rhee as president in Korea. Was it possible President Rhee was fighting to put down a Communist plot or Fifth Column outbreak like that among the prisoners on Koje?

I called up the State Department and asked for copies of the Voice of America broadcasts. There was obviously something wrong there. The Voice had taken criticisms of President Rhee from papers all over the world—London, Paris, Amsterdam. They were beaming them over the radio to Korea. Rhee was denounced as a dictator, and an enemy of democracy, trying to be re-elected President against the will of the people. But there was not a single word in support of the president.

Then the United Nations Commission for Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea, called UNCURK, issued a statement practically ordering President Rhee to free the assemblymen (without discussing the evidence in the case). They also ordered him to lift martial law.

President Rhee wrote a very spirited and dignified reply to UNCURK. He said, "Two of the well-known Communist underground leaders have . . . confessed that some of the assemblymen are in league with the Communists in a scheme to unify north and south Korea through peaceful negotiations." Several assemblymen have confessed that they received money from the Communists to finance a plan to unify north and south after the Communist pattern.

President Rhee had not censored the Voice of America. He merely took back Republic of Korea broadcasting facilities when the Voice began reporting only damaging stories to his people—over their own station.

The Korean President had declared martial law, but—only as applied to Communist Fifth Columns. The civil police were still keeping order so far as the citizens were concerned. This little fact had been totally ignored by UNCURK, when it told Rhee to end martial law. They would have left no restraints on Fifth Columnists, who were trying to bribe and intimidate Korean legislators.

Do you think the Voice of America should oppose our staunch anti-Communist ally? Do you think they should support a devious Communist plan for the Assembly to elect a "neutralist" President who will declare peace over our heads? Do you think they should say, from an official Embassy address, that they set their policies on information—even broadcasting information in violation of U. S. policy—from the UN Declaration of Human Rights?

What goes on here? If the Communists—Russian, Chinese or North Korean—want to set up an unfriendly government in South Korea, to bring about a Soviet peace behind the backs of our fighting men, and the United States government's Voice of America supports them—who is going to protect our men against a political flank attack?

Is this another Koje affair in which the story will come out by inches and look a little blacker with every bit of information we get?

Loan Price Set At $2.28

The DeKalb County Production and Marketing Administration has been advised that the loan for 1952 wheat, grading No. 2, stored on the farm in DeKalb County, will be $2.28 per bushel. The wheat must be free from weevil and the moisture cannot exceed 14 percent. The service fee will be 1 cent per bushel or $3, whichever is the greater.

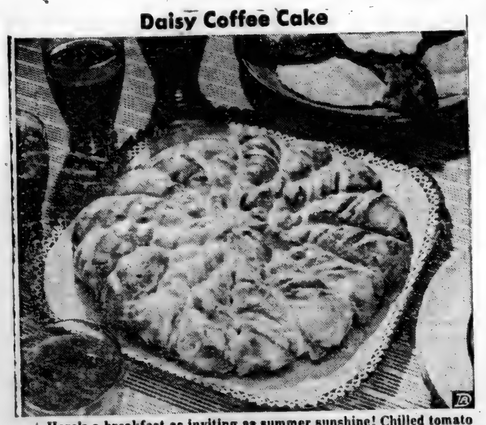
If the grower wishes to be guaranteed the price support, but does not need the money at this time, he may take out a Purchase Agreement. Then on April 30, 1953, he will offer his wheat to CCC. When delivery is completed, he will receive $2.28 per bushel for wheat grading No. 2. The service fee for this guarantee will be 1-2 cent per bushel or $1.50, whichever is the greater.

There seems to be some confusion and misunderstanding about the Pure Food and Drug Administration as it applies to shipments of wheat. The determination of the quality of the wheat delivered shall be in accordance with the official grain standards of the United States, as always.

As a further protection, wheat crop insurance is being offered. This protects the investment and covers the cost of production of the 1953 wheat crop.

Those interested should contact the county office before September 15, 1952.

Daisy Coffee Cake



Here's a breakfast as inviting as summer sunshine! Chilled tomato juice is the eye-opener, followed by a light and spicy Daisy Coffee Cake and fried eggs with crisp bacon.

Pretend your family is "company" for Sunday brunch and surprise them with a many-petalled Daisy Coffee Cake you've created yourself.

Make this yeast coffee cake fragrant with cinnamon, a day ahead of time and then warm it just before serving. It's made from a basic sweet dough which will help you brush up on your kneading technique. Though the coffee cake looks intricate, the shaping comes easy. After cinnamon sugar is layered in the dough, cut spokes from the circle of dough and twist each one, two or three times.

Daisy Coffee Cake makes a happy addition to the picnic hamper. Since it costs but a quarter to make, it's a thrifty way to satisfy out-of-door appetites. For many of your summer picnics, of course, you'll find it more convenient to drop by your baker for coffee cakes, sandwich bread and desserts.

Score enriched coffee cakes and breads high in your menu planning, not only for appetite appeal but for good nutrition as well. They provide protein, three B-vitamins and food iron for good health.

DAISY COFFEE CAKE

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup cinnamon sugar
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to square about ¼ inch thick. Brush one half with butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Fold over. Brush with butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar and fold over again. Roll out to circle about 12 inches in diameter. Place on greased baking sheet. With scissors or sharp knife cut to within 1 inch of center making about 16 pie-shaped pieces. Turn each piece over two or three times to make twists. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 20 minutes. When cool brush with confectioners' sugar icing, if desired. Makes 1 coffee cake.

Around the Town

With the Editor

I don't have much to talk about this week so I'll just throw in a few pretty cute jokes from the "Fifth Wheel," a trucking magazine. Some of the jokes in that publication are strictly for truckers, if you know what I mean. They're pretty good, but they're also a little risque—that's French for "you're taking a chance if you tell it!"

While out walking, Pastor Foust came upon a group of boys who were gathered around a small dog.

"What are you doing with the dog?" asked the kindly minister.

"Whoever tells the biggest lie gets the dog," replied Jerry Dilley.

"Oh, my, my," exclaimed the minister. "When I was a boy I never told a lie."

There was a moment of silence. "Here," chorused the Heyman twins, "you win the dog."

"What kind of oil do you use in your car?" Ben Krafft asked the traveling salesman.

"Oh, I usually start by telling them how lonely I am."

"Are you the girl who took my order?"

"Yes sir," replied the waitress.

"Well I'll be darned," Walter Morr returned, "You don't look a day older."

Remember—the louder you are today, the quieter you'll be tomorrow.

He mumbled a few words in church—he was married.

He mumbled a few words in his sleep—he was divorced.

"My father always proposed a toast before he disciplined me."

"That's funny. What was it?"

"Bottoms up!"

An American girl while visiting Paris met a charming French girl and their conversation turned to the ever interesting subject of love. "The Frenchman is very subtle in his love making," the little Parisian explained. "First he kisses your fingertips, then your shoulder, then your ear, then the back of your neck. . ." Her American companion interrupted: "Gosh, by that time an American is back from his honeymoon."

Rich man: "This dining room goes back to Louis the Fourteenth."

Poor man: "That's nothing. My whole living room set goes back to Amstutz's the fifteenth."

Record Message For GI's

Four St. Joe mothers recorded letters to their sons overseas Sunday at Fort Wayne radio station WGL. They were Mrs. Leonard Jarrett, Mrs. Leo Schendel, Mrs. Melvin Walters and Mrs. D. W. Yeiser.

The program is being sponsored by the radio station. The mothers are selected by the presidents of Legion Auxiliaries in cities and towns near Fort Wayne. Each mother is permitted to record a 125-word letter to her son. The letters will be re-broadcast August 17 at 1:15 p.m.

Social At Rehoboth Church Friday

Rehoboth Methodist Church W. S.C.S. is sponsoring an ice cream social on Friday, July 18, at 6 p.m. on the church grounds.

The menu will include home and factory made ice cream, pie, cake, baked beans, potato salad, sloppy joes, hot dogs, chicken sandwiches, coffee and pop.

Special music will be offered during the evening for the enjoyment of those who attend.

The public is invited.

Girls Win 4-H Honors

More than 100 4-H judges and leaders were in attendance at the DeKalb County 4-H Judging Contest held last Wednesday in the McIntosh High School at Auburn. There were 16 judges in food preparation, 42 in baking, one in home improvement, seven in food preservation and 22 in clothing. The first two placing senior members in the contest are eligible to represent the county at the district 4-H home economics judging and demonstration contest to be held at Wabash in the Honeywell Building on July 24. Senior judges are members who are 14 years of age during the current year. Juniors and seniors participated in this contest.

Local winners who ranked in the first four places in each project are as follows:

Mary Wilder, Spencer Twp., 2nd in Clothing (seniors).

Janice Mickelson, Newville Twp., 1st in Baking (seniors).

Mary Miller, Newville Twp., 2nd in Baking (seniors).

Mary Jane Baker of Newville Twp., 2nd in Baking (juniors).

Mary Beckman of Spencer Twp., 1st in Food Preparation (seniors).

Linda Davis of Concord Twp., 1st in Food Preparation (juniors).

Among the adult leaders who assisted with the contest were Mrs. Ruth Butler of Concord Twp., Mrs. Violet Baker of Newville Twp. and Mrs. Isabelle McClellan of Spencer Twp.

Pheasants Released In Area

One hundred and eighty pheasants, raised by the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club, Inc., are now being released in the St. Joe-Spencerville area.

The birds, raised in the club brooders on the Vernon Kline farm, are the finest the club has released in recent years and should help to replenish the parent stock now in the field.

4-H Trips For Outstanding Achievements

Starke & Wetzel of Indianapolis announced today that they will provide $2,500 to be prorated toward the expenses of a seven-day trip to Washington, D.C., for 16 girls and 16 boys who have outstanding 4-H club records.

The deserving group of 4-H'ers, winners in the new achievement contest, will leave for Washington September 7, immediately following the close of the Indiana State Fair. Before leaving they will be given a "send-off" dinner by Starke & Wetzel.

Each county may enter the record of one outstanding 4-H boy and one outstanding 4-H girl who has not been a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congres or the National 4-H Club Camp. Other specifications set up by the state 4-H Club Department at Purdue states that entries must be made on the form supplied by the State Office. All entries must be sent to the state 4-H Office on or before August 1, 1952. Any 4-H club member between 14 and 21 years of age is eligible to try for the achievement trip and should send the record of achievement as reported on the back page of their 4-H Record Book to the state office in Lafayette.

One boy and one girl from each of the nine county agent districts and 7 boys and girls as "winners at large" will be awarded a trip on the basis of their over-all 4-H achievement record, the state 4-H club office reported. It is not necessary, according to the state rules, that the winner have an exhibit at the 1952 Indiana State Fair.

Safe Recovered On River Bank

A safe, taken last June 4 in the $350 burglary of Don's Service Station in Garrett, was recovered along the banks of the St. Joe River, police reported Tuesday.

State police detective Russell Huffman and deputy sheriff George Milks said Charles Zimmerman of Harlan reported that a group of youngsters found the safe while he was fishing near a covered bridge spanning the river a mile south of St. Joe.

Zimmerman found papers in the safe indicating that it belonged to Don Heupel, who leases the station in Garrett. Heupel was notified and he in turn reported the discovery to Garrett police chief C. M. Minnich, the sheriff's department and state police.

The safe job has not been cleared although police have conducted an intensive investigation. Police said the burglars broke a window to gain entrance to the station. They carted away the safe, which was almost new and was valued at $80. An estimated $250 in cash was in the safe along with a watch and personal papers.

A part of the valuable personal papers was all that remained in the safe when it was found. The lock of the safe had been shattered by the burglars before it was abandoned. Chief Minnich said the thieves drove down a bank on the east side of the bridge and dumped the safe along the river bank.

FAIR EXHIBIT SHOWMANSHIP IMPORTANT

Boys and girls don party duds for special occasions and it's equally important for the dairy animal to look her best when she's on display at the county or state exhibit. That's the opinion of E. A. Gannon, Purdue University extension dairyman, when he advises 4-H'ers about fitting, handling and showing the club heifer.

Since many county shows will be held as early as the end of July, training of the calf should be well in progress. The calf should lead easily and respond promptly to commands and pressure on the halter. Many youngsters make the mistake of kicking the animal's feet into place. This is poor showmanship, may indicate lack of interest in training the calf and certainly fails to point up the calf's best features.

At this stage of the training calves should be pastured only at night and stabled and blanketed during the day. For the glow of health, a good ration is equal parts of corn, oats, bran and some 32 per cent linseed or soybean oil meal supplement. If the calf begins to get chubby on this diet, cut off the grain entirely. Some calves will be in excellent condition on pasture alone.

Gannon advises against clipping the heifer all over—just head, neck, tail and perhaps the abdomen to emphasize milk veins and udder.

Extension leaflet No. 343, "Junior Dairy Showmanship Contests," contains additional helpful information. It is available from county agricultural agents or from Purdue University.

To Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Keller, who reside four and a half miles southeast of Butler, will observe their golden wedding anniversary with an open house between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 20, at their home. All of the couple's friends are invited to join them on this occasion.

They will repeat their marriage vows at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Allen K. Trout, pastor of the St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Auburn, officiating. Both Mr. Keller, age 71, and Mrs. Keller, 68, are enjoying good health and Mr. Keller works daily as a maintenance man at the Messenger Corporation in Auburn.

Clinton Keller and Miss Clara Miser were united in marriage on July 16, 1902, at Corunna. The couple were married by the Rev. J. J. Minnemier at the parsonage in Corunna.

They resided in Garrett after their marriage and their only child, Mrs. J. A. McBride, now of Butler, was born in Garrett. Mr. Keller was a blacksmith with the B&O railroad in Garrett. The couple have lived all of their lives in DeKalb County with the exception of about 11 years when they resided in the west and south during the years 1908 to 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller lived about 14 years in Auburn on Second Street and left there in 1932. Then they took up residence near Butler where they continue to make their home.

The couple also has four grandchildren, 1st Lt. James A. McBride, Jr., who is serving as aide-de-camp with the 7th artillery in Germany; Eugene McBride, M-M1-c, now home at Butler from Korea; Richard McBride, MM3-c, in Korea and Mrs. Patricia Kneip of Davenport, Ia; and five great-grandchildren.

MORE TAX WOES

Indiana's share of the total cost of Federal government spending for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, as approved by the recently adjourned Congress, will be approximately $1,879,000,000, or nearly four times the cost of all Hoosier state and local government, the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce estimated this week.

Indiana's share to be paid during the year will amount to some $1,584,000,000--representing Indiana's portion of the total anticipated $88.3 billion of Federal revenues-- and the remainedr of $294,640,000 represents the state's share of the anticipated $12.7 billion Federal deficit for the year which must be paid off at some future time, the State Chamber said.

Authorized Federal spending for the current fiscal year estimated at a total of $81 billion is $4.8 billion less than originally contemplated in the administration's budget presented last January, the chamber pointed out. The reduction in spending represents a saving of $104,000,000 to Hoosier citizens, the chamber estimated.

Although stating that the reduction was "far less than economy advocates had hoped for," the State Chamber praised the Congress for reductions made and for refusal to approve a number of controversial new spending programs which would have boosted 1953 expenditures and resulted in the government paying out even larger sums in later years.

Among the proposed new spending programs not approved by Congress were Federal aid to education and the St. Lawrence seaway project.

The Washington office of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, with which the Indiana chamber is affiliated, computed the total Federal budget as made up of $57 billion for national defense and foreign aid and $24 billion for all other purposes.

Chinch Bugs Reported In County

Several farmers on DeKalb County's eastern section have reported infestation in corn fields of chinch bugs, county agent Ernest Lesiuk reported Saturday.

The bugs have moved from wheat and oats fields into a more succulent crop such as corn.

The county agent reports that his office has on hand dinitro cresote dust which can be used as a border around fields. The amount to use is 3-4 pound per rod. Farmers who are having chinch bug infestation should contact the county extension office in Auburn immediately and dust will be obtained for them.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Woodcox Wed Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodcox of St. Joe will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a family dinner at noon.

Open house for friends and relatives will be held from 2 until 5 p.m.

The couple has three children, Mrs. Maxine Harter of Butler, Homer of Kalamazoo, Mich., and DeVere of Bluefield, W. Va. They also have one grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodcox were married July 19, 1902.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

GOVERNMENT PAYROLL INCREASING—Within the last two years government payrolls have increased 50 percent, a study of official figures reveals. In contrast, private payrolls have gone up only 26 percent.

On the basis of these figures, the startling fact was discovered that government workers are getting $1 out of every $6 now paid in wages and salaries.

This study shows that wages and salaries total about $186,000,000 a year, with Federal, State and local governments paying $32,000,000, or more than 17 percent of the total.

FOUR BILLION SAVINGS—As a result of the work of the Hoover Commission, American taxpayers eventually will see government economies effected amounting to four billion dollars a year.

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report was formed in 1949 to crusade for sweeping reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government. First legislation to achieve the reorganization of the Executive Branch was accomplished by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. When the Committee terminated its nation-wide operations recently, it estimated that approximately 70 percent of the Commission's recommendations have been accepted by the Congress and the Executive Branch of the Government.

Some 300, State, County and Local Citizens Committees from coast to coast also suspended operations in accordance with their previously announced determination to avoid involvement in the approaching political campaign.

Robert L. McCormick, Research Director of the National Citizens Committee, declared, "With the closing of the 82nd Congress, a total of 70 percent of the 300-odd recommendations of the Hoover Commission will have become the law of the land. This 70 percent will make possible $4 billion in eventual economies. Of this amount, preliminary surveys show that identifiable economies of $1,344,600,000 are now being realized. To the 40 million families in the nation, this amounts to approximately $30 each.

"The heaviest savings, approximately $800 million per annum, have been achieved in the National Military Establishment. The substantial cuts in the military budget made in the closing days of the Congressional Session would have been impossible without the Hoover Commission's recommendations."

AGRICULTURAL PLANNING—A House Agriculture Subcommittee has recommended that the Sercetary of Agriculture get better sources of information than "professional wrestlers, haberdashers and automobile agency bookkeepers." The subcommittee made these recommendations in a report charging a costly fumble to the Agriculture Department and said that an overestimate of the 1951 cotton crop by the agency resulted in a serious break in cotton prices and a consequent loss of millions of dollars to farmers.

The Committee said the overestimate was attributed, first, to an error in estimating the acreage in cultivation on July 1, and, secondly, the failure to reflect properly and promptly the bad weather during July and August. The report said that the Agriculture Department crop reporting methods haven't changed for many years and "it is still possible and probable that there will be serious errors in its calculations in any abnormal or unusual years," and added, "the Committee was not satisfied with the present method or the results it produces."

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The July meeting of the Spencer Twp. Home Demonstration Club was held at the home of Mrs. Bernice Wilder on July 9. Dorothy Kimes and Winifred Hart were her assistants.

The club had as their guests the Smithfield Twp. club. The visiting club had sixteen members present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Kimes. A get-acquainted game was played. One of the guests won the prize.

All members joined in singing the song of the month, "Battle Cry of Freedom," led by Mrs. Wilder.

A short business meeting was held. The secretry's report was read and approved. Roll call was answered by sixteen guests, fourteen members and three children giving, "A Play Suggestion For Children."

A demonstration on "Ironing and Pressing Magic" was given by Mary Wilder. She gave many useful points on ironing and pressing. Mrs. Frick spoke to the club and extended thanks on behalf of the guests for their invitation.

Games were played and the guests walked off with the prizes.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Miriam Mamilton. Many of the club members were on the sick list. It is hoped that they will be able to attend club meetings soon.

Refreshments were served to the club. All members and guests departed thanking the hostess for an enjoyable time.

The next meeting will be held on August 13. It will be family night.

The meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. with a pot luck.

Special Rates, Safety Warning From B&O

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has put into effect greatly reduced round-trip coach fares for small groups of three or more persons and for family groups.

The new fares offer reductions of 25 percent to three or more adults traveling together. Thus, four adults will be able to travel for the price of three regular round-thrip coach fares.

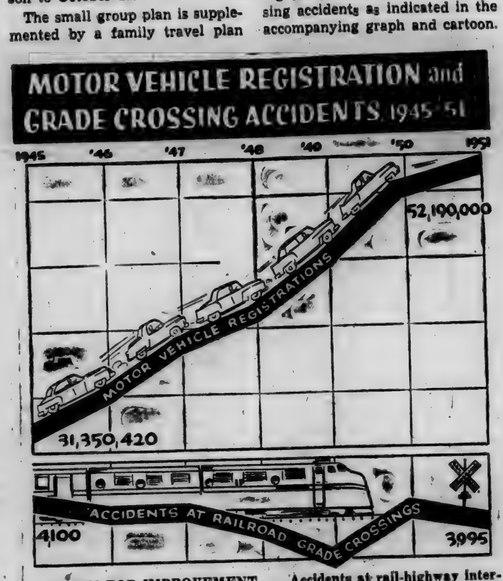
The new bargain fares are being made effective by the B&O and other Eastern railroads during a trial period that will extend through the summer vacation season to October 22.

The small group plan is supplemented by a family travel plan which permits children under 12 to ride free and children 12 and under sixteen to ride at half fare when accompanied by one or both of their parents. This plan also offers substantial reductions, because ordinarily children over 5 must pay half fare and children over twelve must pay full fare.

Both plans apply only to round-trip coach tickets between points that are more than 100 miles apart, with certain exceptions. They will not apply between Washington and New York or between intermediate points on this route.

Party tickets for groups of three or more will be good for thirty days and the family fare tickets will be good for three months.

The B&O also has released statistics and information concerning the problem of railroad crossing accidents as indicated in the accompanying graph and cartoon.



ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT . . . Accidents at rail-highway intersections remain at a relatively constant level, despite enormous post-war increases in motor vehicle registration and mileage. Although this is the one bright spot in the nation's rising highway accident toll, railroads and safety groups are intensifying their programs of driver education. They believe that proper looking-and-listening caution at grade crossings can greatly curtail such accidents.

A FRIENDLY REMINDER . . . This is the cover of a leaflet careless drivers receive from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad if they are observed disregarding safe driving habits at grade crossings. The leaflet lists the license number of the vehicle and the time and place where the carelessness was observed. Tips on safety are included: approach crossings prepared to stop; stop on warning of an approaching train; stop at every crossing having a stop sign; when one train has passed, watch out for another; proceed only when it is safe to do so.

Interrupted Conversations

Crabill-Kees

In a simple wedding service Saturday, July 5, at 4:30 p.m. in the Church of Christ at Garrett, Miss Bonnie Carol Kees, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kees of Garrett and Pvt. Alva Crabill, son of Mrs. Alva Crabill, Sr. of Auburn were united in marriage by the Rev. Felix Walker, pastor of the church. The double ring ceremony was performed.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Evelyn Diederich of east of Garrett and Munson Baughman of Auburn. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Willard Kees.

The new Mrs. Crabill wore a gown of white net over white silk taffeta trimmed in embroidered net. The yoke and sleves were of white nylon. Her veil was gathered into a cap and was fingertip length. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Miss Diederich wore a gown of printed nylon net trimmed with rhinestones. She wore a white hat and a corsage of red roses.

The groom wore army sun tans and the best man a business suit.

At 7 p.m. the immediate family and the wedding party were served a wedding supper at the home of Willard Kees.

The bride is a 1952 graduate of Garrett High School and the groom graduated from Concord Twp. High School in 1950.

The couple left July 6 for Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where the groom is stationed.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Herold Hanson

ANIMAL DETECTIVE - Poultry was disappearing from the chicken house on the Walter Byard farm northwest of Greensburg. Investigating the neighborhood, he found a fox den across the road from his farm. So he set steel traps at various trail points leading to the den. The first night he bagged four foxes and three ground hogs.

DE-TRUNKED - The Lawrenceburg Register reported that an unnamed man was being towed slowly in the Ohio river behind the motor boat of his outing party. Looking for fun, the boat pilot opened 'er up. He figured the result correctly for the swimmer's trunks were pulled off. Then the problem was to get him back on board.

TWINS ON HOOF - Near Denver, Ind., Lyman Murphy is caring for the sixth set of twins in five years. They're calves, and incidentally are the second set from the same cow.

WRONG TOP - In Greentown hot weather sent Clair McKay through a drawer hunting for a cool sports shirt. Mm-mm, haven't worn this one in a long time, he thought as he slipped on a flimsy thing and headed for the front door. His wife's yelp stopped him. He was wearing her short nightie.

ANY LEFT OVER? - A sidelight developed in the saga of Jesse L. Garrett, the West Virginia man who advertised in the Rockport Democrat for a wife. After Garrett left Rockport to continue his mate search, the Democrat reported it had several letters and one telephone call from other men who wanted to know if they could find a wife from Garrett's long, long list of "applicants." But the newspaper dropped all such inquiries, saying it was not in the lonely-hearts business. And Garrett wasn't revealing his mailing list.

ALL GIVE, NO TAKE - When 45 per cent of all the personnel in a given industry contributes in a Red Cross blood donor campaign, with many industries taking it was good enough to win in Evansville's city-wide blood campaign, with man industries taking part. The Evansville trucking industry was the winner, not in volume but in the per centage of employees giving blood. It meant that almost half of all employees in the organized trucking industry in Evansville gave a pint of blood.

FAINT AND COLLECT - A few weeks ago a man fainted dead away in front of a Royal Center store. A card directed anyone finding him under such conditions to feed him liquid sugar or orange juice. That was done and he revived. Later the Kewanna Observer told of a similar fainting routine in Kewanna, Fulton, Argos and Logansport. Each time the man told a tale of woe—no food, no job. The Observer said he collected about $10 and one meal in donations of sympathy in Kewanna, then left, apparently for the softest sidewalk in a nearby town. Looks like a case of fainting for a living.

PENS AND NEEDLES - Chet Voris, Gas City, is a patient in a Ft. Wayne sanitorium. Kenny Graves, his former employer, decided to send him a robe with names of his friends embroidered on it. The job finally reached a limit and women on the project had to stop at the 123d name.

GETS NO-HITTER - They start 'em young in Indiana. Seaborn Hillis, pitcher for the French Lick American Legion Junior team, faced only 21 men in the seven innings against Scottsburg. He retired the first 19 in order, walked the 20th but go him and the 21st when the latter hit into a double play. Hillis struck out 13. Only one ball was hit to the outfield. Oh yes, French Lick won, 35 to 0.

Hero, Artist, Saint

Lesson for July 20, 1952

THE GREAT TRAGEDY of life is that man has three incompatible ideals. So says a famous thinker of our time. These three are the hero, the artist, the saint. The hero's virtue is strength; the artist's is beauty, and the Saint's is holiness. A hero, in the course of his heroic acts, does things which would stain the honor of a saint and which are too ugly for a sensitive artist even to think about. Saints on the other hand are often most unheroic; they "wax valiant" in submission, not in fight; and they often care very little for beauty. Artists likewise may be personal cowards and live anything but saintly lives. Yet society needs all three, though the values one cherishes may be just the opposite of what the other prizes. Very rarely, the same man may show traces of artist, saint and hero.

Hero Gideon

THE WORD "judge" in the Book of Judges usually means what we would call a hero, a military man with a successful record. Then, as now, if a man made good in the army he was after thought of as an army man. His title and his rank stuck to him his life long.

We think of General Grant as an army man, and of Lee as another; though one was President of the United States and the other one a distinguished college president.

So Gideon comes down in history as one of the "Judges" who delivered Israel from a powerful enemy. This time the enemy was the Midianites, a roaring nuisance if ever there was one. Midianites were nomads, they lived where they pleased, and they lived off the peaceful farmers wherever they were.

There were so many that their army looked like a swarm of locusts. They were seen only once a year, but that was enough. They would wait out in the wilderness until the crops were ready for harvest; then they would dash into the country, raid every farm from border to border, and skip out again, leaving the Israelites on the edge of starvation for another year.

How Gideon, a small farmer and a timid soul by nature, became the hero who nearly exterminated the Midianites and set his people free, is one of the most fascinating tales in the Old Testament. The people loved him and remembered him for that one thing above all: he could fight!

Gideon the Artist

THERE ARE MORE WAYS than one to be artistic. General Gideon painted no pictures, carved no statues, wrote no poems. But he was an artist all the same. There is something artistic about any good workmanship, and it is as true of military campaigns as of everything else.

Incidentally, generals have a temptation to overlook this. At the Battle of Fredericksburg in the American Civil War, when the northern army was marching into the grinding trap which Lee and his generals had prepared, Lee remarked that it's a good thing war is so terrible, otherwise we should become too fond of it. He was speaking from the general's viewpoint, of course. The private is seldom in danger of being too fond of war.

At all events Gideon's campaigns were just as "beautiful" in all details as anything Napoleon, Lee, Hitler or Hannibal ever invented.

Can a hero be an artist? In his way, yes; like any other craftsman, he can do a necessary, rough and dirty piece of work in a way that calls out the exclamation: Beautiful!

Saint Gideon

CAN A SOLDIER be a saint? If you mean by "saint" the ideal of what a Christian should be, most would say No. General Lee said at the end of his life that if he had it to live over again he would not be a soldier.

And still, the writer of the letter to the Hebrews in the New Testament does not hesitate to list Gideon, and even that half-hero Barak, right along with the rest in his list of high saints, the men and women of Faith.

For fundamentally it is faith that makes the saint. And Gideon was a man of sturdy faith. To paraphrase Tennyson, his strength was as the strength of ten, because his faith was pure. So there have been countless men whose profession is arms who have also been men of faith.

HINTS ON HEALTH

SWEATING

TO transpire, perspire, sweat—they all mean the same. There is no human life without sweat, the product of a normal function in physical life.

Sweat is taken from the blood by the sweat glands and poured onto the surface of the body through the pores.

The sweat glands lie in deep layers of the skin, are in the form of tiny coiled tubes, one end of which runs to the surface of the skin and opens there as a skin pore. Normally, the sweat glands are active on all parts of the body surface at all times.

If the perspiration is absorbed by the clothing or evaporates as soon as it reaches the body surface, a person usually is not conscious of sweating. Normal sweat tends to keep the skin moist, soft and pliable.

Sweating is aided in its performance by sebum, a natural oil produced by the sebaceous glands of the skin and constantly secreted on the body surface.

Excessive sweating is called hyperhidrosis and it may be extremely annoying, although not serious. In persons of a highly nervous type, excessive sweating is common. It may be concerned with the state of mind and often is based on fear. Some persons have excessive sweating of the palms when meeting strangers.

The cooling of the body by evaporation from the skin is in proportion to the activity of its two million sweat glands. When the temperature of the atmosphere increases, the amount of perspiration increases.

Emotions often give rise to what is called "cold sweat."

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

LAST Tuesday the Senate voted on the German peace treaties. The vote was 77 to 6. I voted against the agreement as I voted against every treaty and foreign agreement which has come up in the Senate except Greek-Turkish aid.

When I first went to the Senate, and came home to Bedford to see my father, he used to say, "How are things?" and I would tell him. Then he would say, father-like, "Bill, you just can't disagree with 75 members of the United States Senate. You aren't that smart."

Then I would explain to my father how the State Department made its treaties in two parts, with lovely sounding words on the outside, honeyed phrases about peace and security, but hidden under the soft words there was always a hook. The hook fastened the American people to an elaborate world system of government which was run by people we could not see, for purposes which we could only guess.

The treaties, I said, were always rushed through the Senate. Most of the time public hearings would be given over to a cloud of witnesses from the State Department, and to the Generals and Admirals who were brought in, to repeat what the State Department told them to say. The public, that is, the opposition party, the great public associations like the Bar Association, and distinguished individuals, would all be hurried through their paces at the end, without any stenographers and writers and publicity men to help them.

I told my father also how the State Department build up its little group of "me-too" Republicans by putting up sitting-duck candidates on the Democratic side for them to knock over.

I told him how the State Department cultivated its pet newspapermen and columnists, how it wined and dined them, how it gave them the breaks on news, how it held what they called "briefing sessions" to hypnotize the doubters. I explained how newspapermen who opposed the State Department were called to some insignificant meeting far down the hall, just before a big news-break came. Thus, all the obedient little newsmen would get the breaks, and the honest, truth-telling reporter would miss the news and get a raking over the coals from his own head office.

Then my father would shake his head sadly and say, "I guess you must be right, Bill. I'm with you."

Perhaps the people of my state wonder if there is not some good in some of these treaties. I wish I could find it. But this treaty, like the others, was made by the men of Yalta, the men who engineered the sell-out of Poland, Hungary, Roumania and Bulgaria, the partition of Germany, the loss of China, and the Korean war. I will not vote for anything engineered by the men of Yalta, who moved the Iron Curtain hundreds of miles closer to us in Europe and thousands of miles closer in Asia.

This treaty was concocted in secrecy, by three architects of our Asia policy, Mr. Acheson, Mr. Jessup and John P. Davies, and rushed through the Senate without proper hearing or debate.

Finally, I do not believe Congress has the moral right to draft American youth for war in Asia and possibly Europe, and leave their fate to the men who have betrayed the past.

The administration always says "hurry—hurry—hurry." But I do not think the Senate should hurry to sign away American rights for 50 years. I think we should take our time and look very carefully before we sign any more treaties, make any more promises, or give up any more of American sovereignty, under the guidance of the men who engineered our tragic failures of the last seven years.

How your power company's 2-way radio helps out in emergencies

Some of the most thrilling human drama that's enacted comes through radio stations you've probably never heard or even heard of.

They're the 92 radio stations of this company and its AGE affiliates and the 999 transmitter-receiver units in company cars and trucks.

Chief job of our 2-way-radio-equipped service cars is to protect your electric service. In routine maintenance and in answering trouble calls they save lots of time and money for us and for you. And not infrequently they've gone beyond the call of duty and helped save something more... property, for instance, or even life.

That's where the drama comes in. Drama like the incidents shown here in a few real-life episodes from AGE company files.

Drama is one name for it. Our radio-car service men have another that we like better: being a good neighbor.

Whatsis about Fred Stemen setting fire to a telephone pole in Woodburn??

The way I get it, the fire department was called out at Woodburn to extinguish a little trash fire which had spread to a telephone or light pole. When the firemen were about finished, one of them remarked that it probably "was started by some kid. Does anyone know who did start it?"

Mrs. Stemen's boy, Fred, had to admit that he had started it.

—Life's embarrasing moments.

It's a good thing we've had hot weather so there is an excuse, maybe, for actions.

As I drove past his place at the north west edge of town, just across the B&O tracks, recently, I saw him standing at the edge of the road with a casting rod in his hand. After passing I looked in the rear view mirror and saw him walk to the middle of the road—and start casting!

—Yessir, there's some big ones in that blacktop.

If there's anything refreshing, it's a drive through the country after one of those good rains such as we had Tuesday evening. The air is "fresh as a daisy" and the colors of the countryside really come forth in all their glory.

Now that we've had the ball diamond going this season, it's apparent how much enjoyment is derived by many folks from the games. It's also very apparent how much the diamond means to the town when there are rained out games or an open date. Some of the youngsters, and quite a few of the oldsters, too, just drift around town on those occasions in a sort of "lost" atmosphere.

If you're wondering why the Coburntown items are set bold this week, it's because I didn't see that they were being set in that manner until they were all set. I was in a hurry and let 'em go that way.

News To Award Sportsmanship Trophies

In cooperation with the sponsors of the little and pony league teams from St. Joe, the St. Joe News will award sportsmanship trophies to two boys, one from each team, it was announced this week.

In preference to two awards, for sportmanship and for the most valuable player, it was decided to award trophies strictly on the basis of sportmanship to give each member of both teams an equal chance of being named the recipient of the awards.

Qualities to be considered in choosing the winners will include mental attitude, conduct on and off the playiing field, playing ability and whatever other attributes are necessary to make a good all-around athlete and good sport.

A trophy will be awarded to a member of Sechler's Little League team and Holsom Dairy's Pony League entry. A date will be announced later at which time the boys will be presented with their trophies.

Band Concert Next Week In St. Joe

A special band concert will be presented next Wednesday evening, July 30, preceding the showing of the movies in St. Joe.

The St. Joe-Spencerville High School band will present a concert on that night under the direction of Carl Zimmerman. The concert is being made possible through donations solicited by the Band Boosters Club from the community.

A rehearsal has been called for Monday evening, July 28, at 7 p.m. at the St. Joe gym. Band members are urged to attend.

The program Wednesday evening will start at 7 p.m.

Barn Destroyed By Fire

Volunteer firemen from St. Joe and Spencerville and the Auburn city firemen were called to the James Ferguson farm five miles south of Auburn on the Cemetery Road Tuesday evening to fight a barn fire started when a bolt of lightning struck. Flames leveled the structure in an hour in spite of the efforts of the three departments.

Mr. Ferguson, who resides on the farm with his daughter, Alice, and son, Chalmer, was in the shed, attached to the barn, milking at the time the bolt struck. Chalmer was in the barn caring for the livestock while the daughter was in the house approximately 80 feet away

They said the barn roof was enveloped in flames a few seconds after the bolt struck. The barn was equipped with lightning rods but the rods were unable to ground the direct charge.

The elder Ferguson and his son succeeded in removing the cows and horses from the barn before the building collapsed. Neighbors and firemen assisted in removing some of the implements stored in the barn. The family car was pushed from its parking space in the shed.

Both mows in the barn were filled with hay and it went up in flames along with grain, tools, a plow, wogon and rack, and other valuable implements and equipment.

Loss of the barn and contents was estimated at more than $5,000.

Lightning was also responsible for killing livestock in the county, damaging an electric stove, radio and water pumps.

FOURTEEN STUDENTS FROM COUNTY AT IU

Fourteen students from DeKalb County are enrolled in classes or registered for credit conferences scheduled on the Bloomington campus of Indiana University this summer.

Approximately 4,500 persons are enrolled for summer session courses while special conferences by the end of summer will have brought 12,000 visitors to the campus, many of them from foreign countries.

Students from DeKalb County are:

St. Joe—Virginia Ulm.

Hamilton—Allen W. Dirrim.

Corunna—Ralph E. Manrow.

Butler—Victor L. Maxey, Emily A. Welrich.

Garrett—Maurine A. Fitch, Richard J. Hollis, Grayson C. Tuck.

Strong-Alwood

Miss Faye Alwood, a Butler resident, became the bride of Grant F. Strong of St. Joe at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, June 28, in the Church of Christ in Butler.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Alwood of Butler and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. LuReign Strong of St. Joe.

Charles Willard of Payne, O., read the double ring ceremony before an altar greced with candelabra, palms and vases of gladioli. Mrs. Keith Ulm of Butler presented a piano musicale preceding the ceremony which consisted of "Indian Love Call," "Beautiful Ohio," "Thine Alone" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James Alwood, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Frederick Strock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Harry Strong, a brother of the groom, was best man.

The guests were seated by Raymond Mutzfeld and Arvill Brown, brothers in law of the bridegroom, and Lavon Brunson.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. Those serving were Mrs. Winifred Keep, Mrs. Cecil Braid and Mrs. Ora Price.

Seek Teen-Agers In Thefts

State police and the sheriff's department reported Monday that a teen-age burglary ring has been smashed with the confession of a 17-year-old Auburn Junction youth, but three other members of the gang, all Auburn teenagers, fled before they could be picked up for questioning.

The three missing boys, two 17 and the other 16, left early Sunday afternoon, apparently after learning that police had questioned the Auburn Junction youth.

A nation-wide pickup on the teen-agers, traveling in a 1939 Chevrolet, was broadcast by state police.

Authorities said the confession of the youth cleared at least 13 burglaries in DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Cedar Creek Festival Next Month

Residents of Cedar Creek Twp. will unite again this year to stage the Annual Fall Festival August 22 and 23 at Leo. The event will open on Friday afternoon with the agriculture and home equipment display. Merchants who want spaces to show their products are urged to contact Mr. William Witmer or Mr. Virgil Amstutz.

An evening program of free acts and varied entertainment will be interspersed with awarding of attendance prizes. Mr. Argyl Vanzile and Mr. Orange W. Maxfield are chairmen of the awards.

Mr. Albert Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. William Warner and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ivins are in charge of the food tent. Various organizations of the Leo, Grabill, Cedarville community will furnish food and man the serving counters throughout the evening and all day Saturday.

Registration for attendance and drawing prizes will be done by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Conrad. Awards furnished by merchants of the district will be given every hour on the hour.

Mr. Ivins and Mr. Joseph Juday are cochairmen of entertainment. Barber shop singing, instrumental numbers and free acts will be featured on the program for Friday evening, Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening.

Mr. Merle Neuhouser, Mr. Abner Gerig and Mr. John Walker are parade marshalls for the big Saturday morning parade that will form at the American Legion Post at 10 a.m. Floats, bands and marching units are invited to compete for the prizes.

Games and contests for young and old will be provided by Mr. Stanley Garman. Mr. Glen Willits and Mr. Henry Lantz. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wehlig and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Steiner are in charge of the many concessions.

A sensational parachute jump will take place at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 23.

Safety and fire prevention marshall of the Lions Field site of the festival is Mr. Villas Shertz.

Lighting and amplifying chairmen are Mr. Walter Kryder and Mr. Alvan Tharp. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kryder are in charge of publicity.

All proceeds of the affair will be used to complete the retirement of the debt of the lighted softball field at the township school at Leo where all children from the three communities attend.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL AT NEWVILLE FRIDAY

The Newville E.U.B. Church will have its ice cream social Friday, July 25, at 6 p.m.

The menu includes homemade ice cream made with pasteurized milk, chicken and hot dog sandwiches, pie, cake, coffee and cold drinks.

Nab Two Involved In Burglaries

Police are continuing the search for the third of a trio of men implicated in a series of robberies in the tri-state area.

Earl Graves, 23, of Garrett, was arrested last week in Ft. Wayne after breaking into the Boston Furniture Company. He implicated two other men, Roger Eamick, 25, and Richard Wogoman, 22, also of Garrett, in the series of crimes which included a $5,000 burglary of the Sears, Roebuck store in Kendallville.

Eamick was arrested in Oklahoma City, Okla., late Friday night as he attempted to elude law enforcement officers. He was speeding westward in a 1950 Oldsmobile he had stolen Thursday night when he fled from the Boston Furniture store after Graves was captured. With him was an unidentified hitchhiker.

Oklahoma police said Eamick's car contained rifles, shotguns, two outboard motors and four new tires, some of the loot from the series of burglaries the trio committed.

A trail was left by the fleeing fugitive as he headed for the west coast. Much of the loot from the burglaries was found strewn along the highway.

Included in the recovered goods were a key-making machine, an electric sewing machine, two portable radios, a ventilating fan, an eletric hot plate, a set of stainless steel knives and forks, two automobile radios, knives, an electric fan, typewriter, acetylene tank, oxygen tank, flashlight and a suit of men's clothing.

Wogoman is still at large and the search for him has widened.

Graves is being held on burglary charges and acording to authorities will be prosecuted in Whitley County. DeKalb, Noble and Allen county police said they also will file charges against the trio. Eamick, in addition to the burglary charges, could face charges of violating the Dyer act (driving a stolen automobile across a state line), transportation of stolen goods across a state line and flight to escape prosecution.

Wogoman may also face federal charges when he is captured. Burglary charges against him will be filed.

Call For Local Observation Volunteers

A call has been issued for volunteers for the air-alert now in progress across the nation for the local watch station.

Vernie Collins, chief observer for this territory, has announced that about 80 volunteers are needed immediately to relieve the shortage of observers.

The local observation post covers a four-mile radius about the B&O tower west of St. Joe. With a full force of 100 volunteers, the time required of each would be only 2 hours per week. The nation is currently on a 24-hour watch and the lack of observers is making it difficult to maintain a continuous watch.

Anyone wishing to volunteer is asked to contact Mr. Collins for assignment.

Firemen are not asked to volunteer as they have their own assignments in case of air attack.

Newville E.U.B. Reunion August 3

The annual homecoming of the Newville Church of Christ will be held Sunday, August 3.

The occasion will be observed with morning and afternoon services. Guest speaker will be Russell Martin of Miami, Oklahoma. The song service will be in charge of the evangelists, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Thomas.

A basket dinner will be served at noon.

An invitation is extended to the community to come and meet neighbors and friends and make new ones.

Spencer Twp. Girls Win 4-H Clothing Awards

An estimated 125 DeKalb Co. 4-H club clothing members participated in the county 4-H club dress revue held Monday in the assembly room of the court house in Auburn.

Judging throughout the day was conducted by Mrs. Elsie Shifferly, assistant home demonstration agent from Allen County.

Following the judging the public dress revue was held starting at 3 p.m.

All garments were placed in A, B and C ribbon groups. The senior grand champion was Avis Armstrong of Stafford Township. She will represent DeKalb County in the state 4-H dress revue to be held at the state fair on August 30.

Among those who placed in the top ranks were five Spencer Twp. entries. They were as follows:

Joy McNabb, 1st in Div. 1.
Marie Woodring, 2nd in Div. 1.
Nancy Brown, 3rd in Dv. 1.
Lois Kimes, 1st in Div. 4.
Mary Wilder, 2nd in Div. 4.

Directing the dress revue serving as general chairman was Mrs. Isabelle McClellan of Spencer Township. Assisting her were leaders from several other township clubs.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

TYPES WITH TEETH - Miss Audrey Miller, Tippecanoe, is in the cast of a motion picture, "Undefeated," being shown in Indiana, revealing how the physically handicapped can overcome their deficiencies. Miss Miller, a correspondent for three central Indiana newspapers, uses a typewriter but only by typing with her teeth. The film in which she is shown was made for the Christian League for the Handicapped.

HALLOWE'EN HABITS - On hot nights it's gotten to be the thing to do among the younger set in Gas City to sleep out in the yard in tents or on cots, or maybe just on blankets. Almost anyone remembers wanting to sleep out doors at some time in his childhood. Trouble was, in Gas City, it became too much of a lark. Neighborhood kids would gather and then the old-fashioned hallowe'en habits started, with some pranks and vandalism reported. Then the police moved in and announced strict enforcement of the curfew. So the sleeping started on schedule.

BROKE CHAIN - Both Byron Rodgers and Allan Dreyer, of Greenwood, received "good luck" chain letters. If the letter were discarded, and not sent on to a friend, it meant the chain was broken and therefore bad luck, the letter said. But both men threw away their letters. Within 24 hours Rodgers' pet parakeet got out of his home and flew away forever, and a tree fell on Dreyer's house during a storm.

GUZZLING MULE - Ace Bolcourt, Greensburg, owns a trained mule, "Black Jack," who performs best after swigging down a bottle of Coca-Cola.

FRANK'S FRANK - In Mishawaka, Frank Littlefield, a mail carrier, fell off a porch and sprained an ankle as he was making his rounds. He explained he was reading a postcard at the time and didn't see the steps.

HELPING HAND - No names were obtained but several saw it. Quoting from the Martinsville Democrat: "Recently in Martinsville a 4-year-old girl was standing on the curb trying to cross Main street at the Post Office. She would look up and down the street, step off the curb, see a car coming and jump back. Finally a semi-trailer truck was approaching from the south, a large line of cars following. The driver stopped, got out of the cab, went over, took the child by the hand, led her across the street. As he was getting into his cab again, he remarked to some men standing nearby: "I have a little girl at home!"

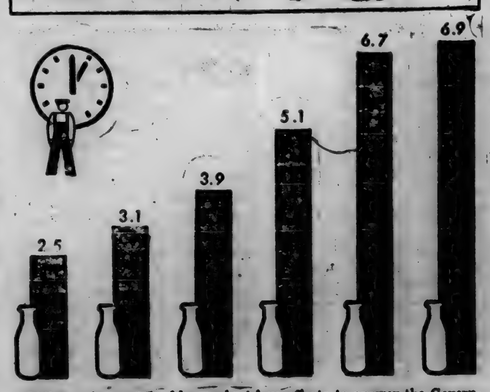
INDIANA MUSKIE - They're rare in Indiana, but Ben Flock, Corydon, caught a muskellunge in Blue river near Corydon. It weighed 3¾ pounds and was 22½ inches long. No one at first knew what it was, though it later was identified. The miracle was that the fish broke Flock's line but, standing on the bank, he somehow was able to grab it before the fish could escape.

APTLY NAMED - James J. Acres is the newly assigned Soil Conservation Service agent in the Harrison County District. He says he also is sometimes called "Mr. 160 Square Rods."

HARD TO BELIEVE - The calendar said July, but it still was an overheated furnace which set fire to the Orville Fross home in Monticello. Fross had started a fire in the furnace during a cool spell and it got out of hand.

DOGS SAVE MAN - Barking dogs in the middle of the night are usually a nuisance. But they probably saved the life of James Adams, of Norman (Jackson county). He was awakened by the barking and discovered his bed soaked with blood. A leg blood vessel had burst during the night and his doctor said he undoubtedly would have bled to death had he not awakened.

Milk Remains Low Cost Food



Milk as a low cost food has maintained its record despite the fact that wages, operating expenses and raw product costs have been at high levels, according to Fred H. Suhre, of Columbus, Ind., a member of the executive committee of the American Dairy Association.

Milk, including dairy products, is the most widely used food in the country, comprising more than 20 per cent of the foods purchased annually by the average American.

"A quart of milk is more than two pounds of food," said Mr. Suhre, "and milk is a bargain because there is no waste, every drop can be used. A much larger food budget would be needed in the average home if the vitamins, minerals and calories supplied by milk had to be secured from other sources.

"The United States is the leading dairy nation in the world and dairy farmers are making tremendous efforts to answer the Government's call for more milk production. Milk is considered the nation's Number 1 food."

That milk is a low cost food is indicated by a U. S. Department of Agriculture study which shows that an hour of factory labor today will buy almost three times as much milk as the same hour bought in 1914 and almost twice as much as it bought in 1929. A worker could buy almost seven quarts of milk for one hour's wages in 1951.

In order to keep milk in the top bracket as a low-cost food the industry through the American Dairy Association is making concerted efforts to increase sales through promotion financed by dairy farmers. The dairy farmer is also making new efforts at soil conditioning, better feeds and improvement of his output. New methods of production and distribution help to make milk and its products the best food buys.

William Foltz Passes Away

William Emerson Foltz of Spencerville, age 74, a native of Jackson Township, DeKalb County, died in the Community Hospital at Hicksville at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday of last week of a complication of diseases.

Mr. Foltz had been a patient in the hospital for about four weeks. Before that time he had been active in his general farm machinery repair shop at Spencerville. He was a Jackson Township farmer until 16 years ago when he moved to Spencerville and opened his shop.

He was born on August 28, 1877, the son of the late Samuel and Hannah McCartney Foltz. In the year 1903 he was united in marriage to Miss Martha Zehender.

The body was removed to the Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville for burial preparations and remained at the residence until funeral services Friday. Services were conducted in the Spencerville Methodist Church with the Rev. E. J. Gilford officiating. Burial was in the Leo Cemetery.

Surviving are the wife; a son, Raymond Foltz, of Spencerville; a brother, Theron Foltz, of Richmond; a grandchild, Mrs. Phyllis Custer, of Garrett; and a great-grandchild. One son, Walter Foltz, was killed in an airplane crash while he was in the military service.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

CHILDREN'S EYES

PROTECT those precious eyes of children! So many eyes are blinded or seriously injured during play that children's hospitals throughout the country are urging parents to cooperate in reducing this tragic loss.

Chief causes of eye injuries in children are B-B guns, bows and arrows, slingshots, scissors, rocks thrown by another child, sharp sticks, stiff wires and coathangers. Accidental eye injuries occur in children mainly between ages of two and nine. Hazards around the home should be eliminated as far as possible.

Safety depends in a large degree on behavior, and the child's behavior is influenced by his parents'. The child, unaccustomed to paying attention to his mother's instructions, suffers not only from physical injuries, but also from failure in developing self-control.

While children in school come under the discipline of their teachers, the basic solutiton of the safety problem depends upon the parents.

Most eye injuries in children are sustained during play which in too many instances is not supervised by their elders.

The loss of an eye in a child is a lifetime handicap, and while a child with only one eye may become as capable as a child with both eyes, there is a psychological effect with loss of perception and perspective.

With the children out of school and full of play during the summer months, parents should exercise more supervision over their children's play and remember, sharp objects are poor playthings for little children.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

Concord Twp. Home Economics Club met at the home of Nancy Coburn. The meeting opened with the song, "Oh Dem Golden Slippers," followed by the club creed and home ec song. Devotions were Bible verses and reciting of the Lord's Prayer.

Roll call responses were "jokes" to which 21 members answered. Reports from club project leaders followed. Arrangements for the August 15 meeting at which time the club will entertain Keyser Township were made. The meeting will be held in the afternoon in the school house gym.

The song of the month and history was read by Harriett Johnson and all sang "Battle Cry of Freedom" in closing.

The committee, Alta Hablawetz, Elizabeth Shull, Millie Shull and Bernice Sechler served ice cream, cup cakes and coffee.

Answer to Question No. 1:

Estimated losses from fatal and non-fatal accidents in 1951 were $8 billion, including wage losses, medical expenses, insurance costs, production delays, damage to equipment and property. Accidents killed 93,000 people in the United States during the year and injured more than 9 million others. One out of every seventeen persons in the country suffered a disabling injury during the year. Automobile accidents killed 37,500, the highest toll in ten years. Home accidents took 27,000 lives and occupational mishaps caused 16,000 deaths. This should be a warning to all of us. Be careful!

Answer to Question No. 2:

The average life expectancy of industrial workers in the United States today is more than 68 years. This represents a sharp increase over the average life span of industrial workers early in this century when it was only 47 years. It reflects, among other things, the wide expansion of medical knowledge, the defeat of many diseases, advances in sanitary practices, improved diet, and better working conditions.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Bursitis is one of the most common, most discomforting and least understood of ordinary human afflictions. It commonly involves the bursa (sac with fluid over a joint) over the shoulder. Bursitis usually comes from an injury or an infection and frequently can be treated by simple means under the direction of your family doctor. If it does not readily yield to this treatment, the physician may withdraw the fluid or give X-ray treatment, or apply a restraining brace. Surgery is rarely needed.

When polio is around, the National Foundation cautions parents to watch for these signs: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of neck and back. A person showing such symptoms should be put to bed at once, away from others. Then, call your doctor and follow his advice. If polio is diagnosed, call your local chapter of the March of Dimes for advice and assistance, including needed financial help.

Picnic Sandwiches

Celebrate "August Is Sandwich Time" picnic fashion with the favorite sandwiches pictured here. Sandwiches are so easy to make you can organize an outing in a jiffy.

Picnic time is fun time! Keep food preparation to a minimum. You can quickly make up ham and cheese sandwiches. Everyone likes 'em. Or, you might even take the "fixings" along and let each one make his special favorite.

Potato salad is a high ranking escort for sandwiches. On hurry-up occasions buy a big bag of potato chips. Make a big thermos jug of lemonade and take along a sack of fresh fruit. Your menu is complete!

Ham and cheese make ideal fillings for sandwiches because they travel well. Other good pre-made picnic sandwiches include all of the luncheon meats and sausages, roast beef, sliced chicken, tongue and corned beef. If you want your sandwich to take on "Dagwood" proportions, take along picalilli, mustard, tomatoes, lettuce leaves, chili sauce and salad dressing.

There are many other delicious sandwich fillings which are at their best when made at the picnic site. Choose from the wide variety of cheese and meat spreads available in jars. Take along a can of sardines and hard cooked eggs for "make-your-own" specialties. Another good one is made by mixing cream cheese with crushed crisp bacon, chipped beef or crushed fruits.

If you have a camp stove, or facilities for making a fire, you'll probably want to take along frankfurters and long buns. Other "best sellers" are the mighty hamburger and the luxury steak. Perhaps you haven't ever made toasted cheese sandwiches over a fire. You'll like them. Heat pork and beans, too, over the fire and make bean sandwiches with Boston brown bread. Bacon is especially good with this.

Add variety to picnic sandwiches by using different breads. Of course, enriched white bread is most popular. But you will enjoy occasionally, whole wheat, rye, pumpernickel, raisin and cinnamon breads. Fruit and nut breads are especially good with cheese spreads.

God Prepared Him

Lesson for July 27, 1952

WHEN A CHRISTIAN looks back, he can see God's hand better than he can see it looking forward. A Christian, even a worrying Christian (though there should be no such people as Christians who worry), can feel very thankful for God's blessings, care and guidance in the past, even while worrying over tomorrow's uncertainties. How foolish this is! God is even now making ready for the future. He is not to be taken by surprise. He knows what he wants and he knows how to get it. While we waste time in worry, God is at work. The story of Samuel is a case in point.

Dr. Foreman

God's Home

EVERY ONE KNOWS that the strongest single influence in a person's life is his home. We sometimes take that for granted.

On the contrary, a home may wreck a man before he starts. It has been said that many alcoholics get their start, —not their start in drinking but their start in the nervous, unsettled disposition which easily slips down into alcoholism and other drug habits, before they are six years old. The wrong kind of parents, lack of harmony between father and mother, ill-treatment or simple neglect, can make a child already abnormal before he is old enough to go to school.

On the other hand, the foundation of a strong man can always be found in the home where he first lived. So it was with the remarkable man, the prophet Samuel.

In later life he became lawgiver, king-maker, preacher and general of the army; no ordinary man! The nation needed him; and when the time came, God produced him. But God produced his mother first.

God's Church

AFTER LEAVING HOME, Samuel literally lived in the tabernacle, which served as a church in those far off days. The little boy found there a second home. Old Eli the priest no doubt came to mean much more to him than his own father did, his father whom he so seldom saw.

So it still is, where the church is doing what it should for the children of its people. A child should not be afraid of the minister; he should not feel anything but love for the church. True, a church building is different from other buildings in that it is set apart for a sacred use. A church is the symbol of God's presence among men, and the sanctuary of a church ought to make all who come into it feel that this place is holy ground.

But that does not mean that a child should be afraid of the place, as some children are. If they have been coming there every Sunday since they can remember, sitting with the rest of the family in the family pew (sounds old-fashioned but there are still thousands of them), coming so regularly that no question is ever asked on Sunday morning, "Well, shall we go to church or not?" —then they will feel more at home on the inside of the church, when the Lord's Day comes, than they ever will on the outside.

Now this is not all always true. If children and young people are not attracted by the church, as too often they are not, whose fault is it?

Whoever may be to blame, it is certain that a church which loses its young people is headed for its end.

The Voice of God

IT IS MOST INTERESTING to know that when young Samuel heard the voice of God, it sounded just like the voice of Eli the priest. (If you heard the voice of God, whose human voice would it sound like?)

At any rate, God prepared this great prophet Samuel not only by the influence of home and church, but by a personal religious experience. Now there is no real conflict or contradiction between religious education and conversion, between the church and the home, and the work of the Holy Spirit.

God was in Samuel's home, God was in that tabernacle, God was in his religious education. But God also came to him directly and not only through home and church. If we wonder sometimes where the Christian leaders for the next generation are coming from, we may be sure God is preparing them even now, in simple if obscure ways, as he did with Samuel of old.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club held its July 7th meeting in the home of Gertrude Reinhart. The meeting was opened by the ladies repeating the club creed. Devotions were given by Lula Allison.

The history of the song of the month was given by Mildred Hanson followed by the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The club voted to give some money for the going-away gift to be given to Miss Moore who is resigning her position effective September 1.

Discussion and plans were made for the fair booth.

Leaders reporting were: hospitality, Lula Allison; garden, Florence Miller; poultry, Katy Crow; health and safety, Marcelle Storer. Roll call was answered by 19 members and four guests.

Two new members were received into the club, Stella Snyder and Wilma Baughman.

Secretary's report was read and approved.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. The hostess then served cooling refreshments which were appreciated by all on the warm evening.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

YOU have read in the papers of the report to the Senate by the McCarren Committee which is investigating the threat to our security at home.

This report is going to be attacked — with the greatest violence — by the pro-Communists and their misguided followers. We shall be told every kind of lie and rumor insinuation about the work of the committee. The Communists know, if this committee is not discredited, the American people will demand that Communists be driven out of their seats in our government offices and our colleges forever. If the committee can be discredited, opponents of Communism will be confused and divided, and the Communists will continue to hide in our most trusted offices while they prepare for war—and laugh at our credulity.

I hope every American who is concerned about our youth fighting in Korea will get a copy of this report, and study it.

First, this is a report on internal security. It is as much a report on our military safety as any report from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Second, the report is nonpartisan. The chairman of the Sub-committee, Senator McCarren of Nevada, was a Democrat. There were three other Democratic members, Senators Eastland of Mississippi, O'Connor of Maryland, and Willis Smith, formerly president of the American Bar Association, from North Carolina. The Republicans were Senators Ferguson of Michigan, Watkins of Utah, and myself. The full Judiciary Committee, with seven Democrats and six Republicans, approved the report unanimously.

Here is the verdict. The Soviet government and the Soviet military apparatus were engaged in an effort to place their agents in our government offices, not only for espionage, but—far more important—to twist our policies to our ruin.

The committee says this military operation of the Soviet Union was carried out as a secret conspiracy, that the Institute of Pacific Relations, which began as a scholarly research agency on Pacific affairs, was turned into a "cover shop" for the Soviet government's military operations.

The IPR, it says, was instrumental in placing in important government positions men who followed their secret ideology, especially after our able Far Eastern experts had been "purged" at the request of Earl Browder. They also placed their people in our colleges to teach the new generation of reporters, teachers, research men and government experts.

Remember, this started 20 years ago. How silly are the remarks of people who think this is some temporary or passing illness that we can get rid of by reiterating with Coue, "day by day in every way, we are getting rid of the Communists."

Remember these people who entered our government, virtually through assignment by the Soviet Union, committed no crime. It is not a crime to take a job in government or an appointment to represent the President, with the sole purpose of sabotaging our defense efforts or our foreign policy. How silly are the people who say we ought to "prove" our case in court.

Remember, finally, most of these people are still there.

The people who are helping the Soviet Union to penetrate our government can be gotten rid of. They can be removed by an angry and determined Congress. From now until November 3rd, every citizen must persistently ask of all candidates for the Senate or the House of Representatives one question. The question is not "Are you against Communism?" Everybody is against far-away Communism. The question is "Are you against servants of the Soviet Union right here in our government, sitting in high places protected by every red herring the Administration can throw out to confuse us?"

We can not afford to have a single man or woman in the next Congress who is not loyal enough to drive out all servants of Communism and intelligent enough to recognize them in plain American business suits.

how to get the best water heater buy ★

when building a new home...
You'll be money ahead with an electric water heater because it needs no flues or vents. Installs anywhere—less piping. Efficient in performance because the heat's applied from within and full insulation keeps it there. And electric equipment adds real value to your home.

when modernizing...
You modernize to make things more convenient ...and with an electric water heater you can plan your floor space just as you want it. An electric water heater needn't be near a chimney...you can close it in completely if you like...or hide it in a closet or under stairs. Remember: "put it anywhere" is an exclusive electric advantage!

if you're just fed up with old-fashioned heaters...
Tired of climbing stairs to nurse a cranky old-style heater? Had your fill of heaters that warm the air around them as well as the water? Need more hot water for farm or home use? Worried about how safe your heater is? Get peace of mind with a modern electric water heater. See your plumber or electric appliance dealer now.

Deer Hunters-- On Your Mark-!

Having decided, following thorough investigation, that the deer herd in Indiana was not greatly diminished by the first such season in the state in sixty years, the Indiana Department of Conservation is calling for a public hearing to establish this year's open season for taking deer. Dates proposed by the department are November 6, 7 and 8.

Following a conference, it was decided by Kenneth M. Kunkel, Departmental Director; Henry Cottingham, Assistant Director and Director of the Fish and Game Division, that the hearing will be Friday, August 8, at 9 a. m., central standard time, in the Departmental Director's office.

The 1952 deer hunt, insofar as regulations are concerned, will be quite similar to that of 1951. However, hunting hours during the season proposed will be from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. This was decided upon as a safety measure because oftentimes in late fall or winter months darkness descends rather suddenly due to an overcast, making shooting with heavy charges dangerous to those in field or forest.

Territory open to deer hunters this year will include Bartholomew, Brown, DuBois, Jackson, Jennings, Lawrence, Martin, Monroe, Morgan, Orange, Perry, Pike, Scott, Spencer, Warrick, Washington counties and that part of Crawford County west of state road 66 from Leavenworth north to the Washington County line.

It is to be noted that Bartholomew and Jennings counties are new to the deer hunting field. Last year Harrison County was included but due to the heavy concentration of hunters in that district the herd was so depleted as to make inadvisable in the opinion of the department to permit hunting there this year.

The department is preparing a regulations sheet on the hunt which will be released at a later date.

Farm Tour August 4 & 5

County Agent Ernest J. Lesiuk reports that the annual state farm management tour will be held August 4 and 5 in Kosciusko, Marshall and Wabash counties.

Interested DeKalb County farmers may obtain tickets for the chicken barbecue banqet at Warsaw August 4 and the noon fish fry at Akron, Ind., August 5 at the county extension office in the court house in Auburn. Tickets for the barbecue are $1.75 each and for the fish fry $1.50.

On August 4 at 3 p.m. farmers will visit the Creighton Bros. farm on U.S. 30, seven miles west of Warsaw in Kosciusko County. Here they will inspect the hatchery, observe grading, storage and marketing of eggs, as well as a pedigree breeding program which is now being done on this farm. This farm has 80,000 pullets on range and farmers will have an opportunity to inspect laying houses.

At 7 p.m. the same day a banquet will be held at the city park pavilion in Warsaw. Dix Harper of WIBC, Indianapolis, will give the summer outlook and also be toastmaster. The general outlook of the agricultural situation will be given by Dr. Earl Butz of the agricultural economics department. C. R. Gross, also of the agricultral economics department at Purdue and former DeKalb County agent, will discuss the commodity outlook at this session.

Tuesday, August 5, farmers will visit the Frank Nellan farm, 2 miles west of Mentone in Marshall County, where they will observe 25 brood sows on a two-litter system, 1,000 laying hens and 20 feeder cattle with a low investment in machinery and equipment and high labor efficiency.

At 11:30 a.m. on the 5th a noon meal will be served by the Akron Jonah Club at the high school gym in Akron. There will be an address by Dr. George Scarseth of the American Farm Research Association. He will discuss building soils profitably with corn.

At 2:30 p.m. the second stop on the tour for the day will be at John Chamberlain and son farm located 1 1-2 miles west of Urbana in Wabash County. His farm consists of 320 acres with over 600 spring pigs and 165 feeding cattle. They have outstanding crop yields and livestock efficiency.

Native Of Township Dies Suddenly

William H. Scott, aged 81, native of Concord Twp., died unexpectedly at his home at 410 Spencerville Street in Hicksville about 2:30 p.m. Saturday. He had been as well as usual when he suddenly took ill and passed away shortly after the arrival of a physician.

Mr. Scott was born October 13, 1870, in Concord Twp., DeKalb County, Indiana, and was a son of Wayne and Martha Draggoo Scott. When a young man Mr. Scott engaged in farming and timber cutting. After coming to Hicksville about thirty nine years ago, he was employed in the Miller Manufacturing Company until ill health forced his retirement some time ago.

His wife, the former Mary Patterson, passed away July 16, 1950. Surviving him are a brother, Frank Scott, of Defiance; two step-daughters, Mrs. Allie McKinley of Hicksville and Mrs. Inez Scott of Defiance; four step-grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Perkins & Reeb Funeral Home where it remained for services at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday. Joseph Sells, Christian Science reader of Ft. Wayne, officiated.

Burial was in the K of P Cemetery at St. Joe.

Mann Reunion

The seventh annual reunion of the Jesse Ewing and Ada Speaker Mann family was held at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Keppeler near Edgerton, Ohio, on Sunday, July 20, 1952.

A delicious pot luck dinner was enjoyed by all and a fine social time was enjoyed throughout the day.

A business meeting was held and a program was enjoyed by all in the afternoon. James Hart, vice-president, presided at the meeting in ithe absence of the president, Leslie Inlow. The secretary, Alice Inlow, read her report and it was approved as read.

Officers for the coming year are Mable Furnish, president, Lucile Monosmith, vice-president, and Margaret Keppeler, secretary-treasurer. It was decided to hold the 1953 reunion at the Eckhart Park in Auburn the first Sunday in August.

A round-robin letter was passed aroud to be sent to Harry Mann and family of Los Angeles, Cal. Harry is the son of the late Jesse and Ada Mann.

The group voted a standing vote of thanks to Marvin and Margaret Keppeler for opening their home to the family for the reunion.

There was one marriage in the past year, Donald K. Inlow. The three new babies in the family were David Albright in Cal., Steven Inlow and Sharon Inlow. Three children, Marlys Furnish, Kleota Hart and David Hubbard, will enter school in September. Irene Inlow gave this family news.

Accordion music was given by Sheryl and Johnell Furnish. Recitations were given by Linda and Sharon Keppeler, Marjorie and Roderic Keppeler and Shirley Monosmith. Impromptu group singing was enjoyed by all. Miscellaneous games and contests were enjoyed by all ages of the group. Ice cream was served to the guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hart; Mrs. Anna Hursey; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Inlow, Irene and Roger; Mr. Roy Mann and Betty Jo; Mr. and Mrs. James Hart, Billy, Gary and Dennis; Mrs. William Hubbard, Becky Linn and David; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Inlow, Jimmie and Stevie; Mr. and Mrs. A. Guests were Miss Rhoda Ulm, Mr. Clair Warstler and Mrs. Ray Inlow, Nancy, Betty Ann and Janet from Madeira, O.

HERB SHRINER, PHIL HARRIS, JAN GARBER TO APPEAR AT STATE FAIR

In recognition of the gala Indiana State Fair Centennial in Indianapolis August 28 through September 6, a trio of former Hoosiers who have risen to national stardom will return home to spark the giant entertainment program being arranged for this year's state fair visitors.

Headlining the most elaborate program in state fair history will be comedian Herb Shriner and musicians Phil Harris and Jan Garber, all of whom spent their boyhood in Indiana before leaving to achieve recognition as three of the nation's top entertainers.

Shriner and Harris will help launch the 100th anniversary of the annual exposition by starring in the "Hoosier Stars of 1952" extravaganza in the Coliseum August 28-31, with Garber and his orchestra providing music for the $50,000 horse show nightly in the Coliseum August 31 through September 5.

Born in Toledo, Ohio, Shriner spent most of his boyhood in Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and has become one of the nation's favorite comedians through his wry comments on the Hoosier state. Because of his homespun wit, the harmonica playing Shriner has often been tabbed as the most likely successor to the mantle of the immortal Will Rogers. He has been starred on Broadway in "Inside USA" with Bea Lillie and Jack Haley and has his own weekly network television show.

Phil Harris, wise-cracking band leader of the Jack Benny radio show, was born in Linton, Indiana, June 24, 1906. Launching his career as a drummer with the Dixieland Syncopaters, Harris has been in the national spotlight since 1932. A member of the Jack Benny menage for more than a decade, he currently is starred in a radio show with his wife, blond movie actress Alice Faye. He has been seen in such movies as "Buck Benny Rides Again," "Man About Town," and "Dreaming Out Loud" and has written and recorded such successful records as "That's What I Like About the South" and "What's the Matter With the South."

Garber is one of Indiana's most illustrious sons in the field of music. Born in Indianapolis in 1897, Garber has been recognized as one of the nation's musical favorites for more than a generation and was the first dance band leader to feature a vocalist.

In addition to the homecoming of the former Hoosiers, the state fair will present such events as the $200,000 Grand Circuit Harness Races, "Derby Day" horse races, Irish Horan and his Lucky Hell Drivers, the State Fair follies and the Cetlin and Wilson midway. Added features of the centennial will be motorcycle races and the Centennial Jamboree of nationally known radio stars on the final day of the fair Saturday, September 6.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Throwing Out The "Death"-Line

Are Conventions Representative?

Now that the two major political parties have had their conventions and have chosen their presidential nominees and vice-presidential running mates, it is apparent that neither party chose the men wanted by the average members of both parties.

It is somewhat discouraging and likewise disgusting to hear the flowery oratory expounding the fact that "the people" have done this and "the people" have demanded that only to have the big wheels which control the direction of the parties and the nation cross up "the people" and give them a choice of what the political powers have deemed the best and not what "the people" have chosen the best. It is a subject for debate whether the popular choice of the Republicans would have been Taft or Eisenhower but the Democrats seemed to have shown a very definite preference for Kefauver. The fact that neither party definitely picked the "popular" choice is evidence that our system of nominating men for the highest offices in the federal government may be antiquated and in need of an overhaul. If we are really to have government by the people, we should have men chosen by the people running for the offices of president and vice-president. If that end could be reached, we would accomplish two things—our election system would be improved and we would cease to make liars of political bigwigs who speak of the power of "the people." That power is comparatively small, if the conventions are any means of measure.

Both conventions were insults to the intelligence of the American people. The Republican party, which should have offered a truly Republican candidate, chose instead, through the growing power of its internationalist element, to present a candidate who has been a part of the workings of the opposite party. They cheered loudly the words of MacArthur and Hoover, words which were truly Republican. They had a candidate whose policies and past record were truly Republican. They had an opportunity to offer a truly Republican ticket to oppose anything the Democrats could offer, in plaform or candidates.

On the other hand, there was little the Democrats could offer. Regardless of who was a candidate, he was still a Democrat and was basing his strength on either of two things: one, that corruption in government should be cleaned up or, two, that the present set-up was O.K. and should be continued. Either one had its draw backs. One conceded that Truman (a fellow Democrat) was derelict in his duties and allowed corruption to infiltrate government. The other merely offered a new face to continue the same program now in effect, presumably under the same influences.

The result of the conventions is that the interest which should be stimulated in an election year has been drugged by the Republicans because they failed to offer a man who represents the real Republican party and by the Democrats because they failed to offer their popular candidate.

135 ENTER CHICKEN-OF-TOMORROW CONTEST

The 1952 Indiana Chicken-of-Tomorrow program has now 135 boys and girls entered in the big contest, according to R. L. Hogue, extension poultryman at Purdue University and Chairman of the executive committee.

The Hoosier program got under way the first week of June when at least 100 broilers were housed and given a wingband by each of the entrants. All birds will be weighed at the end of 11 weeks, which will be the week of August 18 to 23. Six cockerels will be chosen from the flock and brought to Indianapolis where they will be dressed for judging. "The winners," stated Hogue, "will be judged just prior to the State Fair and will be on display from August 28 through September 6 in the Agriculture and Horticulture building at the Indiana State Fair." Homer E. Schuman, director of the building, has arranged to show the winning dressed birds in the large coolers located in the south section of the building.

The Hoosier Chicken-of-Tomorrow program is being sponsored by the State Poultry Association, Indiana Hatcheries Association, Poultry Extension of Purdue and the Indiana State Fair Board.

The contest was begun to encourage the raising of a strain of poultry that would produce a high quality fryer, economically and quickly. Hogue feels certain that several 3 pound birds will be entered in the show which were raised on 3 pounds of feed to each pound of gain.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

LIKE a giant snow ball hurtling down a mountain side, gaining momentum, adding to its size with every split second of its maddening course, the Truman administration's "tax dollars available for spending" policy rolls on!

In the past 7¼ years, the Federal government has taxed the American people 310 billion dollars.

In January, the President, in his Budget message, requested 85 billion dollars for fiscal 1953, alone.

Eighty-five billion dollars means $162,565 in "tax dollars available for spending" every minute of the fiscal year of 1953.

But this is YESTERDAY'S story.

On June 29, 1952, the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures, in its release of that date, stated in part:

"With the supplemental requests and indicated Congressional reductions taken into account, it would appear that the combination of new appropriations and other expenditure authorizations and unexpended balances from prior years will provide total available expenditure authority in fiscal year 1953 approaching $175 billion."

$175 billion is almost twice the 85 billion requested by the President some six months ago.

Despite the fact that 91.3 billion of this 175 billion represents unexpended balances from prior year appropriations and other expenditure authorizations to be carried over into the new fiscal year, President Truman in recently signing the $11,793,776,339 "catch all" appropriations bill, criticized the 82nd Congress for its cruel economies.

If this be cruelty, I am proud to have been a member of the Congress which perpetrated it.

Why must the Federal government have such vast sums? Here is your answer:

The Truman administration has directly committed the United States to the defense of 41 foreign countries.

In terms of you, this simply means, if you have a son who now is, or soon will become of military age, he is now, or shortly will become a member of one of the biggest fire departments in the history of mankind.

Today as you read this—this son of yours may be bringing your harvest to its close, helping you run your business, or be otherwise gainfully employed. In any event, he is subject to call to answer a fire, in any one of the 41 countries the Truman administration has committed us to defend.

Without shedding one drop of her nation's blood, Russia lights the match. Her satellites spread the conflagration. American blood, the blood of your sons, puts out the fire!

Likewise, these same commitments which put your son on this fire department, are largely responsible for the levy of $310 billions of taxes upon the American people in the past 7¼ years. Now, with 175 billions of "tax dollars available for spending" in this one fiscal year of 1953, at its disposal, I shudder to think of the consequences which yet may follow in these last days of the Truman regime.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

TRIPLE EGG - Bert Smith, took his oversize white leghorn egg into town at Royal Center. It weighed 6 ounces, measured 9 inches long and 7¾ inches around. Inside were two other whole eggs, one inside the other.

WHEEL A-FLYING - Except for the wheel flying, this is complicated, so follow along, but dodge that wheel: Larry Pirkle and Robert Hunt, of Arthur (Pike County), were following a car driven by Ernest May, Winslow. May's car suddenly lost a front wheel which went rolling onward. It struck head on the car of James Coleman, Petersburg, who was approaching. It then bounced back, hurdled over the now three-wheeled May car, and headed toward the open car of Pirkle and Hunt. They ducked just as it went through their windshield, sheared off the steering wheel and stopped in the back seat of their car. Pirkle and Hunt suffered cuts from flying glass.

BERRY THIEVES - Mrs. Charles Nelk, south of Rockville, looked out a window one morning. Then she looked again. Sure enough, there were a fox and its pup calmly eating strawberries in her garden.

TEE MAGIC - Playing golf at the Elks Country Club, Terre Haute, Art Everet poised his brassie for a fairway shot. But between his upswing and downswing, his ball disappeared. Toby Wegrich had fired a tee shot, his ball striking Everet's during the latter's swing. Both balls caromed away. It just wasn't Everet's day for besides being charged with a whiff at a ball that wasn't there, he never did find the ball.

SELLIN' KID - When there's activity in the community sale barn at Boswell, the auctioneer sometimes takes a breather. Who takes over? Larry Barrett, 11, son of the sale barn manager.

HEAVY USERS - Indiana is a pretty heavy user of gasoline and other motor vehicle fuels. The federal Bureau of Public Roads has issued a report for 1949 showing that the national average consumption of fuel per vehicle registered—cars, trucks everything—was 741 gallons per year. Indiana was high above the national average, its fuel use coming out 840 gallons per vehicle of all kinds. So it looks like Indiana is getting more than her share of the interstate car and truck fuel business.

PANTHER PROWLS - Martin county has a panther roaming around. The Shoals News reported the animal has now moved into a new area, around Dover Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler and son saw the animal one night, jogging along in front of their car. As they got nearer, it crossed the highway in front of their headlights. They said it was about two feet high, three feet long, with a smooth, "dirty" colored coat.

SNAKE SEQUEL - Ralph Lambert, Ft. Wayne salesman, explained to the North Manchester News-Journal the origin of the Ft. Wayne monster snake, the one described as reaching across a highway pavement. Lambert said it was actually his pet bull snake. He explained he was taking it from his home to a northern Indiana lake, boxed in his car trailer. It got loose, wrapped itself around the trailer axle, but became fouled and was dragged along the road. When he reached the lake, Lambert said, he found the snake had stretched to 20 feet and was "pencil thin." He said he turned it loose, hoping it would live. He was certain the Fort Wayne snake was his, based on his reasoning it stayed at 20 feet, had fed itself then filled out to "stovepipe" size. The newspaper related the story in July, not April 1.

Fruited Apple Sauce Pie Star Of Menu

Here is an unusual pie that is bound to star on any menu. It is a Fruited Applesauce Pie that is a breeze to make. It is made with a package of condensed mince meat and two cups of fresh-cooked or canned apple sauce. With these two complementary ingredients mixed together and spooned in layers between pie crusts and then baked to a crisp golden glow, you will find yourself adding new laurels to your reputation as a pie prize winner. Serve this beauty with chilled heavy cream or hard sauce for added deliciousness.

Pie knows no season. Even this mouth-watering variation on the traditional mince pie is as much at home on the menu in August as it is in November. Homemakers are learning more and more the trick of using mince meat all year round in many of their favorite recipes for cookies, muffins, tarts and puddings, among other things. It has a way of enhancing the basic flavor of a dish with its subtle blending of spices.

Thus many homemakers keep it handy on the pantry shelf now in both the condensed form which comes in a nine ounce package and in the ready-to-use form that comes in a 1 pound 12 ounce jar.

FRUITED APPLE SAUCE PIE

1 (9 oz.) package mince meat
1½ cups water
2 cups fresh-cooked or canned apple sauce
Unbaked pastry

Break mince meat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for 1 minute. Allow to cool. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry and fill with mince meat mixture. Spread apple sauce over top. Place upper crust on filled lower one and press edges firmly together. Trim off surplus pastry. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) about 35 minutes.

Consecrated Genius

Lesson for August 3, 1952

ONCE IN A WHILE men are born who have more careers than one. Thomas Jefferson was architect, educator, lawyer, writer, executive; Samuel F. B. Morse was a painter and also the inventor of the telegraph; Theodore Roosevelt was a man so canny-sided that some one has written an amusing article showing that several thousands of years from now, scholars might easily conclude that T. Roosevelt was not one man but several different men with the same name.

Dr. Foreman

Many-Sided Man

SAMUEL WAS ONE of these many-sided men. We call him Samuel the prophet, but we could just as well call him judge, priest, preacher, general writer and kingmaker.

He was a prophet, for the people who knew him turned to him when they wanted to know what God thought. We can call him a preacher, for we know of one very successful revival which he conducted (I Sam. 7). He was also what we call a circuit judge, going from town to town to hold court. He was a successful general, for we know he not only advised military leaders but took the lead in raising an army himself and directing it in a successful campaign.

He was a priest, not only in a formal way, offering sacrifices at various places; but he also once said a memorable thing which marks him as a priest in the truest sense: "Ye have done all this wickedness, yet . . . God forbid that I should sin against you in ceasing to pray for you." (Chap. 12.)

He was a writer, for though he could not have written both books that bear his name, he did write "the manner of the Kingdom"—perhaps a kind of constitution. And next week's study will show him as a king-maker.

No Dictator

THE MANY-SIDED MAN, the man of many talents, always has one great temptation: to be a dictator. It isn't bad people who become dictators; it isn't the weak; it is the strong and able.

A very able president, for instance, will take it on himself to run the State department and any other departments that specially interest him; in a small town a many-sided man may be superintendent of the mill, chairman of the school board, chief deacon in the church, superintendent of the Sunday school, major and postmaster besides.

It is not alone in public that the dictator flourishes. Sometimes in a home the father, or the mother, will be so energetic and brainy that he (or she) finds it much easier to do things than to wait for the children to do them, or to teach the children how it is done.

Now the prophet Samuel, who towered high above the average man of his country, must have been tempted to be a dictator.

Samuel perhaps could have done it all, but he knew when to retire from the foreground.

Public Spirit

SAMUEL himself is a model for all the many-gifted men who reach and deserve positions of power. He never milked the people for his own benefit; he never used public office for private gain. (With one sad exception; he kept his worthless sons on the public payroll.) He was a man of true public spirit.

This means two things, and Samuel had them both. One is a wide vision: being able to see all sides of a question, and to see not only his own advantage, but how decisions and policies affect all kinds of persons.

Most politicians will have at heart the interests of their own little bailiwick; how many have the interests of the nation at heart?

Public spirit means wide vision, it means a wide concern, not only seeing but caring. In an election year, when politicians are clamoring at us from all sides, we may well inquire about every candidate: Does this man have any resemblance to God's man Samuel? Does he have a sense of responsibility to God? Does he have a wide vision, a wide concern? Whose side is he on? Is he out for himself, or for God and the whole people?

YOUR HEALTH

THE meanest person in the world is generally recognized as the one who steals pennies from a blind man. There is a meaner and more vicious individual operating than the stealer of pennies.

He is the quack with his fake device, who imposes upon the sick.

For many years, the American Medical Association has campaigned against fraudulent and useless remedies, that annually result in the public being separated from millions of dollars of their hard-earned money. The Association has been sued a total of more than $30 million dollars with libel and damage suits, but lost only one case with a cost to the Association of one penny—and the product involved in that suit is no longer on the market.

Devices advertised by quacks are phoney, some of them expensive and many of them harmful, as their use delays treatment proven by medical science to be effective. The sick in their anxiety for relief, often try anything at any price, and they are trusting, credulous and gullible.

There have been fake "cures" for all manner of disease and the number of such items put on the market totals more than 50,000. To develop new worthless gadgets, shameful quacks have pilfered from modern scientific information.

One of the latest trinkets to trick the public was the "Magic Spike," otherwise known as the Vrilium Tube or Radium Pencil. This ridiculous gimmick was guaranteed to cure everything from diabetes, leukemia, ulcers, arthritis and thyroid disorders to cancer. It sold for $300, was about the size of a tally card pencil, and contained an amount of barium chloride worth one two-thousandth of a cent.

Before Congress passed an act in 1938 to control labeling of medical products sold to the public, control of these dangerous devices was all. Heavy punishment is today being meted out to fraudulent quacks in an effort to protect the public's health and pocketbook.

Answer to Question No. 1:

In many cases of childless marriage the cause of sterility can be discovered and corrected. See your doctor, tell him your whole story and follow his advice closely.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Some babies are born with a malformation of the heart that prevents it from pumping enough blood into the lungs where the cells receive the oxygen which makes blood red. The baby's bluish blood makes lips and skin take on the same dark hue. There is now hope for children with such a malformation to become normal, healthy adults through a delicate operation developed as recently as 1944.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Local public health departments are needed to improve sanitary conditions, control communicable diseases, record vital statistics, develop services for the prevention and detection of chronic illness, and provide the public health departments with information. There are 1,228 full-time local public health departments in the United States. However, nearly half the counties in the country are still without such coverage.

RABIES

RABIES, in man, is 100 per cent fatal. Fortunately, after being bitten by a rabid animal, there is time for prophylactic treatment which will prevent the disease from taking effect. The problem is to determine which person should be given anti-rabic treatment and which person does not need it.

The biting animal should not be killed until a diagnosis of rabies can be confirmed, or excluded, by observation of the animal while it is alive.

Rabies can be transmitted from the rabid animal to man only by the direct inoculation of fresh saliva through the skin, deep enough to come in contact with nerve tissue. Direct inoculation only occurs naturally from wounds or bites made by the teeth of wild animals.

Tens of thousands of persons every year are given anti-rabic treatment in the United States. Farmers lose valuable animals such as dogs, cows and horses, by reason of rabies.

Primarily, rabies is a disease of the canine family—dogs, wolves, foxes, coyotes, hyenas and jackals. These animals are fond of fighting and biting, which readily spreads rabies.

About 90 per cent of human rabies arises from a canine source, although occasionally man is infected by cattle, horses, cats, squirrels and vampire bats.

Rabies is a disease of great antiquity and Plutarch mentioned that it was observed in mankind by the descendants of Aesculapius, god of healing in Greek mythology.

Always consult a physician if bitten by a dog—don't wait to see whether or not rabies develops—for the development of rabies ends in death.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

In last weeks news your little paragraph about driving through the country and noticing the beauty along the highway after a refreshing rain started me thinking that most people are noticing either the beauty or the neglect as they drive along and it seems to me that every property owner owes a certain amount of respect to himself and the passer by in keeping his part of the highway beautiful or even respectable, like the man at the east edge of St. Joe who has leased the Kees property and has combined beauty with business and is raising a big field of glads. What could be more pleasing to the eye of a traveler-we thank him for keeping the highway beautiful.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Arrants of near Auburn a baby girl at the Souders Hospital. The baby, weighing 8 lbs. 6 ozs., was born Monday morning and has been named Jane Ann, for both of her grandmothers.

The fifteenth annual reunion of the classes of 1903 and 1904 of St. Joe high school, taught by Dr. Robert Dixon (deceased), was held at the beautiful home of C. C. Woodcox and wife east of St. Joe. 19 guests came at the noon hour with well filled baskets and all thoroughly enjoyed the day visiting and reminiscing. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dio Dermott, Consantine, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Lee Tustison, Defiance, O., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ulm, Butler, Mrs. Nettie Baker, Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop and Mrs. Lora Leighty, Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ginther, Mrs. Inez Hadsell, Mrs. Lela Northrup, Merritt Sechler, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole and the host and hostess. The meeting next year will be with Mrs. Lora Leighty at Auburn.

A birthday dinner was held at the home of Charles Cook for his birthday anniversary last week.

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Monroe were at Rockford, Ill., over the week getting acquainted with their new grandson.

Aaron Holman and family attended the Knox reunion Sunday held at the home of Mrs. Holman's parents at Butler.

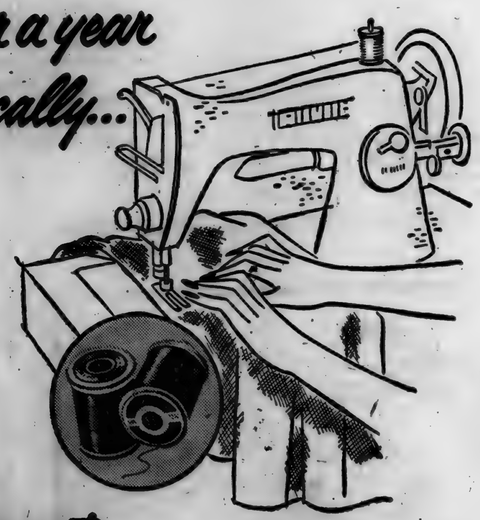
Sew for a year Electrically...



for the cost of a few spools of thread

Imagine all the money you save by making things yourself with the help of an electric sewing machine. Compare that with the 30¢ you pay for the electricity used in a whole year . . . actually less than ¼ of a cent for each hour of use. Cheap? Definitely! This is just another example of why electricity is still the biggest bargain in your family budget.

Around the Town

With the Editor

I don't know, but it looks like the photographer got things mixed up on those pictures just a column over. Jerry Simanton and Jerry Mansfield look alike, according to the pictures.

Two weeks ago you may recall a blank space where there should have been a name. It was in the little story about the guy who was casting in the middle of the road. That blank should have been occupied by the name "Dayton Webb, Jr." Jean said he got into a little difficulty later on when he tossed the bait over the telephone wires along the road.

Well, I got a bit of fishin' in at the end of last week and they were really biting. I had to do something to catch up with our postmaster who caught a good sized bass a couple of weeks ago. I got one under the limit last Thursday and another dozen on Friday evening. If you've ever been at Lake James on Saturday and Sunday you know there is much to be desired as far as fishing is concerned on those days. Those Chris Craft and little runabouts really churn up the lake when they get going.

I remember one time several years ago (when I was just a little boy) that Pop and my cousin, Bob Hosier, of Fort Wayne, were trying to catch some minnows in a patch of reeds and weeds when I let out a yelp, "There's a fish!"

They shushed me and said I was scaring the mmnows away.

"But there's a big fish here!"

Finally they looked where I pointed and grabbed for a pole—there wasn't any net in the boat. They baited a hook and dangled the worm right at the nose of what looked like a monster to me. It seemed the wise old fish just wasn't going to bite anything that came his way and it seemed like ages before he took the bait. We could see him plainly as the water was only a foot or two deep.

If I remember rightly it was a catfish over a foot long.

The following was supposed to appear in the ad column on the back page, I know. For some reason, the first thing I thought of when I read the ad was the old saying about "the honeymoon is over when-" etc. Here's why—"For sale—single Hollywood bed, excellent condition, not yet a year old. See Mrs. Ned Keller, Saint Joe, Indiana."

Ice Cream Social At Concord

The Concord Methodist Church will hold an ice cream social on the church grounds next Friday, August 15. Serving will begin at 6 p.m.

The menu will include home made ice cream, sandwiches, chicken, sloppy joes and weiners, baked beans, potato salad, pie, cake, coffee and pop.

Should the weather be on the unpleasant side that evening, the social will be held in the church basement.

WITTENBERG BROTHERHOOD AUGUST 13th

The August meeting of the Wittenberg Brotherhood will be held at Pleasant Chapel, located four miles southwest of Ashley on Wednesday evening, August 13th.

Dr. Lloyd Steudebaker of Lagrange will be the speaker. Dr. Studebaker is a returned missionary from Africa.

Supper will be served promptly at 7:30 by the ladies of the church.

CARD OF THANKS

In this way I wish to thank everyone who sent cards, letters, gifts and made calls during my stay at the hospital and since I am at home, especially the Culture Club for the beautiful bouquet of glads, and also the Home Economics Club for the lovely plant cladium which was admired by all who saw it.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Wrong Tools To Plug That Leak

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

ANTIQUE YET? - The Tucker automobile never got into production, yet it is not extinct. One of the Tucker cars was displayed at an Angola Junior Chamber of Commerce exposition.

WISE-GUY - Newspapers often headline wedding accounts with just the last names of the bride and groom, the groom first. Smith-Jones, for instance. But it was a little surprising to read a wedding headline in the Martinsville Democrat — "Wise-Guy Ceremony." It told of the marriage of Dr. William Wise and Miss Anna Guy.

BROTHER CAVEMEN - When the weather's hot, there's probably no place hotter than an upstairs lodge hall. So you can't blame the Red Men lodges of Laconia, Salem and New Albany for conferring degrees on a class of 100 in the Marengo Cave.

HOOSIER WHOPPER - Jim Lants, Steuben county, was fishing in North Otter Lake with a minnow as bait and tied into a catch which turned out to be a 21¼-lb. pike. Anyone know of a bigger game fish caught in Indiana this year?

LOST AT HOME - Eight members of the Clinton auxiliary police were called out of bed at 2 a. m. James Pierson, Jr., 8-year-old boy at nearby Lyford, was "lost." The boy had been playing in his neighborhood during the evening, then had disappeared. About the time police got organized, someone in the Pierson household found Jimmy, sound asleep, curled up under and hidden by a stove where he had been for hours.

BEWARE THE DEAD - At Cannelton "Boob" Laflin was cleaning a turtle. He cut off the head and laid it down beside a knife. Later he reached for the knife and the turtle head bit his finger and held on. It took a friend and a pair of pliers to pry off the turtle head.

LESSER OF EVILS - Lorabelle Birch parked her car on the Main street hill in a business section of Richmond, and went shopping. Somehow her car's brakes let loose and the car started down hill, driverless and gaining speed. George Schneider, Jackson, Mich., was driving his truck up the hill and saw the car coming. He could see no one was in it. Best thing to do, he thought, is to stop the car before it gets going any faster and maybe kills someone. So he veered his truck into the left lane, stopped, and let the car hit his truck. Luckily, there wasn't much damage to either. Schneider got credit as another quick-thinking truck driver doing the right thing in an emergency when lives and property were in danger.

REVERSED ROLES - Usually the cupola holds up the bell, but not on the grade school building at Brownstown. It's the other way. Without warning the cupola quietly collapsed, fell to one side of its perch and would have slid down the roof to the ground but it caught on the bell. But it was no calamity since bids already were being taken to remove the cupola.

"FARM" FACTS - Superintendent Albert Mike Ellis, of the Indiana State (penal) Farm, Putnamville, revealed that a prisoner who had served 57 terms there recently died in the institution. Recounting odds and ends of facts about the institution, Ellis also said the average prisoner leaves the penal farm after serving four months and usually weighs 30 pounds more than when he arrived.

DOUBLE WEDDING - Mrs. Louise M. Carpenter and Miss Mary L. Carpenter were married in a double wedding ceremony at Argos. It also was Mary's birthday. Louise is now Mrs. Vernon Maxson, Mary is Mrs. Howard Muncy. One more detail—Louise is Mary's mother.

This Week's . . . . .
Washington Story
By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

MR. AND MRS. ATLAS

YOU may live on R.F.D. No. 4, Middletown, Ind. Again, you may reside in the county seat, in a smaller town, or in one of the larger cities of Indiana.

Your names may be Mr. and Mrs. John Doe (at least you are so listed in the directory). But if you are American taxpayers, your real names are—Mr. and Mrs. Atlas.

The original Atlas was a mythical character depicted as carrying the entire world upon his back. But there is no myth about the burdens which have been placed directly upon your shoulders and upon your pocketbooks.

From July 1, 1945, through April 15, 1952, the Truman Administration has collected $293,442,258,924 in taxes.

In January of this year, the President submitted a budget requesting more money than was spent by the United States Government for all purposes—including four wars—the War of 1812—the Mexican War—the Civil and Spanish Americans Wars, from 1789 to 1925—a period of 136 years.

What portion of this tax burden has been placed directly upon the people of Indiana?

In 1951, the Federal government collected taxes to the per capita tune of $305.68 for every man, woman and child within our Hoosier State.

How much of this tax money did the Federal government give back to the people of Indiana?

Of the $1,202,616,546 taken out of Indiana by the Federal government in taxes in 1951, we Hoosiers received back only 7.08 per cent in so-called Federal grants-in-aid.

Where then does the money go?

We have a military budget of something like $60,000,000,000 a year.

Some 50 nations, representing 730 million people — nearly one-third of the world's population, look to the United States for their military defense.

Western Europe, with its population of 250 million people, looks to us for its military armament. We are giving them the working capital for their factories, and the coal with which to run their enterprises.

How has this effected our own standard of living?

Since the outbreak of the Korean conflict two years ago, the cost of living has risen 11.4 per cent. Today, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the cost of living has risen to a new all-time high.

If, as an Indiana farmer, you bought an E bond for $75 in 1940, and in 1950 you got back $100, you could buy only $53 in goods with it.

If you are a housewife, our international commitments mean the high cost you must pay for today's food.

To the aged, the widow, the veteran, the school teacher, these obligations, these rising prices mean insurance, pensions, and life savings—cut in half!

Today the world rests upon your shoulders. These are but a few of the costs. You, the American taxpayers, are today's modern Mr. and Mrs. Atlas.

Nothing to buy - just come and register

There will be a drawing from the names of all who register within a ten-day period ending at 9 P. M. Saturday, August 16th. Attendance at the drawing is NOT necessary for winning, but registrations are limited to one for each adult or each student above the 4th grade.

The first name drawn will receive a Crosley table model radio. The second name drawn will be awarded an RCA Personal Portable.

The third name drawn will be privileged to choose any one of the following:

RCA radio console with 45 rpm automatic changer

MOTOROLA car radio installed complete with aerial

GIBSON electric Spanish guitar, model ES125

GELL tape recorder complete with microphone

SELMER clarinet, the famous Bundy Resonite

ARMSTRONG flute, a favorite among musicians

OLDS cornet or trumpet, a wonderful instrument

BUESCHER trombone, a name known for quality

LEBLANC clarinet, the famous Normandy model

$200 credit on FRONTALINI accordion to be purchased, cash or contract, during August

$200 credit on WURLITZER piano from our floor, to be purchased, cash or contract, during August

BE SURE TO REGISTER — AUGUST 7th THROUGH 16th

Everybody Welcome

OPEN HOUSE

On Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the doors of Auburn's new music store will be opened to everyone in this northeast section of our state. There will be refreshments and also registrations for some wonderful gifts, listed at left. The open house will continue through Saturday. Registrations will continue another full week. And throughout these 10 days there will be some super-duper attractions to interest a wide assortment of tastes. Even if it goes from the sublime to the ridiculous it will only prove our point that "music is fun for everyone."

Actually, accordion addicts get the drop on everyone else because on Wednesday evening they have a special doin's, a preview for them exclusively. But anyone interested in pumping a bellows or watching it done is as welcome as the latest hit tune by Pietro Deiro. A very special guest from Cleveland will entertain. Refreshments? Yes! And registrations, too.

Tuesday the 12th at 8 P. M. is strictly highbrow. Even if we have only 6 interested listeners, our concert of HMV's (His Master's Voice records) will be a time of breath-taking enjoyment. Restless individuals will kindly choose another program. RCA's Robert Weeber will be in charge, but he himself isn't highbrow, he just likes the music.

Miss Juanita Gray of Garrett will be hostess on Wednesday evening the 13th, presenting in recital Miss Phyllis Shinn, recently graduated from Oberlin's School of Music and slated for studies in Europe at a later date. This occasion will be very special for those interested in piano.

As if all these attractions are not enough to repay you for the courtesy of your visit, we proudly present as intermittent background music the demonstration of our latest franchise, the Lowrey Organo, an electronic organ of superb tone, played through one of our beautiful Wurlitzer pianos. With podais, too, the effect is rich and satisfying. WILL YOU COME?

Problems of State

Lesson for August 10, 1952

MCJUMPUP JUNCTION is not the best place to go looking for a statesman. A statesman is not a mere "dead politician" as cynics claim. A politician of the lower sort is a man who is in politics first of all for his own benefit, and secondly for the benefit of his own little McJumpup Junction, and no thirdly whatever. But a statesman is in politics for the benefit of the human race. A man may start in McJumpup Junction, as Lincoln did; everybody has to start somewhere. But he is no statesman until his home district no longer seems more important than the wide world.

Dr. Foremen

For Defense

ONLY A STATESMAN can deal with problems of state successfully. That was one of the troubles with the first King of Israel; he could see his own wishes and interests, but not those of the nation as a whole; and God was too seldom in his thoughts.

Let us mention three problems of state which are perennial; they pressed hard on Saul, they press on us today.

One is called National Defense. There would be no such problem if all nations were friendly, but they seldom are. If all nations were on as good terms with one another as the United States is with Canada and Mexico, all of us would be better off. In ancient Israel they had this problem; they wanted a king more than anything else so as to build up an armed defense against a ring of enemy nations.

So in the United States today, the most acute problem, and the most expensive, before the nation, is that of defense and security.

Taxpayers complain without end; but it should be remembered that what eats up the taxes isn't the bureaucrats, it's military expenses. More than 75 cents out of every tax dollar is spent for wars, — past, present or future. That would not be necessary if all nations were friendly. So the underlying problem of state is: How can we create a more friendly international situation?

National Unity

ANOTHER PROBLEM of state is that of national unity. This was acute, back in the days of Saul and Samuel. The twelve tribes of Israel had never done anything together since the days of Joshua. They wanted a king not only for the sake of defense but for the sake of national unity.

So it is today on a larger scale. If every congressman goes to the capital just for this own constituency and for nobody else, that makes congress a perpetual dogfight.

There has to be somebody, or some group of men, who will be statesmen and not mere politicians; some person or persons of vision and influence, who will stand for all of the people rather than for only some of the people, — who will, if need be, stand for all of the people against some of the people.

But how are such wide-visioned men to be elected? A man is not better than his home-district voters want him to be.

Can Democracy Be Efficient?

THE FIRST THING that is said of truly centralized power in business, or a nation, or in the church or anywhere, is that such power is more efficient than when it is divided up. Some dictatorships have been highly efficient.

Mussolini, it was said, cleaned out the slums of many a city, and even performed the miracle of getting Italian trains to run on time. But he turned out to be just another tyrant, and his people turned against him, as long ago the Israelites turned against Saul.

So a third great problem of state is this: Can a democracy be efficient? The ideal government is one which steers between two extremes: on the one side is anarchy, which is freedom without unity; and on the other side is some absolute centralized power which compels unity without freedom.

Democracy is precisely the attempt to take this middle road. It is not an easy problem. Saul did not solve it, nor did David after him; it is not solved today. But only men of wide vision and wide concerns, big-minded, public-spirited, can even see the problem, much less try, under God, to solve it.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

TAX EVASION REPORTED—The Internal Revenue Department which was under severe criticism during the last session of Congress for its conduct in tax collections has now issued a report which will open the eyes of many taxpayers. The newly formed special rackets squad of the bureau reported recently that it had found evidence for tax claims totalling $73 millions against "known and suspected criminals" in its first year of operations. The Internal Revenue Department also reported that the squad obtained 374 indictments and that 199 of these cases have been brougt to trial.

Evidence of the racketeers' defiance of the tax laws was first produced by Senator John Williams of Delaware and other members of Congress who were widely concerned over alleged tax violations by known criminals.

COST OF LIVING GOES HIGHER—The Bureau of Labor Statistics, in a report July 7, said that a food survey in eight cities on June 15 showed that grocery and meat prices were 14 percent higher than in June 1950. The cost of living index was at 189 on May 15, only one-tenth of a point below the record 189.1 of December 1951 and January 1952.

START BUILDING CARRIER—Three years after it was originally planned, the keel of the 60,000 ton carrier Forrestal was laid at Newport News, Va. This is the carrier which was to have been named the United States. It was ordered built by the 80th Congress which voted funds for its construction. The President said the carrier was not needed at that time. John L. Sullivan, the then Navy Secretary, resigned in protest in 1949 over the scrapping of the plane carrier. At the time it was first ordered, the carrier could have been built at a cost of $189,000,000. The present cost is estimated at $218,000,000 because of the increase in labor and materials. On top of that, $4,750,000 had been spent of the keel of the United States, and has now been lost. The carrier will be ready for use in 1954.

In admitting that the 80th Congress was correct in ordering the construction of the carrier, Mr. Sullivan, who was present at the keel-laying for the Forrestal, said "we have lost four years."

U.S. AID TO KOREA—An official report from United Nations headquarters in Tokyo reveals that from July 1, 1950, to June 15, 1952, the United States government contributed nearly $496 millions in Korean economic aid and relief. During the same period, other members of the United Nations sent slightly more than $2.5 millions for the same causes. American religious and charitable agencies contributed another $2.5 millions in the same two-year period while volunteer agencies of other allied nations contributed $1.7 millions.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE VOICED—Emanuel Shinwell, Defense Minister in Great Britain, said in a speech on July 12 that there should be a "drastic reduction" in personnel in the British armed services as a first step in cutting military spending. Then he said, "at the same time, we should ask the United States with her huge and vast resources to render far more assistance in the military field for us and other countries than she has done hitherto." In the last three months, the U. S. has sent Britain more than $200 millions in defense aid.

"My range looks so good," says Mrs. Birge, "it is hard to convince my friends that it has been in use 16 years."

choice of experience

During 39 years of keeping house Mrs. E. C. Birge tried practically every method of cooking. Her last change, however, was over 16 years ago. That's when she switched to electric cooking. Since then she has never wanted to change to anything else.

"I've cooked 3 meals a day for the past 16 years on the same electric range," says Mrs. Birge, "and it still cooks as good as it did when it was new. It's fast, accurate, economical, and foods taste better when cooked electrically."

Women all over the country are switching to electric cooking and finding it just what they wanted. You will, too—so why not make your next range an electric range? You'll find new terms to suit your budget.

Around the Town

With the Editor

M'gosh, when are the tomatoes going to ripen!

Talk about luck, Lloyd Dunten has it. At one of the recent Lions Club games with Harlan, he bought some chances on an automobile they were giving away at their Harlan Day affair. He didn't get the car—but he did win a new automatic washer.

Some guys have all the luck.

William Hart of Spencerville sent in a note after seeing those pictures of the younger set last week in the paper. He said it looked like our little ones were geeting fed ice cream again.

On second look, it appears that ALL of 'em are getting plenty of ice cream—or something.

—Must be Holsom.

Ain't nature wonderful. A month ago it looked as if the grass would never grow again. Now look at it.

Albert Ewell likes to tell about the old days when he was courtin'. It must have been interesting with a horse and buggy for transportation. And then again, maybe it wasn't.

Albert says the horse he had was a bit on the frisky side and if he'd tighten a little on the reins, away he'd go for a buggy ride.

He tipped the buggy over three of four times with that horse.

Albert was also moaning about his troubles with two women in the household. He said he couldn't see how Solomon could have had all those wives. From within the house came a retort from the Mrs.—"He was a better man than you are!"

We changed the subject.

Frequent visitors in the News Office lately have been Richard, Carol and Walter Hoagland. They usually ask me if I'm "making some more type." They have the usual inquisitiveness of children and have their fingers into things that they shouldn't. Of course, they aren't any worse than some of the grownups I've had around here. More often than not there's a form or ed sitting around and if you know type, it has to be picked up just so or everything falls apart—and I do mean apart. I can remember a few weeks ago when a pickle man was in the shop and tried to pick a form up with his thumb and forefinger. It just won't work that way. But my sister-in-law's husband, Bob Schafenacker, was more fortunate when he tried it some time ago. He was lucky because he tried to pick up a form that had been run in the paper several times and was somewhat "stuck" together from use. It didn't collapse.

LEO AUXILIARY NEWS

Nearly 400,000 children of war veterans received aiid from the American Legion Auxiliary during the past year, according to Mrs. Park Sebert, Child Welfare Chairman of the Leo Auxiliary.

Reports of the child welfare activities of the Auxiliary 14,000 local units compiled for presentation to the organization's national convention when it opens in New York City August 24, show that approximately $2,000,000 was expended to provide food and clothing, medical and dental care and other forms of aid to needy children of veterans.

"These figures, of course, cannot show the countless acts of service performed by the thousands of volunteer child welfare workers in the Auxiliary units," said Mrs. Sebert. "Our purpose has been to keep families together and to make possible a normal American childhood in their homes for children of families broken by death, disability or other causes. Here in Leo our Unit Child Welfare Committee has been active throughout the year in this work."

St. Joe News
St. Joe, Ind.

Dear Editor-

Having spent first 21 years of my life in St. Joe, leaving there in 1908 for Reno, Okla, and have visited St. Joe about three times during last 44 years. I am joint agent for Missouri Pac. and Midland Valley Railroad Companies at Silverdale, Kans., about 30 miles from Wichita and close to the great Osage cattle country. We moved eleven hundred cars cattle from Osage through Silverdale junction point last year. Have been planning on making St. Joe a visit for few days this summer or fall, in fact, would have already been there if I could have been relieved. I owned a restaurant between the News building and the church and of course was very much acquainted with Fred and his force. I expect there will not be many old timers around, but I would enjoy seeing all of them. I was in Peru two weeks ago and visited Glen Able and M. J. Hadsell my old eighth grade teacher. My wife and I were married 38 years ago and have two sons, Franklin, who lives in Calif. and Blaine, who lives in Virginia close to Natural Bridge. Kindly advise me if there will be any fairs, etc. last part of August or first part of September.

The Hicksville fair was an important event for St. Joe folks and for a few years our base ball team took first money there.

Yours very truly,

Emmons B. Barney

Glad to hear from you, Mr. Barney. Ever so often we hear of the old timers who formerly lived and operated businesses in St. Joe in conversations with some of the old timers who are still kickin' around locally.

Here's a list of the fairs yet to be held in this area:

Berne Centennial, Berne, Aug. 17-23.

Wabash County 4-H Fair, Wabash, Aug. 18-22.

Defiance County Fair, Hicksville, O., Aug. 19-22.

Volunteer Firemen's Street Fair, Roanoke, Aug. 19-23.

Whitley County 4-H Fair, Columbia City, Aug. 21-22.

Cedar Creek Fall Festival, Leo, Aug. 22-23.

Paulding County Fair, Paulding, O., Aug. 27-30.

Indiana State Fair, Indianapolis, Aug. 28-Sept. 6.

Tractor Pulling Contest, North Manchester, Aug. 30.

Tractor Pulling Contest, Cromwell, Sept. 1.

Van Wert County Fair, Van Wert, O., Sept. 1-5.

Huntertown Fair, Sept. 4-6.

Williams County Fair, Montpelier, O., Sept. 7-13.

Agricultural Fair, Akron, O., Sept. 9-13.

Woodburn Days, Sept. 12-13.

St. Joseph County Grange Fair, Centreville, Mich., Sept. 14-20.

Monroeville Days, Sept. 18-20.

Bluffton Free Street Fair, Sept. 22-27.

DeKalb County Free Fall Fair, Auburn, Sept. 30.-Oct. 4.

Booster Days, Roann, Oct. 2-4.

Dear Ted,

I thought I'd write you and tell you I've been reading the "News" over here in Korea the past several weeks. Mom cuts the margin off so it will fit into an envelope and airmails it. It isn't so old that way. It seems more interesting while I'm over here. I get some of the news the folks forget to write. Say couldn't you get a little more local news in it?

At the present time our company is in a blocking position several hundred yds behind the lines. I sure wish they would end this mess over here and send us home. There seems to be everything to lose and not much to gain here. Just hope to spend nine months safely and rotate.

Today makes the seventh straight day of rain. Things are sure getting in bad shape. Most of the bunkers leak but mine is in fairly good shape. The roads are out in spots but they are working on them all the time.

We've been pretty lucky to get 3 hot meals a day here. If the rain keeps up we'll start getting C rations again.

About the middle of the month I went to Japan to spend 5 days R and R the Army calls it. (Rest and Recuperation). It sure seemed nice to get away from all this At that time we were on line. Here is all hills no level spots.

As we got back a ways from here you wouldn't have known a war was going on except for the traffic on the road. The Koreans were out farming. The rice paddies looked nice. The soybeans look pretty good, but the corn looked like it was planted too thick.

We flew from Korea to Japan and back. I went to Kokura. It is on the island just south of the one Tokyo is on. Donald Knop is stationed just a few miles from there and I visited him. He seems to be getting along fine.

Well, I have six and a half months in over here now. I hope to rotate before many more months and get back home.

I'll close now.

Thanks for the letter, Harold. It's always a pleasure to hear from servicemen.

In answer to your question about more items, a good share of the trouble is in the fact that I'm not always in the News Office and I imagine lots of folks who stop to give items find a locked door. It might help to have a letter slot in the door, so as soon as Herbie next door gets me one, I'll install it and then maybe we'll have better results. Bringing in items is just like livin'—a habit. And some people just ain't got the habit.

That's a good idea, sending copies of the News in letters. I know you get your paper a lot faster that way. Maybe some other families would rather do it that way. I've been sending papers to those men whose addresses I have. If anyone wants to send the News in their letters for faster service, just tell me and I'll send two copies to them so that they can forward one to their servicemen.

St. Joe Coach Resigns

James Tatlock has been released from his teaching and coaching contract at the Concord Twp. High School at his own request.

Mr. Tatlock informed the News Office Wednesday morning that he has accepted a position at West Lafayette in the junior high school system. His duties in his new position will include classes in English and guidance and coaching of junior high sports. He also will have charge of the little league summer program for six weeks. He said that this arrangement will give him an opportunity to direct the little league in the morning during the summer and at the same time attend classes at Purdue University in the afternoon in his work for a doctor's degree in education, majoring in guidance.

The opening became available earlier this month with the resignation of the former holder of the position.

Mr. and Mrs. Tatlock and daughter will probably move to their new location at the end of this month.

Piston Win String Broken

Fort Wayne's Zollner Pistons had their win streak in league competition and in all games broken last week-end. They dropped a 3-1 decision to Bloomington with Elmer McDonald doing the pitching chores.

On Sunday night the Midland Dow Chemicals cracked a winning streak that had reached 54 games in two years in the National Industrial Fastball League, beating Zollners, 3-1. The Pistons won 28 without defeat in the NIFL last year and had taken the first 26 on their schedule this year.

The Pistons, who appeared in St. Joe recently against a local team, came back in the second half of the double header Sunday winning a thriller, 1-0. It took 13 innings to pull that one out of the fire, however. 2,900 were on hand to witness Sunday's twin bill.

The next home games for the Fort Wayne team will be this coming Sunday when they meet the Calumet City Chiefs in a double header.

Nancy Lee & Hilltoppers At Spencerville

Nancy Lee and her famous WOWO Hilltoppers will be the feature attraction at the Jackson Twp. Blue Ribbon 4-H Club ice cream social to be held this Saturday, August 16, at the Spencerville gym.

The social will feature a menu of homemade ice cream, pie, cake, sandwiches, coffee and pop. The 4-H club will start serving at 5:30 p.m.

Nancy Lee and the Hilltoppers are widely known through their personal appearances and their radio shows from Fort Wayne station WOWO. They will play for square dancing and present their show starting at 8:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. There will be a charge for the square dance, fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children under 12 years of age.

R. H. C.

Rural Housewives held their August meeting at the home of Elizabeth Hart with thirteen members present at roll call with interesting miscellaneous responses.

Pluma Hamilton gave the opening number and Edna Jenkins and Pluma entertained with contests.

Officers to serve for the next year are Marie Ward, president; Leona Mason, vice-president; Ella Crothers, secretary; Pluma Hamilton, assistant secretary; and Edna Jenkins, treasurer.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Crothers and Mrs. Ward, served cooling refreshments.

Mrs. Marie Ward will entertain in September. Gladys Hart and Leona Mason will have charge of entertainment and Elizabeth Hart opening exercise.

THIS WEEK'S WASHINGTON STORY

by Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

THE INDIANA STATE FAIR

THIS year marks the 100th anniversary of the Indiana State Fair (August 26th to September 9th, inclusive).

The citizens of Indiana can indeed be proud of this splendid institution. It is the fourth oldest of all state fairs in the United States. Measured in terms of its physical equipment, the elaborateness and variety of its displays, it is unexcelled.

On this occasion of its 100th anniversary, it might be interesting to indulge in a brief review of its history, beginning with a brief glimpse of the public fair movement, as it started in this country.

The first distinctively American fair was held in 1811, when Elkanah Watson exhibited his sheep in the public square at Pittsfield, Mass.

The first state fair of any importance in this country, was held in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1841.

In 1852, the first Indiana State Fair was held in Indianapolis at Military Park, later known as Camp Sullivan.

In 1853, the Indiana State Fair was held at Lafayette; in 1854 at Madison; in 1859 at New Albany, and in 1865 at Fort Wayne. With the exception of these four years, however, these exhibits always have been held in Indianapolis.

One of the finest histories of the Indiana State Fair is to be found in "A History of Centennials, Expositions and World's Fairs," by George Jackson of Nelson, Neb., former Secretary of the Nebraska State Fair (published by Wekesser-Brinkman Co., Lincoln, Neb).

From Mr. Jackson's account of Indiana's first state fair, we find many interesting facts.

One bull exhibited, weighed 2,210 pounds; two cows weighed 1,625 and 1,665 pounds, respectively. Fine wooled sheep registered, sold at $5.00 and $6.00 per head. John Smith of Monroe County displayed an ear of corn with 30 rows, a total of 1,800 grains, which shelled at 1.3 quarts. Allen Lloyd of Lafayette displayed over 40 varieties of vegetables. Gate admissions of $4,651.25 paid all expenses.

By 1891, the original fair grounds were sold for $275,000, and 86 acres purchased at the present site, with a lease on 134 additional acres. The new project likewise called for the erection of 33 wooden buildings at a cost of $66,187. At the time, many were of the opinion that these grounds were too large.

Forty-six years later, 1937, the estimated value of the state fair properties had reached well over three million dollars.

This year, the exhibitors will emphasize "One Hundred Years of Progress in Agriculture and Industry" in their displays. With $50,000 added to the premium list, premiums alone will total over $400,000.00.

The Indiana State Fair is a thoroughly "Hoosier" institution. It is one of the highlight events of the year within our state. It is an inspiring testimonial to the initiative, industry, and the fine spiritual qualities of the people of Indiana. May I urge every one of you to attend this history-making centennial celebration.

BEST GUARANTEES

We think that the essentials of a good guarantee on any article are, first, a good reliable company as a maker, second, a plainly worded printed agreement stating just what will be done if certain things are faulty, third, but not least, is a dealer who has a past record of making his word good.

We believe that we meet all the above when we sell International Harvester Refrigerators and Freezers. First—reliable maker. Second—printed guarantee welded to the body. And third, we started selling home freezers in 1947 and have now sold more than 50 refrigeration units. Eight of these sales were the SECOND sales in the same household. Following is a list of our sales by post offices and their rural routes:

St. Joe 12, Spencerville 5, Ashley 2, Butler 3, LaOtto 3, Hicksville 1, Waterloo 2, Auburn 18, Corunna 1, Kendallville 1, Grabill 1, Harlan 1, Fort Wayne 1, Monroeville 1.

In this entire group we have replaced one control and one compressor dome without cost to either purchaser. So ask your neighbors how we deal for we most likely have sold a unit near you.

Special extra liberal trade in allowances. Easy terms up to 2 years to pay. Only 6 percent interest.

Also A.B.C.-O-Matic and regular washers.

A large assortment of G.E. table model radios with an extra free premium. $5 to $10 allowance on your old radio.

New electric console sewing machines $139.50, less trade in allowance. We also repair all makes of sewing machines.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING?

It's the big NEWS of the year

THERE is a host of things that endear a ROADMASTER to anyone who loves to drive.

There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine—most powerful ever put in a Buick.

There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air.

There's its hushed and luxurious silence—its poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop—and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflow Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space.

Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels—makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand—or a stretch of rough road—Power Steering smoothly goes into action—helps take up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder—on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

Why He Failed

Lesson for August 17, 1953

THERE IS NO such thing as a "nation" apart from the people who compose it. Destroy the people, destroy the nation; build up the people, build up the nation. Some people are, of course, key persons. What they do and are affects a vast number of people besides themselves. Such persons can make the difference between failure and success for an entire nation. Their tragedy or triumph is their nation's tragedy or triumph. Suppose Napoleon and Hitler had been at last successful? Suppose Alfred the Great and Abraham Lincoln had failed?

Dr. Foreman

A Double-Minded Man

SAUL, first king of Israel, is a tragic illustration of all this. He was a big handsome man with a creditable war-record; so the people elected him as their first king. It was not the first time, nor the last, that a man's military record has misled people to believe that he was good in other respects as a leader.

Saul had some serious defects in his character, so serious that they led to his personal failure. One of these faults was a general instability. He would make promises and not keep them.

You could not be sure whether he was friend or foe. He turned against members of his own family. He professed to want to know God's will and yet he would not do it. He officially stamped out witchcraft and yet he consulted a witch when in trouble. He would make vows and then back down from them. "A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways," it would be written many centuries later. Such a man makes a poor follower, and a fatally bad leader.

A Jealous Man

JEALOUSY is a word too often limited. It should not be confined to the way a boy feels when another one is stealing his girl, or vice versa. It refers to the mean feeling people have about any one who in any way, as they think, is out to "do them in."

Now this King Saul was a jealous man, as most dictators are. One of the great kings of Egypt could not bear to think of any other king as having built better buildings than he; so he employed the royal chiselers to remove from every public building the name of any other Pharoah and replace it with his own.

King Saul could not be jealous of the kings before him; for there were none. But he could be insanely jealous of any one he thought might be more popular than himself.

So we find him pursuing David vindictively, relentlessly, first making an outlaw of him, then a fugitive among Israel's enemies.

A Superstitious Man

THE FAMOUS STORY (Chap. 28) of Saul and the witch at En-Dor raises a number of questions to which nobody has the guaranteed answers. One thing, however, is clear from that story: Saul was a superstitious man. He thought that the dead could be conjured right out of the ground.

Whether the woman of En-Dor actually conjured Samuel up, or only induced Saul to think she did, the reader must judge for himself. The point is that Saul, who paid small attention to Samuel living, was very eager to talk with his ghost.

Superstition marks a man as full of fears, for fear is the food of superstitions. Fear also was the root of Saul's jealousy; and fear at last drove him to suicide. True leaders must be made of sterner stuff.

A Disloyal Man

SAUL FAILED not only because he was shifty, jealous and a coward. He failed because he was disloyal to God.

His public career began by his recognizing in Samuel a prophet of God, and in Samuel's instructions the will of God. But as time went on he took counsel only with himself; he listened to Samuel only when it was convenient. And so God rejected him.

Whatever a man's qualifications may be, if he compromises his own ideals, if he will not live up to what he recognizes to be best, if he will not listen to men of God, if he sets his own will above the will of the people, even above the will of God, then he is not only not a wise leader, he is a very bad one.

by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

FOOD POISONING

MOST persons, at some time in their lives, have become ill from something they have eaten. Food poisoning is due to bacteria in food, and ranges from a mild digestive upset to botulism, a serious, although rare, disease.

Two types of bacteria cause food poisoning — the staphylococcus and the salmonella germs.

The group of bacteria known as staphylococcus thrives at room temperature in certain foods, especially meats and custard, or cream pastries. Illness from eating foods containing such bacteria usually appears within two to four hours with nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, cramps and prostration. Such illness is seldom fatal and the severe symptoms last only a few hours.

The salmonella germ develops from human contacts and is also spread by rats, mice and household pets. That there is not more sickness caused by these germs is due to the fact that these bacteria are killed by thorough cooking and most foods carrying the possibility of infection have to be cooked. Cases of food poisoning by the salmonella type of germs are slower to develop in humans, and last longer.

Prevention of food poisoning consists of protecting foods from contamination by food handlers, proper refrigeration of foods and thorough cooking. These responsibilities rest with the housewife, the caterer, the cook and the chef.

Most outbreaks of food poisoning are due to carelessness after the food is purchased, while it is being kept in kitchen or storeroom, or while it is being prepared for serving.

A clean kitchen and infection-free handlers are safeguards against food poisoning.

Around the Town

With the Editor

I had an interesting visitor this week, Mrs. Harry Neely of Holgate, Ohio.

Mrs. Neely's husband, who passed away four years ago, was editor of the paper in that town and she was in on the business of operating a small-town newspaper. She told of the big times at Holgate, including the opening of the ball diamond with a personal appearance of Joe E. Brown. Mrs. Neely stated that there were 10,000 people in town that day.

Her husband was a sport writer for the Chicago Herald-American before going to Holgate and publishing his own paper.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Neely sold out but as we talked and she looked about the shop inspecting the equipment, it was easy to see that newspapers were still in her blood.

I'm getting a little going over from the girls' softball team, particularly Sandra McCann and Sue Walters. They're sore because the girls' games don't get announced in the paper.

I'm sorry, but I don't always know when you're going to play, girls.

Next year I hope to have a system set up so that ALL games at the local diamond will get in the paper, box scores and all.

After all, this is just the first full year of operating the diamond. We can expect some growing pains.

New Application For Carry-Out License

The Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission reported last week that Charles McIntosh of St. Joe has filed a new application for a license to retail beer and wine carry-outs at his place of business in St. Joe.

The hearing before the DeKalb Co. liquor licensing board is set for 10 a.m. Wednesday, September 3, in the court house at Auburn.

A permanent injunction, prohibiting the sale of beer and wine at the St. Joe confectionery, was issued against Mr. McIntosh in January of 1951 by Judge Donald H. Hunter in the Steuben circuit court at Angola. Judge Hunter based his decision on the fact that Chuck's Place is within 200 feet of the St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe.

John Witt Wins 4-H Tractor Contest

John Witt of Spencer Township won the DeKalb County 4-H plowing contest held Saturday.

He plowed .950 acres with one gallon of gasoline in 29 minutes. He also placed first in the senior operating contest. Second place honors went to Roger Holman, Franklin Township, who plowed .567 acres.

John King of Franklin Township placed first in junior tractor operating in the contest held at the Lester Boger farm east of Auburn.

DeKalb County implement dealers sponsored the contest and awarded tool kits to the three top winners. Drinks were furnished for the potluck dinner by the DeKalb County ABA technicians.

Winners in these contests competed in the district tractor contest at the Auburn fair grounds August 20.

Henry Plattner Takes Life

Henry Sheridan Plattner, a retired farmer residing northwest of St. Joe, took his own life early Saturday afternoon by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. Mr. Plattner was 83 years old.

Apparently despondent over the poor health of his invalid wife and worried because he was soon to leave the farm where he had lived nearly all his life, he was found dying shortly after noon Saturday by his daughter, Mrs. Joy Muhn, who resided with her father and mother.

County coroner Dr. Clayton Hathaway said the elderly retired farmer died at 1 p.m., approximately an hour after he drank the acid.

Mr. Plattner had driven to St. Joe to buy groceries Saturday morning. He returned and after eating some peaches he had purchased, walked out of the house.

When he failed to return for dinner, his daughter went in search. She found him lying unconscious beside his automobile in a shed.

He had spread out an old comforter on the ground and fashioned a pillow out of a grain sack to lie down upon after he drank an unknown quantity of carbolic acid from a glass.

Police were unable to find the carbolic acid bottle. Members of his family did not know where he had obtained it.

The daughter told authorities that her father had been despondent recently because of his wife and because the family planned to move from the home place to Toledo this fall.

Mr. Plattner was born on the farm where he died February 23, 1869. He lived there his entire life with the exception of two years when he resided in east Auburn.

He married Bertha Rose June 4, 1891. Surviving besides the wife and daughter are another daughter, Mrs. W. J. Bauer, of Toledo, four grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

The elderly farmer left no suicide note.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday.

PROPOSES INCREASE OF 2c IN STATE GASOLINE TAX

Indiana State Highway Commissioner Jap Jones this week proposed an increase of two cents per gallon in Indiana's gasoline tax.

He said increased revenue derived from such a tax boost could best be used to widen and improve existing highways. He expressed a particular need for highways 24 feet wide.

Jones said the commission has received an unprecented number of demands for highway improvements from groups throughout the state. Many cities seek by-passes and others want main highways leading into cities to be four lanes, he said.

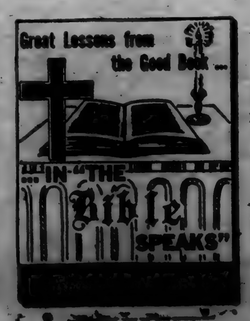
His proposal would boost the state gasoline tax from four to six cents per gallon. The four-cent fee resulted in revenue of about $67,000,000 last year, he said, so the proposed boost could be expected to amount to near $33,000,000.

Jones said he believed the plan would meet little opposition. He said it would be an added burden only on those who use the highways, not on property owners.

Many state highways now 18, 20 or 22 feet wide should be widened to 24 feet to meet traffic demands and decrease the number of accidents, Jones said. He saw a need for four-lane highways on all main roads leading out of Indianapolis.

Chairman Samuel C. Hadden said other members of the highway commission and many county leaders also favor the gasoline tax increase. He said a bill to that effect probably would be introduced in the 1953 State Legislature.

Hadden said many state highways are not safe for today's speeds and should be widened. He also suggested more divided pavements to separate opposing streams of traffic and avoid head-on collisions. He said there are 1,200 narrow bridges which should be widened or replaced.



Superintendent Dies; Roger Hess Elected

Carl Frederick Stallman, 59, superintendent of schools in DeKalb County for 23 years, died of a heart attack Wednesday, August 13, in Auburn. He had suffered for many years from high blood pressure and experienced a severe heart attack two years ago but returned to full time duty in the superintendent's office.

Mr. Stallman died just two days short of completing his 23rd consecutive year as superintendent of schools in DeKalb County.

Before coming to Auburn, he had served as a teacher and principal in three Steuben County schools.

Funeral services were conducted Friday.

The fifteen township trustees of DeKalb County met in Auburn Monday and elected Roger Hess of Spencerville as county superintendent of schools to complete the unexpired term of Mr. Stallman.

The new superintendent was the only applicant for the position after another applicant, Donald Coar, a former Auburn high school teacher, withdrew his application.

The new superintendent has served for a year as principal at Spencerville where he replaced Everett Paschen. His term as county superintendent will extend until August 16, 1953, when the county board of education will be summoned to elect a superintendent to a four-year term.

Mr. Hess graduated from the Avilla High School and received his bachelor's degree from Manchester College in 1943. He entered service in the army after graduating from college and served until 1946.

His first teaching assignment was in the schools at Roanoke. After a year, he moved to Clear Creek school in Huntington County and for four years was a teacher and athletic coach. He then came to Spencerville as principal and teacher.

For the past three years he has studied at Indiana Unipersity extension at Fort Wayne and for two summers was a student on the Indiana Unifersity campus at Bloomington. He has his master's degree and superintendent's license.

The family plans to move to Auburn when suitable housing is available.

THE AMERICAN WAY

His Frankenstein Monster

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

IN THIS YEAR of 1952, every child born a citizen of the United States will come into the the world with a debt saddled on its back in excess of eighteen hundred dollars.

Of this amount, only $156.30 is allocated to state and local indebtedness. The remainder of this one thousand eight hundred dollar indetedness, represents obligations of our Federal government.

Despite this, in the very first month of fiscal 1958 (July), the Federal government went in the red $3,426,000,000. This deficit exceeds by more than 50 per cent the deficit for the first month of fiscal 1952.

As of August 1st, the Federal debt rose to $268,100,000,000 as against $255,700,000 a year ago.

Because these facts reach into the homes and down into the pocketbooks of every American citizen, you are entitled to know why the Federal government is faced with such large expenditures; what problems are created as a result of these obligations; and what—if anything—we are getting for our money.

One of the items which increased our Federal indebtedness in the past year was military assistance to foreign countries. This little item jumped from $109,000,000 to $293,000,000. With all of this assistance, however, here is the situation:

Britain finds she cannot carry out her rearmament commitments made at Lisbon, while guarding her interests in Malaya and the Middle East. France, likewise finds herself incapable of fulfilling her rearmament agreement, while conducting the war in Indo-China, and maintaining her position in North Africa.

Expenditures for our own Army, Navy and Air Force combined, have jumped from $3,474,600,000 in July of last year to $4,789,000,000 in July of this year.

Still our American boys remain in the fox holes of Korea while the truce talks continue.

That all of these factors are leading to a feeling of helplessness and hopelessness is reflected in the market both for United States Government and World Bank Bonds. Already this month the over-the-counter market for U. S. Government Bonds has dropped to the lowest level in quite some time. Similar unrest is registered in the bid and ask price for World Bank Bonds.

So much for the national and international situation. How have these vast government expenditures and high taxes affected our economy in Indiana?

According to a recent report of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, more than 107 Indiana business firms have abandoned expansion of production because Federal taxes have made such ventures unprofitable. Moreover, most of these businesses are in the small business classification.

Today the purchasing power of the dollar has dropped below fifty-three cents.

The toll of Federal taxes upon the average American family of four is twenty-five times greater than it was twenty years ago. No wonder Hoosier business men are becoming discouraged.

Dates For Seed Cleaning & Treating

County Agricultural Agent Ernest J. Lesiuk has announced the schedule for cleaning and treating seed for DeKalb County. Farmers are urged to clean and treat their seed wheat this fall before sowing as it greatly improves the chances of a better crop at harvest time.

There are two cleaners operating in the county again this year. They are operated by H. J. Dickison of Butler Township, phone 905-W2 Garrett, and by Ewald Schmidt of Wilmington Township, phone 831-W Butler.

Farmers will need additional help and plenty of clean sacks ready when the cleaner arrives. One man will be with each machine so the farmer will be expected to furnish two to help operate the machine efficiently.

Those interested in having cleaning and treating done should contact their township committee which is listed in the schedule below giving amount of grain to be cleaned and treated.

Sept. 3, 4—Smithfield, Dickison, Roy King, committeeman, Waterloo.

Franklin (southeast)—Schmidt, Charles Ratts, committeeman, Butler.

Franklin (northwest)—Schmidt, Millard Rosenberry, committeeman, Hamilton.

Sept. 5,6—Fairfield, Dickison, Jay Sutherland, committeeman, Ashley.

Troy—Schmidt, Boyd Jennings, committeeman, Butler.

Sept. 8, 9—Richland, Dickison, Heber Haynes, committeeman, Garrett.

Stafford—Schmidt, Andrew Grube, committeeman, Butler.

Sept. 10, 11—Grant and Union (west of Auburn)—Dickison, Ora Crooks, committeeman, Waterloo.

Union (east of Auburn)—Schmidt, Ivan Rosenberry, committeeman, Butler.

Sept. 12, 13—Jackson, Dickison, William Essig, committeeman, Auburn.

Sept. 15, 16—Keyser, Dickison, John Chittenden, committeeman, Auburn.

Spencer—Schmidt, Lester Anthony, committeeman, St. Joe.

Sept. 17—Newville, Schmidt, Wilbur Beree, committeeman, St. Joe.

Sept. 18, 19—Butler, Dickison, H. J. Dickison, committeeman, Garrett.

Wilminkton—Schmidt, Ewald Schmidt and Ivan Rosenberry, committeemen, Butler.

On Prosperity

The government's Bureau of Labor Statistics released an interesting report this past week showing that the "average family" in the U. S. is following in the footsteps of Uncle Sam himself—spending more than it earns.

A survey conducted in 91 cities of all sizes showed that the average of 10,813 families had $4,300 left over to spend after paying about 7 percent to the tax collector, while expenditures ran up to $4,700. The difference was made up with inheritances, gifts, savings accounts, loans and the like. The survey covered the year 1950.

It would seem that there is cause for worry over the trend of our financial situation. We've seen years of fruitless spending which now apparently are coming home to roost—in the empty pocketbooks of Mr. and Mrs. America. Oh sure, things aren't as bad as all that, we will hear. At least the average family had $4,300 to spend, more than the average family of other nations. That is part of the "prosperity" we hear so much about and will hear more about until November. Our ears are constantly reminded of the great progress this country has experienced in the past 20 years, topped by the present era of "prosperity."

There are a few things, however, which detract much from those prosperity claims and which also subtract from the $4,300 the average family had left to spend.

If we take as a basis the depression period of, say, 1932, we have a per capita indebtedness of literally nothing. Now, through the next period of twenty years, we have the rise of labor, the rise of prices, the rise of profits, the rise of wages, and a rise of government spending to the extent that, 20 years later, each individual is indebted to the tune of approximately $1,800. Now let us assume that Mr. Wagearner is supporting a family of four, probably making mortgage payments on a home and possibly making payments on a new or fairly new automobile. If we assess Mr. Wagearner at $1,800 for each of his family of four, he owes $7,200. Should we force him to make payment of his indebtedness, he will be lucky to end up with the shirt on his back. In other words, the prosperity which we are supposedly enjoying is a figment of the imagination. If every breadwinner had to square up his share of the public debt today, what would he or she have left???

In reference to the $4,300 left over to spend, as the above survey reported, there is no mention of how much is needed of that amount to cover additional taxes, hidden and otherwise, which the average citizen hands out with practically every cent he or she spends for everyday living. The implication is bad enough when we find that U. S. families are spending more than they earn, much less learning how much is actually left over after paying all taxes.

Our government itself is the greatest contributor to financial insecurity through its wasteful spending and failure to live within its means. A majority of the man-on-the-street population desire economy in government. The hitch comes in the fact that no one will give up his own pet project and make some sacrifice of personal gains. The sooner we realize that everyone is liable to get their toes stepped on in the process of economizing, the sooner we'll get back on the right path.

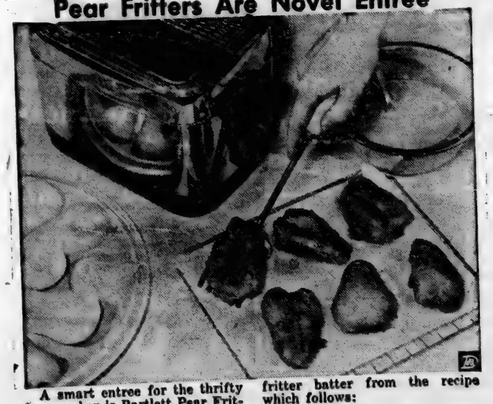
Pear Fritters Are Novel Entree



A smart entree for the thrifty homemaker is Bartlett Pear Fritters with their crusty covering, served with a tasty cheese sauce. Budget minded women are always looking for new ideas to keep the food dollar under control, yet give their meals a novel touch. Pear Fritters are so smart that no one would guess they are so economical to serve.

The fritter batter encases canned Washington-Oregon Bartlett pears, drained from their juice, then dipped into flour so the batter will cling to the pear. Next they are dipped into the fritter batter, then slipped into the hot deep fat for their crust coating. Three to four minutes cooking and they are ready to take from the hot fat to drain and serve.

The accompaniment for the Pear Fritters is important too. Since the pears are sweet, a contrast in flavors is important. If the day is a blustery one, a hot slaw is good. Strips of bacon, frizzled dried beef or smoked salmon thinly sliced may also accompany the pear fritters. There is a wide choice of possible accompaniments to accent the goodness of the pears.

For the fritter batter, a frying-mix batter may be prepared in a few minutes, or prepare a fluffy fritter batter from the recipe which follows:

BARTLETT PEAR FRITTERS

1 No. 2½ can Washington-Oregon Bartlett Pears
Flour

Fritter Batter

⅛ cup milk
1 egg, separated
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoon baking powder
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace

Combine the beaten egg yolk and milk. Sift together the dry ingredients into a mixing bowl and add the egg-milk mixture. Beat until smooth. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white.

Roll the pear halves in flour then dip into fritter batter. Fry in deep fat from 3 to 4 minutes at 360 degrees, or when a cube of bread turns light brown in 60 seconds. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot.

For the cheese sauce, make a white sauce, using 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ¼ cup cheese, and seasonings of salt and pepper. In serving the fritters, put the sauce on the plate and the pear fritters on top of the sauce.

4-H News

The St. Joe Valley 4-H Club met Monday, August 11, in the ag room at the high schoool. President Sammy Morr called the meeting to order and Connie Fisher read the minutes of the last meeting.

There were 30 members answering to roll call. Junior Westrick (local jr. leader) with the assistance of the president met all the pig and beef club members in the history room and assisted the members with their record books. A. H. Lawson gave the remainder of the members help in completing their books. After the meeeting the group played games in the gym and group singing was directed by Mr. Lawson. Refreshments of pop and ice cream were served.

Mr. Robert Sechler, Sammy Morr and Walter Rinehart furnished cars to take 22 boys and girls 4-H members to the Kendallville fair on August 12. The group observed the exhibits there as a means of improving the quality of exhibits of the local club at the DeKalb County Fair in October.

The group returned to their homes at 4:30 Tuesday evening.

Mr. Merl Guilford has been acting as adult 4-H leader with a group of St. Joe boys making electrical gadgets that are useful in their farming operations. These boys will exhibit their completed projects at the Auburn fair in October. Local people are urged to see the work of Mr. Guilford and the boys on display at the fair.

A. H. Lawson, agricultural instructor at Concord Twp. High School, judged three county fairs during the first two weeks of August at Warsaw, LaGrange and Argos of Marshall County.

Five days of judging were required to rank each of 450 gilts and barrows, 250 fat steers and heifers and about 130 sheep. In the course of the five days, 18 different grand champions were picked, namely three in beef, hogs and sheep and the grand champion showman in each division.

A Hereford won grand champion in each of the three fairs. A young lady 4-H'er was leading the calf on two occasions. Girls nearly always cry when their calf wins the coveted award, Mr. Lawson reports, and this year was no exception. Two of the reserve champions were Angus and the third was a light weight Hereford.

The three grand champion barrows were as follows:

Lagrange—Duroc 217 lbs., reserve, Hampshire 170 lbs.

Warsaw—Hampshire 186, reserve, Berkshire 190.

Argos—Chester White 186, reserve, Chester White 200.

The grand champion calf at LaGrange sold for $57 cwt. The bulk of the remainder of the 64 calves averaged about $34.

The grand champion barrow at LaGrange sold for $53 cwt., $65 over market for the day.

The quality of calves at Argos was the best seen at a fair in some time, Mr. Lawson said, in spite of the large number of calves, 112. A committee of men buys all of the calves and the members draw lots for the calves. A calf cannot be shown unless one is bought from the committee. This idea vastly improves the quality of calves as a whole and puts the beef project on a more profitable basis than most shows, Mr. Lawson opined.

67 AT 4-H CAMP

Sixty-seven DeKalb 4-H club members left Auburn Wednesday morning for 4-H club camp at Epworth Forest on Lake Webster.

Four counties are participating in this encampment, DeKalb, Allen, Steuben and Noble.

During this camping period from August 20-23, the 4-H boys and girls will participate in classes in swimming, camp news reporting, first aid and safety, recreation instruction, wildlife, fishing, music and chorus, photography, nature hike, rural health, handicraft and forestry.

Twenty of the 4-H members attending camp received a free trip on their 4-H records of achievement. Included are Mary Jones of Spencerville, Jerry Keener of St. Joe, Mary Wilder of St. Joe and Lynne Lawson of St. Joe.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: I Samuel 16; 18; 22:1-2; 23:15-18; II Samuel 1:1—2:4a; 3:1; 5:1-5. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 31: 1-7.

Making of a King

Lesson for August 24, 1952

ONE of the most romantic and heroic figures known to song and story is that of David, King of Israel. Even when Christ came to earth, his fellow-countrymen could think of no grander title for him than "Son of David."

Dr. Foreman

Now David has been idealized almost beyond recognition. The whole story of his life (as seen in the Bible) reveals a man in whom strength and weakness, good and evil, were strangely mingled.

But that is not the main point here. The fact is, David made a strong and successful king; and if there was evil in him, it was more in the older man than in the young one. The story of how he became king is too long even to review here. Let us concentrate on that eloquent little one-sentence portrait of him drawn for a description of him by one of his friends when they both were young. It is found in I Sam. 16:18.

His Family and His Fun

THE BIG ARGUMENT for strong-David by his friend who was recommending him to the king, is that he was son of Jesse of Bethlehem.

A man's family is not an important fact. Men do not often reach high places merely on the reputation of their ancestors; but having the right parents will make a good start.

This is seriously true; for a man's heredity is what goes into the making of his bone and muscle, brain and nerves. The kind of place where a man lived as a boy, the kind of father he had, spells volumes about the man, even years later.

Can we forget that David was the son of a sheep-rancher, a boy who grew up working out of doors? That his parents were God-fearing people?

David's friend also mentioned his playing the harp. No doubt David did this as a recreation; he was no professional musician. But his avocation, his spare-time enjoyment, turned out to be the first rung on his climb to fame. It is important to know about any man: How does he spend his spare time?

His Brawn and His Brains

DAVID'S FRIEND, recommending him for a position in the royal court, spoke of him as a "mighty man of valor, and a man of war." This was an exaggeration, for David at that time had never seen military service, as the story in Samuel shows.

However, it was a good prophecy; and so far as the valor went, it had well been proved. A man who can take a bear by the beard and kill him, may be a bit rash but he is certainly no coward. And what muscles that young man must have had! Never think of David as a little boy when he killed Goliath the giant; he was an athlete better than most.

But David, unlike some athletes, did not need a manager. He was a "man of war," or at least the young friend who was describing him thought he was; and time proved him right.

Now it takes more than muscle to be a successful general. Almost anybody can be a private; and a man can rise somewhat in the ranks on sheer brute power. But when it comes to staff work, planning campaigns, handling large numbers of men and supplies, fitting everything together like a gigantic chess game with nations at stake, —that calls organizing ability, farsightedness, mental powers of a high order.

His Face, His Fluency, His Faith

THE UNKNOWN young man whose word-picture of David we are following, was like many young people in mixing together items that an older person would take up separately. Almost in one breath he reported that David was a good speaker, good-looking and godly.

But the best thing about him, his friend saved to the last: the Lord is with him. We make a mistake if we think that highly gifted, fortunate people can afford to get on without God. It is just those who need God most, if we can say that any one person needs God more than others.

Let us rather say that it is more important for the rest of us that the superior men and women among us be God-fearing, God-loving, God-obeying men and women, then that less important persons should be so.

RACING STATE FAIR FEATURE

The greatest sports round-up ever presented in the 100 year history of the Indiana State Fair will be served up this year to attract sports fans to the Centennial Celebration of the giant exposition, August 28 through September 6.

Included will be "Derby Day" flat races and the $200,000 Grand Circuit Harness Races, plus Motorcycle Races, making their first appearance in thirty years in front of the grandstand on the final day, September 6.

Inaugurated last year after a lapse of many seasons, the "Derby Day" program is being doubled this year and will occupy two days of the sports docket, Thursday and Friday, August 28 and 29. Among those participating in the enlarged program of 17 events will be Charlie Bright, three-time winner of the Canadian racing crown and such outstanding thoroughbreds as King, 3 year old gelding, grandson of Equipoise.

A record number of 717 entrants and a new high purse of $200,000 will spark the Grand Circuit Harness Meet beginning Saturday, August 30. Highlights will be the Horseman Futurity on Labor Day, with all money winners from the Hambletonian, including first place finisher Sharp Note, competing; the pacers Horseman Futurity, also on Labor Day, which is a preview for the "Little Brown Jug" at Delaware, O.; the $35,000 Horseman Stake, nation's richest race for two-year olds, Tuesday, September 2; and the famous Fox Stake, for two year old pacers, the following day.

Making its appearance on Friday, September 5, will be "Filly Day," with only fillies participating. Another Friday feature will be the "Free-For-All" pace, featuring a renewal of the duel between Dudley Hanover and Good Time, world's largest money winner, who has earned a total of $274,485.10.

After a 30 year absence, the motorcycle races will be the dirt track attraction on the final day, September 6. They are sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association. Nine events are expected to attract most of the nation's best speedsters with the highlight being a five mile national championship, one of only five such events carded throughout the U. S. this year.

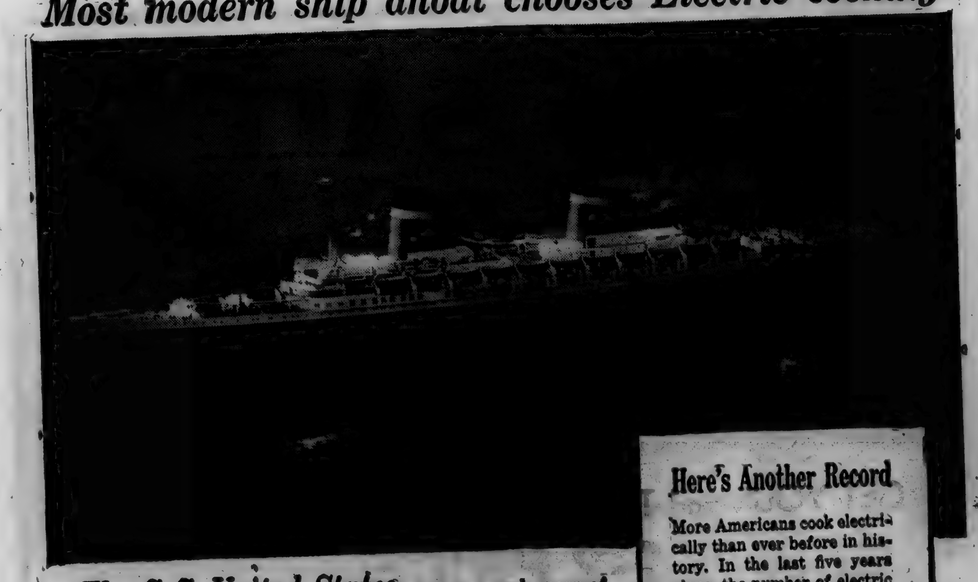
Most modern ship afloat chooses Electric cooking



The S.S. United States... new speed queen of the seas. From stack to keel, her equipment is the finest. All the cooking equipment in her 14 galleys is, of course, electric... chosen by the ship's designers because it's clean, efficient, economical, safe, and fast. These same features of electric cooking have made it the choice, too, of America's finest hotels, restaurants, trains, of millions of America's homes.

INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY

Here's Another Record

More Americans cook electrically than ever before in history. In the last five years alone, the number of electric ranges in use has doubled. The proportion of electric ranges to other kinds in use has steadily increased each year. The record plainly shows that "the switch is to electric."

Some of the boys from Spencerville have stopped by in recent weeks to get blanks for those civil defense "dog tags" you've read about. I've got a stack of blanks now for the tags. If you want one, say so.

The tag is supposed to be practically indestructible. Each tag is registered at state and county headquarters. So, if you're in an accident or we have a big storm or whatever might befall you and your families, the tags would be of assistance.

They're only two-bits apiece and come with chain attached.

Information on the tag includes name, address, birth date and religion.

I had a nice little discusion with Reuben Rowe, trustee of Stafford Township, this week about schools, teachers, etc.

We had our discussion in one of the township's school houses, a typical old-time one-room school with the big stove at the rear of the room, lessons on the blackboard from last term, and faded pictures of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Rowe faces, as are many trustees nowadays, the problem of providing adequate teaching facilities for the school age children in his township. There was another in on the conversation—I don't know what his name was—who was getting the school pianos in shape for the coming year. He made some remarks that made me feel pretty good. We had been talking about the relative merits of the schools in this area when he said, "You have to hand it to St. Joe. They've got some darn good teachers down there. For a small town, they've got good schools."

Sam Miller took his family and Joan Hanky of Butler to the ball games at Chicago Sunday. The Cubs and Phillies played.

But the fun came after the game.

If you've driven to Chicago, you know that around Munster there are lots of wide open spaces but they keep a 30-mile-an-hour limit on speed. After being on the road, it's sometimes difficult to get down to 30 & stay there, particularly when there isn't anything to slow down for. Well, Sam says he was doing fifty and they got him.

But that ain't all. When the cop asked for Sam's license, Sam confidently pulled it out and handed it over. "Aha!" says the cop, "We've got you again!" Sam's license expired in May.

So they dropped the speeding charge and took him for $12.75 for not having his license up to date.

Moral—if you want to get out of a speeding ticket, don't renew your driver's license.

Last week I stopped in at Virgil Koch's at Spencerville to get a game for the local diamond between Spencerville Lutheran Church and the St. Joe Churches softball teams. While I was there, he introduced me to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton LeMay of Pecos, Texas, who were visiting relatives in and around Spencerville. I thought the name was familiar and asked if they received the News. The answer was yes. Mrs. LeMay said, "Are you the editor? I put a note on a letter to you one time to say hello to all my friends back here and you didn't even mention it."

So to make up for the other time when yours truly neglected to publish Mrs. LeMay's hello—

Mrs. Clayton LeMay of Box 1345, Pecos, Texas, sends greetings to all her friends at Spencerville.

How's that, ma'am?

School Begins Friday At 9 A.M.

Concord Township School students will open the 1952-53 school year Friday, August 29, when they attend an opening session at 9 a. m. to get acquainted with the schedule for the coming year and to receive their booklists.

Charles McCreery, principal of the schools, has announced the faculty for the coming school year as follows:

Mrs. Frieda Guilford, Grade I and Grade II.

Mrs. Donna Dragoo, Grade II and Grade III.

Mrs. Violet Baker, Grade IV and Grade V.

Mr. Carl Hart, Grade V and Grade VI.

Mrs. Ruth Butler, Home Economics and Biology.

Mr. Robert Dragoo, Commerce, Physical Education, Coaching.

Mr. A. H. Lawson, Agriculture and Science.

Mrs. June McCreery, English, Physical Education, Health and Librarian.

Mr. John Rose, Mathematics and Science.

Mr. Joe Smith, Social Studies and Physical Education.

Mr. Hubert Stackhouse, English and Social Studies.

Mr. Carl Zimmerman will again alternate as Music Teacher for Concord Township and Spencer Township schools.

The booklist has been announced and is listed below. Those titles in bold type are either newly adopted textbooks or workbooks which must be purchased new.

In view of a school's limited finances, all puchases of books or other school materials from the school must be made in cash.

Books will not go on sale until 1 p.m. Friday afternoon.

Prices have been listed where available.

2 Killed In Accidents

Two persons were injured fatally in automobile accidents on Sunday and Tuesday. Edward Royal Deventer of route 2, Auburn, was injured fatally and two Spencerville residents injured seriously early Sunday in a two-car accident that occurred at the intersection of the Lochner and Harron roads north of Leo in Allen County.

Deventer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deventer, died at 5:10 p. m. Sunday at the Veterans Hospital in Fort Wayne.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Injured in the colision were Edward Woodring, 46, and James Baker, 13, a passenger in Mr. Woodring's car.

Relatives reported that Mr. Deventer had left his parents' home about 8:30 a.m. to drive to the new home his brother is building on state road 1 in Allen County. Edward had planned to help his brother, Ronald, in the construction work.

Woodring was driving south on the Lochner road while Deventer's car was traveling east on the Harron road. They collided at the intersection. There are no stop signs at the obstructed crossing.

The violent impact rolled Deventer's car on top of Woodring's 1951 Mercury in a wheels-up position. Woodring staggered from the wreckage and crawled and walked a quarter of a mile to a farm house seeking help.

Deventer's Ford and the Mercury were demolished in the collision.

Mr. Deventer suffered a brain concussion, fractured right leg, multiple lacerations about the head and body and internal injuries.

Woodring and the Baker boy were taken to the Methodist Hospital at Fort Wayne. Mr. Woodring suffered a puncture wound in his chest and cuts and bruises. The Baker youth's left leg was fractured and he suffered cuts and bruises.

Surviving Mr. Deventer, besides the parents, are four sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Walters of St. Joe, Mrs. Eloisa Gephart and Mrs. Carol Ahlersmeyer of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Eleanor McCann of Butler; three brothers, Ronald of St. Joe, Burnell of Fort Wayne and Lee of St. Joe.

In the second fatal accident within three days, William Franklin Rhoads, 73, of route 1, Spencerville, was killed and four others injured, one seriously, as a pick-up truck and a pleasure car crashed head-on a mile south of Spencerville on state road 1 at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said the driver of the northbound truck, Mirwood E. Rhoades, apparently took his eyes off the road to wave at a farmer working in a field. William F. Rhoads saw the colision impending and attempted to right the course of the truck.

The truck and a southbound automobile driven by William Miller, 37, of Spencerville, met head-on. Miller and a 5-year-old son, James, riding in the car, escaped serious injury. But another son, William, 2, was seriously injured. They are patients at the Methodist Hospital.

Mirwood Rhoades also was not seriously hurt. He is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital at Ft. Wayne.

Principal Named For Spencerville Schools

Roger Hess, DeKalb County Superintendent of Schools, announced Tuesday that Kent Myers of Butler has been named as principal of the Spencerville school to succeed Mr. Hess. Mr. Hess resigned the position to accept his new post upon the death of Carl Stallman of Auburn.

Mr. Hess also announced that Joe Smith of Rochester has been assigned as an instructor of social studies at the St. Joe school to succeed James Tatlock who resigned.

With the filling of the two positions the schools under Mr. Hess' jurisdiction in the county now have all the required teachers.

Mr. Myers graduated from Butler high school and in 1943 received his bachelor's degree at Indiana University where he majored in commerce and physical education.

He is married and has three sons, ages five, four and one year.

Jim Moore, Don Donat Win News Trophies

The St. Joe News Sportmanship Trophy has been awarded to Jim Moore of Sechler's little league team and Donald Donat of Holsom Dairy's pony league team.

Jimmie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore of St. Joe, and Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donat of route 1, St. Joe, were each presented with a trophy Wednesday evening at a short ceremony between games of a double header at the St. Joe diamond.

The awards were presented to the boys in consideration of their conduct on and off the playing field, attitude and ability. Realizing that what some players lack in ability is made up for by team spirit and good conduct and sportsmanship, the News decided against a "most valuable player" award in favor of the sportsmanship trophies.

The awards were presented by the editor of the News.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Thirty cents out of every dollar the customer spends goes to the government in hidden taxes.

Based on the Economic Report to the President January 1952

'A Better Life'

When a man denies that he is inclined toward communism or socialism and then advocates policies which are contrary to the American concept of individualism, he is doing one of two things. Either he is deliberately deceiving his would-be followers in order to gain their support or else he is ignorant of the fact that his views are contrary to the the American form of government.

We have to some extent a mistaken conception of communists or socialists prevalent in our country today. Many Americans speak of those persons and their alien ideas in a manner which suggests that they believe a communist or socialist boldly states "I am a communist" or "I am a socialist" and definitely outlines a program to make our government conform with his ideas. This is not the case. Such a procedure would fail because Americans are anti-communist and anti-socialist. They would reject immediately anyone who boldly advocated any such "un-American" ideas.

The smart way is to say "I am an American and I am advancing my program for the good of the people so that they may enjoy a better life." And that is the course used by many who quietly seek changes in our way of life. Unfortunately there are many, using the same procedure, who are duped into believing that there is a better way than that sought by our forefathers. They support programs and ideas which they sincerely believe will be better for the people. They are sincerely seeking a better life but cannot see that the patterns they follow will ultimately not lead to a better life but one of oppression. Americans today are obsessed with the idea that a better life means "more money and less work" and forget that it also contains such things as freedom and individualism.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

The average length of stay in general hospitals in the United States today is about 20 to 25 per cent less than it was in 1940. This improvement is largely the result of medical advances, early ambulation after surgery and childbirth, and the use of blood transfusions.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Healthy old people are not necessarily tired. Much of the weariness is due to improper diet. An increase of proteins and a lessening of starch, sugar and fats will often relieve the feeling of exhaustion. Elderly persons' diets, under the direction of the family doctor, will include plenty of meat, fowl and green vegetables, with less bread, butter, sweets and the like.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Yes, in many cases. If the alcoholic has the will to be cured, his doctor can, with the aid of new drugs and psychiatric procedures, help him to give up drinking. To be certain of continued cure, the patient must always abstain from drinking alcoholic beverages.

COMMUNISM AND AMERICAN YOUTH

VERY shortly, thousands of you young people in Indiana will be leaving your homes on the farms and in the cities of our Hoosier state to go to college. Others, a bit younger, will return to high school and grade school.

Every high school, college, and university has many worthwhile clubs, leagues, societies, and fraternities. Membership in such organizations is a signal honor, of which both student and parents justly can be proud. Participation in such activities is to be encouraged.

Because, by cloaking itself with a respectability kindred to these worthwhile extra-curricular activities, it seeks to thread its way into our schools, so I want to talk with you about Communism and how it operates among our American youth.

To many of you who live in the midwest, this may sound like the cry of "Wolf." As a member of the United States Senate, I can tell you differently.

Recruiting American youth is the second most important activity of the Communist Party. Moreover, since 1919, the American Communist Party has continuously been a conspiracy dominated and controlled by Moscow. That the Justice Department has indisputable evidence of this fact, again was revealed only this month.

In Congress, the fight against Communism has been led by men of both parties. Here, as a member of the Judiciary Committee, it has been my privilege to have served on the Sub-Committee to Investigate the Administration of Internal Security, of which Senator McCarran, (Democrat), Nevada, is chairman.

In our investigation, we discovered four major approaches were used by the Communists to recruit members: (1) teen-age clubs in high schools; (2) community clubs which bid for high school students; (3) college and university clubs; (4) industrial clubs.

The machinations of Communism are so subtle, however, that my colleague, Senator O'Connor, (Democrat), Maryland, was prompted to ask in our investigation—" • • • but how can the youth of today in the high school or college detect what is this false lure or this snare or delusion that is presented in this very sugar-coated way • • • ?"

For instance—if your son or daughter were to write you from the university—"I have just been invited to join The American Youth for Democracy," unless you knew, you quite logically would believe this an organization of high purpose. Until 1943, however, this very same organization was known as the Young Communist League!

That is how Communism works!

Whether you can detect it or not, and no matter whether it is or is not present in your school now, if you are an American youth, the sinister, hungry eye of Communism is inquisitively focused upon you, and upon every educational institution in America.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

HAIRLESS AND GRAY - The newest Indiana wild animal story, another roaming and marauding wild beast, came from the Pekin (Washington county) Banner. It reported two different groups of witnesses had seen the strange animal. Their description served to fit that of a chicken-killing animal which was shot in John McCoskey's chicken yard. That felled animal, said the Banner, was a hairless gray fox, or nearly hairless anyway.

WET BOY - The Berne Centennial festival was equipped with the usual water tank for dunking beardless men who couldn't show a "permit" to shave. For days there were no victims except Jay Yager, a youngster who fell in the tank.

SAFETY PAYS OFF - A driver who handled a car or truck thousands of miles a year for 50 years without an accident would be a rarity. Yet 28 drivers of a Madison truck line, a typical Indiana trucking company with 42 drivers, have hung up a record equivalent to 50 years of safe driving. The 50 years add up like this: Nineteen of the 28 have driven a year or more without an accident, three or more drivers have gone accidentless two years or more, two have three-year clean records, one four years, and two five years. Topping the list is Bayard Anderson, who has six years with the company without an accident. All were honored recently by the firm, receiving awards.

FREAK ACCIDENT - Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Oakley and their two-year-old daughter, finished eating at a Rockville restaurant. The father playfully picked up the child and swung her up above his head, forgetting that a ceiling-suspended fan was whirring. Though his wrist deflected the fan blades' strike somewhat, the youngster suffered a cut along with the heavy blow. Both fan blades were bright

DOUBLE BILL - Five years ago Dr. Frank H. Kelly, Argos, decided to separate, for billing purposes, the electrical lines into his home and into his adjoining office. So a second meter was installed. All went well five years, and Dr. Kelly paid both bills every month, not complaining about his office bill, which always was higher. Lately, however, it was discovered the two meters were connected so that the home use electricity was registered on both meters. Dr. Kelly has filed a claim with the town clerk for return of $436.49 in overpayments.

STREET SALE - If you were walking down a street, carrying a mastodon rib six feet long, what would happen to you. This is what did happen to Carlton Butler, Angola. The rib had been willed to him and he was toting it down a street in Detroit. A man who said he already owned a mastodon skeleton spotted the rib for what it was, and immediately began dickering, right there on the sidewalk, to buy it from Butler. The sale was closed, price $10.

NO JOKE - It's been a standing joke in Bedford for someone to say excitedly the courthouse was on fire. When it actually did catch fire, Bob Abel was the first person to see flames when tar being applied to the roof ignited. He rushed into the Bedford National Bank and asked D. W. McNabb to call the fire department, saying the courthouse was afire. McNabb just grinned and went about his work until he was prevailed on to take a look out a window.

TIME MARCHES - A post-wedding use for a bridal veil has been found by a young Greencastle housewife, the Putnam County Graphic observed. A practical and natural one, too. She simply draped the veil over the baby's sleeping place to keep off flies and mosquitoes.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

ANOTHER INCOME TAX CASE —Congressional investigation has revealed another income tax case settlement which will shock the average taxpayer who has worked hard to pay his income tax.

A $38 million Federal income tax was settled for $850,000—less than 3 percent of the original proposed assessment. Think of the number of small income tax payments which will be required to make up this loss to the government.

The $38 million income tax claim was against the estate of the late William Rhodes Davis, New York oil broker, and his affiliated companies.

According to the information uncovered by Congress, the executor of the Davis estate hired Bill Boyle, former Democrat National Committee Chairman, and a former Treasury official, Daniel J. Manlon, as attorneys.

Settlement of the case was approved by three Internal Revenue officials who have been under investigation and have since resigned their positions. They were Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., Internal Revenue Commissioner; Daniel A. Bolich, Special Agent in charge of the New York Internal Revenue office and Charles Oliphant, Chief Colnsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

In citing the Davis settlement, it was charged that there are only two major reasons for compromising tax claims: first, the government may declare that its claim is wrong; second, the taxpayer or the estate is insolvent.

All those who would like to settle their income tax payments for 3 percent of their original assessments say "Aye."

WHY AREN'T WE STOCKPILING—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee in a recent report stated that the President and his military planners are not developing and producing uranium in this country or sufficiently stockpiling atomic bombs.

The report said: "If war should come some years hence, and the United States did not then possess many atomic weapons relative to other types of armament as would have been desirable, there could be no valid exoneration of either the military or higher authority in terms of uranium shortages. The military cannot escape responsibility for fixing weapons requirements at whatever level needed to defend the U. S. effectively and cheaply."

REASONABLY SOUND THINKING—In a conclusion all its own, the Defense Deparment has decided that soldiers assigned to office work do not need steel helmets. As a result of this decision, the Army halted the issue of steel headgear for those at desk and office duty. The Army says this will save some steel and quite a lot of money.

Section Worker Beaten

A 21 year old negro section hand was in jail in Auburn Tuesday held on charges of assault and battery in connection with the beating of a fellow employee with a railroad spike.

Sheriff Frank Carpenter identified the defendant as Arthur McCurdy of Evanston, Ill.

In a fight at a Baltimore & Ohio railroad camp a mile west of St. Joe Monday night, McCurdy is accused of assaulting Jesse arris.

Harris, who received deep spike wounds in the head, back and side, was taken to the Lutheran Hospital at Fort Wayne by section bosses. After first aid treatment, he was released. Six stitches, according to police, were taken in the wound in his head.

Section bosses also took McCurdy to Fort Wayne and turned him over to police there. Fort Wayne police notifed local authorities and McCurdy was was turned over to Sheriff Carpenter Tuesday afternoon.

He was slated to appear before Auburn vity judge Harold Stump Wednesday afternoon.

WOWO NEWS EDITOR WINS NATIONAL HONOR

Bob Carlin, news editor at WOWO in Fort Wayne, has been honored with the coveted Christopher Award for assuming "personal responsibility" for the advancement of world peace and social progress.

Carlin received the award for his efforts, through his news casts, to encourage church attendance on Sunday and for emphasizing the importance of religion and godliness in our daily lives. These efforts have been closely coordinated with WOWO's extensive broadcasts of church services of all denominations along with addresses and dramatic programs by various religious groups.

The award is conferred annually by the widely-known "Christophers." This national movement is based upon the philosophy that social improvement is the result of each individual's contribution. The Christohers believe, "It is better to light a single candle than to curse the darkness." Every human being has a responsibility and an opportunity to contribute toward world improvement by his activities within his own sphere of influence.

30 Shooters Shoot

Shooters had a good day for shooting last Sunday and everyone had a good time at the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club's shoot last Sunday. The crowd was not as large as was to be expected since the shoot followed right on the heels of the 9-day Grand American at Vandalia and a good many had been there most of the week. However, about 30 shooters took part in the program or practice events.

Scores at 50 targets follow.

The Statesman

Lesson for August 31, 1952

A POLITICIAN is a man who goes into politics as a man goes into any game—to win. He wants office, wants people to vote for him. Popularity is his stock in trade. A statesman, on the other hand, is not remembered for the number of votes he commanded, nor for the number of times he was elected, nor for the particular titles he held. A statesman's claim to fame is not based on what he did for himself, but on what he did for his country. That is why a "statesman is a dead politician." Some time has to go by, before it can be finally said whether any particular politician's career was good for his country or not.

Achieving Unity

DAVID, King of Israel, has been dead long enough now so that we can with great assurance call him a statesman. We saw a few weeks ago (Aug. 10 and 17) that Saul faced much the same problems that face nations today, but failed to solve them, largely because he was the wrong kind of man. David had the same problems; but he solved them.

We must remember that David's times were a thousand years before Christ, so of course he was no Christian. Nevertheless, looking back at his achievements, history can say, Well done! Here lived a man who had what it took to lead his nation to have and to be what it needed to have and to be at that time.

What Israel needed to become a strong nation were unity and security. At Saul's death these were lacking, and of course that spelled national weakness. The split between Judah and the other tribes had never been healed. David secured the unity of the nation in a dramatic way: he captured the city of Jerusalem which had been in enemy hands for hundreds of years, and made that city, for the first time, the capital of Israel. He built his palace there (Saul's had been at Gibeah,) he brought the ark there (see lesson for Sept. 14), and intended building a temple which would be the central shrine for the entire nation. Through creating this new and centrally located capital, David achieved political, military, religious and sentimental unity all at once.

Some Wars Are Not in Vain

AS FOR national security, there are three kinds of it and David developed all of them. First there is military security. The only way to get it, for David, was to beat down the armies that had been beating the Israelites.

It is a blood-stained story; but still the question is a fair one: If David had lost all the battles he won, what would have become of Israel? They would have gone the way of the Hivites and the Girgashites—if any one knows where that is. A few scraps of pottery, perhaps, some fragments of ruined walls, something for professors of ancient history to dig up and wonder about, —that is what Israel would have come down to, if David's wars had not succeeded.

He wound up his series of wars with this happy situation: Every single nation or tribe that had been giving the Israelites trouble, was either welded into the Israelites kingdom, or made into an ally.

Other Kinds of Security

ANOTHER kind of security is commercial. A nation cut off from trade with its neighbors is doomed to be a poor nation, even perhaps a beggar nation. Out of the mass of proper names in these chapters about David's kingdom, four are specially meaningful: Edom and Tyre and Damascus and Hamath. The three latter were great commercial and transportation centers. Edom, with its border on the Red Sea, gave Israel for the first time a seaport on deep water, with all the possibilities that involved.

The reign of David's successor was to be one of unprecedented prosperity and international good will; but it was David's statesmanlike policies that made the prosperity possible.

The third kind of security is more internal, and more a matter of the spirit than the sword, more of the mind than of money. It is the national security which can exist only where there is a united and uniting loyalty on the part of the citizens.

David had the rare gift which a politician uses for selfish ends, a statesman for the good of his country: the ability to make friends out of potential enemies.

DISEASE KNOWS EVERYONE

KINGS and commoners—all suffer disease. Some are more sorely tried than others—and the late King George VI of England is numbered among the men who had much to endure.

Impediment in speech he met and overcome with courage and persistence. As a naval cadet, he had a severe attack of pneumonia, then was operated on for appendicitis early in the first World War years, yet he saw service in the Battle of Jutland. A long period of ill-health followed and ended in an operation for duodenal ulcer in 1917.

It was in November, 1948, that his medical advisers issued a bulletin stating "the King is suffering from an obstruction to the circulation through the arteries of the leg, which has only recently became acute; the defective blood supply to the right foot causes anxiety."

The general belief of medical authorities was that the local condition of the leg was a symptom of a more widespread involvement of the arterial system. The king's medical advisers must have been concerned about the condition of the cerebral and coronary arteries, but this fact they naturally kept to themselves.

In March, 1949, it was announced that the King had undergone a lumbar sympathectomy in order to improve the blood supply to his right foot. His sudden but peaceful death in February was an all-too-familiar outcome of the arterial condition diagnosed in 1948 and bore no relation to the disease of the lung for which he was operated upon last September. Removal of the cancerous lung was a serious operation, and the King made a remarkable recovery.

In opening the National Institute for Medical Research in 1950, King George said, "Many...have reason to be grateful for the benefits which have been brought about by medical research." Ironical that this good and courageous man should be so beset with physical ills and die so young.

Letters to the Editor

In the last issue of the News the editor says: "No, no, no," to the proposal to add 2c more per gallon to the gas tax for the benefit of county and state roads. The gas tax is the most equitable of the three proposals made by members of the State Highway Commission and by the State County Commissioners' Association to raise more highway funds. One other means of raising more funds is by a property tax and the proposed third way is the issuance of bonds. You and I do not want either of these last two methods used.

DeKalb County (not counting what the cities and towns received) received from the state as their share of the gas tax and license fees the following sums:

1st quarter—$34,635.35.
2nd quarter—80,302.99.
3rd quarter—50,250.92.
4th quarter—38,275.03.

or a total of $203,464.29.

Out of this amount, the county highway department maintains 742 miles of road and keeps up its equipment.

We don't think anyone will dispute the assertion that DeKalb has the best maintained county highways in northeastern Indiana. No matter which party has been in control during the past quarter of a century, DeKalb's road department has been efficiently managed. Hence we do not find ourselves in need of additional highway funds.

The county has received from the state the following amounts thus far in 1952:

1st quarter—$36,017.51.
2nd quarter—85,686.90.
3rd quarter—51,015.45.

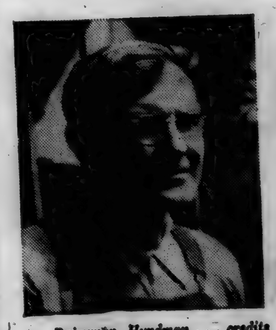
anticipating $39,000.00 for the 4th quarter. The amount for 1952 will be almost $212,000.00. This will mean better than $285 for the upkeep of our roads. This amount will do the job.

Lloyd Yeiser

Thank you for your comments, Mr. Yeiser.

There was no question in our mind as to whether or not the state gasoline tax was equitable or not. As another local citizen, said this week, "Let those who use the roads pay for them." But he also said, in reference to the proposed 2-cent hike, "If that's what they need for better roads, I'm for it." The question in our mind is—do we NEED that extra two cents taxation to have better highways.

Cows give more milk when drinking water is warmed, progressive farmer finds



Dairyman Hyndman . . . credits electric water heater with winter-time increase in milk production.

• gets 2 extra cans daily from herd of 30

electric water heater is key to increased production

By heating his cow's drinking water to 75° or better with an electric water heater during winter months, dairyman W. M. Hyndman gets ten extra gallons of milk a day from his 30-head herd.

He's been using his electric water heater for this purpose several years now, with consistently good results. What's more, when he switches back to colder water as a check-up he finds that production slips back about the same amount!

Compare the profit from two extra cans of milk daily with the low cost of heating water electrically . . . you'll agree this farmer has an idea that's well worth trying.

For more details on electric water heaters for boosting production, for dairy cleanliness, for making water heating safer and easier, call on our rural representatives. Their suggestions are based on experience and they're free.

Warm water steps up egg production, too

Hens lay more in winter when drinking water is warmed. Immersion-type water-warmers for poultry are inexpensive and safe. Investigate this low-cost way to get more eggs at the season when prices are highest.

HINTS ON HEALTH

SEDATIVES

"DOCTOR, give me a sedative, I can't sleep!" Physicians are frequently called upon to prescribe for the simple insomnias caused by excessive tension, worry, or lack of adequate physical exertion. Most doctors hesitate to encourage prolonged or oft-repeated use of any sedative or hypnotic drug to induce sleep.

A hot bath and a glass of hot milk or chocolate just prior to retiring may be helpful.

Sedentary office workers and housewives who have maids to do all of the manual housework are commonly victims of insomnia. Wholesome exercise and recreation are conducive to the natural fatigue imperative to normal sleep.

Where domestic or business problems contribute to insomnia, psychosomatic medicine is recommended.

Everyone requires, and usually gets, a certain number of hours of sleep each 24-hour period on a year-in-year-out basis. Attempts should be made to establish the individual's normal rest pattern.

The patient who tosses about for lack of sleep and finally swallows a barbiturate at two or three o'clock in the morning will probably sleep beyond his usual waking hour. Others may take cat naps during the day following a night of wakefulness, or retire earlier the following night.

The continued use of barbiturates quickly develops insidious patterns which can only lead to habituation.

Conscientious physicians know and deplore the hazards attending the promiscuous use of barbiturates.

Quick Orange Bread

Place this Quick Orange Bread high on your list of good things to eat, for its fresh orange flavor is nothing short of luscious.

Easiest way to make your noontime meals glamourous is to include special breads from the baker, or quick breads made at home.

Loaf breads have a special attraction, for they look important, taste as good as they look. They are a favorite of the home baker, too, for they stay fresh and tempting for several days, providing meal time treats and between-meal snacks. Flavored with fresh oranges and orange rind, Quick Orange Bread will be enjoyed for its refreshing flavor and thrifty nutrition.

You'll especially enjoy serving this bread with cottage cheese, ham dishes, chicken and seafood salads.

In addition, Quick Orange Bread is one of the most delicious ways to get essential B-vitamins and food iron provided by enriched flour.

QUICK ORANGE BREAD

2 cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
½ cup orange juice
3 tablespoons melted shortening
Orange Mixture

Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Beat eggs well. Add orange juice, shortening and cooked orange mixture. Combine egg mixture with dry ingredients. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour. Makes 1 1-pound loaf.

Orange Mixture

Rinds of 2 large oranges
½ cup water
½ cup sugar

Simmer rinds in hot water 10 minutes. Drain, cover with water and cook until tender (10 minutes). Drain and shred. Add ½ cup water and ½ cup sugar and cook slowly until a thick sirup is formed and the rinds have become semi-transparent. Cool.

Didja ever play hell with eight people?

Don't get excited I ain't cussin'—hell is the name of a card game. It's very interesting—you bid the number of tricks you think your hand is good for. If you take the exact number bid, you get 10 points plus your bid—if not, you go back 10 plus your bid. The first hand is played with eight cards to each player, the second seven, third six, and so on down the line until only one card is dealt to each player. High scorer wins the game.

Of course, that's just a rough idea of the game—but that's hell.

"Bobbie" (Storer) Squires stopped in Tuesday and said that her nephew, Steven Simanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Simanton, of Auburn has polio. Fortunately his case is not serious. But he gets a little lonesome occasionally. "Bobbie" thought some of the Simantons' acquaintances from St. Joe might want to send him a card or letter to cheer him up. He's just like everyone else—likes to get mail.

Steven's address is 815 North Main Street, Auburn. He's 8 years old.

Speaking of polio, Mary McElroy of Leesburg has had an attack of it. She's getting help from "ma," Mrs. Lloyd Dunten.

Imagine, polio with four kids to take care of—and moving to Leesburg from the lake, to boot.

Ah, the good old days.

Wednesday night's final free movie was a "Hopalong" Cassidy epic. There was a newspaperman in the story and his shop was wrecked by a bunch of hoodiums. —And I mean wrecked. His daughter exclaimed, "It'll cost a hundred dollars to fix things up!"

—One hundred dollars—ah, the good old days.

Melon Patch, Check Stub Make News

Levi Norton, 25, of north of St. Joe was placed on probation in Auburn city court last week after charges of malicious trespass were filed against him after he was caught in a melon patch.

Norton couldn't explain satisfactorily what he was doing in Russell Tustison's melon patch and was told he would be sent to the penal farm if he didn't remain on good behavior.

Tustison captured Norton at gunpoint Thursday night and turned him over to Sheriff Carpenter.

George Cook, a 28-year-old Negro arrested on larceny charges filed by Herbert Amstutz, St. Joe hardware owner, was released after prosecuting attorney James A. Angelone and police decided there was insufficient evidence to bring Cook to trial.

He was arrested after he and the hardware owner got into a dispute over a radio. Police said evidence disclosed that Cook, who is employed on a B & O section gang near St. Joe, purchased a radio on a payment plan from the hardware. He gave his railroad check in payment. Some how the stub got mixed up in the transaction and the hardware dealer was left with it. Cook said he thought he had the stub and threw it away.

Someone cashed the check at a tavern in Auburn. Cook denied that he cashed the check.

Clarence Keller 6th County Fatality Of 1952

The sixth traffic fatality in DeKalb County was reported for 1952 Tuesday. Clarence Keller, 74, of Route 3, Butler, died in the Sacred Heart Hospital at Garrett at 6 a.m. Monday of injuries suffered in a two-car collision last Thursday evening which occurred four miles north of St. Joe on the Auburn-Butler road.

Mr. Keller suffered a skull fracture, deep abrasions, bruises and shock. He had been unconscious from the time of the accident until Sunday morning. Upon regaining consciousness Mr. Keller seemed to be getting a little better.

The accident occurred after Mr. Keller, traveling south on a county road, stopped for the stop sign at the intersection with the Auburn-Butler road. After one car had passed on the Auburn-Butler road, Mr. Keller drove his auto onto the highway and a car being driven by Howard M. Thimlar, 34, of route 1, St. Joe, crashed into the Keller car broadside. Mrs. Keller reported that her husband did not see the second car in time to avoid the crash.

The impact threw Mr. Keller across the front seat over his wife and out of the car. Mrs. Sarah (Sadie) Keller was released from the hospital Monday and taken to her home where she is suffering a back injury and bruises.

Three in the other auto were injured, also, in the crash. Mr. Thimlar and his two children, Rosalee, 9, and Larry, 6, were treated at the hospital and later released.

Mr. Keller was born on April 2, 1878, on a farm east of Auburn. His parents were the late Fred and Alice Keller. Clarence Keller was a lifelong resident of DeKalb County. He moved to the late home in the fall of 1906, four years after he married Miss Sarah (Sadie) Rhoads. The marriage took place at the home of Miss Rhoads on October 16, 1902, east of Auburn. The couple were married fifty years last October.

Surviving besides the wife are two sons, Norman and Ralph Keller, of Fort Wayne; a daughter, Mrs. Clyde LaRowe of near Butler; 11 grandchildren; three brothers, Elmer and Dan Keller, both of east of Auburn, and Roy Keller of Fort Wayne; and three sisters, Mrs. Ida Gunsenhouser of Waterloo, Mrs. Cora Fetters of St. Joe and a sister at Fort Wayne.

The body was removed to the Johnson Funeral Home at Butler for burial preparations and will remain there for funeral services which will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. The Rev. F. I. Mumford, pastor of the EUB Larger Parish, will officiate at the services, assisted by the Rev. Allen Stone, pastor of Mt. Pleasant EUB Church, of which Mr. Keller was a member. Burial will be in the K of P Cemetery at St. Joe.

The five previous deaths on the traffic side of the ledger were William Franklin Rhoads, August 26; William White, May 8; Daisy Markle, May 1; Harry Brandeberry, March 23; and Dian Quance, January 19.

Imogene Conley, David Heyman To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Conley of RR1, Spencerville, have announced the coming marriage of their daughter, Imogene, to David H. Heyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heyman of St. Joe.

The wedding will take place Sunday, September 28, at 1 p.m. at the Spencerville Methodist Church.

A reception for the couple will be held following the ceremony from 3 until 5 p.m. at the church.

Spencer Twp. PTA Begins Lunch Program

Bill Weninger, president of Spencer Township Parent-Teacher Association, announced this week that the organization's goal of a school lunch program has been realized. Meals are now being served at the noon hour for students of the township grade and high schools.

The P. T. A. raised over $1100 for the lunch program and has purchased a large stove, sink and other supplies necessary to carry out a lunch program. The senior class donated a large hot water heater for the project and tables were constructed with the help of P.T.A. members. Lunches are served in the basement of the school

Mrs. Charles Brattain and Mrs. Charles Kimes are in charge of preparing the lunches. They have been assisted in preparing for the program by Mrs. Paul Graham.

The P. T. A. has asked that anyone finding themselves "overstocked" as the canning season progresses or having a surplus of fruits or vegetables in their garden contact Mr. Weninger or Mrs. Graham. These surpluses can be utilized in preparing the daily menus through the coming school year.

Tickets for lunches are $1.25 per week or 25 cents a meal.

The menu for next week is as follows:

Monday
Chili
Pickles
Peanut butter sandwiches
Apricots
Crackers
Milk

Tuesday
Sausage
Mashed potatoes and gravy
Bread and butter
Cabbage salad
Fruit juice
Milk

Wednesday

The Beer Case-Or, How To Pass The Buck

The local Alcoholic Beverage Board has referred the case of Charles (Chuck) McIntosh of St. Joe, who has filed for a permit to sell carry out beverages at his confectionery in St. Joe, to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission at Indianapolis.

The local board voted 2 to 2 to issue the permit Wednesday after a spirited hearing in the Circuit Court room at Auburn.

McIntosh, formerly of Auburn, applied for the permit for his present store which, according to the church members of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, is 193 feet from the church and according to McIntosh is 201 feet from the church.

An attorney for the church stated that a decision by the local board to grant the permit would be "flouting" the law of the courts. A permanent injunction, granted in the Steuben Circuit Court, was handed down in the spring of 1951, ruling against the issuing of the permit. At the same time the court ordered McIntosh to deposit his permit, which the court still holds. An appeal against the injunction is still pending in the State Supreme Court.

THE AMERICAN WAY

But Our Government IS All The People

Organization Influence

One of the hindrances to clear, unbiased thinking in our country today is our over-organization.

It makes no difference what level of society we may observe, there is a tendency to "unite" for reasons which are, in many instances, of pure selfishness. It is granted that much can be accomplished by working together, that much has been accomplished by working together. However, there are times when goals sought by one group or another are not in the best interest of all. To counteract these pressure groups, we then have opposition organizations formed until, in some instances, an individual may find himself "between the devil and the deep blue sea," that is, belonging to organizations which voice opposite views.

Unfortunately, the advances made by organization are nullified by the undue influence some groups can wield over public officials. The man who seeks public office, while not desiring to admit that he will show favoritism in return for support, still is aware that groups have an influence over their members. Just recently the Democratic candidate for president of the United States told a labor gathering that he favored repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law. In previous statements he had indicated that he favored revisions in the law but didn't think outright repeal was necessary. Evidently to keep on the good side of labor, he bowed to their wishes. Actually, opposition to the Taft-Hartley Law has become nonsensical. Any person who believes in fair play realizes that if management is subjected to certain regulations, labor must also have duties and obligations to perform. Therefore, any law regulating one must also govern the other. The working man realizes this; it's the higher-ups of labor who continue to oppose the Taft-Hartley Law, for its name only.

The shoe fits for Republicans, too. After the same presidential candidate for the Democrats had remarked before a veterans group recently that he would not show favoritism toward any group including that very group he was addressing, the Republican candidate for governor of the state of Indiana observed that the Democratic candidate was "against the veteran." That is a rather ridiculous conclusion to arrive at and obviously was voiced to get the vote of the veteran.

Such shenannigans can try the patience of voters who seek officials who will do what they say they will or will not do. We need public officials, including presidents and governors, who will not show favoritism toward ANY group or organization.

If Every One

If every one who drives a car could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies that many people do,
They'd never preach safety any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside the bed of some close friend
And hear the doctor say "No hope" before the fatal end,
And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If everyone could meet the wife and children left behind
And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon "The Vacant Chair" where Daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

If every one who takes the wheel would say a little prayer
And keep in mind those in the car depending upon his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance,
The great crusade for safety then would suddenly advance.

COMMUNISM, RELIGION, AND MORALITY

THE testimony revealed before the McCarran Subcommittee of the Senate leaves no doubt as to the attitude of Communism toward Religion and Morality.

As a member of this Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, it was my privilege to have personally questioned the witness, Mr. Herbert Romerstein on these subjects.

What Mr. Romerstein said, should be known to every citizen of Indiana. Therefore, I shall quote here verbatim from the testimony which he gave:

"Page 39 — SENATOR JENNER. 'In your association as a Communist Party member and a member of the various youth organizations you described in your testimony did you get any indoctrination along the lines of the churches; in other words, did you get into atheism?'

MR. ROMERSTEIN. 'Yes sir. Atheism is one of the basic party doctrines.'

SENATOR JENNER. 'How about the morals of the youth? Has any of that crept into these youth organizations?'

MR. ROMERSTEIN. 'The party concept of morality is this: If it is for the benefit of the party, then it is moral. If it is opposed to the needs of the party, then it is immoral.'"

Certainly, any movement which teaches our youth in this manner is cause for the greatest concern. It places upon the shoulders of every parent and every church organization a grave responsibility. This was emphasized by further questions which I propounded to the witness, Mr. Romerstein, as follows:

"SENATOR JENNER. 'What about the home and the church? What role can they play, if any, in this?'

MR. ROMERSTEIN. 'Once again, they too, have an educational job of comparing what they can give young people to what the Communists would give young people. Of course, the Communists make every effort to get young people away from both the home and the church and it is necessary for the home and the church, if they wish to win this battle, to conduct themselves in the way the Communists do, to educate their people on what their philosophy is.'"

That definite, effective steps have been taken by Congress is shown by the further questioning of the witness, Herbert Romerstein, by Mr. Richard Arens, the Staff Director of our Subcommittee, as follows:

"Page 40, MR. ARENS. 'What is it that the Communist Party most fears from the standpoint of its own well-being and its own objectives?'

MR. ROMERSTEIN. 'They have a number of fears. They are afraid for example, at the present time that it is going to be put out of business.'

MR. ARENS. 'What do you mean by that?'

MR. ROMERSTEIN. 'The effect of the McCarran Act will be to force the Communist Party to register its members, which would immediately make them ineffective and that its front organizations would also become ineffective.'"

This is not a political matter. In Congress, Democrats and Republicans oppose Communism. Every church member, every parent, in Indiana should join with us in this fight.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

PIG WHISTLE - Three young gilts escaped from a pasture near Elwood. Much "whoo-ee" coaxing and chasing failed to corral them. They were on a highway so Joe Hickey, an Elwood policeman, got into the act. Trying anything, he blew his police whistle as he stood within their field. The three porkers promptly ran back inside the pasture. Hickey concluded pigs know the voice of authority even if some people don't.

PIN SHORTAGE - Tension — and serious, too — overflowed the Earl Morgan home near Winamac when their 10-month-old Jimmy Lloyd swallowed an open safety pin. The X-rays showed the pin high in the throat, point up. Then a trip to an Indianapolis hospital where a doctor pushed it into the child's stomach. But the anesthetic caused the baby to vomit and the pin moved into the esophagus again, this time point down. A doctor then was able to remove it. Crisis passed, the child's 10-year-old sister remarked: "I don't know how Jimmy ever found a safety pin around the house. We never can when we want one."

TOOTH KICKER - You know how it is when a toddler is sick at night, you often put the child in bed with you, hoping to provide solace. George Facik, an Indianapolis newspaper photographer, and his wife did just that. Their Mary Kay, 22 months, was ill, feverish and inconsolable in the middle of the night. Facik finally fell asleep but awoke with a painful start, for the lady had let loose a sleepy but hefty kick and completely ripped out some of his bridge work. Repairs are estimated at $125.

CONCERT NIGHT - In much of Indiana the trend is away from Saturday night shopping, and band concerts one night a week are almost becoming history. But not in North Manchester. The Chamber of Commerce there has announced a bonus night plan plus a band concert for every Saturday night as an attraction for shoppers.

REACHES EVERYWHERE - A total of 1,580 Indiana communities, of which 832 are towns, have no freight service except by trucks. They make up 49 per cent of all the cities, towns, communities and settlements in the state. Goods—and mail in many cases—are brought in and hauled out only by truck, no other service being available.

OLD SCHOOL BUY - Abandoned, one-room, brick school buildings are sold in Indiana by township trustees, often to become residences. In case you wonder what price they command, the former Smyrna school building near Greensburg was sold for $1,334, the highest bid. Even then bids had been re-taken because the first batch did not produce one equal to two-thirds of the appraised value of $2,000.

LAST RING - Jasper has eyed the steeple on its city hall for years, fearing a crash. So city fathers decreed it should come down. A contractor removed the landmark, which had topped the building since it was built in 1885 and with it took down another old relic, a fire bell which had hung there as long. Workmen couldn't resist ringing the bell for the last time before they dismantled it.

EVEN THEN - Paul R. Pate, Greenfield, was going through some old papers and found a 1910 license for a horse and buggy. It cost $1, was for a year and was issued by the mayor and city clerk.

PRIVATE HEARING - what did the chief of police say to the mayor in Rising Sun? It happened when Mayor I. H. Pate issued an order barring women from wearing shorts or halters on the streets of the Ohio River town. He told Chief John Smith to arrest offenders. Said Smith to the mayor: "Pinch 'em? Pinch 'em, heck! I'll bring 'em over to you and you can pinch 'em."

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

COMMUNIST AIMS KNOWN IN 1945—Seven years ago, a secret U.S. military intelligence report warned our government against the ill-advised policy of letting Russia divide and control China, Manchuria and Korea.

However, this information was never divulged to the public until August 13, 1952. With tragic accuracy, this report foretold the trouble and disaster which have occurred in the Far East.

The intelligence report was prepared by Brig. Gen. P. E. Peabody and was dated July 5, 1945—shortly before Russia entered World War II and before the Japanese surrendered on August 14.

The Peabody report declared that Russia, even before the end of World War II, was plotting Soviet domination of Korea, Manchuria and North China and that such actions some day would mean a showdown with the U. S. in the Pacific. It added "that the China Communist movement was part of the international Communist movement, sponsored and guided by Moscow" and pointed out that a "strong and stable" China would be impossible without the natural resources of North China and Manchuria and that the U. S. must insist on return of Manchuria, Mormosa and Pescadores to China or risk Soviet-dominated satellites in much of the Far East.

The intelligence report also declared that the U. S. must insist on a free and independent Korea.

Instead of following the Army intelligence recommendations, the government granted railroad, port and other concessions to Russia in Manchuria and North China and settled for a divided Korea, occupied in part by Russian troops. In less than five years since the Peabody report, the U. S. entered through Presidential decree the "police action" or war in Korea.

FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT INCREASES—The federal government now employs one out of every 24 persons holding a job in this country. For every 60 persons, men, women or children, there is now one federal worker. And the rolls are steadily increasing.

According to the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures, the federal government added employees at the rate of 310 a day, seven days a week, during the fiscal year which ended on June 30. The total number of employees on that date was 2,596,690. The increase during the year was 112,999. There are now 1,337,172 civilian employees in the Department of Defense. Other agencies employ 1,259,518. The Post Office Department alone added 25,541 employees last year and now employs a total of 523,822. None of these figures includes the men and women serving in the armed forces which is nearly 4 million.

WASHINGTON AND ANCIENT ROME—Col. O. R. McGuire, former counsel to the Compt. General, in a speech in Washington recently, said that federal officials have been drawing away from "Christian principles of government" and charged that there have been pay-offs to pressure groups which would "stagger the imagination of even the most dull-witted." The former government official said that a steady infiltration of Communists in government agencies has undermined and influenced the financial and foreign policies of the government.

HINTS ON HEALTH

by the Indiana State Medical Association

2,640 MORE

THERE are more physicians practicing in the United States today than ever before—a total of 211,680. This represents a net increase of 2,640 doctors of medicine in the United States during 1951.

There are 6,325 persons who last year obtained for the first time, licenses to practice medicine in this country. New York led the list with the issuance of 1,107 licenses to doctors to practice medicine, and Indiana was sixteenth with the issuance of 238 licenses to practice medicine.

Through examination or by endorsement of credentials, a total of 12,008 licenses were issued in the United States and possessions last year. The 72 medical schools of the United States, approved by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association, show a rating of high medical training.

Of 5,018 graduates of these schools who took examinations last year for their licenses, 4,874 or 97.1 per cent passed. In comparison, only 842 or 57.9 per cent of the 1,455 graduates of other schools successfully passed state board examinations for their licenses.

The percentage of failure to pass state board examinations is high among these foreign educated doctors, more than half failing in 1950, and last year, slightly less than half.

During 1951, 524 graduates of foreign schools of medicine, including graduates of Canadian schools, successfully passed state board examinations in the United States.

Apple Pie

Cool weather calls for hearty desserts—such as this tender, juicy Apple Pie—served warm.

Serve the all-time favorite, Apple Pie, for dessert tonight when hungry children trip in from school. It doesn't take long to make—and how pleased your family will be.

The recipe for the crust makes golden color and tenderness as easy . . . well, as easy as pie. The pretty design is no trick at all. Make one like it or draw upon your imagination plus a cookie cutter for your own version. Be sure, though, that there are openings in the top of the crust to let out flavor-laden steam from the baking apples. Press the top and bottom layers of pastry together and there'll be no spilling over of savory juices.

If you are hurried, order a baker's pie and pop it in a low-heat oven just before dinner is called.

Everyone is convinced that Apple Pie is good eating. Ever consider, though, that it has important nutrient contributions? The enriched flour in the crust contributes extra B-vitamins, food iron and protein. The apples add more vitamins and minerals.

Feature Apple Pie at your next dessert party. Trim the pie with wedges of sharp Cheddar cheese and serve along with a bowl of grapes and a dish of salted mixed nuts.

APPLE PIE

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
3 to 5 tablespoons cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Divide dough in half and let stand while preparing Apple Filling. Roll out half of pastry to circle ⅛ inch thick and line pie pan with it. Fill with Apple Filling. Roll out other half of pastry to circle to cover pie pan. Place on top of Apple Filling. Trim and flute edges. Cut design in top pastry. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 15 minutes. Reduce to a moderate oven (350°F.) and continue baking 30 minutes, or until apples are tender.

Apple Filling

1 ½ quarts apples
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup sugar (about)
2 tablespoons enriched flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Peel and slice apples. Mix lightly with butter or margarine and lemon juice. Combine sugar, flour and cinnamon and mix well with apples. Arrange evenly in pie shell.

Makes 1 9-inch apple pie.

Deer Season Rules Given

Rules and regulations for the 1952 deer season in southern Indiana, compiled by Henry Cottingham, director of the fish and game division of the Indiana Department of Conservation, were released recently by County Clerk Ralph Bruce and the county conservation officer, Arman Campbell, of Auburn.

The regulations follow:

1. Licenses issued for the year 1952 shall be valid in the following counties only: Bartholomew, Brown, Clark, Dubois, Jackson, Jennings, Lawrence, Martin, Monroe, Morgan, Orange, Perry, Pike, Scott, Spencer, Warrick, Washington and in Crawford County west of highway no. 66 from Leavenworth north to the Washington county line.

2. License to hunt, shoot, kill, capture or to pursue deer shall be valid from the 6th day of November, 1952, to the 8th day of November, 1952, both dates inclusive only.

3. Deer may be taken only with a bow and arrow or with a 12, 16 or 20 gauge shotgun loaded with a rifled slug.

4. Only broad-head large game arrows may be used.

5. Only bows of 40 pounds weight or over may be used.

6. Poisoned or explosive arrows or bows drawn, held or released by mechanical means shall not be used.

7. Bow and arrows only may be used in certain designated areas on Brown County state park. A map of the park will be available at the entrance with the permissible hunting areas delineated thereon and maps will also be available in the office of the department, 311 W. Washington St., Indianapolis, Indiana.

8. Deer may be hunted only between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. central standard time.

9. One deer only may be taken. This deer may be of either sex and of any age.

10. The deer license sold to each hunter includes:

(a) License number insignia (red) to be worn on the back while hunting.

(b) A metal locking seal bearing the license number of the licensee and the year of its issue which must be affixed to the carcass between the tendon and the bone of the leg before the carcass is transported.

(c) A hunt report postal card will be provided with the license, and it must be detached, filled out and mailed not later than 3 days after the close of the season whether a deer is killed or not. Licensees failing to return the hunt report card will be refused the purchase of a special deer license for subsequent seasons.

11. The use of dogs, domestic animals, automobiles, aircraft or any mechanical conveyance, salt or bait of any kind, is forbidden.

12. The running of dogs in any manner or for any reason, either during the daytime or night time, is prohibited in the counties designated under Section 1, from sunset November 5, 1952, to sunrise November 9, 1952, both times and dates inclusive.

Letters to the Editor

Hi Ted,

When I told mom to tell you I made corporal, I meant for you to change my address. I didn't care whether you put it in the paper or not. I told her to tell you to change my address but I got the News this morning and it still had PFC on it so I thought I'd better write and tell you myself.

They got us (60 of us) up Monday night at 100 or I should say early Tuesday morning, to go up in the mountains and fight a forest fire and we never got back until 6:00 Tuesday night and we never had any sleep all this time and we couldn't take time to eat so we was a tired and hungry bunch when we got back. We was hoping we'd get the day off to catch up on our sleep but we didn't and we got up at 6:00 this morning.

Well, it's time to go back to work so I'll close now.

Growth of a Soul

Lesson for September 7, 1952

AFTER A MAN IS DEAD, and indeed while he is still alive, we ought to remember the best about him and forget the worst. That is how we want to be treated, ourselves. But human beings are so perverse that we often do just the opposite. We remember the worst, forget the best. This is so in the case of the great King David.

Dr. Foreman

A novel was once written about him in which his lie was pictured as a curve high in the middle, bending down sharply at both ends. After his great sins of adultery and murder, so the story went, he went on down and down hill to the end. This is not the picture we get from the Bible. In many ways his later days were sad; his fortunes declined, as we say. But his soul did not decline. The latter days of David show us how even a man who has sinned can rise again; how even an ageing man can grow in soul.

Signs of Growth

NOT THAT a man has to sin as David did in order to grow. In order to be healthy it is not necessary to be half-dead with ever first; yet even after a long stay in the sanitarium it is possible for a man to make his way to full health and strength.

Now David, though he fell, "did not blind his soul with clay." The experience struck down his pride; he realised with shame what he had done. Some men must wake bitterly to the fact of their own weakness before they can begin to take hold of God's strength. At any rate, we can see signs of growth in David's soul.

One of these signs is humility before God. Take the story of his flight from his capital, for example. He could have hardly been in a worse state. His loved son Absalom had become a rebel, his throne was in danger, his friends were turning against him, even his life was not safe. Another man might have committed suicide, or sat in his deserted palace bitterly awaiting the end. Another man might have returned Shimei's foul language, curse for curse.

But David moves through all this as a man who realizes he deserves his troubles, knows it is God who is bringing these hard things to pass, and bows humbly under whatever God sends. His kingdom was shrinking, but his soul was growing again.

Is the Young Man Safe?

ANOTHER plain sign of inward growth was David's attitude to his bad son Absalom. That young man had ceased to be a son, but the old man did not cease to be a father. The young man would have stopped at nothing, he would have killed his father without hesitating, in order to gain the kingdom for himself. But David was willing to lose the kingdom, if by so doing he could keep from losing his son.

General Joab, a professional killer, could see no point in David's generosity. He believed David should be a king first and a father afterwards. It was Joab who against David's strict orders finally killed Absalom.

But in death as in life, David loved that wild young man. No more tragic scene is found in history than David's lament, "Would God I had died for thee, A Absalom, my son, my son." It does not sound like a lament for a dead enemy, and it was not; it was a father's grief for his son. The grief came late; David should long before those days have remembered his duty as a father to Absalom. But late though it was, David's tears show that in him his soul still grew.

No Cheap Sacrifice

ONE OTHER sign of soul-growth comes to the surface: a single sentence from David on the day when he bought the land where the temple was to be built. The owner Ornan (Araunah) would have given the land free; but David insisted on paying the full value. "I will not offer burnt offerings unto the Lord my God which cost me nothing," he said.

No one would have blamed him for taking advantage of the owner, cutting the price a little. When david was a younger man he might have done it; but not now. No one else would know it, perhaps; but God would know it.

It was a sign that David was no longer the half-grown soul he had once been. For a man never really grows up till he does what he does, not because of fear, or ambition, or reputation, nor for any reason but because he knows how God is going to look at it.

K of P Inspection Next Wednesday

St. Joe Lodge No. 400 of the Knights of Pythias will hold its annual inspection at the K of P Hall in St. Joe on Wednesday, September 10, at 8:30 p.m.

Pot-luck lunch will be served.

All members of the lodge are urged to attend this meeting.

Lions Club Resumes Meetings Monday

The St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club will resume its regular meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of each month next Monday, September 8.

The club dispensed with meetings during the summer months.

The program for the first meeting includes planning for the lunch stand at the county fair.

Answer to Question No. 1:

The presence of stones in the gall bladder is not usually dangerous. When symptoms show the probability of gall bladder disease and the X-ray reveals gall stones, surgical removal of the gall bladder may be indicated. As a direct result of modern advances in surgery and the new drugs mortality from this operation has been reduced to almost nil.

Answer to Question No. 2:

In the United States more than 95 per cent of children under the age of 15 have some decay in their permanent teeth. Parents and school officials should watch the children's teeth much more carefully, and refer the children to the family dentist or existing dental clinics. This would definitely improve dental health.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Psittacosis or parrot fever is a serious disease easily transmitted to humans but rather rare in the United States. It is caused by a virus common in birds (mostly parrots), and shows itself with high fever which remains high for about three weeks. Mortality used to be about 20 per cent of those infected with the disease. Some of the newer drugs have greatly reduced the number of deaths.

The softball game between Sechler's and Partee's industrial teams for Friday night has been re-scheduled for Monday evening, September 8, at 8 o'clock.

Herman C. Diederich, a former resident of near Auburn, died August 29 at Fort Wayne. Funeral services were conducted Monday at Trinity Lutheran Church in Auburn. Survivers include two daughters, Mrs. Norbert May of Waterloo and Mrs. Carl Swift of Camp Polk, La.; a son, Gene, of northwest of St. Joe; four brothers, Paul and Carl of Garrett, August of Fort Wayne and Walter of Deshler, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Nevin Good of Kendallville and Mrs. Lloyd Trumbull of Garrett; and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Ethel May Wineland of Auburn has filed suit for separate maintenance in the DeKalb Circuit Court in Auburn. W. Glen Wineland was named defendant. The plaintiff asked suitable support and an order authorizing her to reside in their home. The couple married October 1, 1930, and separated August 13. She accuses her husband of creating constant strife between them and alleges that living together was intolerable.

St. Joe Churches defeated the Spencerville Lutheran Church softball team last Friday evening by a 1-0 score. In perhaps the best game at the local diamond this year, Jerry Blauser gave up three hits, one a game-winning home run off the bat of Bob Draggoo, and "Red" Strombeck, hurling for the St. Joe team, gave up but two safeties. The prelim went to the Pony Leaguers over their Dads, 5-4.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Waltz and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gore and two children of Fort Wayne spent two weeks vacationing and sight seeing in Wisconsin and Minnesota, spending a few days fishing at Grouse Lake and a week at Fish Hook Lake, Park Rapids, Minn.

millions prefer electric water heating for the same reasons they prefer electric light!

it's clean, safe, thrifty, worry-free

Why do you use electric lights at home? Because you know from experience that electricity's the cleanest, safest, thriftiest way—the best way, all things considered—to do the job.

You want the same dependable performance in a water heater . . . so let electricity do that task, too!

It makes sense. People who use electric water heaters say it does—and there are more of them every day. You couldn't pay 'em to go back to old-time methods.

Your plumber or electric appliance dealer has a size and type of electric water heater for every family, every purse.

Around the Town

With the Editor

I was nosing around Milt Ritenour's welding and repair shop the other day taking note of his equipment and stuff. I noticed a nice looking ornamental iron railing with an "M" centered in white. It turned out that Milt dabbles in the fancy work and from the looks of that job turns out some pretty nice stuff.

That "M" was for Morr—Walter is getting it for his place. Then there was another complicated-looking rig for a railing for one of the Coburns, "Babe" or "Mutt", I guess. It was complicated because the steps evidently have a turn and the rail must do likewise.

If you need an ornamental iron railing, you might take a look at Milt's work. Looks good to me.

Some of the boys thought that practice fire run last Friday was the real McCoy. Jiggs hollered for an ax with the comment—"Let's bust a window and find out where the fire is!"

REPUBLICAN WOMEN MEET

Republican women of three townships, Concord, Spencer and Newville, will hold a meeting Monday, September 15.

The meeting will be held at the Spencerville fire hall and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

IN MEMORY—

—of Grandson, Donald Kinsey, who passed away, September 7, 1946.

The road into the sunset
Is one we each must tread—
And though it brings us sorrow
When a loved one goes ahead,
Still there is comfort knowing
We will meet again some day
When grief and pain are over,
And the clouds have rolled away.

Work, Auction, Scrap Drive Set For Sept. 27

The St. Joe Valley Recreation Club has made plans for a big day on the 27th of this month when they will combine a "work day" at the ball diamond with a scrap drive and auction sale.

At the club's regular monthly meeting last Thursday at the school house in St. Joe, president Frank Sechler made the following committee-chairman appointments:

William Beebe, loading and hauling fill dirt.
Walter Morr, benefit auction.
Francis Dulle, scrap drive.

The "work day" is planned to haul in several loads of fill dirt to build up the outfield at the local diamond. Left field in particular needs filling in.

The benefit auction and scrap drive are planned to raise funds for payment of the club's outstanding indebtedness of around $1100 in the form of non-interest bearing bonds.

All other debts have been paid for by the club's activities of the past year and the operation of a refreshment stand at the diamond during ball games.

It is planned to have a full day of work at the diamond and Bill Staman was appointed chairman of a committee to see that a lunch would be served to those working at the diamond and those assisting in the scrap drive.

Club members and others interested in helping on that date are asked to keep September 27 an "open date."

The work day will be climaxed by the benefit auction.

Tigers' Court Schedule Given

The Concord Twp. High School basketball schedule for 1952-53 was announced Wednesday by Principal Charles McCreery.

Two games remain to be scheduled. One has been tentatively set with Salem Center but the date has not been chosen. A second unfilled date will also be announced at a later date.

The Tigers, under coach Bob Dragoo, open their court season at Waterloo on Saturday, November 1. The first home game will be played the following Tuesday, November 4, at the St. Joe gym with Harlan furnishing the opposition.

The schedule is as follows (two additional dates to be added later):

Nov. 1—Waterloo, there.
Nov. 4—Harlan, here.
Nov. 7—Woodburn, here.
Nov. 14—Churubusco, here.
Nov. 18—Hicksville, here.
Nov. 25—Ashley, there.
Dec. 9—Spencerville, there.
Dec. 12—Hamilton, there.
Dec. 16—Scott Center, here.
Jan. 8-9-10—County Tourney.
Jan. 16—Butler, there.
Jan. 23—Spencerville, here.
Jan. 30—Woodburn, there.
Feb. 6—Pleasant Lake, here.
Feb. 10—Scott Center—here.
Feb. 13—Metz, there.
Feb. 20—Hamilton, here.
Feb. 25 & 28—Sectional Tourney.

'Into Each Life-'

No one likes to bring notes of sadness into the hearts of the kiddies, such as was done a few weeks ago with the announcement of the opening of school.

So to offset the previous bad news, here's a note of joy for those imprisoned behind bars of books for the next eight months.

The following dates are those on which school will NOT be in session:

Oct. 3, DeKalb County Fair School Day.
Oct. 23 and 24, Indiana State Teacher Convention.
Nov. 27 and 28, Thanksgiving vacation.
Dec. 20 to 28 inclusive, Christmas vacation.
Jan. 1, New Year's Day.
April 3, Good Friday.

Local Dealer 2nd In Sales Contest

Walter's Trading Post has been designated second place winner in a contest sponsored by International Harvester Co. for its appliance dealers. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walter, owners of the establishment, will receive a ten-day trip to Bermuda in October for their sales during the contest.

Harvester dealers were given the opportunity to win five prizes beginning June 16 when the sales contest began. The contest was concluded on Saturday, August 30.

First prize was won by a Fort Wayne firm.

First prize was a trip to Bermuda plus merchandise, the second a trip to Bermuda and the last three prizes merchandise awards.

The Walters will leave Thursday, October, 9, for New York where they will sail on the "Queen of Bermuda" on their expenses-paid trip. They will return the Saturday of the following week.

Absentee Voters Must Be Registered

Any DeKalb County serviceman who is of voting age may cast an absentee ballot for the November elections providing preliminary steps, required by law, are taken, according to Ralph W. Bruce, DeKalb County Clerk.

Mr. Bruce announced Monday that the serviceman who will be away from the county November 2 may apply now for an absentee registration form in the clerk's office in the court house.

He emphasized that parents of soldiers now overseas may send the GI's name and address to the county clerk's office and the registration form and an application for the absentee voting ballot will be sent to the serviceman.

All the serviceman has to do then is to make out the forms and mail them back to Mr. Bruce and the absentee ballot will be mailed to him.

If the serviceman has already been registered with the county clerk, he need only apply for the absentee voting ballot.

Mr. Bruce said that the last day that the absent serviceman may register with his office is October 6 and the application must be in his office by that time to make the serviceman eligible to vote.

Other persons eligible to cast absentee ballots are those gainfully employed or on business outside the county, those attending school or college outside the county and anyone who is a wife or dependent of persons covered in the above categories.

The last day to file for the absent voter ballot is November 1.

GREEN PASTURE CONTEST WINNERS NAMED

The winner of the 1952 DeKalb County green pasture contest is M. R. Brechbill of Richland Twp., according to an announcement by Ernest J. Lesiuk, county agent.

Mr. Brechbill had 14 acres of pasture consisting of a mixture of alfalfa, red clover, Ladino, timothy, brome and alsike. This had a carrying capacity of 20 cows and six heifers for 58 days. He had 35 pigs and made 28 tons of hay.

The fertilizing practices he used consisted of 300 pounds of 3-12-12 on small grains. This was followed by 0-20-0 used at the rate of 160 pounds per acre.

Mr. Brechbill has ben a dairy man for a number of years. He carries out all the practices which make a good grass and legume mixture for roughage. He was also the 1951 champion of the DeKalb County green pasture contest.

Robert Witt of Spencer Twp. was one of the ten township winners in the contest. He received 300 pounds of 0-12-12, donated by the Spencerville Elevator.

Practice Run A Success For Volunteers

The St. Joe and Spencerville Volunteer Fire Departments held a practice run Friday evening of last week unloading their fire fighting equipment at the school house in St. Joe.

The results of the test run were gratfying to fire department officials as the time elapsed from the moment the alarm sounded until four streams of water were being pumped at the chool house some five blocks away was but six minutes. That was for the St. Joe unit. The Spencerville unit received a call at 6:36 p.m. and eight and one-half minutes later was pumping three streams of water on the building in St. Joe.

A call was also made for the auxiliary trailer at the St. Joe fire house. This unit was pumping water at the scene of the test just three and one-half minutes after the call was put in for it.

The practice session was held to determine how efficiently local fire fighting equipment could be handled.

Big Shows Guaranteed For This Area

The Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons have been unanimously accepted into membership in the Arena Managers' Asociation, a national association comprised of more than 30 members identified with large arenas and amusement centers throughout the United States.

The decision to join the association, which has its headquarters in the RKO Building in New York City, was made because of the transfer of Zollner Piston promotions, such as the profesional basketball team, "Holiday On Ice" and other entertainment ventures, to the Allen County War Memorial Coliseum, one of the largest and most commodious arenas in the country.

The Arena Managers' Association was formed several years ago. Because these arenas and amusement centers are used for a multiplicity of purposes and that their problems of operation are unlike those which confront a completely theatrical or commercial venture, it was deemed advisable that the operators correlate their efforts along common lines, that is, to work together to bring to their communities varied amusement, cultural and athletic programs.

The first show coming to Fort Wayne through the association, sponsored by the Zollner Pistons, will be "The Biggest Show of '52" starring Nat (King) Cole, Sarah Vaughn and Stan Kenton and his orchestra. They will appear at the Coliseum Tuesday, October 21. The first Zollner-sponsored event will be "Holiday On Ice of 1953" which opens October 1 and runs through October 9.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Twp. Junior Home Demonstration Club held its August meeting with Rose Means.

The meeting opened with the club collect, followed by the song, "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet." Devotions were given by Mrs. Allison. Mrs. Means gave the lesson on cake decoration which was very interesting.

It was announced that election of officers will be held at the next regular meeeting.

Plans were discused for the the county fair. Then Ellen Fetters gave an interesting report on her trip to Purdue.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Means gave each member a cup cake to decorate. This preceded serving of the cakes with a delicious lunch.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Marcia Sible.

Lenard Fisher In Final List Of Showing Winners

Final records of judging at the Indiana Centennial State Fair show that Lenard Fisher of St. Joe won places in the showing of Hampshire boars.

Mr. Fisher's winners included "Masters Winner," 2nd in judging for junior yearling boar; "Fisher's Model," 3rd in judging for senior boar pig and a 7th rating also in the same division.

A. J. Moore of Butler took 34 prizes on sheep shown at the fair. Wappes Bros. of near Garrett won four prizes on hogs shown at the fair. Cherrygarth Farms of near Auburn placed a 7th in shorthorn bulls calved after January 1, 1952.

Arthur Emrick & Son of Auburn won 15 placings in sheep competition.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with deep gratitude that we wish to express our sincere thanks to each and all who so graciously assisted and extended sympathy in the passing of our husband and father. Your thoughtfulness in our sorrow has meant so much and will always be remembered.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Our Fire Department

The results of the practice run made by the local volunteer fire departments last Friday should be a source of comfort to residents of St. Joe and the surrounding community. It's particularly gratifying to the residents of our town who have the convenience of a water system for the protection it offers in case of fire. Frequent failures in fighting fires in rural communities have been due to the lack of a sufficient water supply. With the water system in St. Joe that possibility is practically eliminated and with the promptness with which the men of the fire department answered the call, the picture becomes even rosier.

We all engage in griping, complaining of what our town doesn't have and overlooking what it does have. St. Joe has several things for which it can be thankful—including people, businesses and organizations—and it has also people, businesses and organizations which do little or nothing for community betterment. Fortunately, the fire department belongs to the former category. Whatever St. Joe lacks in equipment is compensated for by the cooperation extended by the volunteers who hop on the truck on a fire run.

It has been mentioned here before that the department needs a new fire truck and, along with it, a new fire house. Little interest apparently has been aroused, except on the part of the firemen who know their needs. As in everything else, nothing will be done until someone suffers a personal or property loss due to a lack of fire fighting equipment.

Whether or not we get a new truck and fire house remains to be seen. In the meantime, St. Joe can be thankful for the facilities it has and the men who are ready to answer the wail of the siren—right now.

Shall We Pay Our Debts?

Sometime next year a new milestone is expected to be reached in Washington, D. C. The national debt, according to several official estimates, will reach the legal limit of $275,000,000,000. If it wishes, Congress may lift the limit to some new astronomical heights. If Congress doesn't whoever is President next year will be obligated to operate the government within its income.

This will be an important milestone. It will bring a decision on whether to place additional mortgages on earnings of future generations or whether we citizens of today shall begin paying our own way. I've been studying the budget for this fiscal year—"House Document No. 285." It weighs five pounds, one ounce. It contains 1,222 pages. Two paragraphs, 15 lines of type, are devoted to "Borrowing and The Public Debt." Those two paragraphs predict that the $275,000,000,000 debt will be reached next year.

If the people of America knew and understood all the facts involved in the decision to be made on the limit for the national debt, they would flood Congress wth requests not to permit a further increase. For the past week I've been examining some of the facts. In 1900 we had a public debt of slightly more than one billion dollars. Fifteen years later the debt was smaller. The Federal government borrowed money throughout World War I. But beginning in 1920 and for the next 10 years the budget was balanced and the debt reduced each year—following the pay-as-you-go practice that had been the rule since our Federal government was founded.

In 19 of the 22 years from 1930 to 1952 the government each year spent more money than it received, and thus the debt grew—in peacetime as well as wartime. The budget for our present fiscal year called for expenditures of $91,400,000,000. Congress whittled this down to $80,300,000,000, which is more than the average spent during each of the four big spending years of World War II. The approved budget will necessitate the borrowing of about $10,000,000,000 and will push the debt close to the $275,000,000,000 limit.

So we're not paying our way today. We didn't pay our way in 19 of the last 22 years. Since 1930 we the people, through our government, have borrowed $260,000,000,000—a quarter of a trillion dollars. How much of it will today's earners pay? How much will this adult generation leave to be paid by today's children? These are fair questions. Some political orators answer: "Forget the national debt; forget the fact that we're borrowing; we're doing all right, aren't we?"

Debts have to be repaid—by someone, sometime. If we do not pay this debt made during our lifetime, who will? Future generations will have to. If we are to pay it, we must do three things that aren't easily done: (1) reduce government spending; (2) balance the budget; and (3) begin immediately a program of debt reduction. When the debt reaches $275,000,000,000 next year, the interest alone will require $7,000,000,000 a year from the taxpayers.

If in addition to paying the interest we desire to reduce the debt itself by $10,000,000,000 a year, that would mean the national debt alone would be costing each citizen with an income an average of $261 a year. And it would require 27 years to wipe out the debt. When we add taxes for this year's $80,000,000,000 budget, we have a yearly tax bill averaging $1,500 a year for every person with an income. That's the outlook immediately ahead when we face up to the hard facts on the budget and the national debt.

The most important first step citizens could take in this situation would be to prevail upon their Congressmen to balance the budget. This is a proper function of Congress. And it is the only way through which the citizens can exercise any control over government finances. The second needed step would be to drastically cut government expenses. Then the taxpayers could support a program of debt reduction that would permit us, 20 or 30 years from now, to say to the youth of America: "Here. This is your nation. We have enjoyed its blessings. Our stewardship is now ended. We are passing it on to you free of debt."

On such an occasion we could be proud. But can we be proud of the situation today?

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair
Fourth District, Indiana

DEFENSE IS LAGGING—A subcommittee in the Senate has released a report on its investigation of the Defense Department to find out why our arms production is lagging although Congress appropriated and the Military Establishment spent about $90 billiions in the five fiscal years before Korea.

After pointing out the alarming delay in our production of warplanes, the committee blamed "a capacity for indecision which at times has reached amazing levels."

Senator Johnson (D-Tex.) who was chairman of the subcommittee recently asked:

"What happened to the billions thiis nation spent on its defense prior to Korea? That is a question which has baffled many Americans.

"It is well known to all that Congress appropriated--and the Defense Department spent--many billions of dollars in maintaining the Military Establishment in the years preceding hostilities. And yet, when the fighting broke out, we were caught flatfooted--tragically unprepared."

What happened to all this money? This is the way the Defense Department explains it: During 1947, 1948, 1949 and 1950, it spent on the average $5 billions a year for personnel costs: $3 1-4 billions a year for operating and maintaining aircraft, shpis, weapons and military installations; $500 millions a year for National Guard and other reserve costs; $500 millions a year for various operating expense; $1-4 million a year for military public works; $500 millions a year for research and development of new weapons and $2 1-4 billions a year for procurement of aircraft, ships, weapons and ammunition.

Of that $48 billions, spent in the last four years preceding Korea, only 19 percent of the funds were used to buy weapons of war. No wonder our boys in Korea were caught without planes and ammunition to drive back the Communists.

And, after investigating the reasons for delay in rearmament, this subcommittee concludes that after two years of unprecedented spending, our military machine is still in a sad state of unpreparedness. That means that in case of an attack, we would probably again suffer reverses similar to those we encountered when we were thrust into the Korean war.

$205 BILLIONS SPENT IN 7 YEARS—It is almost fantastic when one sees the figures to see how much of our money has been going for defense yet we are without adequate protection at this stage of our mobilization. In 1947 we spent (in round figures) $11 1-2 billions; 1948 $9 3-4 billions; 1949 $14 billions; 1950 $13 billions; 1951 $40 1-2 billions; 1952 $60.8 billions; and for fiscal 1953 $48 1-2 billions has been appropriated. That is a grand total of $205.8 billions in eight years. Surely the American public is entitled to sound, protective security for this huge expenditure. The tragic thing is that bungling, mismanagement and as the Senate subcommittee charged, "lack of co-ordination, abuse, misuse and disuse of power, bad advice to the executives and a general refusal on the part of the government agencies to work together" has resulted in the "over-all failure" of our vital mobilization efforts. This must be changed.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

PENSIONS AND PRICES

THE PRICE of practically every item continues to rise. This includes guns, tanks, planes, ships, and everything else needed for national defense.

This news can mean but one thing, an increase in the tax burden placed upon the already overloaded back of every American taxpayer. For the current fiscal year alone, the share our Hoosier taxpayers must pay of the cost of Federal spending approximates $1,879,000,000.00.

The item which strikes closest to home, however, is the continuous rise in the cost of living.

In July of this year, according to figures released by the Bureau of Labor, the index was boosted to 189.6 as contrasted to 100 for the years of 1935-39, inclusive.

But this is only the first chapter.

On August 21st, another announcement from the Department of Labor revealed that the Cost of Living Index again has jumped to 190.8. Thus, for two months in a row, the Cost of Living Index has reached a new all time high.

As in July, the major contributing factor to this increase, lay with the rise in food prices.

Some typical examples of the increase in the average food price over the nation since 1950, are as follows: Milk, 20.1 cents a quart delivered to 23.7; Bread, 14.2 to 16.1; Hamburger, 58.4 cents to 64.8 cents; Eggs, 56.9 cents per dozen to 59 cents; Potatoes, 78.5 cents per 15 pounds to $1.28.

In June, 1943 (the peak production year), 65 cents would have purchased as much as $1.00 in June, 1952.

It may be argued that this price increase has little effect on the pocketbook of the average American laborer. Many are members of unions who have contracts with employers which contain "escalator" clauses, so that as the cost of living goes up, their wages rise accordingly.

In reply, let me call your attention to a report recently made by Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor, in which he pointed to the fact that the average city dwelling family, while possessed of an annual income of about $4,300 after personal taxes, for the year of 1950, paid out $4,700 during that year, thus going four hundred dollars in the red. That is going in debt at a rate of better than a dollar a day!

The greatest havoc of these rising prices, however, is wrought upon our aged people. They are too old to engage any longer in any form of active employment. For them, their only source of income is from their life's savings, a pension from their former employer, or a welfare dole.

Many of these people are our finest citizens; retired school teachers, members of the clergy, who have built fine spiritual qualities into our communities which will last for years to come. Others are solid citizens, formerly employed in industry or on the farm, who always gave their employer in full measure for every dollar paid them in salary.

In the sunset years of these elderly people, indeed it is a tragedy that they hardly can buy themselves a bare existence with the diminishing purchasing power of their pension dollars in this era of skyrocketing costs, rising prices, Federal spending, and high taxes.

You are looking at 211 men

What you see is only 1 man...but he, and every worker in America, has the strength of 211 men. Where that strength came from is the story of freedom.

It was the freedom of thought and action that turned the dreams of men like Edison and Westinghouse into practical realities. It was that same freedom that made millions of Americans give their time and energy and money to develop electric power. Progress is nourished by freedom. Under our American system, the electric power industry has been free to develop and expand. That is why each American worker today has the equivalent, in electric power, of 210 more men to help him.

Electricity increases production, and productivity makes a nation prosperous, happy, strong. Electricity can help to keep America free from aggressors, but freedom within America is your job. It will remain as long as you and millions of Americans like you want it to. Guard it well for it is too precious to lose. Vote in every election on every issue. Your voice will be heard.

Letters to the Editor

Sept. 1, 1952
Korea

Dear Ted,

I received the news today, it was the one with the pictures of all the kids around town. I guess I've been away a long time because the only ones I recognized were your "Angels." I was surprised to see the youngest one looking as big as he does. By the time I get home I don't suppose I will even recognize them. I think it was a pretty good group of pictures and reminded me of a lot of the kids. The only ones you see over here are Koreans and they sure aren't as well fed or clothed.

Remember how it used to rain every time we washed our cars, Ted? Well that rain raiin back home isn't even a drop in the bucket to the rains we get over here. When it rains here, it rains for days and not hours. It's raining right now and has been for hours. They are always putting in bridges and rebuilding roads over here. Some of these hills are bad, you can come around a curve and the road is gone. They have been having a lot of trouble getting food from the rear in these stormy days, but we still eat. They even fly ammunition to the front by heliocopter when the roads are out. If you ever have seen a sight it is when a convoy of heliocopters come up through a valley. They look like a bunch of overgrown insects. Those heliocopters sure do a wonderful job over here.

The time over here is sure dragging out. I have been away 7 months now and it seems like 7 years. I'll be going to Japan on R&R in a short time. I'm number 4 on the list. After that the next time I cross from Korea to Japan it will be on the way home. That's the trip we are all looking for. Going to Japan for 5 days and sleeping in a bed and picking out what ever you want to eat will sure be wonderful. I never drank much milk, but I would sure give a lot for a fresh quart of it. I haven't had any for 6 months.

Well, Ted, I've got a lot of work to do so I'll sign off for this time. Tell all the people back home to write. I would sure like to hear from them.

MANAGEMENT TOUR FRIDAY

The Northeastern Indiana four-county management tour will be held Friday, September 12. The tour has been arranged by farmers and county agents from DeKalb, Noble, Steuben and LaGrange counties.

Featured on the program will be Homer Hayward, secretary-treasurer of the Louisville P.C.A., who will address the group in the court house assembly room in Auburn at 12:30 p.m., immediately following lunch.

The following is the time table for the tour:

10 a.m.—Charles Hosford farm in Noble County (one mile east and one-half mile south of Wawaka). Mr. Hosford operates 141 acres and has a good dairy-hog set-up. He has been a continuous record keeper since 1945. His crop yield index has averaged 10 percent above other co-operators in northern Indiana.

12 noon—Lunch at the place of your choice.

12:30 p.m.—Court house assembly room in Auburn. On the program will be Homer Hayward, secretary-treasurer of the Louisville P.C.A., who will address the group.

2:00 p.m.—Floyd Murden farm in Steuben County (one mile west of Pleasant Lake on Indiana 727). Mr. Murden's farm consists of 514 acres. This farm is an example of a large successful operation with large machinery, a dryer and adapted to beef, cattle and swine. His livestock program consists of 118 beef cows, 60 calves, 30 sows and gilts and 39 steers on feed.

about this BUICK?

LOCAL DELIVERED PRICE FOR THE NEW 1952 BUICK SPECIAL
2-door 6-passenger Special Sedan MODEL 48D (Illustrated) 2231.88
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one—it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

*You get the silken smoothness of Dynaflow Drive.

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Legacy of a King

Lesson for September 14, 1952

DAVID did not mention you in his will. But if you are a Christian, you are one of his heirs all the same. The gold and silver he owned have long since been spent; of his palace not one stone is left upon another; his vast holdings in land have gone to strangers far outside his family. But the most valuable part of what he left us is still with us, imperishable: his legacy of religion.

Dr. Foreman

Experience of God

ONE THING every one will think of: the Psalms. Bible students realize that the titles of the Psalms are not part of the original psalms, but represent later editors' beliefs as to the authors. However, scholars are agreed that David did write some Psalms and may in fact be called the father of the psalm-book.

New the chief importance of any Psalm is not that it is a hymn or has been the basis of other hymns (as most of them have); it is not simply that it is beautiful and unforgettable poetry. The main point is that it is a first-hand record of first-hand experience of God.

We do not always realize how much of our own religious experience grows out of the experience of others. We would lack much of our interest in God and knowledge of him if we had not been waked up, so to speak, by some one else first. Think of the millions of readers of the 23rd Psalm, for instance, from David's time to now,—the millions who have been inspired and comforted by it. How much we owe to David!

Singing Faith

WE CHRISTIANS owe to David also that blending of beauty with religion which is a mark of our faith. Beauty apart from religion can drag men down and destroy them. Religion apart from beauty is usually a harsh and cold affair. There is a great deal of irreligious beauty and unbeautiful religion in the world, and neither of them does the world much good.

But for David religion and beauty flowed into each other, or rather beauty found its highest level in the service of God. It was not only in the words and music of the Psalms.

While David did not build the Temple, he dreamed it, and before a stone was laid he could see in his mind's eye the fine carvings, the gold inlays, the cypress and the fir, the brilliantly woven hangings; all the gorgeous gleaming Temple that he never lived to see, was in his mind and heart. He it was who gathered singing men and singing women for the worship of God the Lord. Whatever beauty there is in our church buildings, in our hymns, in our services, we owe much of the original inspiration of it to David.

"Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life"

RELIGION that cannot be applied to daily living, religion that is a purely solitary affair, has never been typical of the best in Christianity. Christianity has something to say to the world, our word, our world, something to do in it. Christianity in retreat, in hiding, is not full Christianity.

Perhaps we owe more of this ideal to David than we realize. For when he came to the throne, the ark—sacred symbol of the presence of God—was in a little out-of-the-way place where few could know of it. David took that ark and brought it to the nation's capital. Shrine and city must be united.

So wherever today the church stands literally or figuratively at the crossroads of life, challenging, inviting, winning men, a constant reminder of God, we should be thankful to David, who set the symbol of his religion in the very center of his nation's principal city.

Faith Faces Forward

ONE MORE thing must be mentioned, which we owe at least in part to David. It is a characteristic of both Jewish and Christian faith: Hope.

Some religions are religions of regret. Their golden age is in the past; as they see it the world is either going around and around in meaningless circle or in hopeless decay.

But any one who will read the Psalms with a penetrating eye can see how bright the future is to the Psalmist's mind. Bright, because it belongs to God. If Paul can say that hope is one of the things that endures, along with faith and love, he was not the first to think it. David long ago sang his songs of hope, and for this legacy too we may be grateful.

Piston Fastballers 'Vacationing'; Schedule Released For 'Hoopers'

Latest news releases from the Zollner Pistons indicates that the fastball team had one of its most successful seasons in the season just concluded. They won a total of 110 games while losing but 14. This was the fifth in sixth years in which the team won 100 or more games. Included in those 110 victories was the 19-3 shellacking they gave the St. Joe All-Stars in an appearance here last July. However, the 3 runs the locals scored were a better showing than most of the other exhibition game teams could muster in this area.

The Pistons took the recent play-off from the Midland Dow Chemicals thus giving them their sixth league and play-off championship in the last seven years. 1948 was the exception in their championship string and the years in which they won 100 or more games.

Hughie Johnston took the team batting crown with .340. Elmer Rohrs won 25 and lost only two to top the pitchers. Big Bill West was the busiest pitcher, working in 210 1-3 innings.

The Pistons have also announced the schedule for the professional basketball team which this year will cavort in the spacious setting of the new Memorial Coliseum at Fort Wayne. St. Joe fans who have "enjoyed" the games in past years from the uppermost reaches of the North Side gym, will now have a better choice as the seating of the Coliseum will include some 7,000 or more accomodations for basketball games.

The basketballers will have a 33-game home schedule in the National Basketball Association, the same as last year, even tho' they'll play 70 games all told, 4 more than last season.

To accomodate some of the larger cities who have been clamoring for double-headers, two home dates and two road dates have been thrown in the double-header pool. The big Z's have augmented their schedule by booking two double-headers themselves, one of which will be played on New Year's eve and another February 11, both at Ft. Wayne.

The New Year's eve double bill will be shared by the Pistons and Indianapolis with Rochester and Milwaukee. February 11 will find the Ft. Wayne team tackling the Syracuse Nats while Minneapolis plays Milwaukee.

The home schedule is as follows:

Sunday, Nov. 2—Minneapolis
Thursday, Nov. 6—Rochester
Sunday, Nov. 9—Indianapolis

Mrs. Harold L. Keller of near Hamilton was taken to the Lutheran Hospital last Friday morning following a severe attack of acute indigestion on Thursday night. Mrs. Keller's condition is improving slowly. She was a patient at the hospital three weeks last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jarrett took Joan Curie to Cincinnati September 3. Joan is getting settled before starting the fall term at Cincinnati Bible Seminary.

The Jarrett family enjoyed a six-day trip through Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and Ohio. Points of interest visited were Cumberland Falls, Norris Dam, Oak Ridge, Smoky Mountains, Cherokee Indian Reservation and Tallulla Falls. They visited Mrs. Jarrett's cousins, the James Walter family at Demorest, Ga., the Erby Messimer family at Johnson City, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lute at Cilumbus, O. Mr. and Mrs. Messimer were interested in news of their friends and church people around St. Joe and Coburn's Corners, where he ministered eight or ten years ago. At present he preaches half-time each at two churches, is principal of a county elementary school and barbers on Saturday—quite a full schedule.

Friday night, September 5, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Cora Curie and her brother, Merritt Sechler, surprised her with a carry-in birthday supper at the Jarrett home where she was staying during the Jarretts' absence.

A farewell dinner was served at the Lutheran Church Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Everett Collins and family. The Collins's will move soon to Fort Wayne.

Miss Mary Lenore Moore of Auburn, county home demonstration agent, and Dr. Lawrence Hess of Fort Wayne were united in marriage recently at Fort Wayne.

Robert Haverstock of Butler suffered a series of heart attacks at his home during the past ten days. He is feeling somewhat better at this writing.

Around the Town

With the Editor

My oh my, I never thought I'd see the day that "Red" Heyman would pop the question. But it looks as if he did and it looks as if Imogene took him up on it.

—How did he ever land such a cute trick??

Paul Moore thought he had a big tomato from that patch on the north side of the railroad tracks he and Bud Shockley have been working this year. Bill Hurni tells the story that Paul found a big red one weighing a pound and 8 ounces. But later on the daddy of 'em all was found—a tomato weighing 2 pounds and six ounces!

Can you top that?

Ah, if only grown-ups could keep the compromising nature they have when they're kids.

A couple of weeks ago our angels, Allan Amstutz and Peggy Chapman were playing cowboy in the back yard as I trimmed a portion of the hedge. They were playing around said bushes and Mike said, "Hey, Allan, here's a good place for our camp."

"I'm not Allan, I'm 'Hoppy'," came the reply.

A pause, then—"Hey, 'Hoppy,' here's a good place for our camp."

After the cowboys were settled in their "camp'," they were announcing their identity to one another.

"I'm 'Hopalong' Cassidy," said Allan.

"I'm Woy Woguhs," said Dave, having his usual unique pronunciation of "R's".

"I'm Mrs. Roy Rogers," said Peggy.

"I wanted to be 'Hopalong' Cassidy," Mike protested.

There was another few moments deliberation before Allan suggested, "You be 'Hopalong' Cassidy from another country and I'll be 'Hopalong' Cassidy from this country!"

—And there was peace.

A guy who goes for the cup that cheers somewhat too much was finally cornered by his wife in a bar where he was dreamily contemplating a slug of rye. Being in a genial mood, he offered her a sip, but when she took it she gagged and sputtered, finally coming out with: "How can you ever drink that horrible stuff?"

"See?" said the husband, "and all the while you thought I was having a good time!"

Mabel Lyons, county Republican vice-chairman, gave a short talk including remarks about her trip to the National Convention in Chicago. She introduced Hildred Ensley and Marcile Watson, candidates in the coming election.

Remarks by Gene Browand, county Republican chairman, covered the registration of voters and absentee voters.

He announced the following dates of Republican activities:

September 25—George Craig, Republican candidate for governor of the state of Indiana, will be the prinicipal speaker at a barbecue at the Fort Wayne speedway.

October 2—Republican Day at the DeKalb County Fair.

October 25—George Craig will be in DeKalb County.

November 1—Torch light parade in Auburn.

Mr. Browand introduced the male candidates present at the meeting.

Following adjournment light refreshments were served.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Did you receive a letter asking you to aid in "praying for peace"? If so, what did you do about it?

I have received one asking my help in "Prayer for Peace." I was asked to send 4 copies to 4 different persons other than me within 4 days. This is not a chain letter.

I am sending to 4 different editors and pray that you will find it in your heart to put a little add in your paper. Asking the prayer of all people who read your paper to "pray for Peace." I am sure that all of us praying together that "God" loving people will reach out to the leaders of the world and we can have peace once again.

May God Bless you and your work, also your faimly.

To the Editor,

I should have written and given you our change of address before this but I didn't think about it until we got the St. Joe News the other day via Japan.

We got back to the States July 18. We had a very smooth crossing and enjoyed the trip except that it was quite chilly. We docked in Seattle and drove through to Indiana without mishap and only witnessed one minor accident.

Dick is stationed down here at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, now. There is no housing on the post so we are living in Fort Smith which is about eight miles from camp. This is the first time we've been in Arkansas but I think we're going to like it very much.

Sincerely yours,

Bake Sale Added To Recreation Club Project

At a special meeting held Thursday evening, committee members of the recreation club, planning for the big day of activity in this area on September 27, appointed Mrs. Marcia Sible chairman of a bake sale.

The committees now stand as follows:

William Beebe—dirt hauling and leveling at the ball diamond.
Walter Morr—benefit auction.
Francis Dulle—scrap drive.
Mrs. Marcia Sible—bake sale.

The club is undertaking the "work day" to do some much-needed finishing work at the local diamond, as far as the playing field is concerned. It is also planned to raise funds through the benefit auction, the scrap drive and the bake sale to help pay off the indebtedness the club still has.

Anyone desiring to help in any way, such as donations of baked goods for the sale, scrap iron and metal for the scrap drive, items for the auction, etc., is asked to contact the above committee chairmen, Frank Sechler or Ted Haberkorn.

Holiday On Ice Coming Oct. 1-9

When the fifth annual edition of "Holiday On Ice" opens at the beautiful new Memorial Coliseum on October 1, ice show patrons in this area will be afforded the opportunity of seeing the major production of the world's largest ice show producing organization.

Holiday On Ice Shows, Inc., the parent organization, produces and travels four separate units covering schedules over a 75,000 mile annual route in the United States, Europe, Mexico and South America. More than 300 skaters are employed on a year-round basis and it takes more than 12 portable refrigeration units to keep ice under the far-flung operations.

The current edition, "Holiday On Ice of 1953," is the result of a full year of planning and preparation. More than 12 months ago executive producers George and Ruth Tyson and their associate producer, Delores Pallet, began to make detailed plans for the elaborate production numbers to be seen at Fort Wayne when the ice extravaganza opens for a nine-day engagement. A supporting corps of designers translated their ideas into concrete visualizations of costumes, stage settings, stage properties, lighting, music and figure skating routines and after a nine-month development period brought the incipient ice show to a point where full scale rehearsals could be scheduled to begin early last summer. It was only after a strenuous three-month training season that the current edition of the show was ready for its premiere.

Coming here for the engagement will be an all-star cast of 125 which will present 28 separate acts and eight elaborate production sequences. Tickets for "Holiday On Ice for 1953" are now on sale at the newly remodeled Zollner ticket office at the Vim Sporting Goods Store in Ft. Wayne.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Ah!—But Look Beneath!

The Key To Human Progress

Last week in Little Rock, I visited a small business. The owner has a problem that he can't solve. No one person can solve it. The unified action of millions of citizens would be required. My friend's problem is high taxes. His story and his problem is one that should concern every American.

Twenty years ago he made his living working flat on his back on the grease-spattered concrete floor of a little neighborhood garage, probing the insides of road-worn automobiles. He was a mechanic's helper. But he was ambitious. Occasionally he would buy a junk-heap car and at nights work it over mechanically. Then he'd advertise it in the paper. Each sale brought a few dollars profit. On such shoestring financing, and with a large capaciey for work, he gradually established a little one-man business. By 1940 he was making a comfortable living, had remodeled his home and was looking forward eagerly to expanding his business and employing other persons.

When I visited him last week, he grinned good-humoredly and said: "I guess I've got the 'small businessman's blues.' " He explained that although his business was better than ever before and his annual gross profit larger, the problem of taxes had him "whipped." His gross profit each month for the past three years had been between $1,000 and $1,500. And yet he is not getting ahead sufficiently to give him the sought-after feeling of security.

"Every three months," he said, "I've got to scrape up $900 to $1,000 for federal income taxes. Taking it out of operating capital is not easy. There are only my wife and I at home, but my household expenses are just about double, in dollars, what they were four or five years ago." He pays a healthy state income tax, a number of state and federal fees for doing business and has to employ an accountant to keep the various records required by the state and federal governments.

"At the end of each of the last five years," he laments, "I found that my bank account had only a few hundred dollars more in it than when the year began. And inflation more than cancelled out this gain. It's not so much the problem of making money. I could make more. I could expand my business, employ two more men and probably boost my gross profits at least 30 per cent. I want to do this.

"But in any business expansion you've got to invest capital, and there always is an element of chance. I would take the chance if it weren't for the fact that if I did boost my profit 30 percent, I would then be in an income tax bracket in which I'd be working half of my time to earn money to pay taxes; and in the end I would have only a few hundred dollars more each year. It's not worth it. So I'm in a rut. Taxes and the high cost of living have whipped me into submission. I've no incentive for further progress."

Here we have an example of the killing of the very incentive that has provided the driving force in the building of America through making more jobs and producing more good. Big government and big taxes are doing it. As I walked from my friend's place of business, I began thinking about government's dominant place in our lives. In the last 30 or 40 years, it has become an economic crutch for about 25 million people now directly and indirectly on government pay rolls, a powerful controlling influence in the whole social, economic and business pattern of the nation. More and more the population is coming to be dependent on government for more and more things that used to be done by the people for themselves.

Let's suppose that a band of Americans felt that socialism and enslavement were inevitable here and they picked up and moved to an island in the Pacific to start a new nation. What kind of government would they devise on their island? Would it be set up to abolish the hardships of primitive living and provide cradle-to-grave security? Or would it be a small non-burdensome government restricted to keeping the peace and protecting individual freedom? If they chose the latter, they would be doing exactly what another group of Americans did—345 years ago. These were the first American settlers, of Jamestown and Plymouth Rock. When they got around to forming a government, its principal functions were to keep the peace, protect individual freedom and promote the general welfare. It promoted the general welfare not by taxing away incentive but by enlarging incentive. That's how America grew up. It is the key to human progress.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

GOVERNMENT COSTS CAN BE CUT

READING of the mounting cost Federal government, many of you have said—"I'd like to get my hands on things in Washington. I'll bet I'd cut out some of these expenses!"

Let me assure you, I have felt this way on many occasions. Furthermore, during the 80th Congress, as Chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Printing, I was presented with an opportunity to do just that very thing—cut costs in government.

Seizing the opportunity, we made a survey. It disclosed that the entire government printing program was decontrolled to a serious degree. Government printing and binding regulations had not kept pace with technological changes in the printing industry. Consequently, government departments and agencies were engaged in the production of vast amounts of so-called "bootleg" printing, the majority of which was done on offset printing presses under the guise of "duplicating." Far-reaching waste was the inescapable result.

To remedy this, we issued "Government Printing and Binding Regulation No. 1, July 1, 1948." This was the first time in 25 years, that there had been any policy change in such regulations.

One of the significant results which came from this was the liquidation of 115 government field printing plants either through outright elimination or consolidation.

Of these, two were operated by the Department of Agriculture; four by the Department of the Air Force; 29 by the Department of the Army; three by the Department of Commerce; one by the Department of Interior; 18 by the Department of the Navy; 45 by the Department of the Treasury, and 13 were operated by the Veterans Administration.

Concurrent with this procedure, policies were adopted whereby: (1) as much work as possible was channeled into commercial printing establishments; and (2) authority was refused to any government activity to establish new plants unless it could be determined definitely that commercial facilities could not handle their requirements.

On this basis, the Office of Price Stabilization was denied authority to establish 14 of their own plants. In lieu thereof, their printing needs were supplied by commercial printers, with an annual saving estimated conservatively at a half million dollars.

A further survey revealed that a major economy could be effected in the Legislative Branch. Here, the Congressional Directory previously had been published twice yearly. We found approximately 80 to 90 per cent of the total copies printed for the second edition each year, were going to waste through non-use. Since then, but one edition has been printed each year for the last four years, with an annual saving of approximately $100,000.

The policies which we put into operation in the 80th Congress have been continued through the 81st and 82nd Congresses. As a result, during the past 4½ years, there have been identifiable savings of $69,336,660.90. Other economies, not capable of specific identification here, have resulted by a conservative estimate in savings totalling in excess of one hundred million dollars. Many of these savings are self-perpetuating. Yes, government costs can be cut.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

POLICIES FOR VETERANS' LAWS—The new Congress--the 83rd--which will be seated following the election on November 4-- will have in its hands a report of a Congressional Committee from the Veterans' Affairs Committee, of which I am privileged to be a member, dealing with GI home loans and educational benefits.

This subcommittee, headed by Cong. Olin E. Teague (D. Tex.) has just recommended:

Veterans' Administration supervision of contract terms between sellers and GI home buyers;

Allowing VA to require a year's guarantee by the seller of a home on heating, plumbing and electrical equipment; dry basement; sound roof; and adequate septic tank, if one is required;

Civil Service rating and pay to attract competent VA personnel;

Prohibition against acceptance of gifts by VA personnel from persons doing business through VA, and restrictions upon outside business activities by VA personnel.

These are direct recommendations to Congress, and since the 82nd Congress has adjourned, no new legislation can be considered, based on these recommendations, until the new Congress is elected.

OLD PAPERS DISCOVERED—Historic documents, yellowed with age, were recently unearthed in an old Senate bookcase. Many of the papers were signed by Gen. George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. Leslie Biffle, Secretary of the Senate, was responsible for this interesting discovery. Among the approximately 100 papers were 18 from the Washington administration, and one was the nomination of John Marshall as Secretary of State. Another interesting document was a call for the Senate to meet in special session to consider nominations, signed by President Washington. The papers were dirty and dusty and will be sent to the National Archives for treatment and storage after being sent to the President.

BUSY BUREAUCRATS—The Office of Price Stabilization often comes up with some interesting definitions. For instance, in an order which the bureau issued decontrolling "clay targets used in artificial shooting," reporters wanted to know whether "shooting" could be called "artificial" when real bullets were used. OPS officials said they really meant to say "artificial clay targets." Then OPS was asked the definition between a "clay target" and "artificial clay target." They couldn't answer that one.

Shortly afterwards OPS decontrolled "non-edible foods." It turned out the agency meant such things as "wax fruit" and "plastic turkeys." Other items which the OPS exempted from price control were dinosaur skeletons, bowling pins, sun dials and stuffed elephants and donkeys for educational purposes. How exciting!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

enjoyed with friends of other days, and wonder how all of them are getting along.

We had planned to spend the month of August in Indiana and really visit with you good folks, but our plans did not work out to that effect, so we are here in good old Arizona with plenty of sunshine and plenty of work to do.

Our schools open today. Richard is in the fourth grade this year and is growing like a weed. He is getting quite tall and feeling just fine.

I suppose all of you have heard a lot about the earth quakes of California, but we are too far away to feel the jar of them of which we are very glad. They are really very bad in places.

I would like to tell you about a trip we took two weeks ago. We started out from home early on Sunday morning and drove to Boulder City, Nevada, a distance of 350 miles. We drove out to the Hoover (Boulder) Dam which is seven miles from Boulder City. The dam is the highest in the world, more than 700 foot from the top to the bottom. The elevator took a load of 21 persons down in one minute and a few seconds. It was quite a thrill. We were taken through all of the rooms in the dam and a guide explained each step of the way. We went through a tunnel of rock under the lake. It gave us quite a sensation. As you look at the dam and the large canyon which it spans, it looks as though it could never have been built by man. We went swimming in beautiful Lake Mead, the largest artificial lake in the world, used as a reservoir for irrigation and electric power generation.

We drove back to Boulder City and saw a movie which was called, "The Building of Boulder Dam." It was filmed while the construction was taking place which was a little over 7 years. From there we went to Las Vegas, Nevada, and drove down the main streets to see the large gambling houses and also the famous "Last Frontier Village." It is built to look just like an old time western village with board sidewalks, old livery stables, old cars and all that would remind you of a town built when cars were first built and modern towns were yet to be built.

From Las Vegas we drove to the Zion National Park in Utah. It was a beautiful drive and the mountains were so colorful. They looked as though they had been painted. We drove through the park during a rain and the roads are very winding and high. There were so many points of interest it would be impossible to tell you all of them, but the Great Organ and The Great White Throne are the two most outstanding, I believe. They look so real and so immense. It makes you feel as though you were in the Heavenly Zion itself. We drove through the tunnel more than a mile long under the mountain. You just wonder how they could ever carve it out of solid rock.

From Zion National Park we headed south and drove through the largest Indian Reservation in the Southwest. How they survive in the type homes they live in I'll never know. Yet it is interesting to see.

We drove through the Kaibab Forest of pines. That is where the men go deer hunting from our neighborhood every winter. From there we drove to Flagstaff, Arizona. Flagstaff is a sawmill town, also the coldest part of the state high up in the mountains.

We started on south and drove through Oak Creek Canyon and ate our breakfast there on Tuesday morning. This is a noted beauty spot of the Southwest. Ask Lela Northrup, about it, she was there with us when she was out here.

We returned home Tuesday afternoon. We had been gone 3 days and had traveled a little over 1100 miles. It was a lovely trip --and it was our vacation for this summer.

We visit with Bill Billow once in a while. He is very busy and doesn't have much time off. He was out to the house for dinner a few Sundays ago and we made ice cream. It sure seems good for someone you know to drop in and visit for a while. We only wish more of you could do so.

I am about out of news for now, but hope we will hear from some of you or better yet have you visit us. Cotton picking is starting now so we will be busy from now on.

Editor and my friends,

I am enrolled in the Bible Seminary at Cincinnati. My dream finally came true after waiting for months. Miss Phyllis Beck of the Garrett Church of Christ and myself who lived in Garrett for the summer and attended the same church, left by train Monday, Sept. 8th, at 3:00, arrived to Cincinnati at 9:00. Some friends of ours took our luggage and us to our rooms. We have enjoyed the city very much, even if walking up and down the hills becomes very tiresome. Cincinnati is set on seven hills but has some very interesting sightseeing. I would enjoy the St. Joe News more if their were more local news items. Also would enjoy hearing from my friends. Here is my address:

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB

The Rural Housewives Club was entertained on Tuesday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Andrew Ward.

Eleven members were present to enjoy the meeting. After a short period of visiting, the club was called to order by the president, Marie Ward.

The opening number consisted of two comic songs, conducted by Elizabeth Hart, in which all took part.

Roll call response was of miscellaneous nature and proved to be quite interesting.

A short business session was followed by special entertainment given by Leona Mason and Gladys Hart.

The ladies were then invited to the dining room where the table was very beautifully decorated with rich red watermelon slices and golden cantalope, to which all did ample justice.

There was also plenty of ice cream for those desired it.

With many thanks to Mrs. Ward for a very lovely afternoon, the club adjourned to meet again on October 7 with Mrs. John Crothers as hostess.

A King Prays

Lesson for September 21, 1952

KING SOLOMON is not best known for his prayers; yet they are among the most remarkable features of what we know of him. If we can know what a man prays for, we know the heart of the man. The higher a man's place in life, the more he stands in need of prayer, the prayers of others as well as his own. King Solomon's reputation for wisdom based on one rather fantastic court decision, or on the splendor of the Temple, which he did not design; still less on those legendary powers such as being able to converse with dragonflies and demons. He was never more wise than in his prayers.

Dreams Give You Away

THEY SAY that when one is learning a new language, one can be sure one is making progress when one starts dreaming in the new language. Dreams, psychologists believe, show us what our minds are like, beneath the smooth surface. We should not take all our dreams too seriously, because, after all, it is the conscious mind that is at the wheel during our waking lives. But still a dream may show the kinds of wishes and desires and fears which lie deeper than our usual consciousness.

Now when a man dreams about praying to God face to face, you may be sure he is really a God-fearing, praying man. So the young Solomon's dream of his interview with God is a good indication of the depths of his mind and intentions at that time.

It was not a silly dream; it was quite serious. We may well believe that the young king often thought about it afterwards, and that God actually took this way of speaking to Solomon.

Ask for One Thing

IN THAT dream Solomon is invited to pray, and God guarantees to answer the prayer, whatever it is. It is remarkable what Solomon did not ask for.

Considering the fact that his father had been such a warrior, one might expect Solomon to ask for victory in war. But the young king, even in his dreams, did not picture himself as a conquering hero. Then again, he might have been expected to want to be rich. He came of a race that rated property very highly indeed. In the Hebrew language, the expression "a great man" often meant simply a very rich one. But it was not money that Solomon desired most of all. A third blessing too might have been in Solomon's mind; something that every man of his time looked on as a sure sign of the blessing of God: namely, long life. But this too was not what the young man most wished to have.

Instead, he prayed for wisdom. Knowledge is knowing; wisdom is knowing how to use what you know. And he wanted this wisdom, not in order to be rich, powerful or long-lived, but in order to become a good leader of his people.

One cannot help believing that Solomon already had in him the seed of wisdom, or he would not have offered that prayer. Only the wise know what a jewel wisdom is.

Prayer of a Mature Mind

ANOTHER prayer of this famous king is recorded at the dedication of the Temple. Solomon had grown older by that time, and we can see in this prayer that he had grown wiser as well. For good as his dream-prayer was, this later one was deeper, higher, wider.

By this time his idea of God is higher than it was. He is aware now that God does not live even in the most gorgeous of temples; his dwelling place is in heaven, and his care is not for the nation of Israel alone.

Then again, in the earlier prayer Solomon's horizon was bounded by the limits of his native land. His prayer was unselfish, indeed, but it took in the welfare of his own subjects—no others. Now at the Temple he prays for "the stranger . . . all the people of the earth.

Furthermore, if in his earlier prayer young Solomon was aware of his and his people's weakness and ignorance, now he feels something deeper, more serious: the burden of human sin. He prays for many blessings, but above all for this: forgiveness for every heart that turns to God. When we ourselves pray, are our prayers mature? How high is our thought of God? For how wide a circle of persons do we pray? And do we pray first, and most of all, for things, or for power, or to be in harmony with God?

Plans Underway For Hallowe'en Program

At a special meeting of the St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department, held Tuesday evening at the fire hall, plans were made for the annual Hallowe'en Party for the community.

The department plans to have a variety of entertainment, a lunch stand operated by the fire department auxiliary and treats for the kiddies. As in previous years the party will be preceded by a parade down the main street to the gym. The tentative date set for the party is—Hallowe'en night, October 31.

Chairmen of the various committees and their committees are as follows:

General chairman—Roy Bowser.

Master of ceremonies and judging—Derwood Ridgway.

Treats—Ray Moore, Andy Monroe, Ralph Keeler.

Entertainment—Joe Robinson, Ted Haberkorn, Roy Reidenbach.

Parade—Maurice Kline, Lyle McMaken, Cliff Billow.

Prizes—Herb Amstutz, Wilbur Yeiser, Bill Hurni.

A meeting of the committees will be held Tuesday, October 7, at the fire hall. Further plans will be made at that time.

2nd Anniversary Shoot At Conservation Club Grounds Sunday

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold its second anniversary shoot next Sunday, September 28, at the club grounds west of St. Joe.

The anniversary shoot is for the championship of St. Joe Valley and is open to all amateurs. 100 mixed targets are on the program to be shot at from 16, 20 and 25 yards, making an interesting contest.

Valuable prizes will be given to first and second place winners and an extra prize to high score from 25 yards.

Special Services At Newville EUB Sunday

The Newville Circuit, composed of the Newville, Mt. Pleasant and Union Chapel Evangelical United Brethren Churches, will hold special services in the Newville Church on Sunday, September 28, in honor of Rev. O. P. Givens. Rev. Givens was serving the Newville Circuit in 1914 when the present Newville Church was remodeled. This church was dedicated by Bishop Fout, Bishop of the Northwest District, on April 19, 1914.

The program for the day will be as follows:

11:00—Morning worship; sermon topic, "The Four Roads." Rev. Givens, Speaker.

12:30—Basket dinner.

2:00—Afternoon service.

The morning worship service will be in charge of the Newville Church. Rev. Allan Francis Stone, pastor of the Newville Circuit, will be in charge of the service, and Mrs. Katherine Haller, the Newville Church chorister, will be in charge of the music.

The afternoon service will be presented by churches of the circuit. Rev. Stone will be in charge of this service and Rev. Frank L. Engle, pastor of the Waterloo First Evangelical United Brethren Church, will be in charge of the music. There will be specials given in this service by each church.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services set aside for the purpose of honoring a soldier of the Cross, Rev. O. P. Givens.

Fire Prevention Week Observed Oct. 5-11

Fire losses throughout the United States, when measured in dollars, are at an all-time high!

Basis for this report were statistics of the National Board of Fire Underwriters that put fire losses for 1951 at $730,084,000.

In commenting on these losses, Roy Bowser, chief of the St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department, declared that the $730 million loss for 1951 was $80 million, or 12.3 percent, more than for the preceding year.

The NBFU statistics on the number of fires, compiled from reports submitted by fire chiefs throughout the country, reflect a substantial rise in the number of building fires in urban areas during 1951, when they amounted to 400,000, an increase of 7.4 percent over the previous year.

Much of this loss in lives and property, he observed, resulted from fire in the home and cited the estimate of 856,703 fires in U. S. cities last year. Nearly half, or 418,871 of them, were building fires, nearly three-fourths of the fires, or 293,776, being residences.

He explained that the figures represent estimates of fires in cities of 2,500 population or more and did not by any means represent all the fires that occurred in all communities. This means that one fire occurs every 36 seconds—with an untold number of additional fires on farms and in smaller communities.

The major cause of these fires was careless use of matches and smoking. Such carelessness, he declared, accounts for close to 27 percent of the nation's reported fire losses.

Other major causes of fire, he concluded, were misuse of electricity; exposure to fire originating off premises; sparks on roofs; overheated or defective chimneys or flues; lightning; overheated stoves, furnaces or boilers; ignition of hot greases; spontaneous combustion and explosions.

Mr. Bowser has extended an invitation to home owners in St. Joe to take advantage of a free home inspection during fire prevention week, October 5-11. During that period members of the local fire department will be available to make a thorough inspection of any home to check danger points and make suggestions as to eliminating fire hazards. Anyone wishing to have this free inspection of their home should contact Chief Bowser or Merl Guilford, secretary of the fire department.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Twp. Home Economics Club met for its September meeting at the home of Myrtle Pugsley.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Mary Washler. The club then sang, "Seeing Nellie Home," followed by repeating of the club creed and prayer song in upison. Devotions were given by Mary Washler. A letter was then read from Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick who is sick. Roll call was answered with "a hint for lunch boxes." Twenty-four members responded.

The secretary's report was read and final arrangements for the county fair booth were discussed. Penny collection was taken.

A contest was conducted by Mrs. Rose Means and a skit presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Shull and Mrs. Katherine Haller. A contest was given by Edna Jenkins. The meeting closed with the history and singing of the song of the month, "Carry Me Back To Old Virginny."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pugsley, Ruth White, Mable Tustison and Katie Storer.

New officers for the coming year are as follows:

President—Elizabeth Shull.

Vice-president—Mary Washler.

Secretary—Katherine Haller.

Treasurer—Laura Washler.

Saturday To Be Busy Day

The big day for the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club is fast approaching.

This coming Saturday, September 27, will see a day of work at the local ball diamond as the club will haul in several loads of fill dirt to level off the outfield. While workers will be doing this work in St. Joe, there will be a bake sale in the morning at the News Office in St. Joe. Mrs. Marcia Sible is in charge of the bake sale and has made contact with club members' wives and families to gather donations for the sale. Anyone wishing to offer a cake, pie, cookies or what have you, to help out in the sale is asked to bring their donation to the News Office Saturday morning. If transportation is not available to bring baked goods to St. Joe, call Mrs. Sible and someone will call for it.

The bake sale will start at 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

Bill Beebe is chairman of the fill dirt hauling and leveling project.

A scrap drive will also be in progress through the day with Francis Dulle in charge of this portion of the day's program. He has gathered a group of men and boys to truck scrap steel and iron from farms and residences.

The climax of the day's work will be a benefit auction to be held at the ball diamond Saturday evening. Walter Morr is in charge of the auction and will have trucks and workers to pick up items for the auction. Sale items will be donated or sold on consignment.

Bill Staman has announced that he will have a lunch at the ball diamond for those who assist in the day's activities. The "workers" will get it "for free." During the evening auction, the concession stand will be open selling hot dogs, coffee and pop.

Services Held For Former Teacher In St. Joe School

Mrs. Velma Buttermore Rainier, 50, a teacher in DeKalb County schools for 32 years and wife of Arthur Rainier of Auburn, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 11:15 a. m. Saturday.

She was stricken as she prepared to wax the floor of her kitchen and died before a physician could be summoned at 11:27 a.m. Auburn city firemen and city police were called with the fire department's inhalator but she died before they arrived at the Rainier home.

Mrs. Rainier's daughter, Sharon Adele, a senior in the McIntosh High School at Auburn, was with her at the time she was stricken.

Mr. Rainier, a patient at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett where he had undergone major surgery, was returned to his home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Rainier, who retired in June of 1950 as a school teacher, had been in failing health for the past six months. Her health declined after she was ill with the mumps.

A native of Putnam County, Ohio, Mrs. Rainier was born October 12, 1901, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buttermore. She was married June 25, 1928, to Arthur Rainer at Coldwater, Michigan.

Surviving besides the husband and the daughter are a brother, Chester Buttermore, trustee of Jackson Township and a resident southeast of Auburn.

Mrs. Rainier's last teaching assignment was in the Concord Township grade schools in St. Joe.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday and burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery at Auburn.

Hospital Beds Available For County Residents

The Auxiliary of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post 283 of St. Joe has announced the purchase of two hopsital beds for use of DeKalb County citizens.

The local auxiliary recently conducted a sale of Capper's Farm Magazine and the proceds derived from sales during that drive were used to buy the hospital beds. There is no charge for the use of these beds and are for use of the people of this community and DeKalb County

Anyone desiring to obtain the use of these beds should contact either Mrs. Mildred Ridgway, president of the St. Joe Auxiliary, or Mrs. Louise Church, Community Service Committee chairman.

County Fair Facts

The DeKalb County Free Fall Fair opens next Tuesday, September 30, at Auburn and will continue through Saturday, October 4.

Among the attractions to be offered during the fair will be several parades through the week announced as follows:

Tuesday, September 30—Good Fellowship Parade. 7 p.m.

Wednesday, 7 p.m.—Jalopy Parade.

Thursday, 7 to 8 p.m.—Parade of Champions at fair grounds.

Friday, 10 a.m.—Pet Parade.

Saturday, 11 a.m. Grand Parade.

A tractor contest has been set for Thursday at 9 a.m. This was not listed in the fair premium book. A trophy will be given to the winner of each class, plus premiums to the first four places in each class.

Three outstanding free acts have been signed to entertain fair-goers during the big five-day event.

Heading the free acts is Betty Alvarado, "the blonde bomb-shell of the air." Betty is one of the country's outstanding aerialists. She performs on flying rings and a horizontal bar 100 feet above the earth. The finale of her act is a head stand on a pole 110 feet in the air. The young aerialist uses no net with her performance.

An equalling thrilling act to be presented will be the presentation of the Ortons. This man-woman team brings to the fair the original of the empalement acts. The act features knife throwing at its best and trick and fancy shooting.

Highlight of the performance is Miss Alyce spinning on the "wheel of death" at 60 RPM while Orton outlines her spinning form with steel knives.

The 1952 edition of the fair also brings one of the top circus acts in the nation. Johnny Charlton, for seven years a headliner with Ringling Brothers circus, will present his balancing act.

Free act performances will be presented each afternoon at 2 p. m., 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. Evening performances will be staggered with performances at 8 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. or at 8:30 p.m. and 11 p.m.

There will be three platforms for free acts at the fair. One will be at the north end of the midway on North Main Street, another on the south end of the midway on South Main Street and the third from the platform on the west lawn of the court house.

The Alvarado act will be presented on the southwest corner of the court house lawn.

Wayne Wagner Passes Away

Wayne A. Wagner, 47, formerly a resident just south of St. Joe on route 1, died last Wednesday afternoon at 5:25 p.m. at the Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne. He had been a patient there for two days. Mr. Wagner had been in failing health for some time.

The Wagner family resides at 1706 Edgewater Avenue in Fort Wayne.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret, a daughter, Donna Mae, a sister, Mrs. Erward Meyers, of Hobbs, N. M., and three brothers, Fred of Decatur and James H. and Stanford W. of Fort Wayne.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at Fort Wayne.

Mr. Wagner was a member of the Lutheran Church.

Ice Cream Social-Br-r Cafeteria Supper To Be Served Friday

The warm-blooded Senior Class of Concord Twp. High School will serve an ice cream social and cafeteria-style supper Friday evening at the gym in St. Joe.

The menu will include "sloppy Joes," salads, homemade ice cream and coffee and milk.

Serving wil start at 6 p.m.

The Showdown

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

THE PRICE OF APATHY

THE most devastating and widespread malady which has ever infected the American people is—Apathy.

"Why should we worry about government spending and high taxes? The cost of government is paid by the 'big fellows.'"

For 20 years, millions of Americans have been telling themselves "bedtime" stories such as these.

Now, many of those same Americans who, 10, 20 years ago were able to earn a livelihood, are too old to work. Today, their only source of income lies in a small pension, social security, or public welfare.

In the meantime, let us see what has been happening in this country where only the "big fellows" need worry about how, when, or where the federal government spends its money.

To begin with, during the past 20 years, we have fought a second World War. Presently we are involved in a third costly military venture, described by some as a "police action." Irrespective of its name, however, we have become involved internationally to the point where 66 per cent of our total budget is expended for national defense. The nation which comes closest to this figure, where 32.2 per cent of the total government expenditures are allocated to national defense, is France. But this is not the end of our international commitments.

Since only the "big fellows" paid the bill, we gave some of our money away to other countries through the Marshall Plan, mutual security, and lend lease. Thirty-six million was granted to Iran. The Ryukyu Islands received 71 million. Another 20 million went to Egypt. But these are only a few of the minor handouts. If you want the complete totals, they are as follows: Expenditures for foreign military assistance for the fiscal year of 1952—$2,274,464,149.68; Mutual Security Programs, $2,191,160,095.67; Other Aid Programs, $492,389,440.65; Grand Total foreign aid expenditures, fiscal year 1952—$4,958,013,686.00.

"But why," you may ask, "should we be concerned with such monstrous figures. Those are bills for the 'big fellows' to pay." —Here is your answer:

The "big fellows" can't pay these bills anymore. If the federal tax gatherers took all the taxable income over $8,000, at the rate we are going, the money would run the federal government only 22 days. In terms of your pocketbook, this simply means they have to get their tax money from every available source, and this includes the people who live on pensions, social security, welfare, and life's savings.

Only recently, it was announced that effective October 1st there would be average increases in public assistance in the District of Columbia as follows: old age assistance from $48.70 to $52.50; aid to the blind, $51.55 to $55.56; dependent children (per person), $23.93 to $25.67.

Today, however, there are 78 hidden taxes on every quart of milk you buy; 151 hidden taxes of every loaf of bread you buy; 100 hidden taxes every time you buy one egg. Thus, these increases in welfare assistance give little comfort when the basket of groceries you could buy 12 years ago for $4.20—now costs $10.53. But this is the price of—Apathy.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION—Many persons in the Fourth District have expressed an interest in the legislation considered by the Congress for the purpose of reorganizing the Federal Government.

During the 82nd Congress, the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments considered nine bills embodying a number of the remaining recommendations on reorganization based on the 20 legislative proposals made by the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report.

Over 60 percent of its reorganization proposals have been placed into effect in the short period since the Commission, headed by former President Hoover, completed its studies. The enactment of this legislation is expected to result in a savings to the taxpayers of from two to four billion dollars annually while adding to government efficiency.

GOVERNMENT PAYROLL—The civilian payroll in the Executive Department of the government in fiscal 1952 (from July 1, 1951, to June 30, 1952) totalled more than nine and one-half billion dollars. This was an increase of one and eight-tenths billions, or 24 percent over fiscal 1951. The civilian payroll of the Military Establishment in fiscal 1952 was more than four and six-tenths billions, a 12 percent increase over the preceding year. Civilans employed in the Military Establishment now total 1,339,501.

WASTE IN MANPOWER—The Senate Committee on Federal Manpower Policies has released an investigative study conducted by Melvin Purvis, former FBI agent, who is widely known for his outstanding service to his country.

The stury revealed these shocking facts about government waste and duplication. 1. At a cost of more than 2 1-2 million dollars, the Defense Department is sending 87 Army, Navy and Marine officers to civilian law schools. Meanwhile these three branches have nearly 3,500 officers on active duty who have law degrees, but are not being used in any kind of legal work. 2. The lack of common sense in recruiting. The report cited Uniontown, Pa., a city of 20,000, which was visited by four separate and different recruiting teams in 60 days. All four teams were seeking typists and stenographers.

The Purvis report was released just as Congress adjourned but it will become of greater interest as manpower pressures increase. The attention it has already caught shows needless waste, extravagance and duplication which must be eliminated.

THE AMERICAN WAY—A stenographer in London with a year's experience gets a salary of about $15 a week. By comparison, an American stenographer with a year's experience receives $50 weekly.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met with its new president, Mrs. Carl Perkins, for the first meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, September 10, at 6:30 p.m.

Dinner was served by the executive committee at 7 p.m.

A business session was then held. Mrs. Henry Lung withdrew from the club.

Mrs. Wayne Stover asked to be relieved of her duties as secretary to the club. Mrs. Harold Baker was elected as new secretary.

Twenty-four members responded to roll call. There were two guests present.

Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Baker and Shirley Jean Perkins then presented the program for the evening:

Vocal solo, Mrs. Hanson—"When Moonbeams Softly Fall."

Piano solo, Shirley Jean Perkins—"Jet."

Vocal solo, Mrs. Baker—"I Heard A Forest Praying."

Duet, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Hanson—"Teach Me To Pray."

Dressed in appropriate attire, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Baker and Shirley sang a trio, "When You Wore A Tulip."

The three girls then led the entire group in a lively number called, "The Action Song."

Do You Know Them?

As every print shop does, the News Office has found in its type drawers and cabinets cuts of people and places with no names or dates to indicate what purpose the photos served. Sometimes its enjoyable to look over the remnants of years gone by and see if it's possible to recall the names and places. The News presents here some of the pictures found in the shop.

Can you identify them?

Letters to the Editor

Spencerville, Ind.
Sept. 18, 1952

To Commissioners of DeKalb Co.

Gentlemen:

Within eight days recently there were several bad auto collisions near Spencerville. Two of these occurred at unmarked crossings. These two involved wreckage of four vehilces, death of one man, broken leg of a boy, punctured lungs of a man placing him in a serious condition, a broken chest bone, a bone broken in another's neck that could have been fatal, broken ribs, damaged knees and back of another and shock and other damages.

It is true that "Stop" signs might not stop some drivers, but they would stop others. The blame could be laid on those who do not stop, providing the signs were there and kept visible.

Wouldn't it cost far less than a life or a limb, or even one vehicle, to place Stop signs at every crossing in the entire county? And why not place them higher than is customary, if weeds and corn cannot be kept from obscuring them? One driver said that he had no idea there was a crossing. This is surely serious enough and timely enough now to get action. What do you say?

W. H. Baker

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

Glory Is Brittle

Lesson for September 28, 1952

CALL the roll of the dead nations, name any kingdom or empire you know of, that once knew glory and now is but dust. You will observe, if you know their history, that their ruin began just after a period of special brilliance. It is as if the old proverb were reversed, and the brightest hour came just before the dark. Why is this? One reason is that the glamor and the glory were not what they seemed to be. Beneath the glittering surface of things, the foundations were rotting away. Glory, personal or national, is a brittle thing.

Dr. Foremen

Bang! Want the Empire

YOU do not have to poke about in large volumes of history to find this out. For a small sum you can buy a book that tells the story of the most famous nation of all time,—namely, the Bible, giving the history of the nation called Israel.

Israel was a remarkably short-lived nation. Three kings' reigns spanned its whole history from beginning to end. After, that, Bang! it split into two pieces, indeed into more than two. For not only did it divide into the two kingdoms of the north and of the south, but it disintegrated everywhere.

All the conquests of David were undone. The Empire of Israel (for empire it was) simply went to pieces at every seam. What had been, for a time, the greatest and only empire between the Nile and the Euphrates, fell to pieces fearfully fast. And all that crash occurred immediately after the death of Solomon, that king whose reign is still remembered for its wealth, glamor and magnificance. How could such things be?

Glamor for the Few

PART OF the answer is that the glory didn't spread around very far. There was no middle class, and the gap between Solomon and his crowd at the top, and the peasants on the bottom, was enormous.

Solomon's only known son, Rehoboam, told a mass-meeting of citizens shortly after Solomon's death, "My father beat you with whips." Rehoboam was not trying to blacken his father's memory; he was stating a simple fact. The common man had indeed taken a beating under Solomon.

To build the king's great public works cost money, and needed (in those non-mechanical days) armies of laborers. There was the immensely costly Temple, and then there was the royal palace, larger than the Temple, requiring nearly twice as long to build and no doubt correspondingly expensive; there were other temples, public buildings, pools, water works, fortifications, royal stables at Negidde and what not. King Solomon found it necessary to work thousands of his people, without pay, one month out of every three.

The fact that about nine tenths of the people were ripe for rebellion within months after Solomon's death, shows that, to say the least, they were not contented and happy. Nations often do die, or blow up, just after periods of "prosperity," but it will generally be found that the prosperity was quite badly distributed. There is little true glory in a nation where a few grow rich upon the poverty of the many.

High Income Bracket

BUT THAT is not the whole story. Even if every one in the country were equally wealthy, it might not be good. Strange as it seems, the Bible is full of warnings, not so often against poverty as against wealth.

The truth about Israel is not that Solomon and his friends prospered while the rest of the nation decayed; the fact is, Solomon and his set were decaying too, not in spite of their wealth but because of it.

The king's annual income has been computed at some nineteen million dollars of our money. We hear that he built temples to other gods besides the true God, all because of his wives' influence. If he had been a poor man, he could not have married those expensive imported princesses. A man with excess income will often mis-spend it, ninety-nine times out of a hundred; and Solomon was not the hundredth man.

Today in America every dollar spent on drink, on gambling, is a surplus dollar, an uneasy dollar. Not that you can in any way wipe out sin by eliminating excessive wealth; but you might remove a lot of temptations.

Number Of Ballots In November Should Increase

Ballots in the November 4 general election totaling 13,929 would be a "reasonable minimum" goal for citizens of DeKalb County, the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce estimated this week on a basis of the county's past voting record. The 1952 voting "goal" would represent 1,277 more votes than were cast in the most recent presidential-year election, in 1948, when an estimated 75.20 per cent of the voting-age group went to the polls in the county.

The minimum voting goal for 1952 was established by applying the percentage of persons of voting age who went to the polls in 1940 (the highest percentage in recent elections) to the 1950 voting-age population as revealed by the U. S. Census. In this county, 82.80 per cent of persons of voting age cast ballots in 1940, and the 1950 census shows 16,823 persons in the county 21 years old and over. There were 16,214 persons in that age group in 1940.

Records show, the state chamber said, that DeKalb County gave the Republican candidate for president a vote in 1948 of 6,941 to his Democratic opponent's 5,439. The Republican candidate for governor won over his opponent by 6,186 to 6,112.

Word was received Wednesday morning of the death of Mrs. C. A. (Daisy) Woodcox who died at 8:40 p.m. Tuesday evening. The body rests at the Zimmerman Funeral Home at Garrett. Funeral arrangements had not been made at this writing.

There will be no school on Friday, October 3. That day is set aside as "School Day" at the DeKalb County Fair.

A farewell picnic was held at the Findley Park in Findley, O., recently for Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Waltz of Garrett who will leave September 29 to spend the winter in Florida. Others who enjoyed the day were Mr. and Mrs. Olen Waltz of St. Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hook and son, Vance, of near St. Joe, Mrs. Daisy Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Claron Hilbert and Mr. B. F. Greist of Hicksville, Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Evans of Bryan, O., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cook of Ft. Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hedges and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hedges and daughter, Melanie, of Ashville, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Shanks , Sue Ellen and Gary of Findley.

Mr. Walter Newman, father of Mrs. Olen Waltz and a guest in the Waltz home recently, has returned to his home at Willard, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Quaintance of near Leipsic, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Clold Schmitt of Hudson, Ind., were Monday dinner guests in the J. E. Foltz home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tatlock have moved to West Lafayette where he is now teaching in the junior high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller have moved to Monroeville.

Mrs. Lora Leighty was a visitor in St. Joe Wednesday afternoon.

Salem Lutheran Church of Harlan will hold its centennial celebration on Sunday, September 28. Sunday school will be held at 9 a.m. CST, church at 10:30 and a program at 1:30 p.m. Dinner will be served by the church at the noon hour.

Don't forget that extra hour of sleep we get back this week end.

Saturday afternoon and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn and family were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Philip Appleman and Mr. and Mrs. William Hall and daughters of Fort Wayne.

Dave Haberkorn observed his fifth birthday Saturday afternoon with a party attended by Lonny Lou Keeler, Danny Kessler, Allan Amstutz, Peggy Lynne Chapman, Gene Sible, Margie and Susie Hall, Kathy Schafenacker, Claudia Strombeck and brothers Mike and Phil.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Strombeck, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sible, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haberkorn, Carlos Church and Frank Sechler attended the final game of the 1952 season at Wrigley Field in Chicago Sunday.

Mr. Bert Wasson is in the St. Joseph Hospital, room 261, Fort Wayne. While Mr. Wasson is in the hospital, Mrs. Wasson is staying at her daughter's home, Mrs. Arthur Knoll, 1711 Courtland, Ft. Wayne. Mr. Wasson's condition is as good as can be expected.

Word was received last week that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Armstrong are the parents of a nine pound son born September 12 at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C. Ronald is a sergeant in the U.S. air force and is stationed in Washington. The baby, Jeffrey Deane, is the third great grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Armstrong.

A good number were in attendance at the first services and picnic dinner held in the Chapel at Camp Lutherwald two miles west of Howe Sunday. The Lutheran churches of Butler, St. Joe and Spencerville attended. In the afternoon horse shoe pitching and other games were enjoyed. Boats were used a while but the cool weather and rough water put a damper on that activity.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Nicholls were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hull.

Arthur Roberts is in the Sacred Heart Hospital at Garrett having suffered a severe wound in the leg from a piece of steel while at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore and family were at Holgate and Findley, O., Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Billow were at Springfield, O., Sunday visiting their daughter, Carol, who is enrolled as a freshman at Wittenberg College. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Yeiser have returned from a two-week visit with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Means, of Covington, Tenn.

Mrs. Lillian Buckingham was pleasantly surprised Friday morning when Mrs. Harry Klofenstein of Fort Wayne and a friend of many years came not only to spend the day but with an "indoor picnic basket," chicken and "everything" from the farm.

RURAL YOUTH

The DeKalb County Rural Youth Club met September 16 for its regular meeting. Devotions and group singing preceded the business meeting. Ronald Parker, Barbara Morr, Carl Dilly and Carol Buchannan competed for the right to represent the club at the district meeting. Carol Buchannan won and Barbara Moss was named alternate. Carl Dilly presented several skits and two musical selections were given by Billy Christman and Dean Brenneman.

After the meeting the club was invited to the home of Jean Mavis for a sweet corn bake.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Carl Sliger on October 21.

LEO AUXILIARY NEWS

HINTS ON HEALTH

Look Into Your Chest

PERSONS planning marriage may be required to have a chest x-ray examination for tuberculosis. Physicians point out that mass surveys of the chest now going on not only detect the presence of tuberculosis infection, but also reveal other unsuspected chest diseases still in their symptomless and curable stage.

Tuberculosis in the United States is now in seventh place as a cause of death.

Pneumonia, formerly fatal in one out of four cases, is now increasingly preventable and controllable. Cancer of the lung, formerly a hopeless disease, is responding to surgery, when discovered in time. The antibiotics have produced a great change in the treatment of chest diseases.

Serving as adjuncts to such proved treatments as bed rest, proper diet and collapse therapy, the antibiotics aid in shortening the recovery period in tuberculosis. Complications have been reduced in number and severity, and operations are now being performed which were once considered impossible.

Definite diagnosis of cancer of the lung is now possible in approximately 85 per cent of cases, even in the silent stage when cough is the only symptom. It is urged that heavy smokers, over age of 45, have a radiologic examination semi-annually in view of the fact that such persons have a higher incidence of lung cancer.

As for pneumonia, the antimicrobial drugs have proved effective in treatment by reducing the severity of the attack and duration of the disease.

Through prevention, early recognition and prompt treatment, chest diseases are now being conquered.

Around the Town

With the Editor

By next week we should know the answer to the question of the day—why the beards on Bob Davis and Ned Keller?

They've been sporting those outstanding examples of bristles for some time now and are supposedly entering a contest in connection with the county fair. If the beards go next week, we should know what's what.

Ned's beard is so authentic one of Keller's Garage customers commented about having "that Amishman" work on his car.

The paper had been in the mail only a short time last week when I got a call from June McCreery concerning those pictures in last week's paper. She recognized one as one of the United Brethren Church's outstanding pastors, Dr. Clyde Meadows. He has one of the largest churches from that denomination in Pennsylvania and does quite a lot of traveling in his work.

You probably were able to pick out from those pictures a scene from Butler, one from Hicksville, Ward Jackman, Chris Sailer and the Newville Church of Christ.

Say, if you're a lover of good old barbershop harmony, keep in mind Saturday, October 25. That's the date of the Fort Wayne Chapter's (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing In America, Inc.) annual fall parade of quartets. The big attraction will be the "Kernels" of Omaha, Nebraska. They're really something to hear.

I've got a few good tickets if you want any.

CHILI SUPPER OCTOBER 10 AT SPENCERVILLE

The Ladies Aid of the Spencerville Lutheran Church will sponsor a chili supper Friday, October 10, in the Spencerville Lutheran Church basement.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

The menu is as follows:

Chili and crackers 25c, fresh vegetables or salad 10c, hot dogs 15c, pie 15c and coffee 5c.

You are invited to come and bring the whole family.

Recreation Club Raises $300

Men and boys and "the ladies" combined Saturday to make a success of the St. Joe Valley Recreation Club's day of activity.

The News Office was the scene of a bake sale conducted Saturday morning with Mrs. Marcia Sible in charge. While the baked goods were being sold, several trucks and drivers were hauling fill dirt to the ball diamond. Also during the day two trucks of scrap metal and paper were collected and several items donated by town and country residents for a benefit auction held Saturday evening.

The dirt was hauled from the newly-developed gravel pit north of Spencerville owned by Roscoe Walter. Loading equipment was operated through the cooperation of James Irving of Harlan. Fill dirt and loading costs were donated by Mr. Walters and Mr. Irving.

Drivers were Roy Reidenbach, Francis Dulle, Clayton Baker, Ray Donat, Milt Ritenour, Edward Dulle, A. D. Inlow and Virgil Mathes.

Trucks were donated by Ned Keller, John Dye, A. D. Inlow, Ray Donat, Lester Baker, Milt Ritenour and Myers Elevator. Bill Beebe was in charge of the hauling and filling operation.

Gasoline for the trucks was donated by Roy Reidenbach and Yeiser's Standard Service.

The evening auction was handled by Walter Morr who secured the services of John Haverstock and John Kelly as auctioneers.

The days's activities netted the club approximately $300.

Bill Staman and Lewis Walter served hot dogs, sausage sandwiches and coffee to the workers Saturday noon.

Four Killed In Auto Accident

Five Ohio residents were injured, four fatally about 6:15 a. m. Tuesday, when their car went out of control on a curve on state road 8, three-quarters of a mile east of Auburn.

The victims were enroute to Hicksville after finishing work on the 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. shift at the Auburn Rubber Corp. plant.

The victims, three of whom died almost instantly, were Alan Eugene McFeters, 23, of Hicksville; Mrs. Mildred Cravens, 29, Rl Hicksville; Mrs. Stella Rhodes, 19, Hicksville; and Mrs. Neva Farmer, 23, Hicksville.

Mrs. Farmer died at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday of a basal skull fracture, multiple fractures of the right leg, a fractured pelvis and deep shock.

The driver of the car, Max Rhodes, 17, of Hicksville, brother-in-law of Mrs. Rhodes, suffered internal injuries, a possible spinal fracture and deep cuts. He underwent surgery Tuesday afternoon at the Souder Hospital in Auburn, where all were taken after the crash.

Rhodes apparently took the curve at too high a speed, police said, especially in view of the fact that there was a heavy fog at the time.

McFeters was riding in front with Rhodes and the three women were in the back seat.

As Rhodes lost control of the car, the vehicle careened 106 feet down the roadway and crashed into a tree and utility pole. The impact sheared off the right side of the auto, spilling the victims along the embankment at the edge of the road.

McFeters suffered a crushed chest, broken neck, badly mangled right arm and other injuries; Mrs. Rhodes, a skull fracture, crushed head; fractures of both legs and multiple internal injuries; and Mrs. Cravens, a skull fracture, multiple internal injuries, compound fracture of the upper right leg and fracture of the lower right leg.

Good Attendance At Anniversary Shoot

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club's second anniversary shoot held last Sunday at the club grounds west of St. Joe was attended by about 40 shooters and a large crowd of spectators. 32 shooters took part in the regular program and a number of others shot in extra events.

Howard M. Brown won first prize, a beautiful traveling bag, while Wayne Notestine won a zipper gun case for second place. Dan Toms won a box of shells for high score from 25 yards breaking 24x25.

The program was 100 targets shot at from varying distances, the last 25 from the extreme yardage. This made the program a tough one and on top of that a strong wind did not help any.

Under these conditions the scores were very creditable.

E. L. (Red) Hawkins won the doubles event breaking 44 out of 25 pair.

A partial list of scores follows:

Conservation Meetings Resume Oct. 9

With the opening of the fall and winter season, the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club holds its first meeting Thursday evening, October 9, at the high school gym.

A pot-luck supper and pictures shown by Mr. Forrest Gerig of Auburn are included on the program. This should be a very interesting meeting and the whole community is invited to attend. The club will furnish coffee and cups.

The committee in charge includes Mr. and Mrs. William Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. John Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McMahan with Mrs. Freida Guilford in charge of decorations.

Two Knifed In Camp Brawl

Two negroes were stabbed, one seriously, and another painfully wounded when he was struck with a shovel in a drunken brawl that took place late Saturday afternoon at the B&O Railroad section camp west of St. Joe.

Those involved in the stabbing were John Gibbs, 35, Hilary Judkins, 36, and Elroy Smith, 30, all of Chicago.

Judkins is a patient at the Dr. Bonnell M. Souder Hospital in Auburn where his condition has improved rapidly since he was admitted in critical condition Saturday afternoon.

Judkins suffered a deep triangular cut in his lower abdomen that penetrated the abdominal wall and exposed his intestines. His liver also was slashed with the long bladed butcher knife wielded by Gibbs.

Smith, who police said also was slashed by Gibbs, was treated at the hospital for a deep cut on his right arm and later released into the custody of police. He and Gibbs were held in the DeKalb County jail.

Gibbs was treated at the jail for several deep cuts in his head and hand, inflicted with blows from a shovel and a club.

Also held in the county jail is Robert Jones, 28-year-old Chicago negro, who is being held as a material witness.

State Trooper Robert Hockensmith, Auburn chief of police C. H. West and Conservation Officer Arman Campbell were summoned to the railroad camp at about 4 p.m. Saturday to investigate a reported fatal stabbing. They found Judkins lying on the ground near the scene of the fight. Gibbs was found lying face down in a bunk car. Smith was picked up in a bunk car and Jones was brought in as a witness.

Police later returned to the camp in an effort to unravel the conflicting stories given by the excited negroes.

Police said they learned from Gibbs that he suspected Smith and Judkins of stealing a radio and $11 from him Friday. He said when he asked them about it, they taunted him and threatened to beat him. Gibbs said he slapped Judkins' face and the fight started.

All of them had been drinking.

Gibbs said the pair beat him on the head with a shovel and with a club. He said he ran into the kitchen bunk car and picked up the butcher knife. Gibbs admitted that he stabbed both men.

Smith, who at first denied hitting Gibbs with the shovel, later admitted under intensive questioning that he participated in the brawl.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF ADD'L APPROPRIATIONS

Notice is hereby given the taxpayers of Newville Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that the proper legal officers of said township at their regular meeting place, on the 13th day of October, 1952, at 7:30 p.m., will consider the following additional appropriations which said officers consider necessary to meet the extraordinary emergency existing at this time:

1.Tuition Fund—$2,000.00.

Taxpayers appearing at such meeting shall have a right to be heard thereon. The additional appropriations as finally made will be automatically referred to the State Board of Tax Commissioners, which Board will hold a further hearing within fifteen days at the County Auditor's office of DeKalb County, Indiana, or at such other place as may be designated. At such hearing taxpayers objecting to any of such additional appropriations may be heard and interested taxpayers may inquire of the County Auditor when and where such hearing will be held.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Only Way To Prevent A Wreck

Mutual Understanding

In doing a little cleaning up last week, going through the desks and so on to get rid of the excess accumulation of paper, we ran across a letter, now two years or so old, addressed to the editor offering several suggestions as to our policies and ways in which we could improve the paper. Also included in the letter was some discussion of the general condition of St. Joe as far as businesses and businessmen were concerned.

We have often been tempted to write a piece about local patronage but hesitated doing so because—well, it seems other communities have the same problem and we thought perhaps ours was no worse; so why complain about a universal condition. But there is something which ought to be mentioned, we think, because the attitudes and practices of the businessmen of a community have a little something to do with the amount of patronage the community gives them. The letter we found mentioned the unfriendliness the businessmen in St. Joe had toward—one another. The letter, as we said, is two years old, but there is still the same unfriendly attitude existent in some instances in the affairs of St. Joe's businessmen now as there apparently was then, even to the point that they avoid entering one another's establishments on social calls or matters of business. In other words, some St. Joe businessmen, who grumble over the lack of trade in St. Joe by St. Joe people, THEMSELVES trade elsewhere. If they want the good will and patronage of their fellow community members, they had best attain good will and patronage among themselves.

But wait—this wasn't intended to be a one-sided dissertation on the faults of the businessmen. There is the other side to be considered. There aren't many St. Joe'ers who would stop trading because of the differences the businessmen have among themelves. Their bickering isn't the cause of people driving miles to surrounding towns to trade. Several reasons probably could be gathered in answer to the query—"Why do you trade elsewhere?" "It's cheaper"—"I can't get what I want here"—"So-and-so did thus-and-so one time and I've never been in since"—are a few possibilities. Whether it's cheaper in dollars and cents or not is a highly debatable subject. It IS cheap, though, to expect a merchant to support local projects and programs when those expecting such support do nothing to make it possible. The first one thought of in connection with contributing to local organization projects, whether they be of the church, community or what-have-you, is the businessman.

It's true there are a lot of things that can't be bought in St. Joe. But if enough people did ask for them, they surely would be here. It's somewhat similar to the chicken and egg problem—did people quit asking for it and go elsewhere because the merchant didn't have it, or did the merchant quit handling it because the people didn't ask for it and went elsewhere.

As to any unfair dealing or poor service or whatever it is that keeps some from trading in St. Joe, there are many, many times when such instances arise out of misunderstanding or misinterpretation. The Good Lord only knows how many "cold shoulders" there are because of what we THINK someone meant by their actions or words. There are times when indignation is excusable; but it is unfair to condemn the majority because of the few.

If you are a resident of St. Joe, ask yourself, "Do I do most of my trading in St. Joe?" We didn't say "all" we said "most." Let's allow a little leeway for the fact that we can't have everything here. (This question is for businessmen, too.) If the answer is "no," we'll take a chance on stepping on your toes in saying that you are a drain on the strength of the community.

Whatever the circumstances may be in each individual case, it remains that a little patience and a lot of understanding would go a long way toward bringing to St. Joe, along with a friendly atmosphere among the businessmen, the trade that belongs here.

Fire Prevention Quiz

Fire Prevention Week will be observed from October 5th until October 11th. The purpose of publicizing these dates is not to prevent fires for just one week but to make people conscious of the dangers present every week which may cause a disastrous fire.

The local fire department is ready and willing to inspect homes in St. Joe with the consent of the owners suggesting ways of eliminating fire hazards in the home, if such hazards are found. St. Joe has not had a fire loss for three years and, needless to say, it is desirable to continue that good record.

For those who would care to make their own inspection we give the following questions used nationally in such home inspections:

1. Is there any rubbish such as old papers, broken furniture, junk, etc., in the Attic.. Basement.. Closets.. Garage.. Yard..?
2. How often do you regularly dispose of rubbish?
3. Are walls, floors, ceilings protected from overheated stoves, pipes, furnaces?
4. Are ashes kept in covered metal barrels?
5. Are matches kept in metal boxes away from heat and small children?
6. Do you ever use gasoline for cleaning or kerosene for starting fires?
7. Do you have any frayed electric cords or defective electrical appliances?
8. Are fuses of proper size (usually 15 amperes)?
9. Are all dust mops hung up and oily rags kept in metal containers?
10. Is there a control on the electric iron to prevent overheating?
11. Do you have any fire extinguishers in the house and when were they charged?
12. Are there plenty of ash trays in the house?
13. Do stovepipes pass through combustible partitions or through attics or closets?

For Community Use

For the convenience and service of the community, a bulletin board has been placed in the News Office. There will be no charge for the use of the bulletin board, its purpose being to augment the service the newspaper offers.

The community is welcome to use the board for public sale notices, church activities, school and club programs, or whatever may be of interest to people residing in and around St. Joe and Spencerville. The News Office will also post news releases and information from time to time which can not be published in the News because of space limitations or lateness of arrival.

Tri-Twp. Women Republicans Meet Tuesday

The Women's Tri-Township Republican Club will meet Tuesday evening, October 7, at 8 o'clock at the town hall in St. Joe.

Speaker for the evening will be Willis K. Batchelet, Joint State Senator from LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties.

All county Republican candidates will also be present.

Republican women from the three townships are urged to attend the meeting.

Membership cards for the Women's Tri-Township Republican Club can be obtained from Esther Haberkorn and Marvella Dilley in St. Joe and from Lois Fisher, Janice Bowser, Janice Hollabaugh, Audrey Wade, Lucy Beams and Cleo Reed at Spencerville. Membership fees are ten cents.

GALLOPING INFLATION

WHEREVER we turn, fresh evidence of galloping inflation meets the eye.

For proof of this statement, we need only to compare the purchasing power of today's dollar with the purchasing power of the dollar of eight or ten years ago.

A pension, annuity, or other fixed income of $100 for the month of April, 1945, would have brought as much as $151 in July, 1952.

In 1951, a bond investment of $58,680 would be required for a widow to live as well as she could have lived on a $40,000 bond investment in 1944.

The income of farmers of the nation was 31 per cent more in 1951 than in 1944, but 11 per cent less if adjusted by the Consumers Price Index of the Department of Labor.

In 1951, personal income per person, less taxes would have purchased 8 per cent less than for 1944, according to the Consumers Price Index of the Department of Labor.

The liquid assets of individuals were 136 billion dollars, as of December 31, 1945, and 181 billion dollars, as of December 31, 1951—an increase of 33 per cent. When adjusted, however, to reflect the increased population, and the decreased value of the dollar, these 181 billions of liquid assets could purchase 32 per cent less on December 31, 1951, than 136 billion could purchase on December 31, 1945.

A school teacher, government clerk, or other small pensioner on a fixed income actually suffered a decrease of 46.1 per cent in the purchasing power of his income between 1940 and 1951.

What has brought about these conditions? There are a number of factors. Foreign aid is one of them.

The appropriations for foreign aid run nearly 1½ billion more than expenditures for our public schools.

Waste is a second factor. Secretary of Defense Lovett admits that for the past three years, the Army, Navy, and Air Force have wasted 25 per cent of the amount allotted for military equipment, there being no central purchasing agency.

Finally, all of these elements lead to higher and higher taxes, with less and less remaining of your dollars, with which to buy food, clothing, fuel, and the other necessities of life.

Is there any solution to these inflationary problems? There certainly is.

Only recently, in this column, in an article entitled: "Government Costs Can Be Cut," I related how we effected major economies in the various departments of government printing. Similar economies should be effected wherever possible in every branch of our federal government.

In the words of Thomas Jefferson, "The growth and entailment of a public debt is an indication soliciting the employment of the pruning knife. . . . We must make our election between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude."

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

KOREAN CASUALTIES INCREASE—While the so-called truce talks continue in Korea without any tangible results, the "police action" continues to take a heavy toll.

Since the truce talks began on July 8, 1951, United States casualties have increased by 38,513, bringing the total casualties since the start of the war to 117,237. This is equal to one-third of the casualty total in World War I. The Korean war has lasted 27 months, with no end in sight. The United States was in World War I for only 19 months.

Meanwhile, as the truce talks drag on, military reports show that the Communists have used the time to build up their forces and are now stronger than ever.

BUREAUCRATS DISCHARGED—Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder announced recently that 174 Internal Revenue Bureau employees were fired in the fiscal year July 1, 1951, to June 30, 1952. Fifty-three were discharged, acording to the Treasury Department, for acceptance of gratuities, bribes, etc., 24 for embezzlement involving federal funds or property, 21 for failure to pay proper tax, five for falsification or distortion of government records, etc., 71 for personal misconduct, infractions of rules, etc.

GOVERNMENT "EFFICIENCY"—One of the government agencies recently asked permission to destroy a mountain of old files dating back to the early 1940's. The request was granted but on the condition that: "copies be made of everything to be destroyed."

FOR THE FARMER—The Department of Agriculture has issued a pamphlet on corn-leaf blight entitled: "Cultural and Pathogenic Variability in Single-Conidial and Hyphal-Tip Isolates of Helminthosporium Turcicum Pass." It sounds interesting.

REPAIRING NORTH AFRICA AIR BASES—In answer to Senate Committee charges that a "fiasco" in constructing five U.S. air bases in North Africa has cost the American taxpayers at least $120 millions, Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, Chief of Army Engineers, says now that it will take only another $1,160,640 to repair two bases and make them ok. The Committee pointed out that so far only two inferior bases have been worked on and they are less than half completed.

EXPOSES COMMUNIST WRITERS—A Senate Judiciary Subcommittee has charged that pro-Communist script writers are spreading Red propaganda over radio and television shows. The committee report declared:

"In 1943, pursuant to orders from Alexander Trachtenberg, a Communist leader, there began a systematic Communist infiltration of the field of radio. Thereafter, a continuing struggle developed within the Radio Writers Guild between pro-communist and anti-communist factions."

I&M Gets Atom Project OK

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company is one of 15 electric utilities which today received the "go-sign" from the Atomic Energy Commission on their cooperative proposal to furnish the total gigantic electric supply to AEC's projected new billion dollar uranium diffusion plant in Pike County, Ohio.

The local utility, together with its associate companies in the American Gas & Electric System, will provide more than 37 percent of the U-235 plant's expected requirements of 1,800,000 kilowatts.

Frank H. Korsmeyer, I&M's District Manager, said AEC's acceptance of the proposal climaxed eight months of its preparation by I&M and the other private power companies participating in the project. He said the proposal was first submitted to the government on May 12.

The fifteen companies participating will be incorporated as the Ohio Valley Electric Corporation in Ohio and the Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corporation, organized under the laws of Indiana.

Intentions of building two steam electric generating plants in the Ohio River Valley with a total installed capacity of 2,200,000 kilowatts have been announced by the new power syndicate. Plant sites are as yet unannounced.

Generation and transmission facilities to be built for serving the atomic plant are expected to cost approximately $400,000,000 and will be financed entirely from private capital.

Power requirements during construction of the atomic plant will be supplied by the private companies from existing capacities. This will amount to demands of 465,000 kilowatts prior to any addition of new power generation facilities for the atom project.

Dedicating Life

Lesson for October 5, 1952

THERE ARE two classes of persons in this world: the drifters and the dedicated. Drifters become driftwood, cumbering a barren shore, or they float, waterlogged and helpless, a menace to more important traffic. The dedicated, on the other hand, have purpose in their minds, they have a course and a compass. They have somewhere to go, some reason for going there. But not all the dedicated are alike. The vital question is: To what is a man dedicated?

Dr. Foreman

Stalin is a dedicated man; so are Christian missionaries; so are politicians good and bad. The big question remains: Dedicated to what? to whom?

Dedicated to God

HIGHEST object of all dedication is God; this always includes devotion to his cause. To be dedicated to God means to be devoted, in purpose and in action, in every way that is possible, to making this world—beginning with one's own self—come into line with the prayer, "Thy will be done."

The young man Jesus, whose story the Sunday school lessons will be following through the Gospel by Matthew for the next six months, was of all persons the topmost example of a life dedicated to God. Jesus did not drift into this. Dedication was not automatic, inevitable.

Jesus, not less than those he calls his brothers and sisters, had to make up his mind to the ancient demand: Choose this day whom you will serve.

The Power

JESUS WAS not a late comer to his decision. Once or more it has happened that a young man who decides to enter the ministry will surprise and even startle family and friends by this decision. But when Jesus "entered the ministry" (as we may rightly say he did, after his baptism), it could have surprised none who had known him. He had always been aware of being "about his Father's business." He did not pass from drifting to dedication, as most men must; he passed from one stage of dedication to another.

Whatever questions the story of Jesus' baptism raises, one thing is certain: from and after that even Jesus knew himself to be God's special Representative, endowed with the Holy Spirit for the work he was to do.

Over and over in the New Testament we hear of the "power of the Spirit," for the divine Spirit both brings power and is Power. Only the life dedicated to God has the power of God.

The Problem

IT IS a mistake to think that the dedicated life is free from problems. God will not weaken us by making our choices for us. Every temptation is an opportunity to choose, between God's way and some way that is not God's. Temptation may also present a choice not so much between black and white, wrong and right, as between good and better, right and more-right.

One meaning of Jesus' temptations was just that in them he had to think through the how of his dedicated life. He was indeed God's beloved Son; His work was indeed to save the world for God.

But the question was, How? By turning stones into bread? By astonishing people with miracles such as jumping unharmed off the Temple top? No; these were not God's way. The last temptation was not as absurd as it sounds. Whenever men have said, "Let us do evil that good may come," whenever they have said that a noble purpose glorifies any method used to attain it, they have done what Jesus was tempted to do,—worship Satan.

The Practice

NO, DEDICATION does not free the dedicated from problems. But when life is put at God's disposal, with each problem comes the power to avoid wrong choice, to make the right one. Yet again there is a condition: God will not resist our temptations in our place. There is something we have to do for ourselves. There is a practice required.

Is it likely that Jesus had never in his lifetime been tempted before that day in the wilderness? No, he resists with the skill of long practice. The weapon he uses is still ours to use: the Word of God.

Does that weapon lie rusting under the dust at your house? Keep it bright by using it, as Jesus did.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Everyone around here who attended the ice show at the Coliseum in Fort Wayne seems to agree that it was a pretty nice show. That "undersea fantasy" was really beautiful.

There was a "queen" elected for the ice show from the young ladies around Fort Wayne sixteen years old and under. As we walked into the big hall to get our seats, we were met by my cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Novick. Jane was obviously excited about something and babbled about "Jackie is the queen!" "Jackie was picked to be queen!" all of which, at the time, was confusing to me because I hadn't kept up on preliminaries to the ice show. Then when the announcer presented, "Fort Wayne's Queen of Holiday on Ice, Miss Jacqueline Novick," I knew what the score was.

The Coliseum is BIG. I walked in for the first time last week and felt like I was in the big city or something, gawking around at the hallways, directions and over-all layout of the place.

I can remember back a few years ago when I attended Indiana Technical College in Fort Wayne when the chief complaint of students from outside the state was, "There's nothing to do here!"

Brother, with the big shows, pro basketball, ice hockey and maybe midget auto racing at the Coliseum, that complaint is a thing of the past.

Harvey Hull won a blue ribbon at the county fair last week for his display of oldtime photos. He brought them in to the News Office and they're on display now in the window.

There are six cards of postcards and personal photos to show how things were around here back in the good old days.

I heard Senator William Jenner last Thursday night in an informal dinner at the Auburn Hotel. I hadn't ever heard him before and was wondering what kind of a man he was, after all the attacks his opposition has made and is making on his record.

I don't know—after his talk, all I have to say is this-- If you want the land of the free to remain so, Bill Jenner is your man.

Speaking of politics, how did the governor miss all the "gambling" at the fair last week?

—Bingo!

The fair was evidently a good success. The Spencerville O.E.S., according to Milt McGrath, made and sold 17,000 doughnuts at their stand.

Don't say I didn't warn you. That barbershop quartet show is only a couple of weeks away. If somebody tells you how good it was after you don't go, it's guess-who's fault. Get your tickets at the News Office or at Tom Berry's Music Company at Fort Wayne.

I'll guarantee you will thank me for telling you about it.

4 Killed At Crossing

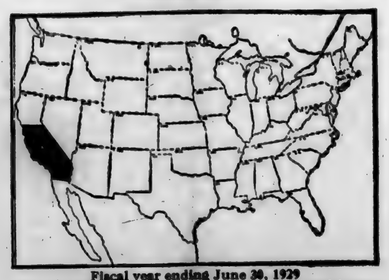
Four members of a LaGrange family were killed Sunday afternoon two miles west of Butler when their automobile was struck by a speeding New York Central railroad mail train.

Killed in the crash were Clifford Allen Fuller, 22, his wife, Virginia Jane, 22, their daughter, Rose Marie, age two and a half, and a baby girl, delivered stillborn a short time after the crash.

The only survivor of the accident was 3-year-old Michael Allen Fuller, who suffered an injured right ankle, probable internal injuries and shock.

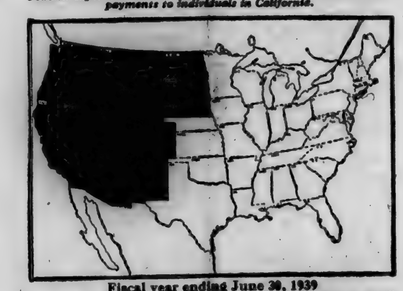
Authorities said Fuller may have waited at the crossing for an eastbound train and then pulled into the path of the westbound flyer when his car stalled. The engineer said the car appeared to be stalled on the crossing and he was unable to stop the speding train.

The Ever-Lengthening Shadow



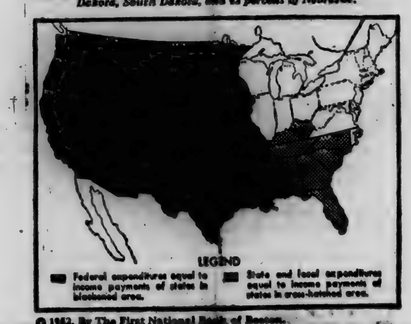
Fiscal year ending June 30, 1929

Federal expenditures were less than two thirds of total income payments to individuals in California.



Fiscal year ending June 30, 1939

Federal expenditures were equal to total income payments to all individuals in the Pacific and Mountain states as well as in North Dakota, South Dakota, and 42 percent of Nebraska.



© 1952, By The First National Bank of Boston.

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1953

Estimated Federal expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, equal estimated total income payments to all individuals west of the Mississippi River, and in addition, all of the income to individuals in Mississippi and 55 percent of the income of Alabama. Total state and local expenditures of the entire country are shown in the cross-hatched area. The two shaded areas account for 94 percent of the nation's crude petroleum production, 86 percent of the lumber output, 79 percent of the total value of mineral production, and 71 percent of the total value of all farm crop production.

Here in black and white is a clear picture of the great drain on individual income that taxation has reached. It is difficult nowadays to comprehend the relationship between income and outgo, on a national level. This presentation, then, shows the alarming proportion of individual income necessary to pay the expenses of government.

"The tidal drift toward big government and the centralization of power is indicated by the sharply increasing Federal drain on national income over the last two decades," says the August 1952 issue of the New England Letter. The publication goes on to state, "Federal expenditures for the fiscal year 1929 amounted to less than the total income payments of California's inhabitants, as is shown by the accompanying chart. In the fiscal year 1939, these expenditures were equal to the individual income of the Pacific and Mountain regions, together with that of North Dakota and and South Dakota, and 42 percent of Nebraska. For the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, estimated Federal expenditures will take the equivalent of estimated income payments of all people west of the Mississippi River and in addition all income payments of the inhabitants of Mississippi and 55 percent of those of Alabama.

"The foregoing data cover only Federal expenditures. If total state and local expenditures were added, the area would be extended to include the remaining portion of Alabama, all of the individual income of the people of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina and three-fourths of the individual income payments to inhabitants of North Carolina. . . ."

Christians Differ

Lesson for October 12, 1952

"I WILL GIVE YOU the secret of true happiness." If a man starts talking in that vein he will have listeners at once. Jesus began his famous sermon on the mount with that magic word "happy." It is unfortunate that most of our English translations use the word "blessed" because for most people "blessed" is a church-word. They don't know whether they want to be blessed or not; they have no doubt about wanting to be happy. It is twice unfortunate that Jesus' meaning has been hidden under an even more forbidding word, "Beatitudes." What we have here is a series of one-sentence pictures of truly happy persons.

Dr Foreman

What Christians Are

In these sentences Jesus sketches the kind of person who "has," that is to say, belongs to, the Kingdom of Heaven. If God were forced to throw away some of the human race and keep others, these are the people he would keep. Jesus in these short sentences is picturing the Christ-like. He is not talking about what they believe but about what they are. There is all the difference in the world between Jesus' idea of a Christian and some of the popular ideas today. For example, many persons think of a Christian as a person who keeps a certain number of rules, or believes a certain number of things, or belongs to a peculiar kind of club called the church. But a club member may be exactly like the people on the outside except that he has paid his dues and they haven't; and some church members are just like non-church members except that they have paid their dues (or at least owe them) while the outsiders have not.

Finding True Happiness

Let us venture to put the meaning of Jesus into simple words of today. The following sentences are meant to suggest only some of the means wrapped in these truths-for-life. . . Do you want to know the secret of happiness? Jesus asks. I will tell you. The happy are those who know how little they know and how far from good they are. These are the real people, God's people. The happy are not always the gay; the happy are the serious, those who feel a sincere sorrow for their sins and shortcomings, sorry enough to turn away from them. The happy are those who do not insist on their own rights, who carry no chip on their shoulders, who are more interested in justice for others than for themselves. After the proud have destroyed the proud, these are the people to whom the earth belongs. The happy people are those who want to be good more than anything else in the world. This is the one desire that God always fulfills. Happy people are those that find their happiness in helping others; these are the people who will find helpers in their own time of need. Happy people are those who are pure, not in act alone but in inner thoughts and desires. They are the ones who have any eyes for God. Happy people are not only peaceable themselves but help others to live in peace as well. These are the people who are really God-like. Happy people are not always free from trouble; but their troubles have been caused chiefly not by their sins but by the fact that they are good. They have their heaven in their hearts.

Christians Are Different

You are happy yourselves (Jesus concludes) when the hard things said about you are lies. You are happy when you suffer as I suffer, on behalf of others. God will reward you; you belong to the glorious company of the best men of all time, for there never was a good friend of God who was not misunderstood and slandered.

Jesus never explained all he meant. ("He who has ears, let him hear," he used to say.) But whatever may be puzzling, one thing is clear: Christians are different. If a man fits these descriptions even part-way, he is noticeably different from the run-of-mine human being. We cannot water down Jesus' ideas, for they are really radical. We should not try to make it sound easy; he did not. But let us be as frank as he was: If you want to find real happiness, if you want to belong to God's people, if you want to be a real Christian, this is it.

Penny march was then taken.

Roll call was answered by 22 members.

Secretary's report was read and approved. The meeting then closed with the repeating of the club creed.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

COMMUNISTS AIMS REVEALED—From the files of the FBI has come the true aims of the Communists in the United States. A long secret report of the agency has been released by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

It says that Stalin has decided that Communists can only gain power in this nation by the "forcible destruction" of the government--never by peaceful means.

The FBI quoted Stalin as saying that Karl Marx, one of the fathers of the Communist philosophy, thought that a peaceful communist revolution could be achieved in the U.S. and Great Britain. But in his writings and statements, Stalin insisted that conditions have changed and only force and violence can gain the Communist goal.

The report quotes Stalin as writing in 1939: "The proletarian revolution is impossible without the forcible destruction of the bourgeoise state machine and the substitution for it of a new one." In another artidle the Russian premier said: "The dictatorship of the proletariat cannot arise as the result of the peaceful development."

Senator McCarran, chairman of the subcommittee, said the report was released with the permission of J. Edgar Hoover and was issued because "there have been some persons who tried to tell us the Communists were not dangerous; that they had no plans for an armed revolution in this country."

TAX FACTS ARE STARTLING—More than $254 billions in taxes have been taken from the people by the federal government during the 157 years from 1789 to 1945. But the government has collected $807 billions in the last seven years - 1946 to 1952. In the last seven years the taxpayers of this nation have paid $53 billions more to the federal government than the total tax collections of 157 years. Taxes are still going higher.

FARM EXPORTS DECLINE—A decline has been reported in farm products being exported from the United States. Less wheat, lard, corn, barley and soybean oil were exported marking a 22 percent decline over June 1951. Total exports amounted to $243 millions while farm imports were valued at $244 millions.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS—How big is our government is a question often asked. This will give you an idea. It owns and controls more than 15 corporations whose total assets amount to more than $14 billions. The largest of these is the Export-Import Bank with assets of $2.3 billions; the Commodity Credit Corporation considered worth $2.2 billions; the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Farm Credit Administration and the Reconstruction Corporation. Besides these there are more than 50 other major businesses run by the government.

DISTANCE makes the Heart grow Fonder

You'll discover this about a Buick:

The more you drive it, the more you like it; the longer your trip, the louder your praise.

That's what people tell us. And we'll tell you why.

You can drive a Buick three, four, five hundred miles in a single day, and feel fresh enough to keep right on going.

You can romp up high hills, cruise straightaways, ease through traffic-tangled towns, clock off hour after hour of relaxed and pleasurable driving—and be no more tired than a neighborhood jaunt would make you.

How come this comfort-rich ground-covering ability in a Buick?

There's the ease of deep, soft seats for one thing—and plenty of move-about room for arms, legs, shoulders.

There's Dynaflow Drive* taking all the chore out of driving, and giving your whole ride a satiny smoothness without trace of jerkiness or driving tension.

There's a hoodful of thrilling, tireless power from a high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball 8 Engine that whips out miles like a tarpon reels off line.

There's the soft, steady, solid, swerve-free going of a coil-spring-cushioned ride that's well worth the million-plus dollars it cost to engineer.

There's all this and more—much more—that makes your heart grow fonder of this trim and thrifty traveler.

But words can't do justice to a Buick in motion. Only you can.

When will you come sample this experience yourself?

Mail Overseas Packages Now

The Post Office Department has issued regulations for the mailing of overseas packages to servicemen. The period from October 15 to November 15 has been designated for the acceptance of Christmas parcels for members of the armed forces serving overseas, and it is very important that all Christmas parcels be mailed within this period, the earlier the better. Parcels may be marked, "Do not open until Christmas," or "Merry Christmas," or some similar inscription.

Perishable food articles should not be sent in overseas parcels, and breakable articles are likely to be damaged in shipment. Cigarettes and other tobacco products cannot be sent to a number of APO's and coffee is also prohibited in parcels addressed to some army post offices.

Boxes for overseas transmission must be of strong construction, either metal, wood, solid fiberboard or strong, double faced corrugated fiberboard, testing at least 200 pounds. Boxes may be sealed with gummed tape, which strengthens the box, but they should also be securely tied with rope as the tape alone is not satisfactory since it loosens if the boxes become wet. All fiberboard parcels should be wrapped in heavy paper and boxes should be cushioned with enough paper to prevent rattling or loosening of the contents.

All parcels should be addressed in typewriting or ink, and it is better to print directly on the wrapper rather than to fill out a label and stick it on the wrapper. The serviceman's complete address should be placed on the parcel with the sender's address in the upper left hand corner. It is also a good idea to put a slip of paper in the parcel with the name and address of the sender written on it along with a complete list of the contents.

Air mail parcels can be sent until November 25, but no parcel weighing over two pounds, or measuring over over 30 inches in length and girth, may be sent by air. Greeting cards for overseas personnel may be sent at the first class rate until November 15, and at the air mail rate until December 1. Any gifts of money should be sent postal money orders. Do not send cash.

Band Concert Oct. 22

The St. Joe-Spencerville school band will present a concert next Wednesday, October 22, Carl Zimmerman, band director, announced this week. The concert will be presented at the gym in St. Joe at 8:15 p.m.

The program will be as follows:

March—Show Boy—Huff.

Overture—Challenge—De Lamater.

Sousaphone solo—Kathleen Anthony.

Overture — The Traveller — Buchtel.

March—Semper Fidelis—Sousa.

Spencerville Girls Glee Club—The Lost Chords, Thou My Only Light, In a Wheatfield.

March—The Footlifter — Fillmore.

Overture—Mountain Echoes — Franghizer.

Tenor saxaphone solo—Patsy Hook.

Overture—King Arthur—Thomas.

March—Washington Post—Sousa.

Star Spangled Banner—Sousa.

The band will present a series of concerts in the coming months as the P. T. A. continues its program of raising funds for the purchase of instruments. Also in the band's "want" list are uniforms. Proceeds from next week's concert and future concerts and activities will go tward reaching the goals of new instruments and band uniforms.

Tickets are on sale through the Band Boosters Club of St. Joe and Spencerville.

Literary remarks by Mrs. Grace Laub of Spencer Township, county literary leader.

Awarding of the tea set by Mrs. Ruth Little of Troy Township, county home demonstration secretary-treasurer.

Song by Mrs. Iris Thomas of Smithfield Township.

Style show by Schaab's Department Store.

Club prayer by audience.

Globetrotters To Appear At Coliseum Oct. 26, 31

The fabulous Harlem Globetrotters will play a return engagement at the Memorial Coliseum Friday night, October 31.

Already booked for an appearance on October 26, the famous team has created so much interest that the first exhibition game sales were a sell-out within a week. The second game was arranged Monday by the Fort Wayne Zollner Piston management because of the heavy demand for tickets.

The Piston cagers will not be on the October 31 bargain bill. They will be on their way to Rochester, N.Y., where they will open the 1952 pro basketball season against the Rochester Royals on Saturday night, November 1.

Sunday night, October 19, the Fort Wayne team will face Milwaukee in the only exhibition appearance in the Coliseum before regular league play begins. Sunday's attraction will be a double bill with the Minneapolis Lakers taking on the Indianapolis five.

The Globetrotters October 31 appearance took some doing. They will be on their way to New York City for a No. 1 double-header at Madison Square Garden, but promoter Abe Saperstein consented to make the stop at Fort Wayne the preceding Friday night.

The Trotters will meet the Toledo Mercurys in the second game of the double-header, while Chicago's Brown Bombers and the New York Celtics will tangle in the opener. The supporting cast of entertainers who accompanied the Trotters on their recent international tour will be at the Coliseum October 31.

The Zollner management has announced that while orders for tickets for the October 31 games would be accepted, the actual across-the-counter sale of tickets could not begin until Saturday.

Carl Perkins Shows Champ

For the second straight year, Carl Perkins has shown a state champion at the Indiana Berkshire Breeders' Show and Auction held at Lebanon, Ind.

Mr. Perkins, who showed his stock last Wednesday at the show, brought home winners in three classes of boars and gilts.

The winners were as follows:

BOARS
4th in February class
1st and 2nd in March class
2nd in April class

GILTS
2nd in February class
3rd and 4th in March class.

Sixty head were shown in the show and sale, Mr. Perkins reports.

Concerts Begin Oct. 21

Membership tickets were received Monday by those adults and students of DeKalb County who subscribed last spring to the 1952-53 Community Concert series.

Members were informed by Mrs. Marion Peckhart, secreary of the association, that an almost capacity house has been subscribed for the current season, the biggest membership the local association has ever enjoyed.

Consequently the four concerts will feature some unusual and varied attractions to please a broad range of musical interests. Dorotha Powers, violinist, will conclude the series next April and in February the Tucson Boys Chorus gives promise of a fortunate booking of one of the most exciting groups in the whole country.

The January attraction, and presumably the highlight of the season as promised at the time of the membership drive, is William Warfield, famous negro singer of "Show Boat" performance and concert stage.

The first concert is scheduled for next Tuesday evening, October 21, and the date should not be confused with the customary Thursday evening schedules. Samuel Sorin, a brilliant young American pianist, originally from Detroit but now living in New York, will be presented to satisfy a popular demand among the membership for one evening of concert piano.

Sorin's most significant success has been with the Fort Wayne Philharmonic. After a highly acclaimed performance during the '49-50 season, he was immediately re-engaged for 1950-51 at which time he repeated an overwhelming triumph. As a result of this performance which was termed "breath-taking" in Fort Wayne, he was engaged for the third consecutive season, a rare tribute to the popularity and impact of an artist.

All concerts are to be held in the Court Theatre in Auburn at 8:15 p.m. The doors will open at 7:30 and all tickets will be punched for admission.

'53 Outlook Reported

"A stable to slightly rising general price level can be expected in the coming year," Noah Hadley, agricultural economist at Purdue University told 130 farmers at the annual county outlook meeting in the court house assembly room in Auburn October 9.

He emphasized that although prices of indiviidual commodities may fluctuate widely, no major disturbances in the over-all economic picture are anticipated.

Net cash income of Indiana farmers in 1953 is expected to be about the same as in 1952 for those not adversely affected by weather, he added. Prices of Hoosier farm products, which were 103 per cent of parity in September 1952, are expected to continue near the parity mark next year.

As the peak of rearmament is reached or passed, some downward adjustment in the general level of prices is expected. When such deflation occurs, possibly in a year or two, it is not expected to be sharp or prolonged, probably comparable to the 1948-49 downturn.

Farm production costs will probably edge upward in 1953. High analysis phosphate fertilizer supplies will be no larger than last year. Some increase is expected in nitrogen and potash, but in some areas, these increased supplies will not be sufficient to meet larger demands. Good farm labor will remain scarce, probably become even higher priced. Farm real estate taxes which rose about five percent in 1952 will probably increase further.

Feed grain supplies per animal unit are about the same as a year ago for the United States but are slightly smaller for Indiana. Hay supplies are adequate but spotty in distribution.

Indiana corn prices probably will be below loan levels at harvest time in northern Indiana, but they will rise some through the year. In the southern Indiana drought area, the price of corn at harvest is expected to be about the support level. It will probably rise above that as the season progresses.

The corn-hog ratio will probably be more favorable than during 1952 but below normal most of the year. A further moderate decrease in hog numbers is expected.

Cattle feeding should be more profitable than during the past year, but less profitable than the average of other post-war years. The chief factor pointing to higher profits is lower cost of feeder cattle. Costs of grain in the feed lot will be fully as high. Lightweight cattle likely will turn out to be one of the safer types of feeding enterprises.

Sheep breeding flocks appear to be in favorable position. Sheep numbers are low, and at least a moderately strong demand for both meat and wool is in prospect. With the price of feeder lambs lower than a year ago, lambs fed for sale this winter and next spring should be a reasonably safe venture.

The dairy outlook is as favorable as last years or possibly a little better. Farm prices for dairy products wiill be slightly higher but costs will also increase some. Net returns for the efficient dairyman should be as large or larger than last year. The competitive position of the dairy enterprise in the farm business, which has not been good in recent years, continues to improve.

Egg prices are expected to average near the levels of a year earlier for the remainder of this year with early 1953 prices above early 1952 levels. The 1953 laying flock will be smaller. Broiler expansion is expected to be moderate. The large turkey crop this year will probably be marketed at prices averaging below the 38-cent Indiana average for October-December 1951.

Little hope is seen for lower farm family living costs in the year ahead. Food prices, except beef, can be expected to be above 1952 levels. Clothing, household appliances and automobiles will be a little higher in price, except for possible occasional bargain sales and more liberal allowances on trade-ins.

Indiana farm real estate prices, now at their highest level in history, are expected to remain about steady in the year ahead. They rose 20 per cent the first year of the Korean war and 10 percent last year. Such rapid increases are not expected to continue.

In appraising the general outlook, Mr. Hadley assumed that friction between the East and West will remain at approximately the same level of intensity. It was assumed that governmental expenditures for national security will continue to increase according to recently revised plans from about a 50-billion dollar annual rate at mid-year to a peak of 60 to 65 billion dollars sometime during 1953.

CARL CARPENTER TO APPEAR ON "EVERYBODY'S FARM"

Carl Carpenter will appear on radio station WLW, Cincinnati, on Saturday, October 18, at 1:30 p.m. He will talk on the subject, "Land Clearing."

On Sunday he will appear on the "Everybody's Farm" broadcast with John Butler, master of ceremonies. The program will be broadcast at 8 a.m. Topic for discussion will be "Growing Tendency of Absentee Landlords."

Answer to Question No. 1:

In recent years, county medical societies throughout the country have taken steps to insure the public of obtaining the services of a doctor at any time of day or night if the family physician cannot be reached, regardless of the patient's ability to pay. The local medical society publishes a telephone number to be called and provides a central switchboard to handle such calls. At the end of 1951, there were 904 emergency medical call systems in operation throughout the nation and the number is steadily increasing.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Yes, many old people who were once bedridden by certain chronic illnesses (such as heart disease, arthritis, etc.) have had their muscles "re-educated," thereby enabling them to dress and feed themselves and frequently to do simple, useful chores. The combined efforts of doctors, nurse and physical therapist will accomplish much toward rehabilitating these old people.

Answer to Question No. 3:

There is no specific drug to cure undulant fever (brucellosis). Some of the newer antibiotics help. Humans probably contract the disease by drinking unpasteurized (raw) milk or by eating meat from infected cattle. Local laws requiring pasteurization of milk and inspection of food animals by health authorities are the best hope for preventing the disease.

Report From Your Congress

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

COMMIES IN EVERY SECURITY AGENCY—According to General Walter Bedell Smith, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and former U. S. Ambassador to Russia, communists have infiltrated every security agency of the federal government.

General Smith made this startling statement recently in Washington.

When the General was asked if he agreed with a previous statement that there were communists in the State Department, he replied: "I do. I believe there are communists in my own organization."

He was asked if he knew who they were. In replying, he said: "I do not. I wish I did. I do everything I can to detect them. I believe they are so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the Government."

CONGRESS CONDUCTED PROBES—During the 82nd Congress, which adjourned in July, 236 separate investigations were conducted. This is believed to be a record. The investigations cost an estimated $5.7 millions and unearthed many cases of unethical and immoral actions.

In connection with these investigations, it is also shocking to note that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has just issued a report showing that more than a million major crimes were committed in the United States during the first half of 1952. This is an increase of 6.4 percent over the same period in 1951.

Hoover poined out that lawlessness is spreading rapidly among young people, with 18-year-olds predominating in the arrest list. In last year's report, 23-year-olds led all the others.

FARM PRICES FALL—The Agriculture Department reports that farm prices went down seven points during the month ending September 15. They are now 25 points below the level set in February 1951. The farm price index reached one of its highest points, 306, in January 1948. The index is based on farm prices from 1910-14 as being 100. On September 15, the index fell to 268.

CREWS SALUTE AT MOUNT VERNON—Visitors to Washington are almost certain to visit the shrine of America's first president, the home of General Washington at Mount Vernon. If they should be watching the president's yacht, the Williamsburg, pass Mount Vernon, they would see the crew lined up on the deck with the tallest man nearest the bow in full honors to our first president.

President Theodore Roosevelt ordered that Navy regulations be promulgated making such ceremonies official. Before that time, naval vessels had rendered honors without benefit of regulations.

The frigate, Congress, the first warship to reach the old Washington Navy Yard, was the first Navy ship to observe ceremonies while passing Washington's estate and his tomb. The ship did this in May 1801, less than two years after his death. The ceremonies are continuing on down through the years.

Fair Finances Look 'Rosey'

The 1952 edition of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair was a financial success, Fair president Earl Husselman reported Thursday.

A complete financial statement is not ready at this time, the fair president said, since all bills have not been turned in to the fair treasurer.

An auditing committee is busy with final tabulations.

The fair this year was a financial success despite considerably higher expenses, acording to the president. High expenditures were offset by the heavy sale of concession space, the biggest in history, the biggest farm implement display on record and the record space sold in the industrial tent.

Ralph Wible of Auburn served as concessionaire for the fair. Harold Vallieu was general superintendent of the varied industries, assisted by Ward Jackman and the machinery supervisors, Dice Brothers of Auburn.

The fair president praised all officers, county extension office personnel, superintendents, assistants and other workers for their volunteer labor which contributed to the success of the 1952 fair.

He also praised John Haverstock, fair announcer, and others who assisted in the event.

A complete financial report will be released as soon as it is completed.

This Week's . . . . . Washington Story

By Sen. Wm. E. Jenner

AMERICAN YOUTH HAS PROBLEMS, TOO

THE old people of this country are not the only group plagued by today's rapidly rising price spiral.

Our American youth, men, women, married and unmarried, likewise are confronted with serious problems created by inflationary prices and the Korean treadmill war.

When I speak of "inflationary prices," much as I dislike to do so, I must point to the fact that the Total Cost of Living Index rose to 191.1 within the last 90 days under the new (BLS), Bureau of Labor Statistics formula. Under the old formula, the figure would be 192.4.

Only a year ago, the Total Cost of Living Index was 185.5 (New BLS). Eleven years ago this August, it was only 106.2. Specifically, let me illustrate the application of these statistics.

A young single man makes $200 a month. Let us assume this young man aspires to a home and family of his own. On $200 a month, what kind of a standard of living can he offer, when he asks some lovely young woman to share life's journey with him?

Two hundred dollars a month today will provide no better standard of living than this man could have supplied on a salary of $100 a month, 12 years ago.

Again, let us assume this young man already is married, and has a wife and two children.

If he is making $300 a month, he can provide no better standard of living for his wife and family than could have been purchased for $1800 a year, in 1939. Even an income of $9,000 a year leaves him no better off than if he were making only $4,000 a year, 12 years back.

Why is this so?

It is so, because of the tremendous spending program of our Federal government. In the first 117 days of the current fiscal year, these expenditures averaged a million dollars every half minute. Such a program is bound to bring heavy taxes and high prices. Thus, the average American male, 27 years of age must look forward today to paying a minimum of $34,700 in taxes by the time he is 65 years of age.

To these problems must be added the conflict in Korea. If it ends as quickly as tomorrow, the satellites of the Kremlin stand ready to light a new conflagration at any one of a half dozen different danger spots. So the draft must continue, with its interruption of permanent life plans for thousands of our fine young men and women, who would like nothing better than to settle down to the pursuit of permanent peacetime careers.

In the words of Abraham Lincoln, every one of these young Americans might well say to us—"If we could first know where we are, and whither we are ending, we could better judge what to do, and how to do it."

'Big Show' Tuesday At Ft. Wayne

"The Biggest Show of 1952," a tri-starred production featuring Nat (King) Cole, Sarah Vaughn and Stan Kenton and his orchestra, will appear at the Memorial Coliseum Tuesday, October 21.

The two and one-half hour musical show will be the first attraction of its type in the spacious arena.

Four other acts will accompany the three big name stars into the Coliseum— Stump and Stumpy, George Kirby and Teddy Hale and the Congaroos.

This production is a follow-up of the big show which toured the nation's large arenas in the spring. The big show featured Patti Page and Frankie Laine with a prominent name band.

"King" Cole and Stan Kenton are recording artists for Capitol records while Sarah Vaughn records for Columbia.

Actuallly this is the third "big" show" production to hit the road with King Cole and Sarah Vaughn starring in the original. It set many house records in the 70 cities in which it played.

Stump and Stumy are making a repeat performance on the program, while George Kirby, the Congaroos and Teddy Hale are newcomers to the troupe. The Congaroos ahve just finished a week's engagement at New York's famous Palace.

George Kirby has been recognized as one o the outstanding comics and mimics of the generation and Teddy Hale has won every dacing crown awarded since the death of Bill (Bojangles) Robinson.

Seminar Begins Oct. 27 At Butler

"How To Teach Obedience!" is the subject with which Higley's Fall Seminar for Sunday School teachers will open on Monday evening, October 27. The subject will be discused by a panel of four ministers including Rev. James Snow, Rev. Edwin Jaycox, Rev. E. C. Reidenbach and Rev. W. H. Baker, all pastors of churches in Butler, Indiana. The seminar will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock at the high school building in Butler.

One hour each evening will be devoted to the study of the Book of Matthew and will be spadework preparation for the Sunday School lessons of the next five months. This feature will be taught by Loyal R. Ringenberg, director of the seminar.

The program for Tuesday night, October, 28 will feature Miss Pearl Walker, a newspaper reported of Salem, Ohio, who will discuss ways of publicizing the Sunday school.

On Wednesday night, October 29, a study in the geography of modern missions will be discussed by Rev. T. A. Brannen of Butler. Mrs. Phyllis Brannen will accompany this study with an illustrative drawing entitled, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Thursday night will feature Rev. John Williams of Adrian, Michigan, who will discuss projected visual aids. Mr. Williams is chairman of the Visual Aids Committee of the Lenawee County Ministerial Association (Adrian) and has built up a large Visual Aids Department in the Lenawee County Public Library. This feature will be concluded by a twenty minute sound film entitled, "Doorways To Decision."

The first hour of the program on Friday night will feature demonstration teaching of the Sunday school lesson for November 2 on three levels. The demonstration teacher on the adult level will be Rev. F. I. Mumford of Butler. The teacher on the intermediate level will be Miss Mamie Headland of Peninsula, Ohio. The teacher on the beginner's level will be Miriam Jeffers of Butler.

The seminar is a serivce of the Higley Press and is open to interested persons of all denominations.

REHOBOTH RALLY DAY THIS SUNDAY

Rehoboth Methodist Church will observe Rally Day and Home Coming Sunday, October 19.

A basket dinner will be served at the noon hour.

Worship service will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. with Rev. McLeland, pastor, in charge. Church school will convene at 10:30 with Ernest Hutton, superintendent, in charge. A Rally Day program will be presented with the church school young people.

The afternoon speaker will be Rev. Peter Soudah of Garrett.

An invitation has been extended to all to attend these services.

15th Traffic Fatality Recorded

DeKalb County's 15th traffic fatality of 1952 and the 9th in the past two weeks was recorded Monday when Anthony William Melvin, 29, was fatally injured at 1:15 p.m. when struck by an automobile as he walked along U.S. highway 27, eight-tenths of a mile west of the Auburn city limits near his home.

He was dead on arrival at the hospital.

The car was driven by George Grogg, 50, of RR3, Auburn, who told investigating officers that Melvin, walking along the left side of the highway and pulling a wagon, unexpectedly walked directly into the path of the automobile. Grogg told officers he was driving approximately 40 miles per hour at the time. Both the car and Melvin were going west.

Melvin, thrown into the windshield of the car, suffered a crushed chest, broken right leg, broken right arm, internal injuries and multiple briuses, according to Dr. C. B. Hathaway, county coroner.

Grogg was not held.

Hockey Games To Be Broadcast Over WOWO

Ernie Berg, general manager of the Fort Wayne Komets hockey team, has announced completion of plans to broadcast home games of the area's first season of organized ice hockey. A total of thirty broadcasts will originate from the new Allen County War Memorial Coliseum and will be heard at 8 p.m. on Saturdays and 10:15 p.m. on Tuesdays over WOWO. Ernie Ashley, WOWO sports director, will describe the action.

The Komets first tilt with the Toledo club on October 25 promises to be a real thriller. Toledo captured last year's play-off championship of the International Hockey League. Other broadcasts will include Komet bouts with Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Grand Rapids and Troy.

Coach Alex Wood reports from the Komets' Woodstock, Ontario, training camp that he is confident of a successful season. Wood expects the Tri-State area to acept organized ice hockey enthusiastically. "Folks around here who like basketball and football are going to love ice hockey," Alex claims. "Hockey play patterns are very similar to basketball with the added interest of much greater speed. And, like football, there's a lot of jolting body contact. Players often maneuver at full speed on skates. It is the sort of thing sports fans really like."

All WOWO broadcasts of the hockey games are being sponsored by the Centlivre Brewing Corporation.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

POLIO

POLIOMYELITIS is now treated by three methods. Physical agents, therapeutic exercises and mobilization methods are included. Various types of apparatus also are necessary to carry out some of the treatment measures and to support weakness.

The preferred medium of physical agents has been moist packs and water. Various types of heat and even drugs have successfully alleviated pain and tenderness in some cases. The lay-on moist pack has recently replaced the conventional wrap-around pack with consistently good results.

Hydrotherapy has been generally confined to the subacute period when the patient's condition and tenderness permit transportation to and from a tub, tank or pool. Electrical stimulation of affected muscle groups is also used.

Exercise in poliomyelitis is designed to recover the voluntary use of and to strengthen all affected muscle groups so that maximum function can be attained. Manual and apparatus movements are used in mobilization methods to attain or maintain normal body alignment. Active stretching is indicated when there is a mild contracture of a segment, or a tendency toward contracture.

If there is a more than mild contracture or tightness, apparatus that will maintain a stretching force over a period of many minutes or even hours is used. Such apparatus is either spring tension or gravity type.

In the use of these treatments, it is essential that they be prescribed with reason and applied with judgment, declares Dr. Duane A. Bohram, former resident physician at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 6. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 40: 1-8.

Sincerity

Lesson for October 19, 1952

SOME say an insincere person isn't what he seems to be. That s not quite true. An insincere person is what he seems to be, only not all the way through. He is what he seems to be, on Sundays, or part of the time, or when he's feeling just right; or perhaps he is what he seems to be, but only on the surface. The rest of the time, or underneath that surface, he is something quite different. Everybody likes sincere people, nobody wants to have much to do with the insincere.

Dr. Foreman

Getting Down to Cases

Jesus, of course, demanded sincerity. "Jesus would rather be denied by a true man than confessed by a liar." He did not use the word "sincere" or "sincerity," but (as was his habit) he came down to cases. He first shows that a generous giver, and a praying man, may be insincere. When is generosity sincere? When is a man all-the-way generous and when is he only top-layer generous? Jesus suggests that it isn't what we give, but why we give, that points up a test for sincerity. It is very doubtful whether Jesus meant to say that any one ever hired a trumpeter to toot for him when he dropped some money into the collection plate or wrote a check for the Red Cross. What he means to say is that when a man gives with the hope that his gift will attract attention and produce applause, he is not really generous. He doesn't have the recipient's interests at heart; he is thinking only, "How well people will think of Me! "Or again, that odd saying, "Do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing" suggests that sometimes you are generous in order to please your favorite audience: You. You are generous in order to feel self-satisfied, your right hand (so to speak) brags about your left. The sincerely generous person is the only truly generous one; and the only sincerely generous person is the one who wants to give, not to be complimented, even by himself.

What Is Sincere Prayer?

Another concrete case that Jesus takes up is prayer. There is a story that once a minister was told after service: "Doctor, that was the most eloquent prayer ever delivered to a Boston audience." Jesus would say that a prayer delivered to an audience—Boston, Bombay or Barber Junction, no matter where—isn't a prayer, it's just a way of showing off. A certain professor of English used to quote famous authors in his public prayers: "As Shakespeare has said, O Lord . . . Thou rememberest what the poet Browning hath said . . ." Now there's no use quoting poetry to the Lord; that is suited to a speech, not to a prayer. Of course Jesus did not mean that we are never to pray in the presence of others. He himself prayed in public on various occasions. Leading others in prayer is a rare gift and should be cultivated. But while prayer, sincere prayer, can be with others and for others, it should never be to others. Some preachers "beat the congregation over their heads with a prayer" as the saying is. Some deacons have been known to put long and dull prayer-meeting talks into the form of a prayer. One elder well-versed in Scripture used to go through the whole story of the Bible, in outline, every time he was called on for a prayer.

Sincerity in Devotion

Jesus points out where sincerity is most important of all: in our devotion to God. We cannot serve God and Mammon. God does not want part-time devotion. By serving God, Jesus means living by God's side, under God's orders. Serving Mammon means more than simply serving money—most Mammon-worshippers would deny that they "serve" money. It means living your life not as God would have you but in order to "get ahead," to make money, to stand well with people who have money. Serving God means living as Jesus lived, for others; serving Mammon means trying to be served by as many persons as possible. Success, in Mammon's terms, is measured in terms of how many people work for you; success in God's terms, is measured in terms of how much you have helped others. Sincere devotion to God must be devotion all life through.

CULTURE CLUB

A buffet supper opened the first meeting of the Culture Club at the home of Lois Fisher in Spencerville. The menu consisted of creamed chicken and biscuits, cranberry salad, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee.

The regular meeting was called to order at 8 p.m. with the roll call answered by seventeen active members. The secretary's report was then read.

A gift was then presented by Lois Fisher to the retiring president, Rose Anthony.

The club ladies decided to have cheer sisters this year, with the thought in mind of being brought closer together to find personal tastes and likes.

The club then adjourned thanking the hostess for a very fine evening.

GIRLS' STATE MOVIES TO BE SHOWN TUESDAY

The Auxiliary of Walter Whitehurst American Legion Post 283 will show a moving picture of Girls' State in connection with the P.T.A. meeting to be held Tuesday evening, October 21, at 8 p.m.

Each year a girl is chosen by the faculty from the junior class of the St. Joe High School to attend Girls' State held at Indiana University ini Bloomington.

These girls are sponsored by the auxiliary and the picture is being shown with the hope of giving to the people a better understanding of what is being done by the auxiliary for the girls who are privileged to attend. It should be of great interest to everyone in the community and the public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Harriett Baker, Girls' State chairman, will be in charge of the program.

CONCORD METHODIST RALLY DAY SUNDAY

Concord Methodist Church will observe Rally Day and Homecoming next Sunday, October 19.

A basket dinner will be served at noon at the church with the afternoon program starting at 2 p.m.

Rev. George A. Miller of Butler will be the afternoon speaker along with other interesting features to make the afternoon enjoyable for all.

A cordial invitation has been extended to all to attend the Rally Day.

NEGROES SENTENCED IN KNIFING

Judge Walter Stump sentenced three negroes last week in the stabbing that took place in the railroad camp near here in the DeKalb Circuit Court.

Sentenced to terms at the Indiana state penal farm at Putnamville were John Gibbs, 35, Robert Jones, 28, and Elroy Smith, 30, all of Chicago.

In addition Judge Stump imposed fines on all three men, with the heaviest going to Gibbs who admitted that he stabbed Smith and Hilary Judkins, also of Chicago.

Gibbs was fined $550 and costs. A fine of $25 and costs was levied on Smith with a minimum fine of $1 and costs imposed on Jones.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

LIGHTS OUT - Curiosity kills cats, though this time it was a raccoon. For two winters, the coon had been such a foraging pest he had been the object of hunt after hunt in the vicinity of Chestnut Ridge, Jackson county. He always eluded dogs and traps. But finally he undid himself. He climbed a utility pole and in nosing around touched a live wire. That was all, except that REMC linemen had to climb up and remove his carcass.

"LADY" IS HEROINE - When Julia Rickers, 18-month-old daughter of the Harvey Rickers near Owensville, crawled under a gate to a hog pen, the family dog came to the rescue. She's "Lady," a shepherd, and she got there after the animals had bowled over the child and mauled her. The dog fought off the hogs and her continual barking brought the parents running. The child suffered bad lacerations and bruises and went back home after a hospital patch-up.

HONEST ALFONSE, GASTON - Harold Carmichael, Ft. Wayne, realized he hadn't paid for a quart of oil after he left a filling station in Cambridge City. So he mailed 25 cents to the station. Bill Close, the owner, then had to match the honesty, for the oil price was only 20 cents. So he spent 3 cents to return Carmichael's nickel.

DELPHI DISBELIEVERS - All day in front of his Delphi furniture store, Leonard Blythe displayed several lawn chairs with a sign reading "opportunity of a lifetime—take one." He meant exactly that—they were free. But there were no takers all day, not even an inquiry from a passerby until closing time when Mrs. John Bowman stopped, saw the sign, picked up a chair, said "thanks" and walked off with it.

SAFE DRIVERS - An average truck driver travels around 90,000 miles a year, or 1,800 miles a week. That's lots of miles under all kinds of conditions. Yet 113 Indiana truck drivers who work for nine Indiana truck lines, which are covered by just one insurance company, received safe driving awards from the company for a year's exceptional safety record. Take 90,000 times the 113 drivers and it means more than 10 million miles of outstanding safe driving.

AMAZED MAN - Will Barbour is a displaced Hoosier who lives in New York City and who travels around a bit. He wrote his hometown Bristol Banner that: 1) He was in Pittsburgh, Pa., this spring when a bus load of Hoosier youth unloaded at his hotel; 2) a little later in Washington he saw not one but many bus loads of Indiana youngsters, and 3) still later in Chicago he saw more Hoosier kids in droves. "Who began this see-the-world idea," he asked. He was just finding out how times have changed, how trips by graduating Indiana high school seniors have become common.

FIRE DUTY - The Rockport fire department went to the rescue of a set of false teeth. It happened when Charles Chinn suffered the loss of his dentures, flushed down the drain. He didn't know what to do. So he called the fire department. He got his teeth back.

BEE-HEADED BOY - The queen bee lit on the head of Paul Wesley Barbour, 2½, Rising Sun, and then the trouble began. The whole swarm was right there and began landing, too. The poor youngster started screaming and Mrs. Paul Barbour, his mother, came running. Part of the swarm had settled but she chased them off and wasn't stung herself. The boy was treated for multiple stings and soon was as good as ever.

Pineapple Meat Loaf Is Tops For Flavor

Luscious, golden pineapple lends irresistible flavor and eating goodness to meat loaf.

Looking for something different and delicious to serve for dinner tonight? Then, try this easy-to-do hamburger loaf, glorified with bright, sunny pineapple slices so it looks like your favorite upside-down cake. You'll find that pineapple adds a wonderful fruity flavor to the meat, and excellent texture contrast. There's also an economy angle since the pineapple helps to make smaller meat portions more satisfying.

Thanks to a bountiful harvest, pineapple is back in good supply now and you can get all five types—slices, chunks, tidbits, crushed and juice, ready to serve as is, and in dozens of tempting salads, cakes, pies and puddings. Pineapple juice, for example, is easily stored, requires no refrigeration, and makes an ideal breakfast beverage because it's not too sweet, nor too sharp. For variety, add a cup of chilled tomato juice to two cups pineapple juice and shake well together. If you like a decided tangy flavor, add a dash of lemon juice. Or, treat the family to sliced bananas topped with pineapple juice instead of cream.

PINEAPPLE HAMBURGER LOAF

3 slices bread, cut in small cubes
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 small onion, chopped finely
3 slices canned pineapple
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. Worchestershire sauce
1 lb. hamburger, ground beef or chuck

Place bread cubes in mixing bowl, add milk, and allow to stand 2 or 3 minutes. Add egg, chopped onion, and seasonings and mix well. Add meat and blend thoroughly. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and arrange in a row in the bottom of a loaf pan. Pile meat mixture on top of pineapple. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) for one hour. Invert on serving platter to serve.

Around the Town

With the Editor

For a town that doesn't have a beer joint, the alcohol sure was running fast Monday around the town. It wasn't fit for human consumption, though—it was being put into car radiators for protection against the cold weather that jumped the gun early this week.

It was a treat to see the fire and spirit displayed by Dick Grote, the Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop now playing with the Piston pro basketballers when he can find time between college classes, Sunday night against Milwaukee. Once in the final few minutes it looked as if the Hawks were going to pull a succesful fast break with Mel Hutchins on the receiving end of a long pass. But just as he reached for the ball there was a streak of white across the middle of the floor as Richard shoot up into the air (he's only 5' 11") and broke up the play. As far as Fort Wayne was concerned, even though they lost it was a "grote" night.

Howard Shilling brought in an item and said he didn't know if it should be changed or not because it might sound like bragging. So what's wrong with bragging about Mrs. Shilling's winnings in the county fair? She made twelve flower entries and brought home twelve ribbons. It was the largest number of entries made in flowers. She also had entries in vegetables and antique divisions and brought home twenty-four ribbons out of twenty seven entries.

Mrs. Shilling raises the flowers not only for fair showing but also for marketing at Fort Wayne. During the past season she gathered 347 bunches of asters.

June Baker left a note Wednesday about the P.T.A. advising folks to watch for further announcement concerning the P.T. A. 4-H Champion Lamb Supper on November 15. It seems to me I got an inkling of that project a week or so ago—ain't that so, "Peck" Reinhart?

Lamb supper—sounds good.

Get Ready For Big Hallowe'en Parade, Party

Prizes, treats, eats, entertainment, fun galore are in store for the community next Friday, October 31. That's the date for the big Hallowe'en Party sponsored by the St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department.

The evening will start with a parade of kids and grownups dressed in their Hallowe'en costumes marching from the local drug store to the school gym. Maurice Kline, Lyle McMaken and Cliff Billow are in charge of this portion of the fun and have secured the services of the familiar fife and drum corps to lead the way. The parade will form at 7:15 p.m. and start the march at 7:30 p.m.

At the school house prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in several classes. Last year's winning costumes included the funniest, most original, scariest, oldest, youngest and prettiest. The prize committee is composed of Herb Amstutz, Wilbur Yeiser and Bill Hurni.

Joe Robinson, entertainment chairman, has announced that a magician will be present to pull some sleight-of-hand tricks. There will be other bits of fun to keep the evening lively.

Treats for the kiddies will be given out by Ray Moore, Andy Monroe and Ralph Keeler.

Roy Bowser is general chairman of the event and Derwood Ridgway is securing judges for the costume prize awards and will serve as master of ceremonies.

In addition the auxiliary of the fire department, with Mrs. Doris Yeiser in charge, will operate a refreshment stand in the gym during the evening's entertainment.

Tiger Prospects Not Too Bright Says Coach

"We'll be lucky to win half of our games this year; too many big men graduated last year and we're doing a lot of rebuilding," so says Coach Bob Dragoo of the St. Joe Tigers' prospects for the coming basketball season.

"Kenny Walters and Bob DeLong are the only holdovers from last year's regular squad," the coach commented this week, "and we are building this year's team with boys who played on the second string team. Practices have been going along fairly well and the boys are working the ball around as practice progresses. But we'll still be lucky to win fifty percent of our games. That's just a little warning to the fans who may still remember that 15-5 won-lost record St. Joe ran up last year."

The Tigers are warming up for their opening encounter with Waterloo on Saturday, November 1, at the Waterloo gym. Regular practices are being held and in addition to Walters and DeLong the first team has lined up as follows:

Sophomores—Gene Culbertson and Bill Coburn.

Juniors—Sam Morr, Bruce Baker, Ambrose Dulle, Herb West, Max Peters and Albert McMaken.

The 15-won 5-lost record the coach mentioned was the biggest year the Tigers have seen for some time. But starters Bob Richmond, Jerry Keener, Bud Tharp and Don Walters graduated in the spring and the basketball stock in St. Joe dropped considerably. However, the rebuilding of the team may disclose some interesting developments as the season progresses.

Tiger fans will see the team attired in new uniforms this year. However, the suits will not arrive until about December 1. Until then they'll be seen in their orange and black and orange and white outfits.

The second team is coached by Mr. Joe Smith, who is in his first year of teaching in the St. Joe school. Last year's seconds ended the season with 13 won and 7 lost. This year the following boys will try to match that record but may have a tough time what with four moved up to the varsity from last year:

Sophomores—Richard Beebe, Donald Tharp, Lee Davis, Franklin Wade, Lavern Voirol, John DePew, John Heyman, Bob Plummer, Eugene Carper and Robert Lochamire.

Freshmen — Donnie Sechler, Donnie Baker, David Walters, Ronnie Rafine, Pete Zimmerman and Kent Burkhead.

The Tigers' 1952-53 schedule is as follows:

Nov. 1—Waterloo, there.
Nov. 4—Harlan, here.
Nov. 7—Woodburn, here.
Nov. 14—Churubusco, here.

Joe Gerig Dies Suddenly

Joseph W. Gerig, 53, died of a virus infection Saturday morning at 4 a.m. Mr. Gerig, long active in various activities in DeKalb County, became ill on Thursday evening and was taken to the hospital Friday evening at 7 p.m.

Mr. Gerig was the president of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Co-op in Auburn and was in his second year in that capacity.

Previous to that Mr. Gerig served from 1946 to 1951 as vice-president of the organization. He had been a member of the board of directors since 1945.

He was also active in Republican party politics in the county. Mr. Gerig was in his third year as treasurer of the DeKalb County GOP Central Committee. He had been elected to two two-year terms in that position.

Mr. Gerig retired in 1950 as Jackson Township trustee after serving two terms of four years each. He was a member in 1951 of the DeKalb County Board of Review and was a former active member of the DeKalb County Fair Association. He also was serving as the adjuster for the DeKalb County Farmers Mutual Insurance Company.

He was born on December 14, 1898, in Cedar Creek Township, Allen County, the son of the late Noah and Mary Ann Gerig. He had resided practically all of his life in DeKalb County.

On March 10, 1920, Mr. Gerig and Lulu Alexander were united in marriage at Claypool, Ind.

Surviving besides the wife are three daughters, Mrs. Carol Whittington, of near Garrett, Mrs. Wilma Marks of Rt. 2, Auburn, and Mrs. Thelma Daly of South Bend; a son, Joe Gerig, Jr., who is serving in the U.S. Air Force at San Antonio, Texas; two brothers, Forrest and Virgil, of Auburn; two sisters, Mrs. Wilbur Hartung of near Huntertown and Mrs. Fred Kruse of Rt. 2, Auburn; and five grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Leona Lung, preceded him in death.

The son reached his father's bedside just before Mr. Gerig lapsed into a coma before his death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at the Brush College Church and burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery near Auburn.

Merchandise Shoot Sunday

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club in its effort to bring the parent stock of pheasants up to the expected level of the state conservation department in the St. Joe-Spencerville-Newville area released 96 full grown birds on Wednesday, October 22. This makes a total of nearly 275 birds the club has released this year and should improve the shooting.

Farmers and tenants are urged to post their lands for lawful hunting. These signs are free and can be obtained at Myers Elevator or from Jerry Haver.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank everyone who was so kind to me during my stay in bed. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Mrs. Glen Cole.

Season Ticket Sales Begin Next Monday

Season tickets for high school home basketball games will go on sale Monday, October 27, at the school house, Charles McCreery announced this week.

Admission prices to home games will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for students. Season ticket prices are $4 for adults, offering a savings of fifty cents for the season, and $2.00 for students, a savings of twenty-five cents,

Season tickets are sold in order to afford an equitable distribution of tournament tickets. The priority for distribution of all tournament tickets will be as follows:

1. Members of the teams and coaches.
2. Student season ticket holders.
3. Official game personnel.
4. Adult season ticket holders.
5. First come, first served on remainder.

Ticket sales will begin at 1 p. m. Monday afternoon in the principal's office.

Let's Look At The Record

The House Journal, which is the voting record of your Legislature, shows that I have stood for the following:

1. For return of more State money to local government units.

2. For less invasion of the Federal Government into State and local units. Also less encroachment of the State Government into local governments.

3. For better and more adequate educational facilities.

4. For the abolition of certain useless, worthless State bureaus, boards and commissions. Also combining those having similar or like powers and duties.

5. For raising Indiana among the States in Health Standing and more particular for mental health patients.

6. For expanding State Police to insure preservation of our highways and to make them safer from unscrupulous drivers.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 7. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 119: 105-112.

Test of Faith

Lesson for October 26, 1952

Dr. Foreman

EVERY one who has carefully studied the "Sermon on the Mount" as we find it in Matthew, has run into a peculiar feature of it. The first two chapters (Matt. 5 and 6) move right along in logical fashion, one thought leading into the next, to a climax at the end of chapter 6. But chapter 7 seems to launch out in all directions. The sentences or topics do not follow a single thread of thought. The chapter is very hard to outline. There are various explanations of this. One is that in this chapter we have what might be called the discussion period or forum following the sermon. The various short paragraphs may be explained as being answers Jesus gave to questions which are not recorded. However that may be, we may select verses 12, and 15-27, and see how they answer four very natural questions which Jesus' teaching (especially in Matt. 5 and 6) would raise.

Bible in a Nutshell

Some one might ask: "Can't you make your teaching simpler and plainer? Could you put the whole thing in a nutshell?" So Jesus gives the Golden Rule (7:12), a single sentence that has embarrassed theologian and plain Christian alike. Jesus offers this as a kind of summary of the Bible, for in his time the Bible he had (our "Old Testament") was customarily called "The Law and the Prophets." This bothers the theologian because it always scandalizes a scholar to have everything put into one sentence, and besides, theologians are accustomed to finding a great deal more in the Old Testament than the Golden Rule. It bothers the common everyday Christian because when he looks at this sentence, he knows how right Mark Twain was: "It's not what I don't understand in the Bible that disturbs me; it's what I do understand."

How Can You Tell?

Another question: How do we know you are teaching the truth? How can we tell you from a false prophet? Jesus gives a simple answer: You can tell a tree from its fruits. People who criticize Christianity should keep this point in mind. There is a great deal in "Christianendom" which is not good. But Christendom is not Christianity. Not even the church is Christianity. Anything in the church that ought not to be there, we must set down against the account of the church, not against Christ. If the church is weak and sinful it is because and so far as she has failed to follow Jesus, not because she has followed him. The fruits of Christ, of his heart, his spirit, his teachings—these are good fruit. And if any one is disposed to doubt that, let him fairly answer this question: Where would you rather live, in a community in which the citizens were strangely like Jesus, or one in which they were just the opposite?

Is Not Faith Enough?

Another question: Isn't a single act of faith enough? If I believe what I ought to believe, and if I honor Christ as Lord, isn't that enough to make me a Christian? Jesus offers a test of faith, as if in answer to some such question. It isn't just believing; it isn't paying honor to the name of Christ; it isn't preaching in his name, it is not even performing miracles. The question that will be asked at the Day of Judgment is: Did you do the will of God?

Will It Work?

One more question: Your teaching sounds interesting and is idealistic and all that, but is it meant for this world? Will it work? Jesus quite emphatically claims for his teachings an absolutely practical value. They are not for some Never-never Land, they are not for some other time, some other life. They are not some radical upside-down topsy-turvy mess of peculiar notions. They are the bedrock of a life that will endure through storms. Do you want to find out whether these teachings and ideals of Jesus will work? He invites one and all to build their house of life upon them. He does not promise at any time that those who live by his teachings will be free from trouble, sorrow, opposition, tragedy. Storms come to all houses alike. What he does promise is that the life built here shall not fall.

PHEASANTS RELEASED BY CONSERVATION CLUB

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will hold a merchandise shoot next Sunday afternoon, October 26. Dressed chickens will be first prize and groceries for second. There will also be other events.

If a request is made, shooters in the merchandise events will be squaded according to ability so far as possible.

Shooters are advised to get up their own squads if they wish and take home a chicken.

GOLDSMITH

Funeral services were conducted recently for Solomon Joseph Goldsmith, 71, who died Sunday, October 5, of a cerebral hemorhage at his home. Mr. Goldsmith had been bedfast for about a week.

He was born in Jackson Township on May 13, 1881, the son of the late Joseph and Magdelene Schlatter Goldsmith. Mr. Goldsmith and Rilla Farner were married over 50 years ago.

Besides farming Mr. Goldsmith worked as a janitor at the Spencerville school for about 10 years before he retired a year ago.

Survivors include a son, Harold, who lives in another house on the same farm; two sisters, Mrs. Lydia Gerig of Cincinnati and Mrs. Emma Conner of Auburn; and two grandchildren, Walter and William Goldsmith.

Burial was in White City Cemetery near Spencerville.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and their assistance at our recent bereavement.

WALTER D.
STUMP
Candidate for Re-Election as JUDGE
of the DeKalb Circuit Court
on the Democratic Ticket

Graduated from law school in 1914 and practiced law in DeKalb County until the outbreak of World War I when he locked up his office and volunteered for duty with the Armed Forces. He then served 2 1-2 years in the Army, of which one year was in France. After the war he returned to Auburn and re-opened his law office. It was necessary to start again from the beginning, but his business soon increased and grew into a substantial law practice which continued until the outbreak of World War II when, at the age of 55 years, he again left his law office to volunteer for duty with the Armed Forces at a greatly reduced income. He then served in the Army 4 years, serving 3 1-2 years overseas, the first 5 weeks being in North Africa and then as a member of the 5th Army in Italy. He participated in all the major engagements of the Italian Campaign for which he was awarded 4 Battle Stars. He was also awarded the Bronze Star for "Meritorious Service." When the fighting ended he was assigned to assist in the re-establishment of the Italian Courts for which he was later awarded a decoration by the Italian Government. He then returned home and undertook to re-establish his long neglected law practice, forming a law partnership with his son, Harold, on the return of his son from duty with the Marines in the Pacific. In November, 1946, he was elected Judge of the DeKalb Circuit Court where he has presided for the past 6 years.

During his term as Judge of our Court, large numbers of important cases have been venued to the DeKalb Circuit Court for trial from all adjoining counties, indicating the faith and confidence of the Judges and lawyers of Northeastern Indiana in his fidelity to the highest traditions of the office and indicating also the confidence of Judges and lawyers that he has earnestly tried to maintain the high standard of judicial conduct set by all who have preceded him as Judge of our Court, especially with respect to their honest, conscientious, courteous, patient, punctual, just and impartial administration of justice, completely free of political and partisan influence. All cases have been tried without delay as soon as the litigants were ready for trial. Not a single case has ever been delayed because of the failure of the Court to act promptly in setting it for trial.

All the expense of trial of cases venued to our Court is paid by the counties from which they come and each of the many cases venued here brings a certain amount of revenue to our county over and above the actual cost of trial, which goes into the county treasury and is beneficial to the taxpayers of DeKalb County in that it helps to meet the operating expense of our Court.

The platform for a judicial candidate is not that of any political party. It is very simple and has never been more eloquently stated than by the prophet Micah where he commands us, "To do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

The work being done in his behalf in this campaign by hundreds of resolute and forward looking men and women of both political parties, whose sole motive is to preserve untarnished the honor and integrity of our Court, is deeply appreciated and commits him to continue his best efforts to justify this faith and confidence.

Your Help Is Needed to...

Stop Socialism and Keep America Free

The Trumanites are determined to socialize our country. These are their key schemes:

- Brannan plan to socialize farms
- Socialized medicine
- Ever-increasing taxes
- Growing controls on our every-day life
- Socialized natural resources
- Power to seize private property at will

There's only one way to stop the rush toward socialism

Around the Town

With the Editor

When the navy does something, it really does it.

Remember that item last week about Bob Shuff serving on the high seas? Well, he isn't.

He came in Friday morning and wanted to know where I got the information. I told him it came from the "Fleet Home Town News Center" at Great Lakes.

Bob said, "That's the navy for you."

He was discharged in July.

Some of our local teachers no doubt have stories to tell about their teaching experiences. I get first hand information from sister Marge who is teaching at Chicago this year while husband Phil attends Northwestern.

She was telling a story the other night about her experience with one of the high-strung members of the class—I think his name is Steve.

Evidently Friday is "current events day" for the class and the students take news articles to class for discussion. One of the recent discussions concerned communism and the fact that some of the accused had been described as having good character by witnesses. Marge tried to explain to them why they could get good character references and yet obviously were in sympathy with communism. She used the class as an example, or members of it, and said, "Suppose you were called to be a character witness for Steve, and as far as you knew, he had good character, that is as long as you had known him. But suppose before you knew him, he had been a communist—"

That's as far as she got. From Steve came the indignant statement, "I AM NOT A COMMUNIST!"

Marge said she knew right then she had made a mistake. Steve is somewhat on the emotional side and he had it in for her the rest of the day, calling meetings with the kids and finally scribbling a note on a piece of paper during a class discussion. She caught it. It read, "Mrs. Appleman is a communist."

Ah, for the life of a teacher.

Ruth White came in Tuesday and gave me holy Ned in behalf of the Culture Club. They have noticed (and I haven't) that the Culture Club report is ALWAYS on the back page and they would like to see it on the front page for once.

Ladies, it was unintentional, believe me. Watch for next week's paper.

I had planned on writing a nice big editorial on the election this week but the politicians took so much space that all the room I can use is to say you'd better vote next Tuesday. Personally, I think twenty years is long enough.

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The October meeting of the Spencer Township Home Demonstration Club was held at the home of Gladys Hart as hostess with Ilef Ringenberg and Donzella Graham as her co-hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Donzella Graham. The song of the month, "Silver Threads" was sung by the group.

Devotions were given by Lois Moore. The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer then gave a report which was approved.

All members answered the roll call by giving "What Our Family Does for Fun."

Election of officers was then held for the new year. Officers elected are as follows:

President—Lois Fisher.

Vice president—Donzella Graham.

Secretary-terasurer—Nellie Allen.

Chorister—Irma Allen.

Reporter—Jean Moore.

Eighteen members and seven children enjoyed pleasant refreshments. The club was dismissed by Joyce Gilford.

The next meeting will be held on November 12 at the home of Mildred Keller.

Power for Need

Lesson for November 2, 1952

THERE are various kinds of power, and this lesson is not about most of them. For example there is mechanical power, and atomic power, and electrical power. There is armed force exerted by a nation, and there are all the forces of nature. We are not concerned directly with any of these. We will think not of one particular kind of power, but of any kind which is personally controlled and used, the power that every one has. Practically all human beings exert some kind of power. It may be the power of influence; it may be based on money; it may be political or social; it may be power to command, such as is held by sea-captains and labor bosses and office managers. The reader is invited to reflect on his own situation and concentrate his mind on whatever power, be it ever so small, which he himself exercises or can exercise when he pleases. Very few persons are complete Keros.

Dr. Foreman

Purposes of Prayer

Is it wrong, that is to say, unChristian, to wish to be strong? Of course not. There is surely no virtue in weakness. To wish to be weak, or to be content with weakness, is no sign of a Christian. It depends on the motive behind the desire. Now power can be had, or wished for, for various reasons, bad and good. Some people like to be strong just to show off. A boy goes around bending his arm and showing the other boys what big muscles he has, just bragging. That may be all right for a boy (though the boaster is pretty sure to be thrown sooner or later). But when a grown man does the same thing he is just being childish. However, this is harmless compared with another common misuse of power; that is, using it to build up more power. We can see it in politicians who hold on to important positions even though they could be more useful in private life and though a dozen other men could do their job quite well as they can. We can see it even in the church, where some men like to get on and stay on important committees because then they can "crack the whip" over their brethren. Worst and meanest of all mis-uses of power is using it to hurt and crush others. We can see examples of this on the national scale, all through history. It scales all the way down to the blackmailer, who uses some bit of scandal that he knows about to ruin the lives of perhaps much better men.

Jesus and His Power

Now Christians have always before them an example of tremendous power, gently and generously used. Readers of this column will be divided into two classes. Some will take the stories of Jesus' miracles quite litterally. Others will suppose that some of these stories may have been exaggerations of loyal memory. Let those who are skeptical about the miracle-stories give a thought to this: Even granting, for the sake of the argument, that every one of these miracle-stories is a "made-up" one; they surely would never have been invented about a weak man; and they never would have been told about a selfish one. The historians who are most full of doubts about Jesus agree and admit that he was a man of extraordinary power. And even if you thought (as this writer does not) that most of the tales of Jesus were wonder-tales and no more, the fact remains that these tales, every one of them, shows a Jesus who never uses power to show off, never uses it "just because," and seven times never uses it to hurt any one.

Power for Need

Jesus gives us the right Christian line. "As he is, so are we in this world," said one of his friends. Power is given us, as all the gifts of life are, for use in the name of God and the help of man. Whatever power we have, we possess as stewards. It makes no difference how obscure we may be, every one of us has some degree of power, of some kind. It may be a mother with her children, a teacher with his pupils, an older child with younger children, a business man with many employees, a judge on the bench or an officer in a 4-H club—if our decisions affect the life of even one other person, then God will ask us: Did your power hurt others, or help?

To The Polls We Go Nov. 4

St. Joe residents will go to the polls Tuesday, November 4, to make their choices of national and state leaders through their voting privileges. The town hall in St. Joe will be the local point of interest. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

In addition to voting for national and state candidates, voters will also cast their "yes" or "no" to an amendment to increase the terms of office of county treasurer, county coroner and county assessor from two to four years. A 2nd proposed amendment to the state constitution asks voters to make their choice on the question of increasing in each county the term of prosecuting attorney from two to four years.

There are only three parties, Republican, Democratic and Prohibition on the county ballot.

Each precinct, according to law, receives ballots in the number of 1 1-4 times the number of registered voters at the last presidential election.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The meeting of the Concord Township Home Ec Club was called to order by the president, Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick. The song "Clementine" was sung and the creed and club song followed by devotions by Alta Hablawetz. The secretary's report and roll call followed with 27 members giving "My Favorite House Plant." One guest and five children were present.

A reading was given by Nancy Coburn and a skit presented by Doris Yeiser, Laura Washler, Nancy Coburn and Victoria Means. A contest was conducted by Clara Foltz after which the song of the month was given by Harriett Johnson. The song was sung by the club in closing.

The club decided to drop family night for this year and have pot luck dinner on November 21 at the home of Doris Yeiser.

A mistake was found in the Concord History of the Year Book. It gave the name of Laura Washler and should have been Laura McClellan as member taken by death.

The committee, Edna Amstutz, Victoria Means and Arlene Koch, served a delicious lunch at the Amstutz home.

ELECTION SUPPER TUESDAY AT ST. MARK'S LUTHERAN CHURCH BY TRI MU CLASS

An election chili supper will be served Tuesday, November 4, by members of the Tri Mu Sunday School class of St. Mark's Lutheran Church. The supper will be served in the basement starting at 5 p.m.

The menu includes chili and vegetable soup, chicken and sloppy joe sandwiches, salads, pie, coffee and chocolate milk.

His only survivor is Rebe Knepper, a niece, of Fostoria, O. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at the Thompson Funeral home in Butler, Pa.

Parade, Party Friday Night

Everything is in readiness for the big Hallowe'en Parade and Party this Friday night, October 31.

The parade will form in front of the local drug store at 7:15 p.m. and will march to the school house at 7:30. At the school gym prizes will be awarded for the outstanding costumes worn by the oldsters as well as the youngsters. The parade will be led by the Fife and Drum Corps.

Entertainment will be furnished by a magician and others, in addition to the treats to be given out.

The party is being sponsored by the St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department and the auxiliary of that organization will have a refreshment stand in operation during the evening. Hot dogs, pie and coffee are included in the menu.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club held its October 6 meeting in the Legion Home in St. Joe with the ladies of the Spencer Township Club as guests.

The meeting was opened with a welcome to the guests by the president, Lois Strombeck. Mildred Hanson gave the song history and then led the ladies in singing, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Two novelty numbers were then presented by members of the Concord Jr. Club. Roll call was answered by 23 members and 17 guests.

Another novelty number was presented followed by the reading of the secretary's report.

Mrs. Lulu Allison gave a report on the club hospitality activities. A general business discussion followed.

Devotions were presented in song, "Teach Me To Pray," by Mildred Hanson and Virginia Baker.

The ladies then adjourned to the dining hall where members and guests were served a delicious luncheon by the committee.

RALLY DAY AT SPENCERVILLE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

This coming Sunday, November 2, will be rally day at the Spencerville Methodist Church.

A special program will be given during the morning services and those on the committee are Mrs. Vaughn Allen, Mrs. Otis Brown and Mrs. Paul Graham.

A basket dinner will be served at noon. Everyone is welcome to attend.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB

Mrs. Eleanor Crothers was hostess for the RHC Club on October 14.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Marie Ward. The opening number, an informative article on "Sea Weeds-Harvest of Oceans," taken from Readers Digest, was given by Mrs. Winifred Hart.

Eleven members responded to roll call with humorous readings.

After a short business session, Mrs. Hazel Washler presented several interesting and educational contests.

A very pretty and tasty lunch was served by the hostess in keeping with the Hallowe'en spirit.

The luncheon plate was decorated with a miniature pumpkin face topped with mints and nuts. Perfection salad, mango strips and olives and date cake topped with whipped cream completed the plate.

CHARLES T.

MISER

Republican Candidate for

State Representative

Let's Look At The Record

The House Journal, which is the voting record of your Legislature, shows that I have stood for the following:

1. For return of more State money to local government units.

2. For less invasion of the Federal Government into State and local units. Also less encroachment of the State Government into local governments.

3. For better and more adequate educational facilities.

4. For the abolition of certain useless, worthless State bureaus, boards and commissions. Also combining those having similar or like powers and duties.

5. For raising Indiana among the States in Health Standing and more particular for mental health patients.

6. For expanding State Police to insure preservation of our highways and to make them safer from unscrupulous drivers.

Resolution of the DeKalb County Bar Association

At a meeting of the DeKalb County Bar Association held October 24, 1952, the following resolution was adopted:

"It has been reported to this association that Howard S. Grimm has claimed that the lawyers of this county favor his candidacy. It, therefore, is necessary that we make our position clear.

"We, who are in daily contact with the court, have found Judge Walter D. Stump to be a jurist of the highest integrity, devotion to duty and impartiality of judgment and highly skilled in the law.

"During his term, the affairs of the court have been conducted with a degree of efficiency unsurpassed in the history of the court.

"This association of attorneys of both political faiths unqualifiedly endorses the candidacy of Walter D. Stump for Judge of the DeKalb Circuit Court."

Roger L. Kain

Candidate for

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

of DeKalb County on the DEMOCRATIC TICKET

He was born and raised in DeKalb County, the son of the late Calvin C. Kain, surveyor of DeKalb County for many years, and Mabel Kain, formerly deputy clerk of DeKalb County.

He served three years in the U. S. Navy, two years of which were spent overseas in the Pacific theater of operations.

He believes that a legislator must fairly, honestly and actively represent the interests of all persons from his county, to achieve effectual, economical and judicious legislation.

If elected, he earnestly pledges faithful attendance at all legislative functions and energetic, intelligent and sincere devotion to the duties of the office for which he asks your support.

TO THE VOTERS OF DEKALB COUNTY

Many of you have brought to my office printed postcards recently mailed by Mr. Howard S. Grimm over the signature of Elmer O. Likens, DeKalb County Assessor, in which Mr. Likens endorses the candidacy of Mr. Grimm for Judge.

I feel that it is only fair to me as well as the taxpayers of DeKalb County to let it be known that this attitude on the part of Mr. Likens apparently arises out of the fact that we have had more or less dispute about his charges in respect to the filing of inheritance tax appraisements. These charges have in many instances been far beyond what I felt was justly due to the County Assessor for the amount of service that he rendered, and I have felt it my duty to reduce the amnunt of these fees which are paid from public funds.

This has occurred in a great many cases and as examples as to how this has happened, I call your attention to the following estates:

Estate No. 1—amount of fee claimed by Elmer O. Likens, $261.75; amount of fee allowed by this Court, $140.00

Estate No. 2—amount of fee claimed by Elmer O. Likens, $121.80; amount of fee allowed by this Court, $88.72.

Estate No. 3—amount of fee claimed by Elmer O. Likens, $200.00; amount of fee allowed by this Court, $129.78.

I have deemed it my duty to protect the taxpayers of DeKalb County against waste in public office, and charges of excessive fees, and in doing this I have of necessity incurred the displeasure of some persons who have been disappointed in the amount they might receive from public funds.

STUMP
Candidate for Re-Election as JUDGE
of the DeKalb Circuit Court
on the Democratic Ticket

Graduated from law school in 1914 and practiced law in DeKalb County until the outbreak of World War I when he locked up his office and volunteered for duty with the Armed Forces. He then served 2 1-2 years in the Army, of which one year was in France. After the war he returned to Auburn and re-opened his law office. It was necessary to start again from the beginning, but his business soon increased and grew into a substantial law practice which continued until the outbreak of World War II when, at the age of 55 years, he again left his law office to volunteer for duty with the Armed Forces at a greatly reduced income. He then served in the Army 4 years, serving 2 1-2 years overseas, the first 5 weeks being in North Africa and then as a member of the 5th Army in Italy. He participated in all the major engagements of the Italian Campaign for which he was awarded 4 Battle Stars. He was also awarded the Bronze Star for "Meritorious Service." When the fighting ended he was assigned to assist in the re-establishment of the Italian Courts for which he was later awarded a decoration by the Italian Government. He then returned home and undertook to re-establish his long neglected law practice, forming a law partnership with his son, Harold, on the return of his son from duty with the Marines in the Pacific. In November, 1946, he was elected Judge of the DeKalb Circuit Court where he has presided for the past 6 years.

During his term as Judge of our Court, large numbers of important cases have been venued to the DeKalb Circuit Court for trial from all adjoining counties, indicating the faith and confidence of the Judges and lawyers of Northeastern Indiana in his fidelity to the highest traditions of the office and indicating also the confidence of Judges and lawyers that he has earnestly tried to maintain the high standard of judicial conduct set by all who have preceded him as Judge of our Court, especially with respect to their honest, conscientious, courteous, patient, punctual, just and impartial administration of justice, completely free of political and partisan influence. All cases have been tried without delay as soon as the litigants were ready for trial. Not a single case has ever been delayed because of the failure of the Court to act promptly in setting it for trial.

All the expense of trial of cases venued to our Court is paid by the counties from which they come and each of the many cases venued here brings a certain amount of revenue to our county over and above the actual cost of trial, which goes into the county treasury and is beneficial to the taxpayers of DeKalb County in that it helps to meet the operating expense of our Court.

The platform for a judicial candidate is not that of any political party. It is very simple and has never been more eloquently stated than by the prophet Micah where he commands us, "To do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

The work being done in his behalf in this campaign by hundreds of resolute and forward looking men and women of both political parties, whose sole motive is to preserve untarnished the honor and integrity of our Court, is deeply appreciated and commits him to continue his best efforts to justify this faith and confidence.

Around the Town

With the Editor

There are a few of long faced Democrats in these parts after Tuesday's surprises.

Republicans are astounded at the showing they made and Democrats seem to feel that the world has come to an end.

A couple of them were gloating somewhat on Monday. Ed Storer made some remark about my feeling so low four years ago and maybe I wouldn't feel so good this year either. And of course Ralph Sechler who puts the bite on me whenever he can thought I had it pretty close when I told him my prediction had Stevenson over Eisenhower 287 to 244 in electoral votes. I fooled him that time because he was all set to lay into me when I gave him my ideas on the winner (he thought). When I picked the Democrats, that stopped him and when the people picked Republicans—well, I haven't heard a word from either Ralph or Ed since.

—And look what happened to Doc Price's record on predictions. He sent a message to the News from Fort Wayne last week that he has predicted election outcomes nine times and been wrong only once. That was four years ago. His message said he "predicts we will not have a change of administration this time."

He also requested four copies of the paper in which his prediction appears, probably to show to his friends and boast over his success (?) at predicting this year's election.

—Still want four copies, Doc?

There's one thing I admire about that man Stevenson. He sure knows how to put words together when he talks. His concession message was a gem.

SPECIAL SPEAKER AT ST. JOE CHURCH OF CHRIST SUNDAY, NOV. 9

Edwin Hyatt of Louisville, Ky., Field Representative of the "College of the Scriptures," a college for the training of Negroes for the ministry, will speak at the Church of Christ in St. Joe next Sunday, November 9, at 7:30 p.m.

This college is one of the only two of its kind in the United States. It was established in Louisville in 1945.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Parade, Open House For Parents Nov. 12

"Get to know your school."

That is the theme of Education Week, November 10 through 15.

To help local parents and friends of Concord Township students get acquainted with their school, Mr. Charles McCreery, principal of the school has announced that next Wednesday, November 12, will be "open house" in St. Joe and students and teachers will be hosts to parents with classes open for visitation.

The community will have an opportunity to see just how big the student body in the school is when the morning's parade, due to start at 10:30, marches on the streets of St. Joe with the school band playing for the march.

Mr. McCreery said this week that the fire siren will signify the beginning of the parade and parents and friends are invited to watch the entire school body as they march. After the parade and the lunch hour, classes will be open to parents so that they may attend class as their sons and daughters do to be able to see the size of the classes and the make-up of the school in general. Also they will be able to check up and find out how Junior is doing in arithmetic after that "D" on the first report card.

The high school will run thru its entire daily schedule during the afternoon with shortened periods. Afternoon classes begin at 12:10 p.m.

Parents are invited and urged to attend this "open house" if at all possible. This will be a fine opportunity to "get to know your school."

Tigers Win, Lose Openers To Waterloo, Harlan

The Wildcats were tame kittens after last week end.

The Tigers from St. Joe got off to a rousing start in their 1952-53 basketball season last Saturday night by nosing out the Waterloo Wildcats in a thriller, 44 to 43. It was the first victory for the local team over Waterloo since 1946 when they won, 40 to 36.

Bob DeLong swished the nets for 19 points with the balance of the scoring fairly evenly divided among the remaining starters.

The victory came as somewhat of a surprise for local fans and especially the Waterloo rooters and coach. It was reported that a margin of as high as 20 points had been expected for the Wildcats. Many from here who attended the game saw one of the best exhibitions of team play put on by a Tiger team. No substitutions were made and weren't necessary as none of the boys came close to having foul trouble. Kenny Walters picked up his third personal late in the game to be "tops."

Harlan put a fast damper on St. Joe's high spirits Tuesday when they trampled the locals by an overwhelming 63 to 38 score.

Flooring a tall team the Harwks had little trouble rebounding and shooting over the heads of the Tigers. They hit a good percentage of their shots while the Tigers were "cold."

DeLong and Sammy Morr led the scoring with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The seconds dropped their two encounters with Waterloo and Harlan by 28 to 25 and 48 to 32 scores.

The little Tigers got off to a slow start against Waterloo and couldn't quite catch up. Then in the Harlan game they spurted occasionally and seemed on the verge of a possible victory, but each time Harlan would sink a few quick buckets and gain a commanding lead, often doubling the score on St. Joe. Late in the final period the locals were within 8 points of their opponent at 40 to 32. Harlan sank four then while St. Joe was scoreless and the game ended with the 16-point spread.

County, Township Vote Results

Complete official returns from the county clerk's office show that Republicans made a clean sweep of all county offices except one. Voting on a state and national scale also went to the Republican side of the ledgers.

Democrat Walter D. Stump was the only exception to the clean sweep, winning over his opponent, Howard S. Grimm, for the position of Judge of Circuit Court.

Complete returns for the county, Concord Township and Spencer Township are given as follows:

CULTURE CLUB

The Culture Club met at the home of Huldah Reasoner Wednesday evening, October 22. The meeting was called to order with the reading of the club player.

The lesson for the evening was in charge of Marian Furnish and was the first lesson in the new study book, "Elizabeth, the Queen."

Critic's report was then read. Roll call was answered with thirteen active members present. Secretary's report was read and approved. The meeting was then adjourned with reading of the next meeting to be held November 5 at the home of Phyllis Heyman. Lula Armstrong will be cohostess.

A few contests were held in keeping with the Hallowe'en season.

The hostess and her co-hostess, Alice Reidenbach, served a very tasty lunch of pumpkin pie, open face sandwiches, pickles, coffee and cider.

Lamb, Ham To Be Feature Of Carnival Nov. 15

The Concord Township P.T.A. will sponsor their second annual Carnival Saturday, November 15, starting at 5 p.m. at the school house in St. Joe.

Mrs. Edna Amstutz, publicity chairman, has announced that all the entertaining features that were enjoyed las year by several hundred persons will again be present. Something new added this year will be the crowning of a king and queen.

Five o'clock will start the carnival with a lamb and ham supper. The lamb will be Champion 4-H lamb from the county fair.

Entertainment will include music by the school band, movies, fortune telling, bazaar, balloon, toss, hat shop, cake walk, boxing, bean bag toss and a fish pond.

The king and queen will be chosen through votes cast by those attending the carnival. Each ticket purchased for any of the side shows will entitle the purchaser to a vote for the king and queen.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used for the construction and improvement of a parking lot at the north side of the school.

Last year's carnival was sponsored to raise funds with which to buy instruments for the school band.

Bill Sible is chairman of the event.

St. Joe School News

The Pep Club was organized two weeks ago to assure a rooting section for the Tigers.

Cheerleaders were selected for the 1952-53 basketball season recently. They are: Varsity—Anita Lawson, Sr., and Jo Ann LaRowe, Sr.; Second Team—Ann Fisher, Fr., and Sandra McCann, Fr.

The band will be practicing after school at Spencerville on Mondays and Wednesdays until the next band concert to be held some time in December.

On Monday after school the Seniors made a little trip to Garrett to see the President.

The Sophomore Home Ec Class made a trip with Mrs. Butler recently to the Kroger Store to learn something about buying different foods.

An election was held Monday and it went off pretty well. The Republicans won in all offices except two. Some of the details of the election were:

Precinct 1 was held on the stage in the gymnasium. Some of the peculiarities that came up were: one person put his x in the circle above the Republicans voting a straight ballot. After that was done he put x in front of all the Democratic names. Other people marked everything.

Precinct 2 was held in the shop room. On the national ballot one person marked all the parties One young lady came to vote. She went into the "polls" and came right back out. When the "clerks" told her to stay in there she asked, "Oh. am I supposed to stay in that place?"

Thursday group pictures will be taken for the annual. All the students have been asked to try their best to be present that day.

The Tigers have a game Friday with Woodburn at St. Joe.

Election returns were as follows:

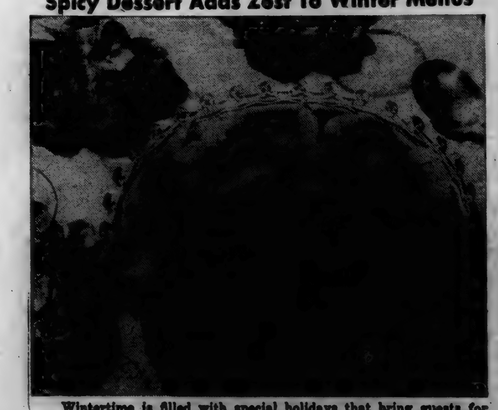
NEW MINISTER BEGINS WORK AT COBURN CORNERS CHURCH

Coburntown Church had its first service under its new minister last Sunday morning. He is Mr. Wilmer Ballou.

Mr. Ballou formerly was minister of a church in Polk, Ohio.

He and his wife and daughter have come to this community to fill the vacancy created when Mr. and Mrs. Darris Hamilton left to take up work in the evangelistic field.

Spicy Dessert Adds Zest To Winter Menus



Wintertime is filled with special holidays that bring guests for meals. Norwegian Fruit Pudding, zesty with spices and canned fruits, is both easy to make and excellent in flavor. It's a wonderful dessert for your company menus. Make it early in the morning and put it in the refrigerator to chill. Canned purple plums and fruits for salad have been used in the recipe, but you may choose any favorite combination of canned fruits.

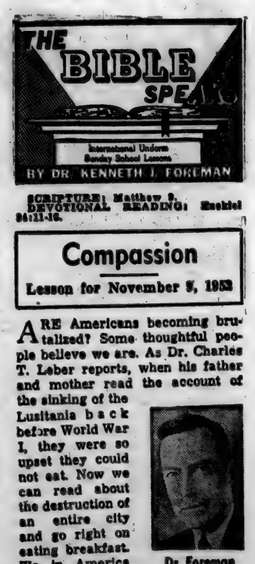
NORWEGIAN FRUIT PUDDING

1 No. 2½ can purple plums
1 No. 2½ can fruits for salad, or fruit cocktail
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons
¼ teaspoon salt
1 stick cinnamon
¾ cup cornstarch
½ cup cold water
lemon juice

Drain syrup from fruits into a saucepan. Add sugar, salt and cinnamon; simmer about 10 minutes. Remove cinnamon. Make a paste of the cornstarch and water; stir into the hot syrup. Cook until thick, stirring. Add lemon juice and fruit; mix gently. Chill and serve with cream. Ten to twelve servings.

OTHER CHOICE FRUIT COMBINATIONS

(1)	(2)	(3)
Light sweet cherries	Blueberries	Dark sweet cherries
Apricot halves	Pineapple chunks	Sliced peaches
Grapefruit sections	Kadota figs	Pear halves



SCRIPTURE: Matthew 9. DEVOTIONAL READING: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

Compassion

Lesson for November 9, 1952

ARE Americans becoming brutalized? Some thoughtful people believe we are. As Dr. Charles T. Leber reports, when his father and mother read the account of the sinking of the Lusitania back before World War I, they were so upset they could not eat. Now we can read about the destruction of an entire city and go right on eating breakfast. We in America invented and used the A-bomb and now we conceive the H-bomb. We train men to kill other men with flaming jellied gasoline, with knives, with whatever seems to be most usable and deadly. We kill people on the highways, or we don't do enough to keep them from killing themselves, in such quantities that we don't even read the newspaper reports about it unless some friend of ours happened to be in the smash. If as many people died in your town of polio, or of typhoid fever, as die in accidents, you would all be in almost a panic.

Dr. Foreman

A Word We Need

There is an old English word that is not used often nowadays. Maybe the reason it is seldom used is that the thing it means is seldom met with. It is the word "compassion." Literally, it means "suffering-with." When it is said by Matthew that Jesus had compassion on the crowds, it means literally that he knew how they felt, what they needed, where they hurt; and that in his own heart he suffered with them. Their needs were his needs, their pain his pain. That is compassion; but it is not yet the whole of it. There is something more. An artist (let us say a novelist) has to have compassion, of a sort. Many novels and stories have been written, for instance, about bull-fighters, and some of the story-tellers have shown a high degree of imaginative power. You might almost fancy they had been bullfighters themselves, as to be sure some of them have been. But few if any of these story-writers have done anything to put a stop to the brutal sport of bull-fighting. They feel the tragedy of the whole business yet they do not propose to do anything about it. Compassion, as Jesus felt it, never was a mere emotion. It was emotion harnessed to action.

Harrassed and Helpless

The Revised Standard Version translates beautifully Matthew's description of the crowds who moved Jesus to compassion. They were "harassed and helpless," he says. The interesting thing is that it took Jesus to see this. Some could see only that there were a lot of people, and they took up a lot of room, and there was hardly room or time for Jesus to eat. Others—the Pharisees—could see only their ignorance: "This multitude that knows not the law is accursed." Others (as was the case with the disciples on a later occasion) realized only that the crowd looked hungry. Well, the people were numerous, they were no doubt ignorant, and most of them were chronically ill-fed. But the point is, the people who saw them in this light did not have compasion, all they felt was annoyance. The crowds were a nuisance. Jesus felt quite different toward them. He saw them as they were, harassed and helpless. You yourself run into crowds, or you read about them. How do they strike you? Do they frighten you, amuse you, annoy you or make you angry? The masses today are very little different from the masses in Jesus' time. Can you see them as they are, harassed and helpless? And does it stir you to do something about it? Then you know something about the compassionate heart.

The Inmost Need

There is another important fact about Jesus' compassion. One cannot call it unique, for the best Christians have shared it. He was able to see beneath the surface of things to people's real needs. The young man brought by his four friends to Jesus probably was thinking chiefly about his helpless arms and legs. Jesus looked and saw his helpless soul. The publican Matthew may well have felt sorry for himself because business was bad, or because he was not popular. Jesus' compassion went deeper; he felt Matthew's real need—to get away from the publican business altogether. Compassion goes even deeper than sympathy; it is spiritual interpretation.

Foraker Ferrell Enjoyed Colorful Life

Foraker Ferrell, who died October 26 of a heart attack, was well-known to the jurists, attorneys and county officials with whom he came in contact in his 30-year span of service with the Butler (Pa.) Eagle.

Ferrell joined the Eagle staff for the first time in 1916. It was a desire to become a cartoonist that led him to seek his first job on a newspaper in Auburn, Ind., county seat of his home county of DeKalb.

He never became a cartoonist. But he stayed with newspaper work ever since, with several "times out" for music and for a fling at army life in World War I.

He remained in Butler for some time after America's entry into the first World War, when he returned to his music and joined the band on the Ringling Brothers circus in St. Louis, Mo. It was the same season that he jumped from Cortland, N.Y., to Akron and caught the Barnum and Bailey circus, which he had learned was to make a tour on the Pacific coast that season.

Before the end of the season, the army called him and he wore one of Uncle Sam's uniforms for four months at Camp Bowie, near Fort Worth, Texas.

The Armistice brought about his return to newspaper work. He obtained a position on the St. Louis Times, later working as a telegraph editor on the Des Moines Times Register, city hall reporter on the Lorain, O., Journal and as reporter on the Escanaba, Michigan, Morning Press.

Rejoining the Butler Eagle staff in January of 1922, he had remained in Butler ever since except for a year, 1927 to 1928, when, with Thomas C. Walker, a former Eagle pressman, he purchased and published "The News," a weekly paper in West Salem, O.

Ferrell retired from newspaper work in 1945 but couldn't resist the smell of printer's ink and returned to the Eagle staff.

Possessed of a friendly attitude and cheery disposition as well as a witty tongue, he was well-liked by his countless friends in the community.

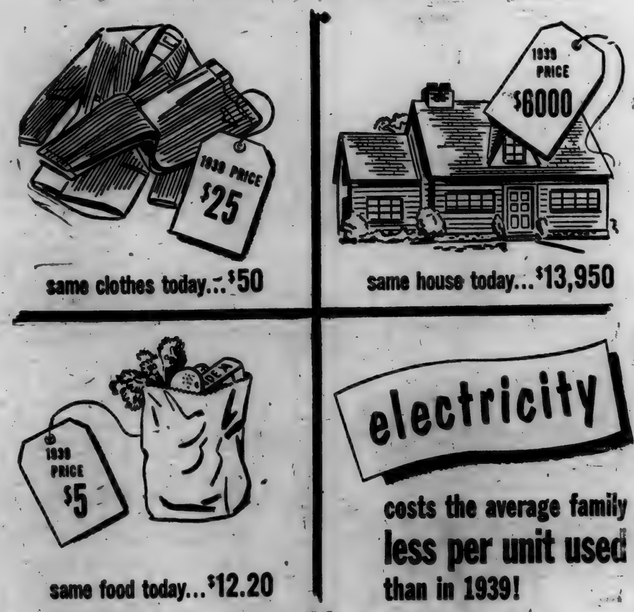
The cost of 'most everything has doubled
...but Electricity is DOWN



No one need tell you that you pay more for nearly everything than you paid in 1939. But here's something pleasant about prices that perhaps you do not know: for one cost-of-living item, the average family pays much less today than thirteen years ago. That one item is electricity.

True, your electric bill may be higher . . . but that's because you're using more electricity. The real measure of cost is what you pay for each unit of electricity that you use. Here are the facts: The price residential customers pay us for the average kilowatthour used is about one-third lower than it was in '39!

How many other things can you name that cost nearly one-third less per pound, per yard, per bushel — per unit used that is — than you paid for them thirteen years ago?

It is the greater use of electricity by the average family, plus technical advances in making electricity and bringing it to you, that have kept electricity by far the biggest bargain in the family budget.

PISTONS SET UP DAILY TICKET OFFICE AT COLISEUM

The Zollner Pistons have established a new daily ticket office at the beautiful new Memorial Coliseum at Fort Wayne for the convenience of their many fans.

The box office at the Parnell Avenue entrance of the building opens at 10 a.m. except Mondays. It will be open until 5 p. m. and on nights the Pistons play basketball, it will be open right on through the basketball games.

Tickets are on sale there right now for the Olsen and Johnson Skating Vanities and the Indianapolis game Sunday.

RAT BAIT AVAILABLE AT EXTENSION OFFICE

A rat campaign will be held again this year in DeKalb County whereby townspeople and farmers will have an opportunity to get rid of these rodents by the use of Warfarin, according to county agent Ernest J. Lesiuk.

The date of distribution of this Warfarin will be November 7. The Warfarin will be sold to the farmers and townspeople at the price of 40 cents a pound.

Mr. Lesiuk urges people in the county to make a special effort to destroy these pests, for rats and mice contaminate foods that go to market and food that will later be brought into the homes to be eaten.

The rat bait can be obtained in the county extension office at the courthoue in Auburn.

Last Act Of Beer Battle In Sight

Charles McIntosh made his last ditch effort last Thursday afternoon to lift a permanent injunction which prohibits him from selling beer and wine at retail when he took his case to the Indiana Supreme Court at Indianapolis.

Arguments on the appeal were heard by the Supreme Court Judge but a decision is not expected for two weeks to a month.

The arguments were presented by Winslow Vanorne of Auburn, representing the protesting members of the St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe, and Perry McAlister of McAlister & Perry of Fort Wayne, counsel for McIntosh.

A decision was handed down in January of 1951 by Judge Donald Hunter in the Steuben Circuit Court which stopped the sale of beer and wine carry-outs. The decision now pending in the Indiana Supreme Court should be the final act in the so-called "beer battle" which has been going on for four years.

Mr. McIntosh opened his business when the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission issued him a permit over the objections of church members. The church members took the case to the DeKalb Circuit Court and it was venued to the court at Angola. There Judge Hunter verbally slapped the commission for its "arbitrary" standard of measurement in issuing the permit.

The protesting church members have based their case on the fact that the main body of the church is 195 feet from the proposed beer and wine carry-out store and 175 feet from the church premises.

Indiana law requires that no permit may be issued to any premises situated within a distance of 200 feet from any school or church.

Olsen & Johnson At Coliseum With Skating Vanities

Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson, America's premier funmakers, and their entire company of 34 madcap comics have combined their forces with Skating Vanities of 1953 in the biggest show business merger since Ringling Bros. Circus absorbed the Barnum & Bailey organization, and this entirely new arena-type entertainment will play a six day engagement in the Memorial Coliseum starting Tuesday, November 11, with a matinee on Sunday, November 16.

Olsen and Johnson will personally head their mirth provoking troupe while the standout roles in the skating productions will be 17-year old three times national handled by Nancy Lee Parker, figure skating champion; Peggy Wallace, sensational acrobatic skating champion; Lon Hall, Tony Mirrelli, Frank Foster and a host of others.

The entire production is comprised of 200 people. Four baggage cars are utilized to haul the equipment and 700 costumes, 500 of which adorn the 60 lovely Vanity-Fairs and their Escorts in production numbers.

NOTICE OF APPRECIATION

I am very grateful to the voters of DeKalb County for re-electing me Surveyor and will do my best to merit your confidence.

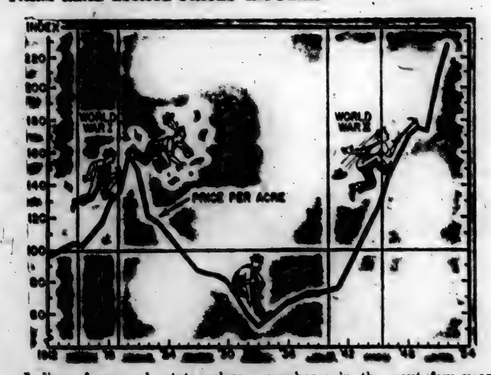
FARM REAL ESTATE PRICES HIT PEAK



Indiana farm real estate prices are at the highest level in history, more than 30 per cent above pre-Korea and 40 per cent over the peak of World War I. The average price per acre trend since 1912 is shown in the accompanying chart (1912-14 equals 100).

In their annual outlook summary, Purdue University agricultural economists predict that farm land prices will remain steady in the year ahead. Rapid rises such as occurred during the past two years are not expected to continue.

Demand for farm land is still strong, but the possibilities for large capital gains from land purchases in the next few years appear remote.

Best buys in the land market seem to be any additional land needed to make the present farm large enough for efficient operation, or for the new purchaser, a farm with better than average quality land, buildings and improvements.

The long-time outlook for farm real estate prices is such that the young farmer getting started, who can finance a down payment and who has adequate working capital, should not postpone the purchase of his farm. However, economists warn he should not sacrifice on his working capital to do so.

Local News

A free lecture on "How God's Healing Power Is Available To You" will be given Sunday, November 9, at 3 p.m. at the Court House in Auburn under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Power Steering on the Roadmaster and Super

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars.

There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you—a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile.

Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflow Drive* begins working its magic—and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But—why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this—and more, far more—all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

7th GRADE NEWS

The 7th grade sponsored a skating party at the Silvermoon Rink on November 3.

PICTURES

Every student who so desired had his picture taken on October 28. A photographer from the Hazelett & Cron Studios in Ft. Wayne visited our school and snapped pictures of many smiling faces. The pictures will be delivered sometime before Thanksgiving.

MOCK ELECTION

On October 22 students from the 7th through the 12th grades registered to vote in a school election. There was a good turnout for the registration and results of the election will be announced next week.

COBURN CORNERS NEWS

Last Thursday our new minister, Wilmer Ballou, from Polk, Ohio, moved into the Coburn Corners Church parsonage. Twenty-five members assisted in the unloading of the moving van and unpacking. At noon a bountiful dinner was served in the church basement.

The Christian Companion Class met Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rediger. Recreation was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the host and hostess. 22 adults and 15 children were present.

Sunday noon a bountiful dinner was enjoyed by the congregation of Coburn Corners Church of Christ. This fellowship dinner was in honor of our new minister and his family. At 2 p.m. a program was presented by chairman Robert Witt. Several songs were sung by the congregation. A trio composed of Rhoda Ulm, Betty Mann and Betty Baker, sang a special song. The story of Little Boy Ballou was presented by Robert Witt. Welcome by chairman of Sunday School was given by Ralph Waggoner. Welcome by chairman of board was presented by Harold Kagey. Max Ward, chairman of the congregation, gave a welcome. A quintet composed of Helen Rholof, Hilie Hook, Tommie Hook, Howard Path and Adella Path sang, "When I Take My Vacation In Heaven." Response and benediction was given by Wilmer Ballou.

The Home Builders Class will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hart for their regular class meeting Saturday evening.

SHOOT WINNERS NAMED

At the chicken shoot October 26, several new shooters made their appearance for the first time. Also some that had been out of the game for a couple of years were back.

D. W. Marshall, who has been on the sick list and not shooting for nearly a year, and under doctor's orders not to shoot too good, didn't take Doc's advise seriously as he hit about everything tossed out. Dr. Henning also out of the game a long time on account of illness showed some fine gun pointing making several perfect scores.

Paul Krise won a special international event, breaking 23x25 in a strong cross wind, which is very good in this kind of shooting even when weather conditions are good.

The following ate chicken this week: E. L. Hawkins, R. E. Johnson, Paul Krise, Dr. Henning, W. Notestine, Dan Toms, W. Diehl, Chester Gustin, Ed Neitert, Geo. Hachet, Dr. Rogers, Jack Tillman, D. W. Marshall.

A turkey shoot will be held on Saturday, November 22. Traps open at 10 a.m. The regular shoot which would fall on Sunday, November 23, has been cancelled.

LUTHERAN CHURCHES TO HOLD CHICKEN-RABBIT SUPPER NOV. 13

The Brotherhood of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe will sponsor a chicken and rabbit supper for the St. Joe, Spencerville and Butler Lutheran congregations Thursday, November 13.

The supper will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the church basement.

Those who plan to attend are asked to bring a chicken or rabbit (cooked, of course) and a pie.

The Brotherhood will furnish potatoes, relishes, etc., for the supper.

The evening's program will include songs by the whole group, songs by a Butler quartet and movies for grownups and children.

I wish to thank the voters of DeKalb County for their support.

MARCILE WATSON

To the voters of DeKalb County who helped me in the recent election I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation.

HOWARD S. GRIMM

I wish to thank the voters of DeKalb County for their support in my re-election as Clerk of DeKalb Circuit Court.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met Wednesday evening, October 22, at the home of Mrs. Cora Curie.

Mrs. C. C. Woodcox and Mrs. Weldon Shafer gave the lesson, which was "Religion In the Home."

Twenty members responded to roll call.

Mrs. William Staman conducted entertainment with the theme of Hallowe'en.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB

The R.H.C. met at the home of Mrs. Ellen Hart Tuesday afternoon, November 4. Thirteen members responded to roll call and two guests and one child were present.

After the business meeting Winifred Hart conducted two contests. Grace Laub read sketches from the book called "The Book of Laughter." The ladies were then invited to the dining room where the hostess served a buffet tea luncheon. The menu consisted of four kinds of sandwiches made of Philadelphia cream cheese, orange slice with olive ring, persimmons that were grown at their home place, corn candy, nut crunchies and tea.

The next meeting will be with Inez Hadsell on December 2. This will be the Christmas meeting with pot luck dinner and Christmas exchange.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Anyone know what happened to Mrs. Morr's gray granite pie plate??

She used it for the recreation club's bake sale several weeks ago and hasn't seen it since. It was marked with her name on the under side.

For a while it looked as if an invading army were coming down the street Wednesday morning when the entire student body of Concord Township Schools marched through town. What a mob—and they all "fit" into our school house, all 275 of 'em.

George Tustison stopped in to pay ahead on his subscription this week and said he had a little tough luck recently.

He caught a 10 lb. 6 oz. walleye pike near Orangeville Suday. That doesn't sound like tough luck. It was too late to enter the fishing contest sponsored by a Fort Wayne firm. That's the tough luck. He would have won. Estil Taylor won the prize with a smaller catch.

George also related a little story about a conversation with our Dave shortly after Phil was born. George saw Dave at the B&O depot and asked him how his little brother was coming.

Dave said, " He ain't coming—he's here!"

That's almost as good as the one the Fisher kids at Spencerville pulled on Lynn and Lois. The boys were begging to go on a picnic and Lynda was resorting to tears in an effort to break Pop down. Finally, as the case usually happens, the old man said, "OK, we'll go on a picnic."

Larry turned to Lynda and said, "You can stop crying now."

BAKE SALE SATURDAY

The 7th and 8th Grade Home Economics Classes of Concord Township Schools will hold a bake sale Saturday, November 15, at Walters Trading Post.

The sale will start at 9:30 a.m.

Services Held For Ethel Bowser

Mrs. Ethel Bowser, a 74-year-old Spencerville widow, died at 10:45 a.m. Thursday at the Sanders Hospital in Auburn following an extended illness.

A diabetic, she was hospitalized for several months and in failing health for several years.

A native of Allen County, Mrs. Bowser was born March 23, 1878. For the past 42 years, she resided in Spencerville. Her husband, the late R. U. Bowser, died in March of 1952.

Mrs. Bowser was the last of 11 children. Surviving are two sons, Roy of St. Joe and Gale of Spencerville, two daughters, Mrs. Ada Whitacre of Highland and Mrs. Cleo Reed of Spencerville, and several grandchildren.

She was a member of the Spencerville Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at the Spencerville Methodist Church with the Rev. E. J. Gilford officiating. Burial was in the Huntertown Cemetery.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Township Home Economics Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Doris Yeiser Friday, November 21, for an all-day meeting.

Pot luck dinner at the noon hour will be followed at 1:30 by the project lesson, "Growing Old Gracefully." The lesson will be given by Doris Yeiser and Nancy Coburn.

Mrs. Thelma Curie Blalock of Hicksville will give a book review. Thelma is a former St. Joe girl, having graduated from the St. Joe High School with the class of 1927.

Very favorable reports have been received by officers of the local home ec club as to the entertainment value of this book review and the pleasing presentation by Mrs. Blalock. Friends and relatives are welcome to attend the afternoon program and enjoy the book review with club members.

Tigers Take Woodburn, 52-45

Though holding a ten-point lead through most of the last half, the St. Joe Tigers were hard pressed by Woodburn's towering Warriors to take a 52-45 victory Friday night at the local gym.

The Tigers started off with a bang and for the first several minutes set the visiting Woodburn team back on its heels with sharp shooting. They jumped to 12-3 and 14-7 leads before suddenly going cold, while the Warriors settled down and tied the game at 15-all.

Thereafter the Tigers pulled out in front and stayed there although it seemed that the Warriors might stage a quick rally at any time and pull the game out of the fire. Woodburn had three 6-plus footers to use but their height advantage couldn't overcome the Tigers.

Coach Bob Dragoo again used but five men and the boys won on an evenly balanced scoring attack.

The seconds, led by Depew, easily won a 43-26 game with the Woodburn seconds. Davis had 12 and Beebe 7 to lead scoring with Depew's 21.

Candidates Must File Expense Report

Candidates in the November 4 election in DeKalb County, including winners and losers, are required to file reports of expenditures in the office of County Clerk Ralph W. Bruce.

The political parties which presented candidates to the voters at the election are also required by law to file statements of receipts and expenditures in compliance with the Corrupt Practices Act of Indiana. Even those candidates who had no expense must file reports.

The deadline for filing of reports by candidates is 30 days after the election, or Thursday, December 4.

Forms are furnished by the county clerk and a fine of $300 to $2,000 or imprisonment for not more than a year, or both, is provided for failure to comply with the act. Misstatements are held under the law of perjury.

The statements must be itemized and sworn to before an officer authorized to administer oaths. The candidate or party must list all money or other valuables contributed, expended or promised for any purpose in connection with the campaign.

The law specifies that the statement must report "any existing unfilled promises or liabilities made or incurred and showing the people to whom, the dates when and the purposes of which each and all sums or valuable things were paid, expended or promised or such liabilities incurred."

King & Queen To Be Chosen At Carnival Saturday

Roast lamb and ham.
Crowning of a King and Queen.
Games and fun.

That's the program for the big Carnival to be presented Saturday evening, November 15, at the St. Joe gym.

The program is being sponsored by the Concord Township P. T.A. and proceeds from the entertainment will be used to complete the improvement of the school parking lot.

At 5 p.m. serving of the roast lamb and ham supper will begin. Other items on the menu include escalloped potatoes, perfection salad, pie, cake, coffee, pop, etc. The meal is being prepared by P.T.A. members.

One of the most popular attractions last year was the fortune teller and he will be back again this year. The school band will present musical entertainment in their side show and other booths will feature boxing, a fish pond, bean bag toss, movies, bazaar, hat shop, balloon toss and a cake walk.

A new attraction this year will be the crowning of a king and queen chosen from students in the junior high and high school classes. Patrons will get one vote for each ticket purchased for the concessions. The candidates are reported to be campaigning for votes in St. Joe.

Candidates are as follows:

KING
Seniors—Bill Coburn.
Juniors—Max Peters.
Sophomores—Richard Beebe.
Freshmen—Donald Sechler.
8th Grade—Bill Voirel.
7th Grade—Jim Moore.

QUEEN
Seniors—JoAnn LaRowe.
Juniors—Leatrice Coburn.
Sophomores—Joyce LaRowe.
Freshmen—Delores Goings.
8th Grade—Lois Vinsen.
7th Grade—Delores Davis.

Over 500 persons attended last year's successful Carnival. Judging from the midnight closing time of that show, plenty of entertainment should be in store for Saturday evening's show.

Special Services At Concord Methodist Church Begin Nov. 23

On Sunday evening, November 23, at 7:30 p.m. a series of special services are scheduled to begin with the Auburn Minute Men at the Concord Methodist Church.

This series is designed to interest all ages. Hymn illutrations, felt graph pictures, story illustrations and uplifting messages with singing by all are included in the programs.

The Misses Wilda Clift and Irma Porter are the leaders. Their leadership was very successful at Spencerville in the pre-Easter services last spring.

The series will run through December 7.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met Wednesday evening, November 5, at the home of Mrs. Frank Shull.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the collect by Mrs. Lela Northrup. Seventeen members responded to roll call.

The lesson for the evening was "Exchange Students" by Mrs. Claude Laub and "College" by Mrs. Glen Cole.

Mrs. Inez Hadsell conducted contests for entertainment.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Charles Krise on November 19.

Raiders Off To Slow Start, Drop Two

The Spencerville Red Raiders have gotten off to a slow start in their 1952-53 basketball campaign. They dropped the opener to Butler 62-28. Making a better showing against Ashley the Raiders again were defeated, this time by a 51-41 score.

The second team split its first two encounters, losing to Butler 50-24 and winning over Ashley 30-29.

Spencerville meets Waterloo at Waterloo on Friday, November 14.

Ready For Winter, Motorists?

The first big freeze of the year is due any day now.

Motorists have already been warned to make preparations for winter as temperatures throughout most of Illinois and Indiana have twice made brief dips well below the freezing point.

Motorists are urged to have their cars winterized as soon as possible, if it hasn't already been done. Not only will early care prevent budget crushing repair bills, but it will also prevent being delayed in the last minute rush to local service stations. The balmy weather in Indiana the past week may have lulled many motorists into a false sense of security.

In addition to the precautions of anti-freeze and change to winter-grade oil, the following mechanical preparations are suggested:

1. Drain and flush the cooling system, check all hose connections.

2. Check ignition system, distributor points, reset timing, clean or replace spark plugs.

3. Test battery for full charge, clean terminals and tighten cables.

4. Check and adjust fuel system.

5. Place a shovel and a box of sand, salt, cinders or ashes in your car trunk for use when you get stuck on icy streets, in ruts or at curbsides.

Motorists who visit their service stations early will get better attention than latecomers who wait for temperatures to toboggan.

A SURVEY OF FARM PRICES

A RECENT report of the United States Department of Agriculture reveals that during the month ending October 15th, farm prices again dropped 2 per cent.

Hog producers have been hit harder than any other farm group. On October 15th, according to the report of the Agriculture Department, farmers were receiving only 88 per cent of parity for hogs. Since then, however, hog prices have again slipped approximately $2 per hundred pounds, bringing the current market value below 80 per cent of parity.

The October 15th report of the Department of Agriculture likewise disclosed that farmers were receiving an average of only 84 per cent of parity for wheat and 83 per cent for peanuts, although both of these basic commodities were designated by Congress for 90 per cent supports.

In addition to this, the October 15th report reveals that farmers were receiving an average of only $1.53 per bushel for corn on that date, or 86 per cent of parity, despite the announced 90 per cent of parity loan. Shortly after October 15, corn prices were quoted as low as $1.25 to $1.35 per bushel in the Midwest at country elevator points.

In view of these declining prices, Hoosier farmers and farm owners will be interested to know that a second report released by the Department of Agriculture on the same day (October 15th), disclosed that from April, 1952, to the end of May, 1952, Cargill, Incorporated, imported and unloaded 4,842,360 bushels of Canadian oats at Chicago and 3,637,943 bushels at Buffalo.

In its resume, the Agriculture Department's report on these importations concludes:

"If Cargill, Incorporated, and Cargill, Limited, are considered as being under common ownership or control, and the operations of the companies are combined, the result will be that a short futures position on the Chicago Board of Trade ranging as high as 18 million bushels would be properly classified as spreading. It was reported to the Commodity Exchange Authority by Cargill, Incorporated, as representing hedging. Such a change in classification would result in Cargill, Incorporated having greatly exceeded the 2-million-bushel speculative limit and the 3-million-bushel spreading limit on oats for the larger part of the year ending May 31, 1952."

According to the Department of Agriculture, the facts presented in the above report have been referred to the Solicitor of the Department of Agriculture for consideration.

Finally, to return to a discussion of farm prices in general, it should be remembered that the Secretary of Agriculture also has some $300 millions of Section 32 funds which can be used to bolster perishable commodity prices. Moreover, the Commodity Credit Corporation has approximately $5 billions in unobligated funds which Congress made available to support agricultural prices. Therefore, it is hoped that appropriate action will be taken to bolster sagging farm prices.

Miss California Wine's Favorite Recipe

Lovely Virginia Best, chosen by California's wine growers as 1952's vintage queen, likes nothing better than entertaining friends at informal dinners. Here she is shown with one of the dishes she particularly likes to serve —Savory Baked Spareribs. This is how the vintage queen prepares them:

SAVORY BAKED SPARERIBS

2 to 2½ lbs. spareribs, cut in pieces for serving
Salt and pepper
1 tbsp. cornstarch
1 tbsp. brown sugar
1 cup California Burgundy or other red table wine
1 cup undrained crushed pineapple
1 tbsp. soy sauce

Arrange spareribs, meaty side up, in a single layer in a large, shallow baking pan; sprinkle with salt and pepper; bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Mix cornstarch and sugar in a saucepan; stir in wine, pineapple and soy sauce; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Pour sauce over spareribs; continue baking for 30 minutes, basting ribs occasionally with the sauce. Arrange on platter and garnish with small tomatoes or quartered tomatoes. Serves 3 or 4.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

The Senior Government Class conducted a mock election on Tuesday, November 4. The two parties, "7-Up" and "Chlorophyll," launched their campaigns on October 19 with speeches by the members of each party. The final returns of the election were:

7-Up—Wade Fry, president, and Cleo Gerig, vice-president, 54.

Chlorophyll—Ruth Friend, president, and Pete Timermman, vice president, 37.

The Seniors had this mock election so that the students could have some experience with voting and the correct voting procedure and come in contact with the good sounding campaign speeches that are not always as good as they sound.

SPORTS

The upper six grades held a pep session at the gym for the purpose of electing the cheer leaders for the coming basketball season. The results were as follows:

Varsity—Nancy Vendrely and Norman Weible.

Seconds—Mary Beckman and Bette Baker.

At our first game with Butler on November 1, the varsity group, dressed in their black corduroys and white turtle neck sweaters decorated with a large school letter, led a very enthusiastic section in many good cheers.

The leaders for the second team did equally well. Their dresses of red jumper tops with full skirts and white blouses carried out the school colors. They, too, led the Spencerville fans most vigorously. In spite of good cheering, the final scores were in Butler's favor.

The Spencerville Red Raiders lost another thriller last Friday to the Ashley Aces, 31 to 41. The seconds played a thriller, too, but they came out on top in the last seconds of the game, 30 to 29.

Bigger Power Supply From I&M

The supply of electric power flowing into Butler District of the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. was bolstered this week when the company put 200,000 horsepower of additional generating capacity into service.

F. H. Korsmeyer, I&M's Butler District manager, announced that a new 150,000 kilowatt generating unit has gone into service at the utility's Tanners Creek plant at Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

Transmission facilities to bring the huge new block of energy into the I&M service area were completed earlier this year.

The new unit doubles the capacity of I&M's Tanners Creek plant, now capable of producing 300,000 kilowatts of electricity.

"This capacity addition gives further assurance that I&M's power supply is staying ahead of our customers' increasing demands for services," Mr. Korsmeyer said.

A third unit, of 200,000 kilowatts, is already under construction at Tanners Creek. When completed in 1954, the plant's capacity of 500,000 kilowatts will be Indiana's largest.

Estimated investment in the two completed units at Tanners Creek is $35,000,000. The plant is on the Ohio River, 20 miles southwest of Cincinnati.

"Tanners Creek's present capacity is approximately eight times greater than the power needs of Fort Wayne, Marion and Muncie combined," Mr. Korsmeyer pointed out.

The new unit is identical to the first unit at Tanners Creek which went into service March 23, 1951, and proved to be the most efficient plant in the country during the remainder of that year.

Mr. Korsmeyer stated that I&M's parent company, American Gas & Electric, has 800,000 kilowatts of additional capacity scheduled to be placed into service during 1953.

"The I&M power system is backed up by AG&E generating resources," Mr. Korsmeyer concluded, "and our parent company's plan to have 4,019,000 kilowatts of installed capacity by 1954 gives further assurance that power requirements of this area will be met."

LOYAL WORKERS CLASS

The Loyal Workers Sunday School Class of the Lutheran Church of Spencerville was entertained in October by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Walter. Mrs. Alma Hart and Mrs. Francena Lake had charge of the program which consisted of devotionals, readings and contests. Miss Fern Walter read the 103rd Psalm for the scripture. Mrs. Jennie Walter recited "Little Orphan Annie."

Thirty-six members and guests were present. Following the social hour, all enjoyed a bountious carry-in lunch and departed thanking the host and hostess for a wonderful evening.

Auto Show Coming

Northeastern Indiana will have an automobile show this winter for the first time in nearly twenty years.

Bernard Swanson, Jr., president of the Fort Wayne Auto Trade Association, announced that the local organization will hold a show next February 18 through 22. The event will be staged in the exhibit area of the Allen County War Memorial Coliseum and will feature the new 1953 passenger cars.

"It has been a long time since we've had an automombile show in Fort Wayne," Mr. Swanson said. "Many people have asked in the past few years why we didn't have one. The new Coliseum is the answer. Now we have excellent facilities to display all the new developments in the automobile field. Also, this will be the first year in which all makes will have completely changed since the end of the war."

Mr. Swanson said that in view of these facts more than usual effort will be spent in making the 1953 show a success.

"Dealers in the area will be invited to cooperate," he sid. "We feel that the people in the surrounding counties will want to take advantage of being able to see the new models under one roof. So the event has been officially namd 'Northeastern Indiana Automobile Show'."

He observed that early contacts with the factories have indicated that the manufactures will cooperate in every way to make "the return of the Fort Wayne automobile show outstanding."

"We hope to make this an annual affair from now on," Mr. Swanson said.

International Livestock Exposition, Nov. 29-Dec. 6

Agriculture's greatest show will celebrate its 53rd year as plans take effect for the 1952 edition of the International Live Stock Exposition. The big annual spectacle is slated for November 29 through December 6 in the Internation Amphiteatre of the Chicago Stock Yards.

Once again Chicago will be transformed into a meeting place for the continent's grand champions in livestock and crops and for the nearly half a million people who will come from all parts of farmland in the United States and many foreign countries. Officially named "International Live Stock Exposition Week in Chicago" by Mayor Martin Kennelly, the eight colorful days really make up "Farm Week" for America's second city.

Over 11,000 head of the country's top cattle, sheep, swine and horses from 34 states are expected at the coming show. Grand champions from state and regional shows will vie for over $100,000 in cash awards and for the enviable International purple and blue ribbons that make them the continent's best.

Youth will dominate the first day's program, spotlighting the Junior Livestock Feeding Contest where boys and girls from many states will show their grand champions from other shows. Fat cattle, sheep and swine will be judged in carload lots in the yards on that day. The 30th anniversary International Grain and Hay show and the Wool show will be judged on the first day, and its exhibits will be colorfully displayed in the Big Hall of Grain on the third floor throughout the week.

Headlining the entertainment features of the Internationl will be thirteen banner performances of the International Horse Show, bringing together the nation's fanciest riding and harness horses and ponies. Sheep dog trials and a cutting horse contest for Western stock horses will also be featured.

Most celebrated bovine animal of the year is the grand champion steer which is selected on Tuesday afternoon before excited throngs and batteries of television and news cameras.

Spectacular auction sales of both fat and breeding animals are scheduled during the week. Animals intended for the butcher block will have their auctions starting Thursday. Thursday is also scheduled as Draft Horse Day for the big ton-weight drafters.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

CONTRASTS - Married 56 years, Mrs. Albert Tobias, 79, Burnettsville (White county), has finished her 100th quilt, all made since 1938. . . . But Mrs. Gerald Frye, who lives near Bryant (Jay county) and who's much younger, rang up a different sort of distinction. She shot 74 squirrels during the season. Once she got two with one shot.

HOBO KING - Jefferson Davis, King of the Hoboes, is still around, and in Indiana sometimes, too. He addressed a meeting of the Lawrenceburg Conservation Club.

DEPENDABLE DOG - Queen is Joe Norman's faithful dog. Joe lives in Halbert township, Martin county. He and Queen were prowling the countryside near Freeman House Rock when suddenly the dog threw herself against Joe's legs. Naturally, he stopped and soon saw a coiled rattlesnake in the path ahead of him. One shot and he severed the reptile's head. The rattler measured six feet and was eight inches around.

LONG WALK - John Canerecci is a loyal Mishawaka High School football fan. He is attending Florida State University at Tallahassee but he wanted to see his alma mater, Mishawaka, in its annual game with Central High of South Bend. So he hitch-hiked from Florida to Mishawaka, got there in time for the game, saw his home team win, stayed four hours, then started back to Florida.

SPECIFIC - When Charles Harner was called as a witness in a Delphi trial, he was asked his occupation. He replied: "Loafer". He was right, in a way, for he's retired.

CHAMP COMMUTER - A Bloomington man has traveled 208,000 miles to and from work in his nine years working in an Indianapolis store. He's James H. Steinmets and he drives 104 miles roundtrip every working day.

INDIANA INDUSTRY - It's a fact that Indiana is second only to Michigan in the manufacture of parts for the manufacture or repairing of trucks. That fact got a recent boost when the Dana Corporation opened a new plant at Marion, employing 500, to make propeller (drive) shafts for trucks, and other automotive and truck parts. The corporation also has three other plants in Indiana producing truck and automotive parts, one at Auburn and two at Ft. Wayne.

UNPLEASANT PHEASANT - Broken glass all around told Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swan, Fowler, one of their living room windows was broken when they returned home one afternoon. It was a mystery—until they got in the house. They found a hen pheasant cowering behind the davenport. She had simply flown through the window, through two panes in fact for one was a storm window. Nope, no pheasant dinner; they handed over the unhurt pheasant to a conservation officer.

POLICE INSULTED - Pity the police. In Berne Policeman Herman Bowman found his office in the fire station had been ransacked one morning, though nothing was missing. He knew a skeleton key had been used for entry and inquiry at stores revealed two boys had bought skeleton keys the day before. He found the boys and they "confessed", though they were released. But in Centerville the insult was worse. Someone stole Marshal Jim Phillips' car from in front of the city building. It was just a boys' prank for the car was driven only a few blocks though the marshal never found out who the boys were.

HOUSE AFIRE - The Greenfield fire department got a call, "house on fire." Two trucks and seven firemen sped to the address. Several boys met them. Firemen put out the blaze but the home was a total loss. It was a "tree house" the boys had built. The loss: 40 hours of boy labor.

LEO AUXILIARY NEWS

December is the important Rehabilitation Month, during which auxiliary members center all efforts on providing a happy Christmas for all disabled war veterans and their families.

Money for rehabilitation projects comes largely from the Poppy contributions collected from the general public in May before Memorial Day. Thus all who contribute to the Poppy program of the Legion and auxiliary share in this fine project.

Mrs. Fred Maroff, Jr., the Leo Unit Rehabilitation Chairman, announced last week that gifts will be accepted for the annual Gift Shop to be held at the Fort Wayne VA Hospital to be held the first week in December.

Mrs. Minnie James of Fort Wayne, department representative for the hospital, will be general chairman.

Each member is requested to bring a gift such as toys and games for all ages, sweaters, caps, etc., for children; hose, slips, scarves, luncheon sets, pillow slips, cosmetics for women; socks, ties, shaving sets, fountain pens, for men. These articles will be displayed for all hospitalized veterans to chose his gift for any member of his family at no cost to him. The auxiliary VAVS workers then wrap the gifts and mail the packages to the home.

CARELESS PARENTS— INJURED CHILDREN

CHILDREN'S inquisitiveness and parents' carelessness result in accidental poisonings of young tots. Every physician who deals with children in his practice is familiar with the common types of accidental poisoning in children.

Kerosene is a dangerous liquid to have around the house within easy reach of the child. Immediate treatment calls for emptying of the stomach but the child may develop bronchitis or bronchopneumonia due to chemical irritation from the kerosene.

Lye produces irritation and burns of the mouth, throat, esophagus, and stomach, with scarring and stricture of the esophagus.

Arsenic, a chemical used in some rat poisons, is sometimes swallowed by children.

Mercury poisoning, while rare, is still seen in children and leads to circulatory failure and possible death.

Barbiturates are widely used and poisoning from these drugs is not uncommon in children.

Drug cabinets in many homes now contain some form of antihistamine drugs in tablet or liquid form and children who swallow them frequently develop convulsions, heart and respiratory failure, high fever and death.

Prevention of accidental poisoning in children is mainly a matter of education of parents. All medicines should be kept in a special place out of reach of the child. Children should be guarded against coming close to a can or bottle of cleaning liquid or polish which is being used.

So long as parents are careless and children are inquisitive, accidental poisonings will continue.

TO COLLECT GIFTS FOR MENTAL PATIENTS

Mrs. Washington Teeters of near Auburn will head the DeKalb County campaign for Christmas gifts for patients in Indiana mental institutions. This project is a cooperative effort on the part of the Farm Bureau and the Indiana Association for Mental Health. A goal of 30,000 Christmas gifts has been established for this statewide effort.

Many of the patients in state institutions are without family or friends at Christmas time, and they, therefore, have no part of the giving and receiving of Christmas presents which has such significance in this country. Many of the patients are completely isolated from the rest of the people in Indiana. The leaders of this program hope to re-establish the generous interest which has always characterized the attitude of Hoosiers toward the sick and unfortunate.

The work in the townships will be under the leadership of the following people:

Jackson Township, Mrs. Lawrence Wagner, R1, Auburn.

Concord Township, Mrs. Royce Gibford, R1, St. Joe.

Spencer Township, Mrs. Robert Witt, R1, Spencerville.

Save Work all year 'round with an electric clothes dryer

No baskets to lug . . . no bending and stretching to hang each piece on a line. Your dryer is just 2 steps away from your washing machine.

Far less ironing to do. Sheets, corduroys and many other items come out of your dryer ready to wear or store away without ironing.

There's always "sunny weather" in your dryer. No more running to take clothes down when sudden showers strike.

No rewashing clothes that get soiled drying outdoors. No dogs, birds, soot, or dirt of any kind can get at the clothes in your dryer.

Simply toss clothes in and set the dial. They come out as you choose: damp-dry to iron, or fluff-dry ready to wear or put away. Dry clothes day or night, rain or shine . . . anytime you please—and all for just pennies' worth of electricity. See your electric appliance dealer for a demonstration of the greatest work-saver ever offered to women. Seeing is believing.

Around the Town

With the Editor

There hadn't been too much said about it before, but evidently someone doesn't like dogs—or pups— in St. Joe.

Milt Ritenour reported Monday that his young pup, only six months old, had been poisoned over the week end. That's the second time in the year since the Ritenours moved to St. Joe that they have lost a pup by poisoning. The first was only nine months old and had to be shot.

Milt says that he'd rather some one would come to him and tell him what the trouble is—maybe the dogs were damaging flowers or gardens—than to take such drastic action.

Anyhow, it seems like an odd way to "welcome" new residents to St. Joe.

That was some shindig Saturday night at the school house. And it took a lot of work to put it on. I don't know who all the hard workers were but someone said June Baker and Ann Beebe were the kingpins behind the big supper that was served. Besides there were the decorations, hats, etc., all of which meant that parents, teachers and students went all-out to make it a success.

If you attended the Hicksville game Tuesday night at the local gym you were one of the many who were up in the air (as far as the score was concerned) when the scoreboard went on the blink. It was a close game and made it difficult to keep the crowd informed even with the public address system because of the excitement.

But with a little encouragement, we may have an improvement along that line. The student council of the school, at the suggestion of Norman Morr, I'm told, has agreed that a new scoreboard is needed.

So, we shall see what we shall see.

Turkey Shoot Saturday

Saturday, November 22, will be a "foul day" in the Conservation Club's record. Starting at 10 a.m. the club will award thirty turkeys and thirty chickens to winners in their annual Turkey Shoot.

Ralph Johnson has announced that the birds will be the "best quality we can buy; dressed turkeys first chickens second."

Winners will be handicapped one yard in succeeding events for each turkey won.

The regular shoot scheduled for Sunday, November 23, has been cancelled.

The clubhouse at the conservation grounds will be prepared for the program with lunch, candy, pop and shells.

Registered shoots for 1953 have been scheduled for April 26, May 24, June 28 and July 26.

Invitation Extended To Legion To Attend Services

Joseph R. Shenault, pastor of the Newville Church of Christ, has extended a special invitation to the local American Legion Post to attend services at the church Sunday, November 23.

Mr. Shenault, a member of the American Legion and pastor at the Newville church for the past four years, is leaving the community to locate at Fountain City, Indiana. He will deliver his last sermon from the Newville pulpit this Sunday and has made a special effort to prepare a message for the occasion. He has invited his fellow Legion members to attend the Newville Church Sunday morning in a body.

Mr. and Mrs. Shenault and their three daughters will leave for their new home the latter part of this month.

Tigers Take 'Busco, Edged By Hicksville 67-65

St. Joe rooters were uneasy at half time Friday evening when the Tigers battled the Churubusco Eagles. The score was 27-22 at that tiime and because of some foul trouble in the first half it appeared that St. Joe might run into difficulty. In addition, Kenny Walters was absent from the starting line up suffering from an injured ankle. However, he was able to enter the game later and dumped in 19 points. Bob DeLong again led scoring with 20 markers. Each had nine in a sizzling 4th quarter.

The big thrill of the evening came in the prelim when the Tiger seconds nosed the Eagle second team in the final minutes, 28-27.

The little Tigers started slow and trailed through the first half. They began to click after halftime rest period and hit their stride in time to win.

Richard Beebe sank three field goals and a like number of free throws for nine points to lead the winners. Lee Davis and Donald Tharp had six each.

Hicksville invaded St. Joe Tuesday evening and copped a close 67-65 contest from the locals.

Hicksville was red hot in the last half, scoring 45 points to come from behind.

The seconds trounced their opponents in the prelim, 43-21.

The next game for St. Joe is scheduled for November 25 at Ashley. The next home game is against Scott Center on December 16.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks to all those who helped to make the Lamb and Ham supper and the Carnival a huge success.

The success of the supper and carnival was gained by the cooperation and interest of the entire community.

To Walter Reinhart who donated the Champion 4-H lamb, and to all the merchants who gave donations. The supper committee who worked especially hard to solicit donations and preparation of the food.

Thanks to the chairmen of the king and queen project and all the classes who took part. The Hat Shop, a popular corner, but lots of time and preparation. Much thought and punch was used to make the advertising a success.

We wish also to thank the men who donated their time, trucks and tractors to the dirt hauling.

On to our new project, the parking lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sible

Carnival Nets $700 For PTA

A tremendous success.

That's the story in a nutshell of the Carnival and Lamb and Ham supper given Saturday night in St. Joe at the school gym.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sible, chairmen of the project committee announced Tuesday that the evening's entertainment and supper netted approximately $865. All bills have not been turned in and paid at this writing. But it is expected that the P.T.A. will clear between $700 and $725.

The supper began shortly after 5 p.m. Approximately 300 persons were served lamb and ham suppers. The lamb, a 4-H champion from the 1952 DeKalb County Fair, was donated by Walter Reinhart. Proceeds from the supper totalled $340.

As patrons entered the gym, they were greeted by ambitious saleslades who were showing many stunning creations in hats. Booths were also erected in the gym as "campaign headuarters" for the classes buying votes in their attempt to have their candidates chosen king and queen. The efforts of the students netted $225. King and queen elected were Jo-Ann LaRowe and Bill Coburn, the Senior Class candidates.

Then there were other outstanding bits of entertainment including a band concert, movies, balloon and bean bag toss, fortune teller, bazaar, cake walk, boxing and fish pond, in addition to the hat shop, all of which collected approximately $300 for the P.T.A.

The P.T.A. has been a "busy body" not only because of the work connected for the carnival and supper. Several of the men have in the past two weeks hauled fill dirt, graded and removed a tree at the north side of the school making a large area available for parking. The inconvenience of parking had become very evident in the past few years and the P.T.A. is currentnly engaged in improving and expanding parking facilities.

The purchase of a new curtain for the stage at the school is the first project which the organization can accomplish with the success of the carnival. It is expected that there will be funds remaining after the purchase of a curtain to finish the parking lot.

SERVICES HELD FOR DORA TANCEY

Mrs. Dora Ida Tancey, 73, a resident for 15 years of Spencerville, died at 11:45 p.m. Friday at the home of her son, Arthur Kesler, of Spencerville.

She died of a cerebral hemorrhage. Two and a half years ago she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage followed by a second hemorrhage Wednesday.

Mrs. Tancey was born January 14, 1879, in Allen County, the daughter of Jonas and Martha Zehendener. Her first husband, Harry Kesler, died in 1926. Her second husband, John Tancey, a justice of the peace in Fort Wayne for many years, died in 1946.

Surviving, besides the son in Spencerville, are a second son, Walter Kesler, of Fort Wayne; four grandchildren; three brothers, Albert Sauder of Ft. Wayne, Charles Sauder of Anderson, and Archie Sauder of Spencerville; and six sisters, Mrs. Lottie Keesler of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Viola Darby of Plymouth, Mich., Mrs. Alma Beverforden of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Minnie Carr of Fort Wayne, Mrs Christina Paff of Spencerville and Mrs. DeEtta Akey of Rt. 2, Auburn.

Two sons, Albert Kesler and Charles Kesler, preceded her in death. Albert died in infancy and Charles at the age of 18.

Services were conducted Monday at St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Spencerville. Rev. W. H. Baker officiated. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery near Auburn.

Grades Present Operettas Friday

Three operettas will be presented on Friday night, November 21, at 8 p.m. in the school gym by grades one through six.

"Going To the Fair" is to be given by grades one and two with the chorus.

"The Lemonade Stand" will be given by children from several grades with the chorus.

"Day Before Yesterday" is a historical operetta featuring prehistoric men, Grecian children, Pilgrims, Indians, Colonial children and Civil War girls. Most of the characters will be in appropriate costumes.

Music between the operettas is being furnished by Delores Goings. April Davis is the accompanist and the program is under the direction of Freida Guilford.

There will be an admission charge of fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for students.

Telephone Rates Get Another Boost

Mr. A. J. May, commecrial manager at Angola for General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., said today that officials of his company had filed new rate schedules with the Public Service Commission of Indiana. In accordance with the Commission's $906,500 yearly increase order of November 7, the new rates will become effective for all customers on the date of the next billing period.

Most of the outhorized increase will be derived from monthly increases of $0.60 for residence service and $1.60 for business service. Some increase will also be made in service connections, mileage PBX and intercom charges. No increase is to be made for extension telephones, and collection and handset charges will be eliminated in those exchanges where such charges are now in effect.

Mr. May explained that the November 7 order lifted the 1951 rate suspension in the exchanges of Bippus, Etna Green, Fulton, Jolietville, Macy, Mechanicsburg, Millwood, Perkinsville, Wakarusa, Walton and Westfield. In these exchanges, therefore, an additional increase will become effective. Likewise, an additional increase will become effective in a few exchanges where either the type of equipment has been improved or the station growth has increased to the extent of placing the exchange in a higher classification.

At the headquarters of General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., at Lafayette, Mr. H. E. Hussey, president, explained that approximately 53 percent of the authorized yearly increase will be required for state and federal taxes. Mr. Hussey also said that an extensive plant rehabilitation program has been completed in the exchanges of Dunlap, Laketon, Shirley, Sidney, Tippecanoe and Windfall and that these exchanges will be certified to the commission immediately. After certification, it is expected that the 1951 rate order suspension in these exchanges will be lifted.

COWGIRLS MEET RADIO STARS SUNDAY IN PISTON PRELIM

Sunday night's preliminary to the Zollner Piston-Philadelphia Warrior pro basketball game at the Coliseum will feature a hand-picked squad of press and radio players from Fort Wayne who will oppose the renowned Texas Cowgirls, one of the outstanding girls teams in the nation. Already lined up to play against the girls are Hilliard Gates, Ernie Ashley, Len Davis, Bob Hill, Glenn Elliott, Bob Renner, Bud Gallmeier, Dick Smith and Ray James.

The Pistons will again have their new sensation, Dick Groat, on hand for the tilt against Philadelphia. He scored 25 points in 40 minutes of play last Sunday against the New York Knickerbockers and his driving play has been the spark needed in the Fort Wayne offense.

Square Dance, Card Party Saturday At Magginis School

The Neighborhood Club Commity from the vicinity of the Magginis School has announced that a square dance and card party will be held this Saturday evening, November 22.

The scene of the dance will be the Magginis School, two miles north of Jackson Center and activities will start at 8 p.m.

The program includes square dancing, card party and pot luck. Residents in this vicinity are invited to come and bring their friends.

Local Dealer Wins Oil Sales Contest

Yeiser's Standard Service was awarded first prize in a contest recently sponsored by the Standard Oil Company. The St. Joe firm was first in sales of motor oil rated according to sales of gasoline.

A member of the South Bend District, the local dealer sold 3.6 gallons of motor oil for each 100 gallons of gasoline sold. The next highest in the contest was 3.1 gallons of oil per 100 gallons of gasoline.

First prize was a one hundred dollar defense bond.

The South Bend District includes 2,700 dealers.

SPORTS

Spencerville was defeated by Waterloo in their third game of the season on November 14. The score was tied at the end of the first quarter, but then the Waterloo team gradually pulled ahead to win by a final score of 60-47.

Spencerville's second team defeated Waterloo in a thrilling overtime, 34-32. This makes two wins out of three games for the seconds.

The next home game, scheduled with Leo, will be played November 25 at Butler. First game starts at 7 p.m. and the second at 8:15 p.m.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

SHOULD YOU?

"DOCTOR, should I take sulfa or penicillin?" The patient is speaking, and he's not asking the physician what's the matter with him.

There are few physicians who have not been asked to prescribe all manner of antibiotics for patients with fever or other symptoms of infection.

The public has read and heard so much about the new wonder drugs that it expects miracles of medicine and surgery, and often condemns the physician if a miracle does not occur.

Nine years ago penicillin was scarce to a degree that a 10,000 unit ampule cost $25. The production of penicillin has increased so astronomically that today a purer quality can be purchased for much less. A similar increase in production and decline in price has occurred with streptomycin.

This has led to indiscriminate use of these drugs by some people.

There are undesirable effects of such use. First, there is the false sense of security in the belief that everything is being done that can be done. Second, there has been a rapid increase in prevalence of certain bacteria which are resistant to the antibiotics, thus remaining fully virulent.

Then there are the possible side effects of antibiotics, which include hypersensitivity and alterations in the gastro-intestinal tract and elsewhere.

Therefore the physician uses antibiotics only in cases of necessity and when their use will accomplish the greatest benefit. The use of antibiotics without strict supervision is not only a waste of money and time in many cases, but dangerous.

Ginger Ring With Apple Slices

Here's a spicy dessert that tastes as good as it looks. This apple-gingerbread combination is a pretty way to end a Thanksgiving Day dinner.

One whiff of the spicy aroma from Gingerbread Ring With Apple Slices will convince you that this glamorous dessert offers extra-special goodness.

Your dinner guests will never guess how easily you made this attractive ginger ring. Make a gingerbread batter and pour it over sliced apples in a greased ring mold. Bake and serve with sweetened whipped cream. It's as simple as that.

The November food budget will easily cover Thanksgiving entertaining when desserts cost as little as this one—only 44 cents. Your baker can also supply you with inexpensive desserts to suit both plain and fancy menus.

This Ginger Ring With Apple Slices may not add much to your food bills but it adds a lot to good nutrition. Combine the protein, B-vitamins and food iron of the enriched flour with the protein of the egg and iron of the molasses and you have a mighty nutritious dessert—with plenty of eye and taste appeal.

GINGER RING WITH APPLE SLICES

Sliced Apples
2½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda (dissolved in one tablespoon of water)
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ginger
½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
½ cup dark molasses

Prepare ring mold greasing it generously and covering bottom with thinly sliced apples. Pour over apples the following batter: Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and ginger. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Add dom- mixture to creamed mixture, alternately with buttermilk and molasses. Mix to smooth batter. Pour on apples in greased ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 45 minutes. Unmold and serve hot or cold with sweetened whipped cream.

Makes 1 9-inch ring.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 11. DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 35:1-10.

Thanking God

Lesson for November 23, 1952

IT IS hard to imagine Jesus observing exactly one day in the year, no more, as a Thanksgiving day. This is not to say that the idea of a Thanksgiving Day is a bad one. The Jews of ancient times, whose religious observances Jesus closely kept, had a whole week of celebrations in the fall, corresponding somewhat to our Thanksgiving day. But Jesus' heart of gratitude was not to be limited by the calendar.

Mistakes About Thanksgiving

There are at least three mistakes which are commonly made with reference to Thanksgiving day. We Christian people make the mistake of limiting our thoughts of gratitude to one day. We count our blessings on this one day of all the year; we go on a kind of "binge" of gratitude.

Dr. Foreman

Another sort of mistake, made by a great many, even of those who are called Christians, is to use the day for purposes that have nothing at all to do with it. Instead of worshipful gratitude to God for his blessings of the year past, the day is commonly used by many for eating too much or for getting drunk at football games.

Retail stores use the day to usher in the Christmas season. In fact, not so many years ago the commercial interests of the country were successful in pushing the day back a whole week just in order to have a longer season in which to sell "Christmas" merchandise.

But the purpose of the day is not to make money or to win football games or to get stuffed with turkey.

Grace Before Shakespeare

A third mistake is to be thankful for only one kind of thing: namely, material blessings such as food, security, good crops and good business. Now our Lord was grateful for such things. More than once we read of his taking bread and giving thanks for it. But as he knew that man does not live by bread alone, so man should not give thanks for bread alone. Most of Jesus' prayers of thanksgiving are for other and higher blessings.

Some well-known writer once commented on our custom of saying "Grace before meat"—the old expression for what is now often called "asking the blessing" at the table. Has God no other blessings for us?

When a person sits down with a great play (say by Shakespeare) in his hand, why not a "Grace before Shakespeare?" How many of us have a little prayer of thanksgiving before reading a book of poetry or going out to look up at the starry sky on a clear night, or before opening a letter from an old friend or before going to the hospital or the dentist? (Yes, indeed; the dentist may not seem like a blessing, but try to stand a toothache all by yourself, or try to imagine going to his office, or to the hospital, before the days of modern medicine, surgery, X-rays, anesthetics and sanitation!)

Blessings of the Spirit

Jesus' prayer of thanksgiving, which our lesson Scripture records, however, is on a higher plane still. The particular blessing for which he thanks the Lord of heaven and earth is in the first place a spiritual one, and in the second place it is not something that came to him but to some one else. He thanks God that a spiritual light has been seen by his most humble friends.

Can we say that many of our prayers are on this high level? Many of us never get beyond the "Gimme" stage. And even among those who do rise to the level of real thanksgiving, it is rare enough to find those who are grateful not only for their own blessings but for those received by others; and how seldom does God hear any note of praise for blessings of the spirit!

This is a high plane, to be reached only by high souls, those who have been intimate enough with Christ to absorb his spirit and attitude. Stupid people, who do not have very good minds, cannot be expected to appreciate blessings of the mind; and people with small and wizened souls cannot feel blessings of the spirit. And only those who practice the Golden Rule every day, so as to put themselves into others' places, and who cultivate the gift of sympathy so as to "rejoice with those that rejoice and weep with those that weep," can have the heart to be thankful when others receive the highest blessings of heaven.

New Dairy Regulations

New dairy regulations recently adopted by the Indiana State Board of Health to make grading of milk and cream more uniform will become effective December 1. They concern all dairy farers, milk haulers and processors in Indiana.

Prof. V. C. Manhart of the Purdue University dairy husbandry department explains that the regulations prescribe standards and definitions for milk and cream unfit for human consumption. They were set up to insure a wholesome product obtained from healthy cows, under sanitary conditions, properly cared for and marketed to avoid undue loss of quality.

Although such regulations are not new in Indiana, they have been revised to reduce defects in marketing procedures which make it difficult to comply with old regulations and caused misunderstandings between buyers, haulers and producers.

The new regulations require the presence of a state-approved grader when raw milk and cream are received for purchase. The grader must inspect, grade and test all milk and cream, rejecting that which does not meet minimum standards and it unfit for human consumption. A harmless red colorling will be added to such rejects and a card indicating the reason will be attached to the container.

Records of quality tests on each producer's milk and cream must be kept by milk products plants and distributors, and monthly summary reports on these tests must be sent to the State Board of Health.

Manhart points out that the producer who recognizes and accepts his responsibility in producing food for human use has no need to be disturbed by the new regulations. On the other hand, the producer whose milk is rejected needs to understand the reason and circumstances.

The Purdue dairyman explains that everybody but the consumer loses when milk or cream is turned down for purchase because of low quality or as not fit for food. Estimated value of farm milk rejected in Indiana last year was slightly more than $500,000.

Additional details regarding the new regulations are contained in Extension Leaflet 349, "Approved Graders and New Regulations for Indiana Milk and Cream," available from county agents and the Agricultural Publications Office, Purdue University, Lafayette.

DRYERS ARE POPULAR WITH HOUSEWIVES

The clothes dryer is the "most wanted" appliance on the planned purchase lists of American homemakers.

Repeated surveys by national magazines and appliance manufacturers alike have indicated this with the result that the dryer is expected to experience the most phenomenal growth in appliance history. Already it has set an enviable record with more than 1,000,000 dryers in use although it has been on the market in force only about five years.

The one million women who now own dryers are the real salesmen who have made this new appliance the "most wanted." Many of them, asked if they were forced to give up either their automatic washer or dryer, would prefer to lose the washer first. They point out to surveyors that the dryer not only saves more labor than any other appliance but it saves clothes and reduces the number of garments needed.

The leading dryer manufacturers today predict a startling growth for the dryer business in the next five years. Dryer manufacturing executives foresee 6,000,000 new dryers in addition to the one million now in use.

The extent of this record, if achieved, can be appreciated when one considers that although the automatic washer industry is 15 years old, it has just reached the 6 million figure which the dryer industry expects to hit in 10 years. And it took the refrigerator and electric range industries 20 and 27 years respectively to sell the first 2 million of each of their products.

Avoiding bad weather is not the major reason women like their clothes dryers.

A survey of more than 1,100 women who have owned dryers at least a year was made and 86 percent of the replies indicated weather was not the "most liked" feature of this new appliance.

At the top of the list was the dryer's labor saving which 37 percent of the women declared was the chief feature they liked. Next 31 percent said they liked the softer, fluffier clothes. Then 18 percent said they liked the time the dryer saved and finally 14 percent said they liked their dryers because they avoided bad weather.

James Bowser Wins Scholarship

Eighty-two Indiana University students working their way thru school have won the kind of recognition from fellow students that helps the most—$100 scholarships.

James E. Bowser of Spencerville is included in the winners.

The $8,200 distributed by the I. U. Foundation in scholarships designed to "help those who help themselves," came from the income of last spring's "Little 500" bicycle race held in the I.U. Memorial Stadium.

A unique collegiate competition patterned after the big Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, the event was participated in by several hundred students who did everything from promotional work and ticket sales to riding on the 33 four-man teams that participated.

All the income went to the scholarships and even the riders had to buy their own tickets.

In selecting winners for the scholarships, emphasis was placed on the hours the students worked to support themselves, but it developed that working students are also good scholars. While they averaged more than 24 hours a week earning board and room, their grades were better than a "B" average.

The group included a night shift worker at the local R.C.A. plant, an outdoor bill board poster, a switchboard operator, a soda jerk, a sandwich deliveryman, two book salesmen, several research assistants, stenographers, secretaries and paper graders. A number of the group waited tables and washed dishes.

Several are holding down more than one job, like the student who washes dishes, tutors in accounting and delivers the campus daily newspaper. Another is a laboratory assistant, washes dishes and helps direct campus traffic at special events. One student is a typist and reader for blind students.

Plans are already underway for the third annual "Little 500" bike race next spring by the I.U. Foundation student committee that likes to go broke spending all its income for scholarships for other students working their way thru school.

MABEL LYONS NAMED STATE REPUBLICAN VICE-CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Mabel Lyons of Auburn, actively engaged for many years in county Republican party work, moved Sunday into the top position for women in Indiana when she was unanimously elected state G.O.P. vice-chairman.

The Republican state committee also selected Mayor Noland C. Wright of Anderson as state chairman at a Sunday luncheon meeting held in the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis.

The election of Mrs. Lyons climaxed 20 years of work in Auburn, DeKalb County and Fourth District G.O.P. circles.

Mrs. Lyons has served as county vice-chairman for a total of 11 years. From 1938 until 1946 she served as vice-chairman under H. Clark Springer and Burley Ensley. In the spring of 1950 she was elected secretary of the county Republican Central Committee and two months later was elevated to the vice-chairmanship upon the resignation of Mrs. Edith Hall.

Last May she was elected without opposition to the county vice-chairmanship. A week later, she was elected Fourth District vice-chairman.

From 1940 through 1948, a total of eight years, she served as Auburn city vice-chairman. On the Fourth District Committee, she served for two years as secretary and one year as treasurer.

During the Republican presidential nominating campaign, Mrs. Lyons was district vice-chairman of the Taft-for-President club.

She was manager of the Auburn Auto License Bureau from 1941 to 1943 and in December of 1950 was reappointed bureau manager, a position she still holds.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

THE THING - Ft. Wayne had its snake, Martin county comes up with panther stories, and now The Thing has been seen again in Washington county. Mrs. Ray Payne, who lives six miles from Pekin, said the animal was not far from her house one night and it screamed loud and long. In fact, she said it was a revisit on the part of The Thing for she had actually seen it three years ago. It was long-bodied, had a big head and a bushy tail. Before Mrs. Payne's last report, the animal had gone unreported for 10½ months. All told, however, it's been around for six years and has been seen by about 60 persons, though it never attacks anyone.

BAD, THEN GOOD - Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Nicholson, Paoli, will never forget a certain two hours. It happened when they received that ominous Department of Defense telegram informing them their son, Duane, was wounded in Korea. But two hours later their phone rang and it was Duane, calling from a Japan hospital to tell them about his injuries.

OUTFOXED - Here's how to bag a fox with a farm tractor. Near Adams (Decatur county), Max Maudlin was driving a tractor through a field when he spotted a crouching fox. It started to run and Max headed his tractor toward the fox's path. Sure enough the fox, apparently scared and confused, and the tractor got at the same spot at the same time. The result was a dead fox.

BUSINESS OFF - When U. S. 41 was closed for road work for 30 miles in the area of Fowler (Benton county), car and truck traffic through the town fell off about 40 per cent. While the detour was in effect, filling stations and eating places, especially the latter catering to truck drivers, suffered a noticeable loss of business which they were glad to get back, according to the Benton County Tribune.

SPILT GILT - Attending a farm sale near Columbia City, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Williams bought a registered Yorkshire gilt. They loaded the animal in their stake truck and started driving to their home near Knightstown. But when they got there, no gilt. They called police who could find no trace of the animal even though retracing their route to the sale. However, on the second day, word came that a farmer near Columbia City had found the gilt, one of its legs broken, and had put it in the care of a veterinarian. Right now you can't tell the Williams' that a hog can't jump or climb.

LOSER SHELLED - You probably read of a lot of election bet payoffs. But here's one that involved a "runny" face, not merely nose. It was at Paoli and Donald Dean was the loser. So Bill Kemple, the winner, bought a dozen eggs, lined up Dean before a crowd and fired the eggs from a distance of 10 feet. He hit Dean's face 11 times out of 12. All eggs were fresh, and Dean's face looked like an uncooked omelet.

RUNAWAY - A runaway horse dragging an overturned buggy in West Warsaw made a hero of Norman Thompson. He chased the animal after its driver, Mrs. Maurice Minton, and two girls had been thrown out and injured. Thompson had a rough time himself for in his first atempt to catch the horse he was knocked down and the buggy was dragged over him. Undaunted, however, he made another try and caught and stopped the horse.

ROAD RIDER - How far does a rural mail carrier travel in his years at work? Well, George Kremp, who's just retired after 31 years a rural carrier at Brookville, says he's driven 400,000 miles in that time. He estimates he wore out 20 autos.

AUXILIARY GIFT SHOP TO OPEN IN DECEMBER

The American Legion Auxiliary will open their Gift Chop at the Fort Wayne Veteran's Hospital December 10 and 11.

Gifts will be on display and each veteran will be permitted to choose the gifts which they wish to send home to their families. Workers then wrap these articles into Christmas packages and mail them to the veteran's home.

There is no charge to the veteran for this service and it is made possible by the donation of gifts from auxiliary members and other interested persons.

Members are asked to leave their gifts at the home of Gretchen Noragon by December 1, as the box of gifts must be mailed to the hospital on this date.

Donations from anyone will be greatly appreciated. The donor will be helping some veteran's family to have a happy Christmas.

YOUR CHILD AND SCHOOL

A NEW army of 2,500,000 has taken to the field. Many children going to school for the first time comprise this army. Although of about the same age, the children will differ intellectually, emotionally, and physically.

Some who have been babied at home are likely to be homesick for awhile, others will feel immediately at ease in school. Some will be apt to learn rapidly, while others lag behind, dull and uninterested.

Very often, a laxity in mental functioning is traceable to a physical and correctible disorder.

Defects in hearing and vision, and malnutrition, are among imperfections that retard children. Defective vision is the disability most often noticed when the child enters school.

This fault must be attributed to the parent who has neglected to obtain treatment for the child whose eye defection could have been corrected earlier in life. Progress in school is hard for the child with an eye defect.

Hearing defects, too often overlooked by parents, make it difficult for a student to keep up with others in the classroom.

During the first year in school, children are especially susceptible to communicable diseases. No child should be entered in school without proper immunization.

The child who is free of correctible defects and protected against communicable disease, has a good start toward making a success in his life at school.

More and more farmers are finding that infra-red lamps do a better brooding job. Infra-red's cleaner, safer. For pigs, it provides warmth away from the crushing weight of the sow. With chicks, too, infra-red cuts mortality loss. Chicks don't huddle. They're in full view for inspection all the time. Litter stays healthfully dry.

And infra-red lamps keep right on giving you value when the brooding season's past!

Roadside Council Elects

Mrs. Clark Ayers of near Waterloo was elected 1953 president of the DeKalb County Roadside Council at the annual meeting of the organization held Monday night in the assembly room of the court house in Auburn.

She was named to succeed Mrs. Clyde Huselman of north of Auburn.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were Mrs. Dorothy Kimes of Spencerville, first vice-president; Mrs. Eva Hamilton of Waterloo, second vice-president; Mrs. Rowena Schweitzer of Ashley, recording secretary; Mrs. Adah Farrington of Corunna, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Cleo Pease of Corunna, treasurer.

Mrs. Schweitzer and Mrs. Farrington were re-elected.

Four directors were elected to one year terms. They are Mrs. Mae Mutzfeld of Butler, Mrs. Marilynne Clem and Mrs. Lloyd McCorkle, both of Auburn, and Miss Gladys Fitch of near Huntertown.

The new officers and directors take office January 1.

An estimated eighty members of the organization attended the meeting. Mrs. Husselman presided. Directing the election was Mrs. Ruth Teeutsch of near Butler, county president of the Home Economics clubs and chairman of the nominating committee for the Roadside Council.

The main speaker for the program was Cpl. Tom Clevenger of the Indiana State Police post at Ligonier. The officer supplemented his address with a safety film which emphasized courtesy in driving. A big percentage of automobile accidents could be prevented, he said, if drivers would practice courtesy when they are behind the wheel of their cars.

Featured on the entertainment program was Miss Beverly Leas of Auburn, who presented baton twirling.

Devotions at the meeting were given by Mrs. Carl Swank of Ashley. The next meeting of the council will be held Monday night, January 26.

Jurors Drawn For December Term

County clerk Ralph W. Bruce announced Monday the list of jurors drawn to serve the forthcoming December term of the DeKalb Circuit Court in Auburn.

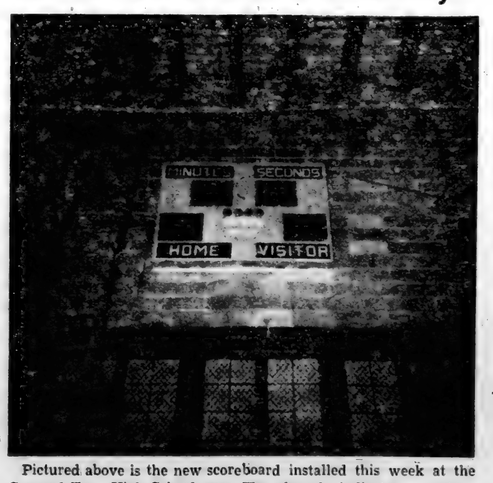
Dixon, Wilmington; Louis Washler, Spencer; Leo Schiffli, Smithfield; Bennie Crowl, Troy; Lawrence E. Morrison, Butler; Kenneth Jennings, Union; and Chester Davis, Jackson.

TALESMEN

Paul Cosper, Union; Pauline Hovarfer, Richland; Oscar S. Noel, Butler; Jennie C. Kuckuck, Keyser; Carl Sanders, Smithfield; Maurice H. Curry, Concord; Alice Graham, Keyser; Ronald Olds; Stafford; Arthur Krieg, Newville; Emmet Steininger, Union; Ethel Warner, Grant; Ernest A. Bauman, Butler; Dale Hurni, Union; Lewis Ault, Wilmington; Alvin K. Harold, Franklin; Willard Stonebraker, Fairfield; Wanda McClellan, Troy; Wilbur E. Walter, Spencer; Walter Hose, Wilmington; and Ernest Hutton, Jackson.

New Scoreboard Installed Monday



Pictured above is the new scoreboard installed this week at the Concord Twp. High School gym. The board indicates quarters, team scores and time remaining to play in minutes and seconds through an automatic timer which flashes by one second graduations.

Norman Morr, president of the Concord Twp. High School Student Council, is shown explaining the functions of the master switch board to school officials.

St. Joe basketball fans will see that something new has been added when they attend the next Tiger home game December 16 against Scott Center.

Installation was completed Monday of a new basketball scoreboard at the St. Joe gym.

Pressure was brought to bear on the Student Council of the high school by its president, Norman Morr, to buy a new scoreboard after somewhat continuous difficulties with the old "black beauty" which hung on the east wall of the gym for the past several years. Many times the board was out of control in keeping a correct score posted and occasionally, as was the case during the Hicksville game recently, was completely out of commission. Giving the score was the only purpose the old board served, there being no clock to indicate playing time remaining or elapsed.

The new board incorporates the latest in scoring facilities with flashing numerals to replace the old style solid non-illuminated type. Numerals on both the score section and playing time section are shown by means of a rectangular block composed of twenty-eight small lights, seven high and four across. Pushing the correct button on the master switch makes contacts for the correct combination of lights to make up a "1," "2," "3," etc., in the scores.

The timer is the latest design, with a capacity of up to fifteen playing minutes. In the case of high school basketball games with eight minute quarters, the "minutes-seconds" portion of the board is set at "08:00." When play begins the clock fashes every second with the time remaining in the quarter—"07:59," "07:58," "07:57," and so on to the end of the eight minutes. The horn automatically sounds at the end of playing time and the unit can then be re-set for another period.

A timer on the master switch itself can be set to regulate the time between halves. The horn then automatially blows again to indicate the end of the rest period.

The high school classes and the P. T. A. have undertaken the financing of the scoreboard. It's purchase was made through the recommendation of Norman Morr, Student Council president, who had quite a bit of experience with the old board and knew the difficulties encountered in trying to operate it.

"He had to talk hard and fast," Mr. Charles McCreery said of Norman's efforts to get the Student Council's approval. The new scoreboard cost approximately $475.

Wolfe-Wade

Miss Sally O. Wade of St. Joe became the bride of Ralph D. Wolfe, Tuesday, November 18, at a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. W. H. Baker at Spencerville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wade. She graduated from Concord Twp. High School with the class of 1952 and is employed at the Auburn Rubber Co. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Wolfe of Garrett. He attended Garrett High School and served four years in the army, having received a discharge last May. He is employed as a welder at Spencerville. The newlyweds are now residing at St. Joe in the Bowman apartment.

BAKE SALE SATURDAY

A bake sale will be held at Burgoyne's Hardware in Auburn on Saturday, November 29. On sale will be homemade cake, cup cakes, cookies, pie, nut bread, home made bread, doughnuts, homemade candy, chicken and noodles, dry noodles, baked beans, potato salad and fresh eggs.

The sale will begin at 9 a.m.. It is sponsored by the Live Wire Class of the Spencerville Methodist Church.

Election Cost 60 Cents Per Vote

Election expenditure reports show that each vote cost sixty cents, the Republicans and Democrats ended up with a balance and Prohibitionists have nothing in the till in DeKalb County.

County voters may not have realized it but it cost 60.3 cents every time a voter stepped to the polls to cast their ballots in the November 4 election.

The total cost of the election was $8,189.58.

According to final tabulations in the clerk's office, 13,578 votes were cast. This is a new record for the county and approximates more than 82 per cent of the registered voters.

At the 1952 May primary, when only 4,900 votes were cast and election costs were $7,443.23, the cost per vote was $1.55 each.

The combined 1952 election expense of the primary and November 4 vote for the county is $15,632.81.

The biggest single item of expense was $3,366 for the salaries of members of the 46 precinct election boards.

A total of $1,104 will be paid inspectors, $828 for judges, $882 for clerks (there were six extra clerks, two in each of three precincts), and $552 for sheriffs.

Meals for the election boards amounted to $1,146.75. Rental of polling places cost $376. The cost of erecting and dismantling booths was $130.72.

Additional clerical help cost $345 and postage for absentee ballots cost $153.52.

Another big item of expense was $3,240.97 for election supplies. The printing of legal notices was $97.62.

The salaries of the election board and official canvassing board totaled $562.50. The salaries are $187.50 each. Canvassing clerk salaries amounted to $60.

The county Republicans spent $4,310.98 this year, that is the Republican Central Committee spent that amount. Individual candidates, of course, had their own expenses for the campaign.

The party started the campaign with a balance of $1,052.83 left over from the May primary. Total receipts, including contributions from individuals, candidates and officeholders and a party rally dinner amounted to $5,367.18. Of this $1,1387.50 was contributed by officeholders and candidates and the remaining $3,979.68 came mostly from individual contributors.

Major disbursements were a $600 contribution to the State Republican Central Committee followed by a second contribution of $200 and a $50 contribution to the Fourth District G.O.P. Committee, followed by a second $200 contribution.

The party spent $460 for taking polls, $170 election day expense and $250 for a dinner for precinct committeemen and vice-committeemen.

The major part of the $4,310.98 disbursements went for printing of campaign literature, postage & political advertising.

According to reports the party now has a treasury balance of $2,109.03.

Democrats also showed a balance after the expenditures of the recent campaign. Reported expenditures were $1,062.69 leaving a balance of $1,266.80.

Last May the Democratic treasury balance was only $71.49. Donations and receipts from dinners, coupled with donations from the State Democratic Central Committee and the Schricker-Watkins "Good Government" clubs added receipts of $2,258.

The party treasury collected $332 from sale of dinner tickets.

They also listed expenses of $288 for dinners. The major expense items were for printing of campaign literature, political advertising and election day expense. Other expenditures were $120 for delegate fees. There was no expense listed for poll taking.

The Prohibition Party, which showed a moderate gain in strength at the polls on November 4, spent $67 during the campaign, the party's financial report has revealed.

Receipts also totaled $67, from collections taken at party meetings.

The Prohibitionists started the campaign with an empty treasury and ended the campaign the same way.

Announce Engagement

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Beatrice Abair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Abair of Plymouth, to Mr. Thomas R. Mertens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mertens of St. Joe.

Miss Abair, who is a teacher at Washington Clay High School, was graduated from the Plymouth schools and Ball State Teachers College. She was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Theta Sigma and Pi Kappa Sigma.

Mr. Mertens, who is studying for his master's degree at Purdue University, was graduated from Fort Wayne South Side High School and Ball State Teachers College. He is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Sigma Zeta.

No date has been set for the wedding.

JURORS MAKE INSPECTION

DeKalb County grand jurors, called into session at the court house in Auburn Tuesday, busied themselves with a tour of county installations and a report recommending repairs.

Accompanied by prosecuting attorney James A. Angelone, the jurors toured the court house with the court baliff, Louis F. Cooper. They were taken on a tour of the DeKalb County jail by sheriff Frank Carpenter. At the county farm, where they ate a noon meal, the grand jurors were taken on an inspection trip by the superintendent, Alva Grogg.

Mrs. Dorothy Till of Grant Twp. was foreman of the jury. Other members were Earl Carper of Richland, Harold Feguson of Wilmington, Howard C. Borthwick of Concord, Ursula Kern of Keyser and Lester S. Austraw of Union.

The jurors had no legal matters to attend to, so they spent their time inspecting. The jury has no jurisdiction on repair or changes in county installations but the report is filed in the court records and studied by the county governing bodies.

Among the recommendations made by the jurors were:

At the county jail they recommended that an experienced person be hired to locate and repair leaks in the roof and roof gutters. They also pointed out that masonry should be pointed up since numerous bricks are falling out and cornerstones and steps are in need of repair.

At the court house, the grand jurors also recomended repair of leaks in the roof and roof gutters. Repair of the floor in the PMA office was recommended along with painting of the office.

And at the county farm the following recommendations were made: repair of gutters on the roof of the main building, placement of truss rods in the smokehouse to prevent further bulging, painting of the living room and hall walls of the main building, purchase of rugs for the living room in the main building and repair of eves and spouting on the barn and painting of the barn.

LIFELONG COUNTY RESIDENT, RAY HOUK, IS DEAD

Ray C. Houk, a bachelor of about 65 years of age, died at the Brouse Nursing Home northeast of Butler at noon Thursday, November 20, of a heart attack. Mr. Houk was born in and lived all of his lifetime in Jackson Township, DeKalb County.

Mr. Houk had been ill since July. He was a patient at the Dr. Bonnell M. Souder Hospital in Auburn for a week, at Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett for a week and had been confined at the nursing home for a week before his death.

The deceased was a retired farmer and he had also engaged, while a young man, as a school teacher in DeKalb County. He taught one term at the Magginis School, one term at the school in Jackson Center and another year at the Lockwood school. He attended Angola College prior to his teaching career.

Mr. Houk was the son of the late Daniel and Arilla Houk, pioneer residents of the county. He is survived only by a sister, Miss Grace Houk, who resided at the farm home with him. The home is located west of Spencerville.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at the Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville. Rev. W. H. Baker officiated at the services and burial was in White City Cemetery at Spencerville.

What Makes Right?

Lesson for November 30, 1952

WHAT makes right, right? It cannot be determined by counting votes. The voice of the people is not necessarily the voice of God.

Even if everybody in the world did exactly what is right (which has never happened in this world yet) it still would not be right merely because they all did it. If "right" meant nothing more than what everybody does or what most people do, then right would change as often as popular opinion changed. It would change with the climate, with the calendar. But right is something more enduring than popular opinions, customs or enthusiasms.

Does "Right" Mean "Legal"?

Another notion of what it is that makes right, is Law. If it's legal it's right, if it's illegal it's wrong. But haven't we often heard the expression, "There ought to be a law . . ."? The person who says that means that there is something which is right that isn't legal; he wants a law to match what is right. Or again, laws are sometimes repealed. But no one would ever vote to repeal a law if he didn't think the law was wrong. Good men sometimes repeal laws; but no good man ever wanted to repeal "right."

Dr. Foreman

There is a variety of this idea which has more truth in it: namely, that right is the same thing as the law of God. But God does not make acts right or wrong simply by ordering them to be so.

Could God have said, Thou shalt kill, thou shalt bear false witness? Could he have said, Thou shalt hate thy God and hate thy neighbor? Of course not. He could not have made up such nonsense-laws, such wicked commandments, because he is not that kind of God, for one thing, and for another thing because if he did, it would have meant the destruction of the human race. Although right, and the will of God, are really the same thing, yet an act is not right because God wills or commands it because it is right.

How Jesus Looked at It

How did Jesus our Lord stand on this question? What made a thing right, for him? He got into trouble with the lawyers of his time, and he got into trouble with what we would call D.D.'s and prominent preachers and professors of theology (the Pharisees); they called him "bad" and had him executed accordingly.

So there was evidently a difference between his way of looking at "right" and their way. It was precisely on this point that they split. Jesus tried to make clear, though the Pharisees were too blind to see it, that the Sabbath law, any law of God or good rule of man, is right and good only in so far as it promotes the welfare of man. This is not setting up man above God, for God is man's Creator. Right is what develops God's children; wrong is what stunts, deforms, defeats and destroys them.

To put it in another way: The test of right and wrong is always this: Will this thing make people better and make better people? If so, it is right. All our laws, institutions and interests must be brought to the test of their effect on human welfare. And of course, in Jesus' view, the welfare of man includes social, spiritual and mental well-being and growth, not physical health and financial wealth alone.

Liquor and Welfare

This being Temperance Sunday, it is a good time to think about the liquor traffic in the light of all this. Think it out for yourself. Remember, alcohol is a habit-forming drug, and all talk about liquor cannot erase that very plain fact.

Now think about the whole business of making it, glamorizing it in advertising, selling it and using it. Look around you in your home community, and in our nation at large, and ask: Does it bring more benefit to people in your community than it brings harm? Is the purpose of the business human welfare?

Ask the welfare agencies in your community—the Red Cross, the hospital, the agencies that look after the poor, the orphanage, and so on—ask these people: Does the liquor business make your work easier? Is the liquor trade the ally of the public school and the church? Does it make better citizens, better Christians? If it does, and only if it does, then as a Christian can you call it right.

Letters to the Editor

Port Richey, Fla.
Nov. 18, 1952

To our Indiana Friends,

Thinking you might be interested in our trip to Florida I am penning these few lines.

We left home Wednesday morning, Nov. 12, at 5 a.m. going by the way of Cincinnaat, Lexington, Knoxville, Atlanty. After leaving Cincinnati we followed U.S. highway 25. 129, 411 and took 41 at Cartersville, Ga., then 19 to Port Richey, Fla.

We staid the first night at La-Follet, just over the line into Tenn. The second night at Americus, Ga., arriving at Port Richey Friday. The roads were not so good in Tenn and Georgia and are very crooked.

We have nearly always taken the western route from Louisville to Cave City then through Scottsburg, Murfersboro and Columbus, Ga. I think this is a better route.

A question asked "How much does a trip to Florida cost?"

We traveled 1128 miles, used 60 gallons of gas costing $17.94. Cabins cost us $3.50 the first night the second night $2.50

We have a modern cabin in which we live for which we pay $200 for four months and we pay $1.50 per month tax plus the electric bill.

Most cabins here charge a somewhat higher rate. Food costs no less here than in the North.

The weather is ideal, the temperature ranges from 80 deprees in the daytime to 65 degrees at night. However there are drawbacks no matter where you go, insect life here is troublesome in the evenings. People get sick and die here just as they do in the North. In fact the death rate is higher here than other places because of the higher precentage of old people.

If you happen to come our way, stop and visit us. We are located on U.S. 19 just as you enter Port Richey on the right hand side of the road, or the Chamber of Commerce will direct you to our place.

Best wishes,
Clyde Hart

TURKEY SHOOT WINNERS

The weather wasn't too good but there were about forty shooters on hand Saturday for the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club's turkey shoot held the at grounds west of St. Joe.

There were a few beginners squads where 8x10 got a turkey but for the most part it took a score of 10x10 to win.

Turkey winners were Robert Crabill, Dick Roberts, John Knox, Dan Toms, C. Z. DeLong, C. E. Allen, R. Johnson, Alton Shindler, George Hacket, C. Gustin, B. Hardesty, Troudley, Floyd Kelly, C. Lines, John Conard, Kalenbeck, W. Frain, L. Hoff, Guagmer, Dr. Henning, F. Vail, P. Taylor, E. L. Hawkins, R. G. Sherer.

The other contestants had to be content with chicken.

Thirty turkeys and thirty chickens were disposed of by 3 p.m.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Twp. Home Ec Club held its November 21 meeting at the home of Doris Yeiser with potluck dinner. Kitchen committee was Mary Washler, Mary Kinsey, Mable Tustison, Hulda Reasoner, Katie Storer, Iva Yeiser and the hostess. There were 29 members and one guest present, along with four children.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Gertrude Borthwick. America was sung by the club after which the secretary's report, roll call, creed and club song were given. A motion was voted on and carried to raise dues to $1 per year.

The TB stamps were accepted and the club voted to send a gift to Mental Institution.

The project lesson, "Growing Old Gracefully," was given in part by Nancy Coburn and Mable Tustison. Doris Yeiser then gave birthday corsages and "Happy Birthday" was sung. Book review, "Just and Durable Parents," was given by Mrs. Thelma Blalock of Hicksville and was very interesting.

Penny collection was taken and the meeting closed with the song of the month, "Fairest Lord Jesus."

The next meeting will be the Christmas meeting with Nevada Wyatt.

Corn Kernel Muffins

For breakfast, brunch or lunch—here is a menu to please all comers. It's so delicious, nobody believes that it's a "breeze" to make!

Pamper your family with these easy-to-make Corn Kernel Muffins—hot, golden brown and tender.

They are so quickly prepared you may wonder why you long ago didn't adopt the Southern practice of making quick breads.

Corn Kernel Muffins have many hidden assets, too—especially when you use enriched flour. Enriched flour contains extra B-vitamins and food iron. And these "extras" are available at no added cost to you.

With Corn Kernel Muffins, bring on baked eggs topped with bacon strips. A good starter is cantaloupe wedges or chilled tomato juice. Don't limit Corn Kernel Muffins and baked eggs to breakfast time. This menu is an easy and "fun" way to entertain at brunch. Serve it with a fruit salad, coffee and assorted cookies for dessert. Buy the cookies at the bakery when time is limited.

Corn Kernel Muffins and baked eggs make a hearty lunch for school children. Accompany with a tossed salad and milk, followed by fresh, sliced peaches and cream.

CORN KERNEL MUFFINS

1 ½ cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, beaten
⅓ cup milk
1 ½ cups whole kernel corn (fresh or canned)
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk, corn and shortening. Add to flour mixture. Mix until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 25 minutes.

Makes 12 3-inch muffins.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS

The Juniors and Sophomores are still eager to get your magazine subscriptions since they have not yet reached their goal. Their campaign will end December 1. so if they haven't as yet contacted you and you are interested in buying some magazines, just get in touch with any Junior or Sophomore and they will gladly call at your home. All the profits from the magazine sales will be added to their class treasury and saved for their class trip next year.

CHICAGO TRIP

About thirty-five students from the Physics class and the Freshman Biology class and the Junior Home Economics class visited the big, windy city of Chicago on November 24. They were on their way at four in the morning and didn't return until late in the evening. The Physics class, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Yaste, spent the day at the Museum of Science and Industry. Mrs. Isabelle McClellan had charge of the rest of the group which spent the day touring the Museum of Natural History, the Acquarium, Adler's Planatarium and the Museum of Science and Industry.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

A Christmas music festival will be held on Wednesday evening, December 17, at the Spencerville gymnasium. Th St. Joe-Spencerville band will play Christmas carols and other special music under the direction of Mr. Carl Zimmerman. Mr. Zimmerman will also lead the chorus in several special Christmas numbers. A free will offering will be taken.

SPORTS

Spencerville played two games over the week end of November 21 and 22. The team went to Coesse on Friday, November 21, and went down to defeat by a five point margin. A varsity member, Bob Wallace, suffered an eye injury in the game.

The second team provided another thriller, winning by only 2 points. Lee Brown shot the winning basket just as the buzzer went off. After a moment's hesitation, the official timer said the basket counted and the Spencerville fans and players were jubilant.

Saturday night, November 22, the teams played Harlan at New Haven. Both games were a disappointment after the games the night before. The Harlan Hawks defeated the Raiders by a large margin, and the second team was defeated, too. This game was a let down to the fans after the second team's previous record.

The varsity scores for the last two games were: Spencerville 48, Coesse 53 and Spencerville 39, Harlan 88.

The Raiders were defeated by the Leo Lions Tuesday evening, 74 to 27.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTOR

Notice is hereby given that at the hour of ten o'clock A.M. on the 8th day of December the undersigned Surveyor of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all materials and labor and equipment necessary for the repair and the re-clean of the H. E. Geddis et al drain, according to the plans, profiles and specifications now on file in the office of said Surveyor of DeKalb County.

Such plans, profiles and specifications shall be open for the inspection of any landowners intertested or any contractor who may be a prospective bidder on the work.

The contract therefore will be let as a whole to the lowest bidder, the right being reserved to reject any and all bids and to readvertise for new bids. Bidders will be required to file non-collusion affidavits.

The successful bidder will be required to give bond unto the State of Indiana in an amount equal to the amount of his bid. No bids accepted from contractors with machines smaller than one-half yard.

For further particulars, inquire of the undersigned.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met Wednesday, November 19, at the home of Mrs. Charles Krise.

The meeting was called to order by the president and the collect was read by Mrs. Lora Leighty.

The lesson leader for the evening was Mrs. Frank Shull. Her topic was "Those Who Walk Alone" referring to those afflicted with Hansens disease.

Mrs. Llyod Dunten, as parliamentarian, gave some advice on public speaking.

Mrs. Wilbur Yeisar was entertainment chairman. Twenty members responded to roll call and one emeritus member was present.

The hostess served refreshments and the meeting adjourned to meet on December 3 with Mrs. William Staman.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

DEER STEALS GUN - There it was in print, this story in the Lagro Press (Wabash county): Gene Burns and other Lagro men went to southern Indiana to hunt deer. Burns was walking along the foot of an embankment when he heard a threshing noise above him. He looked up and saw a deer come tumbling toward him, apparently having lost its balance going down the steep incline. It landed almost at his feet, motionless, and either stunned or dead. Dead, Burns figured. He leaned his gun against the deer's head so he could attach the required license tag to the animal. But just then the deer came to life, jumped up and sped away, Burns' gun hanging from an antler as it disappeared.

Tall story, or short story?

WELL RESCUE - Scott Snyder, 3, was playing in the yard at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Luemma McCammon, Sullivan. Suddenly he tumbled into an abandoned well. Mrs. McCammon was washing windows and was using a 10-foot stepladder. In desperation she slid the ladder into the well and found it floated. She directed the boy to hold to the ladder. Meantime, the fire department was on the way and fished out the boy, wet, scared, but unhurt.

MURDER MYSTERY - Maybe it was an old unsolved murder case. Workmen who had been digging for construction in Rome City (Noble county) had unearthed a tub which contained many bones. They called the state police who radioed Trooper John Hertzeg to investigate. On the way he picked up Dr. J. D. Seybert, the county coroner. They rolled up to the crowd which had gathered. Dr. Seybert took one look, then walked away. "Dog bones," said he.

OLD FIND - A mastodon tooth weighing seven pounds was found 3½ miles southwest of Nappanee. It was taken to Notre Dame University and identified. Professors said it was one of the best preserved specimens found in the midwest. It had been buried from 20,000 to 35,000 years.

SMART DOG - Earl Clark, Elwood, decided his pet dog after all needed a good home in the country. He made such arrangements, put the dog in the car and drove to his farmer friend's home. There he alighted, leaving the dog in the car. After chatting with his friend a bit, Clark walked back to the car to let the dog out, but it was locked. All doors, except that at the driver's seat, had been locked all the time. After Clark had shut the door when he got out of the car, the dog jumped to that door and had pressed down the lock with a foot. Clark was so impressed he decided to keep the dog.

WHY NOT? - Mrs. Fannie Baylor, New Albany, is 97. She wanted to spend the winter in Florida because her daughter and son-in-law were going. So she went, taking a plane from Louisville, Ky.

U. S. TRAVELER - Fred C Zeig, Ft. Wayne manufacturer who founded two of that city's radio stations, believes he is the first person to visit all 3,074 counties in the nation. He has just completed the last leg of his travel having covered 44 counties in the southwest. He has travelled 275,000 miles on his mission, with three years' time elapsing since he set out on his feat, travelling as time would allow him away from his business. Among his travel observations, the Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette quoted him: "Unlike many motorists, he does not rail at the presence of so many trucks on the highways. Were it not for the trucking industry, he asserted, the national prosperity would be affected. Trucks definitely have an important place in the nation's transportation system, he added."

INTERNATIONAL DAY - It was sort of International Day, all the same day, in Carroll Circuit Court at Delphi. Handled on the docket that day by Judge William B. Smith was a case involving a Japanese war bride, a German war bride was naturalized (one of her witnesses was an Italian war bride), a Negro couple aired its marital problems, and then an English war bride received a divorce.

Around the Town

With the Editor

I was set straight about the P. T. A. projects last week. The president informed me that the parking lot was the first project and the stage curtain the next. I had had information to the contrary before and the stories about the P. T. A.'s activities were causing some misunderstanding—I understand.

Paul Moore passed one along Wednesday about his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hurni.

It seems they were on a trip recently and stopped in a town in Ohio at a motel. They decided to go to a show and upon leaving the theatre discovered that they didn't know where the motel was or what the name of the place was. They rode around for an hour looking for "home" before the Mrs. asked Bill if he didn't have the motel key in his pocket.

—He did, with the motel name and address on it.

Lazerne Keller noted a letter in one of the Fort Wayne papers recently written by a serviceman from Ashley asking for help from home (he's in Korea) for the orphaned Korean children. He ask-for old clothes, etc., and school supplies, such as crayons, pencils, paper and other supplies that are needed in school work. She sent those things to PFC. Paul C. Stoy US55178862, 568th Ord. H.M.Co., APO 72 P.M., San Francisco, Cal. She said she received a very nice thank-you letter from him and also received the following letter—

Seoul, Korea
Sunday Evening
23 November 1952

Dear Mrs. Keller,

I would like to send this note to you to help "thank you" for sending a package to help the children in the Kyon Chun Ai In Sa Orphanage, which is near our Company area.

Paul Stoy received several packages, and we took them up at the same time--so I don't know just which one was yours, and what to thank you for specifically. In the packages there were school supplies, crayons, tablets, childrens' clothes, and many other things that will be of great use to the Children.

The night we took the packages to the children, there was a group of them practicing Christmas Carols--in English. We were invited to stay a while and listen, and were thrilled with their singing. They know a number of English carols quite well, and when they sing, they put everything they have into their songs.

Of the 240-some children at the Orphanage, there are about 70 who go to school outside the Orphanage. The others, in the lower grades, receive schooling at the Children's Home. When we first discovered the Home, we saw there were not enough school supplies for them all. Now, I'm happy to say, every child has pencil, tablet, crayons and other supplies that are very important to a child in school. The response to appeals made by men in the Company have been wonderful.

Winter is coming on, but I know that it will be a bit warmer for the children because of the kindness shown by you and others who have opened their hearts and sent things over here to warm the bodies and hearts of these homeless children. It is people like you who are giving these children hope for their future, and a hope that there is something for them to live for. As long as there are people like you in the world, their faith will not be broken.

May God bless you for your kind thoughtfulness.

Sincerely Lt. John B. Cornish

—I imagine they can always use more of those supplies.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my friends, neighbors, the Lutheran Church and its members for the many cards, letters and gifts received since I entered the hospital.

County Fair Shows Profit

H. Earl Husselman of Grant Township, who, as president of the DeKalb County free fall fair association, led the organization to a successful year, was unanimously re-elected Friday night at the annual meeting held in Auburn.

The annual stockholders meeting was held in the assembly room of the court house.

For the first time in four years, the 1952 edition of the fair showed a profit. This year, the fair, the biggest in the long history of the fall events, earned $1,646.86.

And the complete financial report showed that the net worth of the association, including bank balance, bonds, buildings, equipment and fairground, is more than $16,000.

The stockholders of the organization took a look at the list of officers and directors placed in nomination by the nominating committee and voted unanimous approval of the slate.

Other officers elected were L. K. Mason of near Corunna, first vice-president, Franklin Bartels of Auburn, second vice-president, Ralph Wible of Auburn, concession secretary, H. L. Provines of near Auburn, recording secretary, Lloyd Hoodelmier of Auburn, treasurer, and Hugh Sanders of Auburn, fair attorney.

Others re-elected besides the president were Wible, Provines and Sanders. Hoodelmier replaced Robert Quance of Auburn. And in the vice-presidencies, Mason and Bartels exchanged places.

Nine directors, including one director-at-large, were elected unanimously.

J. Ray Linton of Jackson Township was re-elected director-at-large.

Other directors elected were Paul Post of Union Township, Marshall Funk of Keyser Township, Carl Perkins of Spencer Township, Derwood Ridgway of St. Joe, Albert Berg of Butler town, Oscar Noel of Butler Township, W. D. LaRowe of Concord Township and Clyde Leeke of Auburn.

Re-elected among the directors including Linton were Post, Funk, Berg and LaRowe. Ridgway replaced W. E. Walter, Noel replaced Frank Weller and Leeke replaced Gerald Russell.

The directors were elected to three-year terms and will serve during 1953, 1954 and 1955.

Holdover directors serving 1951-1953 terms are L. K. Mason, Oral Willenar, Lavern Stuckey, George Dilley, DeLoy Thornburg, Orlo Wynkoop, Harold Swank and Wilbur Beree.

Holdover directors serving 1952-1954 terms are Raymond Oster, Ford Walter, Cameron Parks, Fred Stemen, Fern A. Morr, Vern Myers, Wayland Mutzfeld and Clarence Pence.

The stockholders amended Section 3 of the by-laws and raised the association dues from 50 cents to $1.

The president also appointed a budget committee which will serve during the coming year. Members of the committee are Ford Walter, chairman, Carl Perkins and H. L. Provines.

The highlight of Friday night's meeting was the financial statement prepared by the auditing committee, Ford Walter, L. K. Mason and Franklin Bartels.

The report showed a breakdown of disbursements. Major item of expense was the rental of tents at $3,169. The next biggest item was $2,055 for bands.

Other major items of expense were $388 for advertising, $561 for printing, $340 for lights and water, $359 for insurance, $308 for labor, $940 for horse pulling contest and $900 for the tractor pulling contest.

Premiums, ranging from $358 for the draft horse department to $30 for the Home Economics clubs and premiums in the 4-H department, took another big slice in the expenses.

In the receipts column, the association received $6,748.60 for the sale of concession space, $3,282.46 from rides and shows, $2,085 for industrial displays, $750 from farm machinery displays, $1,000 from the county budget and $360 from memberships.

With other lesser receipts the total amounted to $15,183.53. Total expenses for the 1952 event were $13,536.67.

Profit of $1,646.86 from the 1952 event was reduced by $361 by payment of expenses incurring since the 1951 report. The balance returned to the fair treasury was $1,285.86.

The financial report showed in addition to the fairgrounds, buildings and equipment, $1,774.48 bank balance, $1,838 in government bonds and $1,206.53 in savings account.

The date for the 1953 fair has not been set. The president said the date would be set at a special meeting or regular meeting of the board within the next few months.

Ben Soule Passes Away

A retired St. Joe farmer, Benjamin Soule, 80, was found dead in his bed by relatives Tuesday November 25, at about 9 a.m. Dr. C. B. Hathaway stated that Mr. Soule died at approximately 11 p.m. Monday of natural causes, probably a stroke.

Mr. Soule had evidently eaten his supper in the home where he lived alone and gone gone to bed according to the sheriff's office.

The police officials said that a neighbor had noticed that Mr. Soule's house lights were turned off at about 8 p.m. Monday, when he evidently retired for the night.

He had suffered a previous stroke about two years ago but was in fairly good health until his death. He had resided in the St. Joe community for about 20 years.

Relatives noticed that there was no smoke coming from the chimney at the Soule home about 9 a.m. Tuesday and went to investigate. The screen door was locked and had to be taken off before entrance was gained. Upon finding the dead man they called the county coroner and police officials.

Mr. Soule was born on December 8, 1871, near Waterloo, the son of the late Darwin and Margaret Hodges Soule. He lived in DeKalb County all of his lifetime.

On August 12, 1894, he was married to Miss Martha June Oberholtzer. Mrs. Soule died on December 22, 1942. The couple had resided on a farm on the DeKalb County side of the DeKalb-Allen County Line, east of Spencerville before moving to St. Joe.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Miller of near Spencerville; two grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother, Glen Soule, of Delta, O.; and four sisters, Mrs. Nellie Campbell of Butler, Mrs. Maude Crooks of Waterloo, Mrs. Mattie Walters of Bryan, O., and Mrs. Ruth Gaskill of Angola.

The body was removed to the Walter Funeral Home at Spencerville for services Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery.

Thief Takes Clarinet From School

A sneak thief with a yen for a horn broke into the Concord Twp. School in St. Joe last week and stole a clarinet.

The thief took a clarinet valued at $87.50. It was owned by Sue Walter of St. Joe and was being used in the school band by another student at the school.

Other instruments valued at $800 were not molested. The burglary was committed sometime after Monday's classes but the theft was not discovered until Wednesday morning. The clarinet was practically new.

The burglar or burglars gained entrance to the school building by forcing a door. Entrance to the band storage room was effected when the thief pried off a latch and lock with a screwdriver.

4-H Tractor Course Popular. Report Shows

4-H tractor maintenance, newest project added to DeKalb County 4-H club work, in one year has become one of the most popular in the club. This was disclosed last week by assistant county agent George Aker.

The club in DeKalb County was organized early in 1952 and was an immediate success. Fifty-three boys were enrolled and all of them completed their projects.

The assistant county agent called a meeting of all county implement leaders and bulk oil distributors on last January 29 for the purpose of securing sponsors and planning for the program. It was previously suggested by the 4-H Club Council that a Tractor Maintenance Club be organized at the first opportunity. It was recognized that the large amount of costly and complex mechanical equipment being used on the farms had created an urgent need for the teaching of safe operation and maintenance of this equipment to farm youth.

At the first organization meeting on January 29, the club received 100 percent co-operation from the local sponsors. A series of eight club meetings and an awards program was worked out by the 25 sponsors present. The implement men and oil distributors each elected a president, secretary and treasurer and also a board of directors to carry out their part of the 4-H progam.

The first club meetings were held on February 9, 16 and 23. The meetings were held at the business establishments of implement dealers in Auburn. Company representatives were on hand at each meeting to assist the leader, Robert Witt, of Spencerville, in teaching air cleaner service, cooling and electrical system maintenance and carburation. More than 100 club members, parents, sponsors and leaders were present at each meeting.

The club completed its series of eight meetings on March 17. A modified tractor driving contest concluded the program.

The oil distributors sponsoring the program then called a meeting to plan a father and son recognition banquet for all 4-H'ers who completed their projects. Awards of tool kits were obtained for the boys having the best record books and certificates of completion were presented to all completing members.

The first tractor maintenance banquet was held in the county on April 18. More than 117 club members, dads and sponsors attended the banquet. Guest speakers included Hansel Smuts of the Standard Oil Company and Les Hill of the Purdue agricultural engineering department. Achievement awards were presented to the 4-H'ers and recognition was given to the 28 oil distributors and farm equipment dealers sponsoring the club.

Plans were then made to hold a 4-H plowing and tractor operating contest on August 18. This contest climaxed the 4-H tractor club program for 1952. Twelve boys entered in the plowing contest and sixteen in the operating contest held at the Lester Boger farm east of Auburn. A committee of judges scored the contestants on safety, quality of plowing, fuel economy and driving skill. Awards were presented to the winners in all divisions. A large group of spectators added to the attraction of the contest.

One of the most popular phases of each tractor club meeting is the portion devoted to safety. The safety lessons are varied to maintain interest by use of movies, lectures, demonstrations and plays prepared by the club members.

The county farm machinery dealers provided tractors and equipment for the Fort Wayne district 4-H tractor operator contest held in Auburn on August 20.

In concluding the 4-H tractor club program, the assistant county agent and the local club leaders explained the story of 4-H tractor maintenance to the public over Fort Wayne's radio stations WOWO and WKJG.

DeKalb County was honored in the fact that its agents, Mr. Aker and county agent Ernest J. Lesiuk, and the tractor club leader, Robert Witt, were asked to attend a two-day conference with Standard Oil representatives at Chicago to aid John Banning of Purdue's 4-H club department in explaining how the tractor maintenance clubs operate and function in Indiana.

Plans have already been made for the 1953 program. More local leaders have been secured and have received training at the Purdue tractor maintenance clinic. Arrangements have been made to offer an advanced program for fourth year members. This will include maintenance of cultivating and harvesting equipment.

CONSERVATION CLUB

The St. Joe Valley Conservation Club will present Mr. Les White of Fort Wayne, an outstanding sportsman and lecturer, at its next monthly meeting to be held Thursday, December 11, in the K. of P. Hall in St. Joe.

Mr. White will show an hour-long picture of a Utah hunting trip.

The Conservation Club has taken great efforts to bring Mr. White to St. Joe and invites the public, members or not, to attend. The time is 7:30 p.m.

The 1953 Board of Directors will be elected and regular business disposed of before Mr. White's presentation.

Bring the entire family.

What Significance Does Thanksgiving Have For You and I—

I am convinced that Thanksgiving is not celebrated in the right manner and spirit. How many of us know the real reason for celebrating Thanksgiving? Most of us think of it as a day of feasting, gathering together, and visiting with each other but how much do we have to be thankful for? Yes, many blessings and how seldom we pause to thank God for all his good gifts. Let us use our imagination many years back when Thanksgiving was first celebrated.

In the Bible Thanksgiving dates back into the most remote ages. Many of these celebrations usually took place as festivals of Thanksgiving for the reaping of the harvest. One of the first Thanksgivings was observed by the Canaanites. It is also mentioned in other scriptures of the books of Isaiah, Amos, Nehemiah and Psalms.

In Psalm 95:2, "Let us come before his presence with Thanksgiving and make a joyful noise unto him with Psalms." Here Thanksgiving means praising God. Mr. Webster states that the word Thanksgiving means, "An act of giving thanks." The Pilgrims, who celebrated the first Thanksgiving of 1621, had no complaints: their hearts were filled with humble gratitude. These people had many hardships. It took industrious men and women to build homes in the wilderness, cut down trees, rear children, and create a new nation. First they thanked God for life itself, then for food, faith, for their God, who had guided them thus far and would care for them each day to come. They remembered April, when they had sowed their corn which at first promised plentiful harvest. But lack of rain or even showers blasted their hopes in mid-summer. For six weeks they had waited, all their future in the balance. Then they set aside a day of prayer for rain. For nine hours the whole colony prayed in the brassly sunshine. Toward evening there was a promise of rain. It did rain and the bowed grain lifted. After the grain had been harvested, Governor William Bradford sent a company of men for game. They returned with venison, wild birds and turkeys. The Indiana chief, Massasoit, and ninety Indian braves shared the three day feast.

Let us make Thanksgiving a day of real significance, praising God for the many blessings, a free country which we live in, and freedom of religion. True gratitude begins and ends at God's throne.

Sincerely yours,
Bonnie Witt

We received this letter too late for publication last week. However, its thought is appropriate any day in the year. —Ed.

Local Ministry Student Recognized In Article

William Billow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billow of St. Joe, is assistant pastor in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church in Phoenix, Arizona, in his preparation for the ministry. The Phoenix Republic on Monday, November 24, 1952, carried a feature article by Virginia Everett, Church Editor, about Bill, passed on to the News by his proud sister, Carol. The article reads in part—

"A rainy Arizona Sabbath didn't keep worshippers away from the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church yesterday.

"Churchgoers splashed along their way to the 11 a.m. service at the beautiful old structure located at 1124 N. Third Stret.

"The usher smiled as he handed out the bulletins and--in spite of the weather--there was a line of visitors waiting to sign the guest book.

"Highly polished wooden pews flanked the center aisle which leads to a hand carved reredos wall behind the altar. 'Holy, Holy, Holy' was written in gold letters on green altar hangings and our bulletins told us it was the 'twenty-fourth Sunday after Trinity.'

"The youth pastor, William D. Billow, stood behind the pulpit, in a black robe and welcomed visitors and members of the congregation. He also said the pastor, H. C. Lindsay, was 'coming along fine and hopes to be back soon.' A woman sitting next to me said Mr. Lindsay had been ill for several months and that Mr. Billow, a seminary stduent, was conducting the services.

"The young student, who has another year's schooling left, spoke with ease and confidence as he used Matt. 9:21,25 for the text of his sermon, 'The Touch of Faith.' He spoke of the woman who was diseased and quoted, 'If I may touch His garment, I shall be whole.' The young preacher said, 'What power there is in that faith.' In continuing his textual sermon, he said that 'Death has no power in the presence of our Lord.'

"Members greeted friends and laughed about the rain as they shook hands with the young preacher at the door. As we chatted after services, I asked the young man if it wasn't difficult for him without Mr. Lindsay. He smiled saying, 'Oh, I don't give those sermons all alone--it's done with the Lord's help."

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club held the November meeting in Florence Miller's home.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the club collect.

Mildred Hanson gave the song history of "Fairest Lord Jesus" with the ladies joining in singing the same.

Devotions were given by Edna Perkins. The project lesson, "Growing Old Graciously," was given by Lula Allison and Edna Perkins.

Business discussion was followed by special reports as follows: poultry, Katy Crow; health, Marcelle Storer; outlook, Gertrude Reinhart.

Penny march was taken. Roll call was answered by 22 members.

Secretary's report was read and approved.

The meeting was closed by repeating the club creed.

The December meeting will be with Edna Perkins.

'Messiah' Director To Take Chorus To Inauguration

George Gerhard Arkebauer, director of the Fort Wayne Lutheran Choral Society and chairman of the Defiance College music department, has been invited to take his Defiance College Choir to Washington, D. C., on January 20 for the inauguration of President-elect Eisenhower.

Eisenhower extended the invitation last summer in an interview with Arkebauer in Denver, Colo., where Ike was resting following his convention victory. The meeting of the two men was arranged by Dr. Kevin McCann, president of Defiance College, a close friend and adviser to Eisenhower.

Arkebauer accepted Eisenhower's invitation and, since a singing tour had already been planned for his choir, rescheduled dates to comply with the day of the President-elect's inauguration.

Arkebauer will direct the Fort Wayne Lutheran Choral Society in its 15th annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" at the Quimby Auditorium in Fort Wayne on Sunday, December 7, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The "Messiah" performance will feature the 85-voice chorus, four professional soloists and a symphony orchestra made up of members of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra.

Tickets will be on sale at the door the day of the performance.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT COBURNTOWN CHURCH SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7

Miss Margery Hollabaugh spent the Thanksgiving holiday week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hollobaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wertman of Leo and Miss Evelyn Guy were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoover and family.

Mr. Jerry and James Bowser spent the week end at home with Mr. and Mrs. Gale Bowser.

Word has been received from PFC Herbert (Bob) Hoover that he has been moved back of the front lines 85 miles and is in reserve now after spending eight months on the front lines as a forward observer. He will be there until he rotates which will be some time after the first of the year.

Miss Maxine Hoover spent the Thanksgiving week end in Michigan, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder.

The Walter funeral coach, in charge of Joe Baidinger, student funeral director, was one of the three in the funeral cortege of Mrs. Mary Tracey and her two children who are believed to have died from carbon monoxide poison in their home in Fort Wayne.

LOYAL WORKERS CLASS

The Loyal Workers Sunday School Class of the Spencerville Lutheran Church met for its November social activity at the home of Mrs. Flossie Rhoads.

Rev. W. H. Baker led the devotions and gave a talk on Christmas customs from the standpoint of the Chritian. After the closing hymn, Mrs. Claudia Hafner conducted a contest and Rev. Baker gave an interesting and instructive quiz.

Election of officers was held.

It was announced that the December Christmas exchange will be held at the parsonage with Mrs. Baker as hostess.

A basket lunch was enjoyed and all expressed a most enjoyable evening.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The annual Christmas Party of the Concord Twp. Home Economics Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Vada Wyatt on Friday, December 12. This will be an all day meeting with pot luck dinner at noon. Members are asked to bring table service.

Because of the shortness of the days, an effort will be made by the committee to serve the dinner by 11:45 a.m. Members are asked to co-operate by being present by this time. The afternoon program will begin at 1 p. m. instead of the usual time of 1:30. Mrs. Phyllis Heyman will be in charge of a thirty-five cent gift exchange. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Laura Washler, Mrs. Lula Armstrong, Mrs. Pluma Hamilton, and Mrs. Mable Baker.

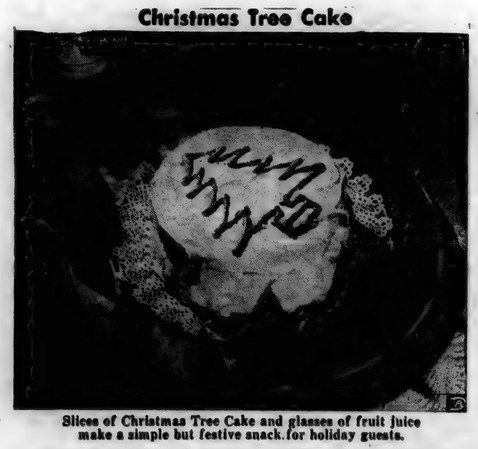
Christmas Tree Cake



Slices of Christmas Tree Cake and glasses of fruit juice make a simple but festive snack for holiday guests.

Entertaining during the Christmas holidays is a must. Make the party easy on you, as well as guests, and serve a delicious, easy-to-prepare Christmas Tree Cake.

Christmas Tree Cake is made from a standard two-egg cake recipe topped with a Butter Cream Frosting. The topping requires no cooking. Get out your pastry tube and food coloring and trim the cake with a fetching green tree.

For added decor, put the cake on an over-sized tray and circle the cake with red pyramid candles.

If you have no cake-baking time, visit your baker. He will have a wide selection of holiday cakes from which you may choose. You may want to purchase a plain cake and decorate it yourself.

Christmas Tree Cake pictured here supplies 12 large servings—at only 5 cents each. For extra value, nutritionally, be sure to use enriched flour. You'll be getting extra amounts of three B-vitamins and food iron.

CHRISTMAS TREE CAKE

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy and light. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk and vanilla extract. Mix to smooth batter. Pour batter into 2 greased 8-inch round pans. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Frost with Butter Cream Frosting. Makes 2 8-inch layers.

BUTTER CREAM FROSTING

½ cup butter or margarine
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon cream (about)
1 teaspoon flavoring extract
Food coloring

Cream butter or margarine until soft and fluffy. Add sugar gradually, beating well. Add flavoring. Add cream, as needed, to make a spreading consistency. Add food coloring to a few spoonfuls of frosting. Use for decoration.

Makes enough frosting for 2 8-inch layers.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

IKE CLOCK - During the war, Elmer Baugh, Winamac, bought an 8-day clock. It operated merrily a few years, but four years ago it quit—dead. Baugh let the clock set untouched. On last election day, when Baugh returned home from voting, the clock had started to run, and has been ever since.

UNLUCKY BOY - As boys do, Gary and Mike Branch were climbing up and down an iron fence on the Citizens' National Bank property in Tell City, Gary, 13, vaulted down and as he did a ring he was wearing caught on the point of an iron picket. He suffered loss of a part of a finger.

SPIDER BITE - You hear of it once in a while, and it happened to Mrs. William Boyd, Orleans. She was bitten by a black widow spider. Feeling the bite on her foot, she killed the insect. Curious about its uncommon appearance, she took it to an entomologist. He identified it as a black widow and hurried her to a doctor. Treatment was effective, except for extreme soreness.

DOUBLE TROUBLE - Last July Dewel Gibson, New Castle, broke his leg in an automobile accident. It was a bad break and he kept the cast on until late fall. The next day after he took it off, he fell and broke his leg again.

TOE TALE - Arriving home from a hunting trip, Harry W. Johnson, Bluffton city milk inspector, thought a hot bath would feel good. In the tub and alone in the house, he had that common experience of the phone ringing. Rushing as you usually do in such circumstances, he stubbed his toe and fractured it. He called a doctor and in the excitement the doctor misunderstood. For when Johnson reached the physician's office, a second doctor had been called in and both were laying out surgical instruments for an emergency. They had thought Johnson had been hurt in a hunting accident.

FATHER COOKS - Walt Janney arrived at his home in Gaston (Delaware Co.) at 6:30 one evening and found the family away. On the kitchen stove was a pot of vegetable soup. He figured it was his meal so he turned on the fire and settled in his chair to wait the soup to heat. The next thing he knew excited voices were awakening him and the house was full of smoke. It was 9:30 and the family had returned to find him sound asleep, the soup burnt to nothing and the pot much scorched. Just like a man, any housewife would say.

ROMANCE RENEWED - William H. Brown, 77, Lisbon, O., and Dora Stamifer, 78, Hymera, were issued a marriage license at Sullivan. They had been married to each other in 1900, but were divorced in 1906 and each again had remarried. But in the intervening 48 years both had been bereft by death. Next chapter: remarriage.

GOOD RECORD - Nearly all year, state police have found that the number of trucks violating the overweight load law is less than 1 per cent. They reported that the record held true again in October when 502 arrests were made out of 75,498 truck checks made, the violators numbering .66 of 1 per cent. The Indiana Motor Truck Association says such arrests result usually from technical errors or an unexpected shifting of loads to cause one axle to become overloaded.

NAVIGATION REPORT - A 75-foot barge which had been submerged 26 years in Lake Wawasee has been raised and re-floated. Originally used to haul marl across the lake, the barge later had been used by channel dredgers when it sank accidentally. Submerged all these years, it has always been a sunken hazard for lake boats. It was floated by sinking steel drums alongside, then they were filled to high air pressure. Once the barge was raised and pumped out it floated alone.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 13. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 119:33-40.

The Great Teacher

Lesson for December 7, 1952

ALTHOUGH this column is not intended for Sunday school teachers only, many teachers do read it. This week, while so many thousands of Christians are studying about Jesus, the great Teacher, it is a good thing to think about the teaching of religion, and to see what can be learned from the methods of Jesus himself. He was called "Teacher" more often than by any other title, and summed up his own work by saying "I have taught."

What?

The first thing a Sunday school teacher needs to ask is. What am I supposed to be teaching? Just facts about the Bible aren't the thing; Jesus never formally "taught Bible" as we often try to do. There is a place for that sort of thing, of course; it is of some importance to know how many books there are in the Bible, with their names arranged in order; it is worth while to know the names of the Apostles and to be able to trace the journeys of Moses or Paul on a map. But teaching these is not teaching religion. What Jesus taught can be put into two words: God, man. What God is like; what man's relation to God ought to be; how man should act toward God and his neighbor; everything Jesus taught can be summed up in those topics.

Dr. Foreman.

You can express it in various ways. You can say he taught the way a child of God ought to live. You can say he taught the laws of right living. You can say he taught how to come to God and to serve him. Any way you put it, it comes back to the same two themes, God and man,—not separately but related, man to God, man to man.

How?

There are two differences between a good teacher and a poor one. (More than two, but these are among the most important.) A good teacher knows his subject, the poor one has only a hazy idea of it. And a good teacher knows how to teach, while the poor one just blunders around. Like all other arts, teaching is knowing-how as well as knowing-what.

In studying the methods of Jesus, we must remember that he did not have a formal class room. He did not have scheduled hours, not even the regular once-a-week the Sunday school teacher now has. His teaching was all informal. But even so, we can learn much from his methods. He almost never "lectured," that is to say, he answered questions people asked him rather than making cut-and-dried speeches. His teaching grew out of people's actual needs and problems, he "spoke to their condition." Good teaching is answering.

Then we note that Jesus did not use big words, worn-out words or generally abstract words. For example, he never once used the word "religion" though he was talking about it all the time. He seldom used the word "sin" though he often put his finger on particular sins. His language was the language other people spoke and could understand.

He used the Bible for his illustrations sometimes, but he did not wear out the effect of it by overusing it. Even the best of books can be made tiresome by tiresome repetition. The Bible is the most living book in the world, and Jesus never killed it by dullness. Yet Jesus knew the value of repeating truth, and knew how to repeat it without making it tiresome. He would light up the same truth from many different angles.

Who?

As has been said here before, if Jesus' life had not been in line with his own teachings, what he said would have met with jeers and indifference. No one would have cared nor remembered what he said. The thing that really gave life and fire to his teaching was—himself.

Perhaps it is true, though this writer doubts it, that there are subjects in which the teacher's character makes little difference. Possibly a man whose personal life no one admires may make a passable teacher of mathematics or chemistry.

But in the field of religion,—of faith, of character — what the teacher himself is, in his character and daily life, is of central importance. What you are, as a person, either underscores what you teach in Sunday school, or crosses it out.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

THE WINTER KILLER

CARBON monoxide is a fooler, and a killer. The most widely distributed of poisons, it is also non-irritating, colorless, tasteless, and in moderate amounts, odorless.

Outbreaks of carbon monoxide poisonings occur during the winter months when there is danger of gas escaping from defective coal furnaces, obstructed chimneys, and imperfectly operating gas appliances. During cold weather, ventilation is likely to be reduced to a minimum, allowing poisonous concentrations of carbon monoxide to build up.

Many deaths occur in closed garages, and in parked cars with motor running, from exhaust gas from the automobile motor. Poisoning depends not only on the carbon monoxide content of the air breathed in, but also on the length of time the victim has been exposed to the gas.

Carbon monoxide can kill quickly, as in mine dust explosions.

Headache is often the first symptom noticed, although frequently the onset is more insidious. There may be a muscular weakness without loss of consciousness, but with disturbance of memory, followed by a hazy oblivion ending in full coma, and death.

Treatment of carbon monoxide poisoning is an emergency and calls for immediate artificial respiration.

The prone-pressure method of resuscitation is used, and when possible the use of an inhalator for the administration of oxygen is most desirable. In mild cases fresh air is all that is needed.

Have some ventilation — for safety's sake.

Homes, farms, stores and factories are using more electricity than ever before, and will use even more in the future. In order to serve you best, and to insure that the area we serve will continue to have plenty of power—we are maintaining a constant program of expansion.

Just recently we put into operation a second electric-generating unit at our Tanners Creek Plant in Lawrenceburg, Indiana. Years in the planning and construction stages, this $18,000,000 unit will now provide enough electricity to supply 150,000 homes.

But we are not stopping here. To keep the supply of electricity well ahead of the demand, a third and larger unit will be completed at the Tanners Creek Plant in 1954. This is further assurance that service will remain at today's high level of efficiency.

Around the Town

With the Editor

That card of thanks elsewhere in this issue from Mrs. Pugsley may cause some folks to comment—"I didn't even know she was ill." If so, that's my fault. Carol Pugsley told me a few weeks ago that her mother-in-law had been taken to the hospital. Unfortunately I didn't have my little blue book with me to make a notation. Consequently, the item didn't appear.

I don't like to have those things happen—particularly with good contributors like Mrs. Pugsley.

If you want to see a real cool basketball player, drop in on the Pistons sometime and get a look at their newest acquisition, Whiz Kid Andy Philips. He hasn't done too much scoring so far, but his level-headed team play is really a treat. He must have split vision or something—looking back, to the sides and down court while having complete control of the ball as he dribbles.

With Andy, Dick Groat and Don Meineke now on the roster and Dike Eddleman's "kiss" shot swishing through the nets again, the Pistons have one of the best teams, man for man, you could ask for. Up until recently their weakness was in reserve strength. That weakness is gone—as is Charley Share's "buck fever." He looks like an old pro now. And Paul Birch has evidently changed his strategy some as the boys are running this year. It was disheartening last year to see "go" men like Eddleman and Brian bringing the ball down the floor in a walk.

Every Sunday night game features half time entertainment. Next Sunday's treat will be Bob (Bing's brother) Crosby who will appear at 7:30 p.m. and at half time intermission.

Mrs. Ralph Hook brought in a news item from the Grand Rapids Herald telling of young Ed's basketball efforts in a game against Calvin College. He's attending Junior College. Ed was on the losing side but his 22 points almost made a victory out of defeat. The score was 72-65. At one time in the 3rd quarter, Junior College was behind 57 to 38. But a rally in the final period with Ed and three of his mates scoring cut the score to the final margin.

The article states: "Ed Hook, alert and speedy, again led the Raiders defensively, and combined top ball handling with deception to lead scoring with 22 markers."

Bill Hurni says his ad in the News sold his house to Ray Moore. He ran an ad in the Fort Wayne papers for a week and had a few nibbles (cost him five dollars and something). Then he ran one in the News a couple of times and had lots of bites.

—That's what I keep telling 'em. . . . . why be so anxious to do business 10, 15 or 20 miles away when there's a market right in your own back yard!

The auto carrier was loaded with cars; but the tractor headlights would not light, so the driver turned on the lights of the car on top of the trailer, which was facing forward, and he drove on.

Then came a time when a car approached from the opposite direction. Suddenly the approaching car weaved back and forth on the highway and went out into a field off the highway.

The tractor-trailer driver stopped to see what happened and he asked the car driver, who replied in a whiskey tenor, "As I wash telling Joe here, if that thing wash as wide as it wash tall, we didn't stand a chance!"

Shotguns Taken From Home

The Lavon Brunson home, north of St. Joe on road 8, was entered by thieves Sunday and two shotguns, valued at $150, stolen.

The house was not locked and the burglars entered through the front door.

In the front room of the residence they picked up a 12-gauge feather-weight Ithaca shotgun and a single shot 20-gauge Stevens.

Nothing else in the home was missing, the owner reported to investigating officers.

The family left the home about 6 p.m. Sunday night and discovered the robbery when they returned about midnight.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE

Beginning with the visits of January of 1953, hte method of conducting the part-time offices of the Social Security Administration in the Fort Wayne area will be changed, according to Christian H. W. Luecke, manager.

A representative of the Fort Wayne office will be in Auburn in the post office on every 1st, 3rd and 4th Thursday, the same as in the past, Mr. Luecke said. However, due to the increase in the number of callers seeking information about Social Security and the resulting congestion in the part-time office on these visiting days, they will operate the office by previous appointments.

Mr. Luecke explained the appointment system as follows: all callers seeking information about Social Security are requested to make an appointment ahead of time if at all possible. To get your appointment, write the Social Security Administration, 306 Federal Building, Fort Wayne. They will advise you just when and what time you should call at this part-time office.

It is believed that this system will give all residents of this area an equal opportunity to obtain the information they want without waiting in line.

Persons not having a previous appointment will, of course, be taken care of if and when time permits.

Mr. Luecke urged all employees in industry or commerce and all self-employed to confer with the representative on the advisability of filing their applications, since under the emended law, a worker now 65 years of age needs only six quarters of coverage, acquired at any time since 1936, to be eligible for benefits.

Where workers in employment covered by the Social Security Act have died, members of the families should see the representative at the earliest possible moment about filing their applications for benefits.

Tigers On Scoring Spree Against Ney, Raiders

The Tigers brought home two more victories for their record during the past week. On Saturday night they traveled to Ney, O., and won a 72-58 game. Tuesday night they went to Spencerville and took the Raiders by a 72 to 53 score.

The Ohio atmosphere must have effected the boys a little as they got off to a slow start. They trailed 21-16 at the end of the opening period. But they were wound up for the second stanza, netting 27 markers while Ney scored only 11.

The Tigers were ahead 59-42 at the end of the third period and didn't encounter any trouble in holding their lead in the final frame.

Bob DeLong scored 21, Sam Morr got 19 and Kenny Walters made 17 to lead the scoring.

The seconds won a 41-38 victory with Lee Davis getting 15 and John Depew 13.

Walters and DeLong almost had enough points between them Tuesday night to win at Spencerville. Each had 25 points.

Quarter scores were 19-13, 35-23 and 56-40.

Lothamer matched the locals' high scorers also netting 25 points. Jones and Dwyer had 10 each.

The seconds reversed their previous tactics of coming from behind to win. They led through the first three quarters only to drop a two-pointer in the final period, 34-32.

Quarter scores were 12-4, 20-16 and 28-25.

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 14. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 27:1-6.

Fear or Faith

Lesson for December 14, 1952

"FEAR was the first creator of Gods," wrote a long-ago Roman poet. This was more or less true of all religions he could have known about. It is also true of most religions around the world.

An ex-Buddhist who had once trained for the priesthood in his own religion, said of his childhood, "All I knew was that there were 800 gods and I was afraid of them all."

The characteristic feature of most religions is the appeasement of angry, capricious or vengeful gods. Sometimes the terror is without rhyme or reason, as in the case of the Buddhist boy just quoted. Sometimes the terror has a moral base and reason, as the great Greek poet Aeschylus portrays in his plays—the terrors of a man of guilty conscience fleeing from the gods who do not forget nor forgive.

What Makes Men Afraid?

In Matthew's story we have illustrations of what men fear. Herod, for example, was a superstitious man. He was afraid of John the Baptist, and later afraid of Jesus because he thought he might be John again, risen from the grave. Herod was an example of the man who fears whatever he does not understand. A horse will shy at a piece of paper more than at more dangerous things. Horses nowadays pass cars (or rather, cars pass them!) and the horse does not so much as prick an ear; but in the days when cars were rare, horses would go wild at the very sight or sound of one.

Dr. Foreman

People are like that; grown men are often no more than grown-up children, still afraid of the dark. Then Herod also is an illustration that men are as it were afraid of their own shadows. That is to say, as Shakespeare puts it, "Conscience doth make cowards of us all." Or as the Psalmist said long before Shakespeare: "The wicked flee when no man pursueth."

Many of our fears would never exist if we had lived as we ought to have lived. Men live in fear of exposure, fear of blackmail, fear of failure and defeat, often through no one's fault but their own. Then the disciples too were afraid. They were not superstitious, they were not haunted by their sins, but they were afraid in the storm, they feared the wind and waves.

Why Christians Are Brave

Students of the Bible have discovered that the word "fear" is usually tied there to another word: Not. Fear not, is one key-note of both Old and New Testaments. The reason for this is plain. Christianity is the religion of love: love to God, love to one's neighbor. Not mere good will or kindly feeling, but active, self-forgetful love. "There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear," as St. John said.

Old writers, commenting on the story of Peter's sinking in the sea, have said that if he had kept his mind on Jesus instead of on himself and on the storm-tossed waves, he would not have cried out, "I perish." Certain it is that when we are self-centered we are sure to be tormented with fear, for we are always thinking what may happen to us—and of course plenty can.

If we keep our minds on our work and on the fact that God is our Father, if we remember morning, noon and night that the God who "so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son" is the same God who created this universe and controls it, then we shall not be scourged with fears.

Courageous Christians

It is a tremendous mistake to think that Christianity is only for rabbity people, for mice and not men. Christ does something for even such persons, it is true; he takes them clear out of themselves. Remember the long roll of the early Christian martyrs, very humble people most of them, who died horrible deaths rather than deny their Master; remember such saints as the missionaries who converted our own savage ancestors, at great peril to their own lives; remember the missionaries of our own time, some of them suffering torture and all of them distress, yet not giving up. The ordinary Christian missionary has more to be afraid of than most of the rest of us have; yet he has less fear. He knows God too well.

Spencerville School News

The Sophomore and Junior magazine campaign came to a close on December 1. The Sophomores led in sales with a total of $200.-40. The Juniors had $150.55. The leading salesman for the Sophomores was Elmira Gloor who sold $53.25. Kern Butler led the Juniors with $35.80.

The two classes did not reach their goal of $800, but they do have a nice amount of money to add to their funds for their coming trip.

The Sophomores are planning a class party for December 19. It will be a Christmas party in the gym basement.

They are expecting their class rings around the 16 of this month.

The Juniors are putting the finishing touches on their class play. Don't forget to attend their play on December 12 or 13.

The band and chorus have been practicing for their Christmas programs. These programs will be given on December 15 at St. Joe and on December 22 at Spencerville.

The band will play — Two Moods, The Americana, Christmas Carols and Christmas Tide.

The chorus will sing—Glory To God In Heaven, Carol of the Bells and All Shall Be Well With Thee.

SPORTS

Spencerville lost their second home game to Scott Center Friday night by a score of 56 to 38.

The second team defeated Scott 31 to 15.

BETA NEWS

On December 5 and 6, Miss Ida Reed, Beta Club sponsor, and Adair Reed, Dorothy Nusbaum and Nancy Vendrely attended the Indiana-Kentucky Beta Club convention in Louisville, Ky.

The first session of the convention was a talent contest in which a number of the clubs participated. On Saturday, state officers were elected and several conferences were held for the benefit of the club officers. Our delegates tended the Activities Conference and learned the many ways other clubs have to earn money and to be of service to their school and community.

Saturday evening the Convention came to a close with a banquet and a dance. Everyone had a wonderful time even though they were tired and weary after the long bus trip.

GRADE NEWS

1st—We had three on the honor roll for the second six weeks grading period. We also have a few who should have honorable mention. A little effort on their part and they will make the honor roll. They are Melvin Smith, Gayle Zimmerman, and Karen Witt.

2nd—There were two on the honor roll from the second grade. There are otheds who deserve honorable mention. They are Larry Beaty, Linda Emenhiser and Karen Hook.

Letters to the Editor

Port Richey, Fla.
Dec. 3, 1952

To My Hoosier Friends

I am sitting on our front porch The sun is shining brightly. It is just the noon hour and the thermometer says the temperature is seventy-five degrees. In front of our cabin is the road which runs north and south. Across the road is a clump of palms and towering above them is a tall pine tree. While sitting here yesterday I counted eleven gray squirrels jumping from tree to tree. You often see them walking the electric light wires which run along the other side of the road. Just beyond the road runs the Cotee River. We are two miles from the mouth where it empties into the Gulf of Mexico. During high tide boats of every description ply up and down the stream. One man has his boat propelled by an airplane engine and you can hear him coming when he leaves the gulf. Most are propelled by inboard or outboard motors.

Sea gulls, pelicans and herons used to be very plentiful but the motors have scared them from the river. By the way did you notice the scarcity of crows in our country last summer? I am wondering what was the reason.

People living in our camp are from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Arizona, Massachusetts. The familiiar camp fire burns each night and from a dozen to twenty-five relate interesting facts and some tall tales are told.

Sunsets are beautiful in Florida as it drops below the shimmering water of the gulf. It usually rises in a misty haze but shortly the haze clears away. And cloudy days are rare. The St. Petersburg Independent gives away its paper every day the sun does not shine in their city. The merchants reimburse the editor. This is a great advertisement for the city. Nine editions is the most ever given away in one year.

If you appreciate these letters, let us hear from you and I will continue them if the editor is willing.

Your Friend
Clyde Hart

I'm willing. —Ed.

Skid-Consciousness Necessary In Winter Driving

Many factors cause skidding, but speeding claims the highest rating, according to the Chicago Motor Club. The most frequent causes are: speeding up too suddenly or applying the brakes too hard; driving too fast on curves; swerving suddenly from a straight course; driving too fast while on rough roads or while crossing the crown of a road; eneven braking on the four wheels; improperly inflated tires; worn tires which result in a low coefficient of friction and sometimes in blowouts.

If your car starts to skid, you're in trouble. There are no standard steps which will always get you out successfully. However, the Club has suggested these rules which are generally wise:

1. Keep yourself under control.
2. Steer in the direction in which the rear end is skidding, but do not over-steer.
3. Avoid braking.
4. Keep the clutch engaged.
5. Don't lift your foot from the accelerator suddenly.

As a caution for winter driving the Club advises: always reduce speed on wet or icy roads.

SHEEP TO BE PROFITABLE FOR DEKALB COUNTY FARMERS

The present low number of sheep and a moderately strong demand for both meat and wool should make next year a profitable one for sheep producers, county agent Ernest J. Lesiuk reported last week.

If sheep producers want to take full advantage of this favorable position, they should furnish their flocks plenty of good legume roughage and high quality pasture.

In a recent Purdue University publication entitled, "Sheep Management," Henry Mayo and W. T. Anderson, animal husbandmen, pointed out that sheep can be profitable meat producers on farms where there is plenty of legume hay and pasture available. However, they are soon disposed of when legumes are not provided.

Also included in this bulletin are helpful suggestions on selecting breeding stock and caring for the flock during the lambing and shearing season.

A free copy of the illustrated booklet is available from the local county agent or the agricultural publication office, Purdue University, Lafayette.

TRI TOWNSHIP FARM BUREAU

A pot luck super was served at the recent Tri-Twp. Farm Bureau meeting held in the music room of the school at St. Joe.

The meeting opned with the Three Little Notes of Butler singing "The Lord's Prayer." Group singing of Christmas carols was led by John Crothers and Edna Perkins was pianist. New officers were elected as follows:

Vice chairman—Carl Perkins.

Assistant secretary—Mrs. William LaRowe.

Chorister & Pianist—John Crothers and Mrs. Carl Perkins agreed to help out for the time being.

The barbershop quartet known as the Cord-O-Matics brought a number of very enjoyable selections. The Three Little Notes sang, "White Christmas," "Old McDonald Had A Farm," "Shortnin' Bread" and "Jingle Bells."

Larry Brandon gave a talk enjoyed by all. He said, "Farm Bureau is an unseen force living in the hearts of men interested in the economical uplift of their fellow men for the preservation of the Rural Home, Rural Church and Rural School. The Lord told us how to farm; the Lord blessed a man, placed him in a garden and told him to dress and keep it. Be ye fruitful, multiply and replenish the earth was God's command at the beginning of creation." He went on, "Farm Bureau has a mission and must put back what is taken from the soil. American people must restore the spiritual laws of God or be lost."

The meeting closed with a selection from the Three Little Notes and the Cord-O-Matics.

Too Many Deer

In many states rapidly multiplying deer herds have become a serious problem.

Some state game administrations are asking hopefully, "Is the age of misguided chivalry dying among deer hunters?" In plain words, is it still a disgrace and a sin to shoot a doe, providing the law allows?

Aiming a 30-30 at a female of the deer family for long has amounted almost to a superstition. But on the pratcical side, the National Wild Life Federation points out that this notion has resulted in more wasted venison and overbrowsed forests than any other factor in big-game management.

In Wisconsin, for example, teeming herds of Whitetails do almost irreparable damage to the range year after year. Hunters thin out the bucks each year, but the does keep on producing fawns.

There was a time in Michigan and Pennsylvania when deer was rounded up and the animals starved to death by the thousands—bucks, does and fawn alike. Hunters apparently thought that starvation was kinder treatment than a quick bullet.

Michigan's deer herd presently is estimated at nearly one million head. Conservation specialists feel that this herd should be cut in half.

This would not mean that the smaller herd would stay small, the game men ays. Increasingly better health of the remaining deer would raise the birth rate so that by the following fall the population would be on the way up again.

In all, about 30 states are faced with the necessity of deer control.

R. C. Guettinger, who heads up Wisconsin's deer research, says that in years of the buck season (when it's against the law to shoot a doe) more deer die in his state of starvation and illegal kills than are taken legally by the hunters.

Some states successfully have avoided the buck-only law, and shot deer of any sex, maintaining a sizeable, healthy herd.

Hilbert R. Siegler of the New Hampshire game department says that both bucks and does have been hunted in the granite state for more than 300 years without apparent harmful effects on the deer population.

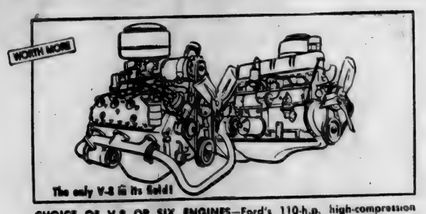
The new Standard of the American Road

With 41 "Worth More" features, it's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it!



The only V-8 in its field!

CHOICE OF V-8 OR SIX ENGINES—Ford's 110-h.p. high-compression Strato-Star V-8 has a partner for thrifty "Go" in the 101-h.p. low-friction, high-compression Mileage Maker Six—only modern Six in its field.

Search no more: the car that exceeds your every driving need is making its bow at your Ford Dealer's!

Those of you who have owned Fords in recent years have a hint of the many ways in which this new 1953 Ford sets an entirely new standard for the American Road.

In this new Ford you'll find a new Miracle Ride that sets a new standard of smooth, quiet comfort on level highways or roughest byways. You'll find the easy handling and great visibility you need for today's fast-moving traffic . . . the "Go" to master today's long-distance driving.

See this Ford . . . Value Check its 41 "Worth More" features . . . and Test Drive it. You'll see why this new standard-setting car is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it.

New Miracle Ride brings you riding comfort at its level best! Not just softer springs and new shock absorber action, but a smoothly coordinated system of ride control elements that adjusts instantly and automatically to changing road conditions. It's a completely balanced ride . . . a ride that will give you an entirely new concept of driving comfort on level parkways or rough, rutted byways.

Shift to Fordomatic . . . and you'll never shift again. It's the finest, most versatile automatic drive ever. Ford also offers the smooth, thrifty Overdrive.

Key-Release Deck Lid opens automatically on counterbalancing hinges when you turn key. Note big trunk space! Ford's hood is counterbalanced, too!

Full-Circle Visibility gives you an unobstructed view of the road . . . and all the scenery. I-REST tinted safety glass makes driving easier on your eyes.

Center-Fill Fueling prevents hose marks on the finish of your car. No gas spill on fenders. Short gas filler pipe gives you trunk space for an extra suitcase.

Power-Pivot Pedals, suspended from above, operate more easily, eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes, make foot space of the entire floor space.

Automatic Power Pilot saves you money because it gives you high-compression "Go" with regular gas. An economy feature on both V-8 and Six.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Remember that song popular a couple of years ago about somebody baking a cake if they knew somebody else was comin'? It came to mind when I saw an article about a baker and his 5,000 pound cake. After he got it "built" and frosted, vibrations from passing trains caused the cake to sag and crack.

The big cake was baked for an anniversary celebration of a St. Louis bank.

If you catch up on your housework, ladies, and want to surprise hubby when he comes home from work, try this super recipe:

2,240 cups of sugar, 2,200 cups of flour, 1,100 cups of shortening, 10,800 eggs, 1,650 cups of milk, 26 pounds of salt, 26 cups of baking powder, 10 cups of vanilla.

It's easy to mix the batter once you get the hang of it. Just dump the flour and sugar into a box-car (with top removed). Mix thoroughly with a 12-foot runabout powered with a 22-h.p. Johnson (the 22 h.p. is recommended over the 12 h.p. model as it makes a fluffier cake, much fluffier). Add the half-ton of shortening from a pick-up truck conveniently located for the operation. Add the eggs (only one at a time) and the other ingredients carefully. Mix until batter is of proper consistency (usually when the outboard motor burns out). Place batter in four coal cars placed side by side. Build a wood shed enclosing the cars and set fire to it. The cake should be done in thirty minutes.

Serves 22,000 persons.

CONCORD TWP. HOME EC

The Concord Twp. Home Ec Club met for an all-day Christmas party on December 12 at the home of Mrs. Nevada Wyatt with her committee, Laura Washler, Lula Armstrong and Mable Baker.

The house was decorated beautifully for Christmas and candy canes were given to all present.

After a bountious dinner, the meeting was called to order by the president and all sang, "Joy To the World." The creed and club song were followed by roll call, "My Best Christmas," with 28 members, 2 guests and 4 children. Devotions were given by Mable Tustison. Special music was presented by Hilda Parn. A solo was then given by Mrs. Alta Hablawetz, followed by a Christmas poem by Elizabeth Shull. Violet Kline presented the Christmas Story. The song of the month, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," was followed by penny collection and exchange of Christmas gifts.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Marie Akins.

County Tourney Draw Made

Pairings for the annual DeKalb County basketball tournament, to be held January 8, 9 and 10 at Butler, were announced this week.

In the varsity games Garrett meets Waterloo Thursday at 9 p. m. and Spencerville faces Butler Friday at 9 p.m. The winners of those two games will meet Ashley and St. Joe respectively in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon and the victors then clash in the finals that night.

The second team drawings resulted in Waterloo and Ashley in the opening game Thursday at 6:30 and St. Joe and Butler at 7:45. The winners meet Spencerville and Garrett respectively in the semi-finals on Friday at 6:30 and 7:45 p.m., the two remaining to fight it out for the crown in Saturday night's opener.

The officials for the tourney will be Hans Dienelt, Don McCoy and Lawrence Slater. No season tickets will be sold and the price of admission for each session will be 50 cents for adults and students.

The 1954 tourney will be held in Garrett, the dates set for January 7, 8 and 9.

Tigers Romp Over Hamilton, Scott Center

Coach Bob Dragoo's St. Joe Tigers continued in their winning ways over the past week with two more victories, one over Hamilton Friday by a 66-45 score and the other Tuesday evening over Scott Center, 64 to 46.

The Tigers were never behind at the quarter marks in their encounter with the Marines at Hamilton, holding a first quarter margin of 14-11. At halftime they were in front by 35-22 and at the end of three periods, held a 47-29 lead.

Ken Walters and Bob DeLong, the locals' one-two scoring punch, garnered 26 and 21, respectively. Bill Coburn had 10.

Mathers was high scorer for the hosts with 18.

The seconds also encountered little trouble in hanging up a 43-28 win over the Hamilton reserves.

St. Joe was ahead 14-8 at the quarter and then held Hamilton to but one point in the second stanza, extending their lead to 26-9.

The third period score was 36-15. Hamilton gained ground in the final period but was too far behind to make a game of it.

Carper dumped in 15 for the winners, followed by Davis and Depew with 8 each.

Scott Center were visitors in St. Joe for Tuesday night's encounter and got a taste of St. Joe's scoring power and some good floor work as the locals took a 64-46 win.

Walters again led the scoring column getting 13 fielders and 2 charity tosses for 28 points. DeLong had 13 and Morr and Culbertson 8 apiece. Bill Coburn netted 7 to complete the scoring.

Clark led Scott Center with 21 and Covell had 18.

The Tigers held a first period 10-5 lead and then jumped to a 30-10 half-time margin. Scott began to creep up at the end of the third and scored 23 points in the final period. But the locals were too hot to handle and coasted to the win.

The third quarter score was 42-23.

The seconds also won their tilt with Scott Center, 41-26.

Scott netted only 2 points in the opening frams as St. Joe racked up 15. It was 23-8 at the half and 32-17 at the three-quarter mark.

Beebe led scoring with 13 and Depew had 11.

A collection taken up during Tuesday night's basketball games by the student council netted approximately $51 for the scoreboard fund.

School Band To Present Second Concert

The St. Joe-Spencerville school band will present its second concert of the school year next Monday evening, December 22, at 8 p.m. in the Spencerville gym.

This concert will be composed primarily of Christmas music, Mr. Carl Zimmerman, school band director, announced this week. The program features overtures by the band, two selections by the Girls Glee Club and Christmas carols to be sung by the audience with band accompaniment.

A free will offering will be taken to help finance expenses to the state contest in February and April.

The program for Monday evening is as follows:

Selection - Christmastide—E. Dehamater.

Overture - Americana—Buchtel.

Overture - Two Moods—Grundman.

Glory To God In Heaven—Bortniansky-Tsohaikowsky. (Glee club.)

Carol of the Bells—Ukranian carol. (Glee club.)

March - Bay State—Burrell.

Carol singing - Audience—Band accompaniment.

Selection - Medley "Yankee Hash"—Miller.

Carol singing - Audience—Band accompaniment.

Star Spangled Banner.—Sousa.

Christmas Jamboree At Coliseum Saturday

Over 10,000 spectators and square dancers from Indiana, Ohio and Southern Michigan are expected to attend the December 20 Christmas Jamboree in Fort Wayne's War Memorial Coliseum.

The event, billed as the largest Christmas Party ever held in the tri-state area, will feature square dancing and an hour-long stage show, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Music for dancing will be provided by the Hilltoppers, known throughout the midwest for their lively interpretations of traditional folk music and popular dance tunes. Bob Taylor will be caller for the square dances.

Bob Sievers, remebered by thousands of area residents for his "One Moment, Please" street interview show, will return from Navy duty expressly to act as master of ceremonies. The big stage entertainment will feature such famous personalities as Jay Gould, Jane Weston, Ernie Ashley, and Herbie Hayworth. Jack Loos will fill the huge auditorium with his bright organ music. Shirley Wayne will entertain with the comedy routines that convulsed Broadway a few seasons back. Dan Minter and Ray James, of "Ladies Night Out" fame, will also be on hand to keep things moving at a fast pace.

Proceeds from this giant Jamboree are to be used for area-wide charity. Carl Vandegrift, manager of WOWO and chairman of the Jamboree, says, "Since talent and time for the party are largely donated and since the trustees of the Coliseum are providing their facilities at reduced cost, we are able to present all this grand entertainment at a remarkably low price and still make plenty of money for the charities. We are certain no one will miss the 50c admission."

Make a Candy Santa Claus

A clever Christmas Tree ornament or an extra gift for a young child may be a candy Santa Claus which you can make yourself. Aside from ingredients, all the equipment needed is a roll of clear cellophane, a piece of green or red crepe paper, and a small amount of cotton. The directions are given below for one large Santa, but you can make several small ones if you prefer, following the same instructions.

Candy Santa Claus

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ pound marshmallows (about 2½ dozen)
½ teaspoon vanilla
5 cups Rice Krispies

Cook butter and marshmallows over boiling water until syrupy, stirring frequently. Add vanilla; beat thoroughly. Put Rice Krispies into greased large bowl and pour on marshmallow mixture, stirring briskly.

When cool enough to handle, shape mixture into "arms," "legs," "head," and "body." Wrap the various parts of the "body" in cellophane and twist ends. Tie at wrists with string and then tie head to body, arms to neck, and so on. Use bits of date for face, crepe paper for hat, cotton to decorate hat and for buttons, and large dried prunes for shoes.

Yield: 1 Santa about 10 inches tall.

Services Held For Ray Baker

Services were conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the Walter Funerau Home in Spencerville. Rev. E. J. Gilford, pastor of the Spencerville Methodist Church, officiated and burial was in White City Cemetery at Spencerville.

A lifelong resident of the Spencerville community, Ray Baker, 67, died at his home after a heart attack Tuesday, December 9, at 9 p.m.

He had been in ill health for two years.

Survivors include the widow, Agnes; two foster children, and a brother, Benjamin Baker, of Ft. Wayne.

MULCHING PROTECTS NEW EVERGREENS

Some tye of protection is needed by newly-planted evergreens against winter-drying and snow damage, states R. B. Hull, Purdue University extension landscape architect.

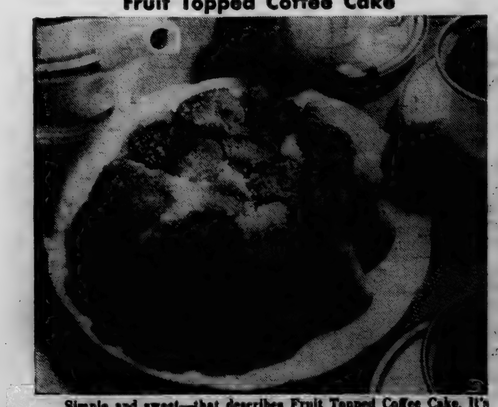
A good way to avoid winter-drying of evergreens is to use a mulch. Since evergreens keep their needles all year, they lose moisture during the winter. In case of newly-planted evergreens, the ground should be thoroughly soaked several times during the winter when it is not frozen.

Hull recommends using peat moss, ground corn cobs, or straw as a mulch, and applying it to a depth of two inches in a generous area around the tree. Be sure that there is plenty of moisture present under the mulch to reach the roots of the tree.

Evergreens also need protection against heavy wet snows, or disfiguration of the tree is likely to occur. The most practical way to prevent snow damage is to brush the snow off the trees and not allow it to freeze fast to the needles. Small broadleafed ornamental evergreens can be protected by building a burlap frame to put over them.

Further information may be obtained from Extension Bulletin 320, "Ornamental Evergreens," available free from county agents or the Agricultural Publications Office, Purdue University, Lafayette.

Fruit Topped Coffee Cake



Simple and sweet—that describes Fruit Topped Coffee Cake. It's made from a quick coffee cake batter and topped with sweetened prunes and apricots.

Bake shops have a wonderful selection of attractively shaped coffee cakes. These good-tasting breads are handy and nourishing to have on hand for snacks and breakfast.

If you're baking your own coffee cake, make it look extra appealing by using a different baking pan.

The recipe for this quick coffee cake is just right for an 8-inch square pan or 9-inch round pan. Try a fluted pan if you have one, of the shape pictured here. Or use a tube pan.

This Fruit Coffee Cake is easy to make—so mix it up often and vary it by using different toppings.

Merely combine the dry ingredients, then the liquid ingredients. Mix the two, stirring just until smooth. Use dried apples or dried peaches instead of the prunes and apricots. Or try canned and drained cherries, blueberries or pineapple tidbits.

Fruit Coffee Cake is good for the breakfast menu because it offers body-building protein. Use "enriched flour" in your baking for added B-vitamins and food iron.

FRUIT TOPPED COFFEE CAKE

3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
6 cooked, dried apricot halves
6 cooked, dried prune halves
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sprinkle sugar over butter or margarine in bottom of greased 1½-quart fluted pan. Arrange apricot and prune halves alternately around bottom of pan. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and ½ cup sugar. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until mixture is smooth. Pour into prepared pan and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 35 minutes.

Makes 1 coffee cake.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 1; DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 9:1-7.

God With Us

Lesson for December 21, 1952

WHAT does Christmas mean? It is all wrapped up in one of the words describing Jesus, one of the less familiar names: Emmanuel. (Or Immanuel; the Bible spells it both ways.) It means GOD WITH US.

The Christian religion is not the only religion that believes in God. Many authorities believe that without belief in some kind of god, there is no religion. But a man can wonder about God, or believe that there must be a god of some kind, all his life long, and be no better man for all that. Cruel, lying men have worshipped cruel, lying gods and they grew all the worse for it.

To Live Where We Live

However, some of the higher religions have had sublime ideas about God, indeed many ideas which a Christian will agree are true. The Romans understood there is a justice on high; their gods would see and reward the just. But few Romans ever loved their gods. The more lofty their ideas of God were, the less they loved and the more they were afraid. A holy god (they supposed) must be the enemy of all sinners. In many religions, not the Roman alone, there have been stories of gods who (like the Canadian police) would always "get their man." "Your sin will find you out" is a verse in the Old Testament which many another religion could have echoed.

Dr. Foreman

In contrast to all this, the coming of Christ means that God is with us, not against us. He has come to live where we live, to be on our side.

The bare belief, "God is," brings little comfort. Mount Everest is, and so is the South Pole. But the mountain and the pole are cold and far away. Most men who seek them perish. Only the Christian religion knows of a God who came to earth and still comes to make his home in the hearts of men of good-will.

Spelling God Out

When we say "God is a person" we can be misunderstood, and we can quickly get into thought-tangles. But if we ask the question, If God were a human being, what sort of person would he be, we have not only asked a very important question, but we can understand the answer: it is Jesus. He is the translation of God into human language.

We needed that translation, too. Jesus was not born into a world of atheists; far from it. There were "gods" everywhere. There were little mean gods and little nasty gods, and they did no one any good. There were vast gods of wrath, and there were high serene gods who went their ways in the sky like great airliners, casting fleet shadows on the farms beneath but not knowing nor caring who might live down there.

He Shall Save His People

Emmanuel means more than that God has visited his people. Your old aunt may come for a visit and stay for two weeks, and all that time never offer a word of complaint or criticism. She lets you do as you please, she gives the children candy and she helps your wife with the cooking and she knits you a muffler.

Some people think God is like that, a sort of handy deity around the house, a god who will hand out anything we care to ask for. "God with us," to such people, means that God is on our side no matter what we may do.

But that is a long way from the truth. For another name of Emmanuel is Jesus, and that means Saviour. We are not told that Jesus will save his people from hell, or from trouble; he will save his people from their sins. When God comes to visit us in Christ, it is not a visit of curiosity. It was no sentimental journey God took to Bethlehem. God is with us; but not to bolster up our self-conceit, not to back us up in anything and everything we may take a notion to do.

He is with us to do what we can never do by ourselves or for ourselves: namely to save us from ourselves. What the best of imaginary gods could never do, what the little gods (even if they had been real) would never do, the true God has done. Could he have done it in heaven? We do not know. What we do know is that our God had something to do for us on earth; and that is why Christ came to Bethlehem.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

CONVULSIONS

FEW episodes strike more terror into the hearts of parents than convulsions in their child. In most instances of convulsion in a child, the cause is trivial, the seizure is self-limiting and subsides without a great deal of medical treatment.

A convulsion is an involuntary paroxysm of muscles involving the whole body.

The first requirement with convulsion in a child is to control the seizure to prevent harm from bodily injuries or strangulation. This means that the child must be protected immediately from injuring himself against surrounding objects, from biting his tongue or from suffocation by permitting the tongue to fall back into the pharynx.

Loosening of the clothing around the neck, placing the child on a bed or flat on the floor and putting a rubber wedge or cork between the teeth are common sense measures.

The old-fashioned treatment of immersing the child in a hot bath, in an effort to increase the blood flow toward the body surface and away from the brain, has its dangers. A severe scald can result from extremely hot water.

Most attacks are brought on by the child's susceptibility to a sudden rise in temperature, and reducing this by alcohol or tepid water sponge rubbing is helpful.

After childhood, about one in 200 who have had convulsions continue to be regularly subject to them. These cases are known as epileptics, but with increasing knowledge in factors causing convulsions, and with new effective drugs, epilepsy is losing much of its terror.

HOLIDAY SAFETY HINTS

1. Don't use open flame candles on Christmas trees (you'd be surprised how many still do) and don't let Santa Claus get too reckless and swish his whiskers too near in illuminated tree or open fireplace or stove.

2. Have a care about holiday automobile driving. Often roads are icy, corners skiddy and drivers sometimes are overcome by the holiday spirit, or, in a hurry to get home or to a party, are off guard.

3. Beware of over-enthusiasm for bottled Christmas "cheer." Many deaths and tragedies have resulted from over indulgences.

4. Don't try to eat everything in the world all in one day. Don't brag about how little sleep you will get during the holiday season and don't take too little outdoor exercise.

5. Remember that Christmas is a time of intensified excitement for children, hence care must be taken not to allow them to get upset through over-eating or over-excitement.

6. Quick changes from the heated home, business building, to the rainy or snowy outdoors put both old and young in a good position to contract "colds," so go well protected from the weather.

7. Watch out where the youngsters coast, particularly on highways and streets, and literally as well as figuratively, "Don't skate on thin ice."

8. Last but most important, the spiritual as well as the social significance of Christmas should not be forgotten; and remember, holidays or no holidays, it is important we all keep healthy.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

RED FACES - It happened twice the same night and in two different towns. First, Dr. George Wagner and Clarence Darragh went to Kokomo to see their Delphi high school team play Northwestern (Howard Co.). Once inside the Kokomo Memorial gym, they didn't recognize anyone, not even any of the players. It was after the game started they found they were watching Kokomo play Tipton, whereas their Delphi game was at the Kokomo armory. On the same night, Mr. and Mrs. Larry E. Dicks, Covington, went to the wrong town, as well as to the wrong basketball game. They intended to see Covington play at Ladoga but in confusion bought tickets into the gym at Roachdale where Russellville was playing. Mr. Dicks blamed it on his wife because she was driving.

OLD TOLL ROAD - A turnpike, or toll road, for Indiana really is nothing new. For Russell Dobson, Versailles (Ripley Co.), was remodelling a house and found a brass token good for one ride over the V. and O. Turnpike Co. road, between Versailles and Osgood. The tolls were collected until 1905 when it became a free road.

WHOPPER TURTLE - Checking his traps, Ralph Jenkins, Angola, spied a turtle about to make a meal of a muskrat caught in one of his traps in Middle Center Lake. He grabbed the turtle by the tail and found he had his hands full. The turtle, a mossback, weighed 40 pounds.

ATTACKED BY HORSE - Gerald Kelver, who lives west of Elkhart, was doing some emergency repairs to a fence at night by lantern when he suddenly was attacked by his pet horse. Without warning, the horse neared Kelver, turned and kicked him with its hind legs. Then the horse lunged, forefeet first, and attempted to bite Kelver. He was bruised but got away safely.

TIRES ON FARMS - The Delphi Journal reports that a Carroll county farmer, in a moment of curiosity, discovered he was using 117 rubber tires on his various pieces of farm equipment. He operates a farm on a "sizeable, but not a big scale," the Journal said. Not the least of farm equipment is the truck—60,000 of them on Indiana farms, in fact. And, incidentally, trucks serve farms many times even after the farmer's own first haul of his produce to market. Several more hauls by truck are involved in moving farm products to processing places, then to consumer markets.

WOLVES PROWL - Wolves are prevalent in Hadden township, Sullivan county, the Sullivan Union says. One recently was killed on a highway by an automobile, a farmer has seen two on his farm, and another farmer once saw a pack of four, the newspaper relates.

REDBUD DRIVE - Washington county will become the redbud capital of Indiana, if such a campaign there keeps going. Various organizations are urging the planting and it's been going on for months, especially on school and other public ground. The Salem Chamber of Commerce is keeping a record of every tree.

THE EVIDENCE - We're a little tired of telling election stories, but here's one more. In Winamac — before the election — druggist John Stombaugh planted a wire recorder under the counter where most of the gabfests take place over morning coffee. He recorded forecasts galore. Then, after the election, he played them back at a Kiwanis luncheon.

COINCIDENCES - At Kewanna Mrs. John Lizey, her daughter—Mrs. Cecelia Houser, and her granddaughter, Sheila Cook, all celebrated their birthdays on the same day.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

BULL STALLS FOX - It was hardly a fight between a fox and a bull, but it must have been fascinating to watch. It happened when Lawrence Lambring, Jackson County farmer, walked into his barn. He found — and accidentally awakened—a fox asleep in a manger, the same fox, he figured, which had been killing his chickens. The fox leaped for freedom toward the only open door but found a bull, head and horns down, blocking his way. Mr. Bull was outside looking in, standing head in the door, and had no intention of moving. Every foray of the fox brought the bull's horns down menacingly. It looked like an impasse. Mr. Lambring, after watching several minutes, hurriedly got his gun and waited outside the barn. The fox finally won the "game" and darted through the door, but only to be felled by the farmer's gun.

TWO FOR ONE - Although rabbits are scarce around Napoleon (Ripley Co.), William Griffith saw two a foot away from each other when he was hunting. He fired once, at one rabbit, and was amazed to see both drop, his shot having pierced the first, then hit the second.

TRAMPS - If you think the old-time hobo tramp has disappeared, you're wrong. Three sons of Robert Eff were doing chores on their father's farm, east of Angola. The youngest, David, 8, was scared out of his wits during his morning chores when he discovered a tramp asleep in the barn. He first thought the man was dead. The tramp was a lazy one, too, for he said he wanted to sleep a little longer, but he was routed out and sent away.

BEAT COP - On his way home late at night, Dean Bolerjack, Mishawaka police chief, was hailed by two men having car trouble. He pushed their car four blocks until it started. About a half hour later, the chief thought he'd stop at police headquarters before he went to bed. There, under arrest, were the same two men he had helped. Yes, their car was stolen and an alert cruiser squad had picked them up.

MEANEST THIEF - Richard Van Fleet, 14, lives at the Cary Home in Lafayette. He wanted a bicycle badly so he ran errands, raked leaves, and finally collected $15. He bought a used bike. One day he rode it downtown to a movie, but when the show was over the bike had been stolen.

FATAL HORSE - Residents in Dunkirk (Jay Co.) long have heard the hoof-on-pavement noises of owner Smilack's horse. But not any more. When Mr. Smilack tied up his horse the other day, he returned to find the animal's head somehow had become entagled in its hitching rope and it had broken its neck trying to free itself.

BABY SITTERS - In Batesville, the problem of getting baby sitters virtually doesn't exist. For the Herald - Tribune, helping out a theater, is advertising names and availability times of many girls, with addresses and phone numbers. As many as 17 are listed with such availabilities as "anytime," "every evening except Tuesday," etc.

MONEY RAISERS - Here's how 125 pupils and teachers at the Medaryville school (Pulaski Co.) raised money to help pay for a new gym. They scoured a 200-acre corn field, which had been picked by a mechanical picker, and gathered up 93 bushels which had been left lying on the ground. They used wagons, tractors and trucks. The idea, and the owner's generosity, netted $120.90.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

WATER AND HEALTH

THE unglaciated areas of Indiana are fast approaching critical periods of possible water shortages. This has a bearing on the health of the people.

About 90 per cent of the water used in the state is now taken from rivers, streams, natural lakes, artificial lakes and springs—the remaining 10 per cent is derived from wells.

While no scarcity of water exists in Indiana through lack of rain or snow, the effect of stream pollution on the quality of water presents a real problem.

In streams formerly of high quality, and in portions of our rivers, much of the water has become contaminated and cannot be used for domestic purposes and only to a very limited degree by our industrial plants, except by costly purification treatment.

In search for new sources of better quality of water, many industrial plants and those engaged in the water supply business have resorted to drilling wells. Drilling wells is a venture that appears to be draining our ground water resources at a faster rate than nature can replenish them. This is shown by the many wells going dry in farm areas suffering from extensive drought periods, and points to the need for a concerted effort to construct reservoirs to collect the surface water that is now running off our lands.

In addition, according to water engineers, most communities have grown so fast that water supply agencies have not been able to reach out for new sources of supply nor to increase their output through existing facilities. Also, it is pointed out that the advent of electrification of farms has increased rural consumption of water supplies from five to nine times of that used during the day of hand pumping of water.

Several communities in Indiana this year have felt the pinch of lack of water. Good water is essential to good health.

Big New '53 FORD
THE NEW STANDARD OF THE AMERICAN ROAD!

Fordomatic Drive, Overdrive, white sidewall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

With 41 "Worth More" features . . .
It's worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!

This '53 Ford sets an entirely new standard for the American Road. For in this big new Ford you'll find 41 "Worth More" features that give you more of the things you want...more of the things you need... than ever before in low-priced car history.

You'll find the "Go" you need to handle today's long-distance driving. You'll enjoy Ford's new Miracle Ride that brings you the smooth, quiet riding comfort you need for today's level parkways or rough, rutted byways . . . plus nearly effortless steering, braking, and parking. And you'll see beauty that belongs wherever you may drive.

When you see this new Ford at your Ford Dealer's, you'll understand why it is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it. You'll agree that here, indeed, is the New Standard of the American Road!

CHOICE OF V-8 OR SIX
Ford's famous 110-h.p. high-compression Strato-Star V-8 has a partner for thrifty "Go" in the 101-h.p. low-friction, high-compression Mileage Maker Six. Ford Automatic Power Pilot gives high-compression "Go" with regular gas.

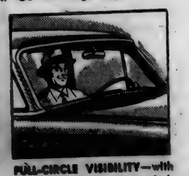
A few of the 41 "Worth More" features in the 1953 Ford

NEW MIRACLE RIDE—Not just more responsive spring and shock absorber action, not just foam rubber cushions, but a balanced ride that gives you a new concept of comfort.

SHIFT TO FORDOMATIC—and you'll never shift again. It's the finest, most versatile automatic drive ever. And remember, Ford also offers the smooth and thrifty Overdrive.

POWER-PIVOT PEDALS — are suspended from above to eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. They give more unobstructed floor space and provide easier pedal operation.

CENTER-FILL FUELING — prevents hose marks, and makes "filling up" easier from either side of gas pump. Shorter gas filler pipe gives you trunk space for an extra suitcase.



FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY—with huge, curved, one-piece windshield, a car-wide, one-piece rear window and big picture windows all around—gives you visibility unlimited.

Here now . . . the '53 FORD

This Is The Result Of Local Co-operation For Community Improvement - Let's Have More!

The above reproduction is a composite photograph of the north side of Concord Township High School showing the work that has been done by the P. T. A. in improving parking facilities at the school. The filling and hauling of dirt was done through that organization which had the help of several interested residents of the community.

The above photograph is a combination of four separate photos, thus accounting for the "breaks" and difference in shading. The view is that as seen from the top row of the bleachers at the softball diamond on the west edge of the parking lot.

CAPITOL FRIENDS—Maj.-Gen. Song You Chan, commanding the ROK Capitol division, one of South Korea's most battle-tested units, chats with Dwight Eisenhower, who was heading back to U.S. to keep a date at capitol after Korean visit.

Residents of the community who have occasion to attend programs, ball games, club meetings and so on at the St. Joe school and gym are well aware of the parking problem at that place. Particularly in bad weather is the inconvenience of parking along the street noticeable, what with puddles of water and mud to contend with.

However, St. Joe has seen in the past several weeks a good example of community service by its people and organizations resulting in the improvement of parking facilities at the local school. The job is not yet completed, but the major problems have been faced and overcome.

The task of improving the lot began with the St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club financing the purchase of vacant lots adjacent to school property. Lions Club members underwrote the purchase as funds were not immediately available to the township trustee, Don Keller, for purchasing the property. The club "loaned" the money in order that the work could be started as quickly as possible.

Then the local P. T. A. took over and recruited several of its members, and non-members, too, who began hauling in fill dirt and leveling the alley at the west side of the lots. A large tree was removed from the southern-most lot, also.

In addition the P. T. A. sponsored its second annual "carnival" a few weeks ago which netted over $700 to be used for this project.

A few weeks ago, if you happened to be passing the school house, you saw that big tree being removed and several trucks bringing in fill dirt, donated by Roscoe Walter of Spencerville and loaded through the co-operation of James Irving, who donated his gravel loading equipment west of Spencerville. Trucks were furnished by Cliff Billow, Lester Baker, John Dye, Milt Ritenour and Ray Donat. Carl Carpenter had his bulldozer on hand to level the "hump" on the west side of the lots. Grading and other work was done by Bill LaRowe, Robert Sechler, Amos DeLong, Merl Guilford, Clayton Baker, Ned Shell, Bill Sible, Andy Monroe, Francis Dulle, Ed Dulle and Harold Yeiser. Tractors were furnished and driven by Walter Reinhart, Merlin Simanton, Richard Crow, Walter Morr and Sam Miller. Refreshments for the workers were furnished by Maurice Kline and D. W. Yeiser.

As was mentioned before, the project is not yet completed. The climax will be the trustee's part in the project. He has agreed to black-top the parking lot, which work probably will be done next summer.

This project is one of the best examples we can think of to illustrate the accomplishments that can result from co-operation between people and organizations within a community. There are many more civic improvements that can be had and which St. Joe should have to keep pace with the times. At this time there is a group of improvement-minded citizens of St. Joe who seek an improved street lighting system. They plan to bring the idea up for discussion at the next meeting of the Town Board on the first Monday of the new year, January 5. We urge those interested in such an improvement to attend the meeting.

There are other improvements we would like to see in 1953, among them the construction of curbs and paving from the highway to the curbs in the two blocks we refer to as the business section. Another is the repair of sidewalks and laying of new where necessary. Water ponds across the walks is a common sight in our town.

Perhaps these improvements would nudge property owners into using paint and brush, etc., on their own property and thus make a better overall appearance in our town.

We don't believe the improvements mentioned above are out of reach nor out of reason. We must avoid that state of lethargy which dulls our thoughts of civic improvements and makes us content with "what we got." Those from our town who have traveled recently and have seen other towns of the size of St. Joe speak of the difference in the appearances, noting that we have comparatively little. Any tourist, regardless of what town he is passing through, unconsciously makes a mental note of that town's appearance, good or bad. We want to see St. Joe's rating go up in the next year.

We have seen "spurts" of activity, for instance the installation of lights at the ball diamond, now the parking lot improvement, successful programs and plays, etc., all of which indicates that there are community-conscious people not only in St. Joe but in the surrounding area. What we need now is the "perking up" of St. Joer's for civic improvements. How?—by attending Town Board meetings and making suggestions for improvements, partaking in the discussions of those ideas, continuing the co-operation between organization and individuals, constantly seeking for reasonable progress.

If St. Joe looks like a sleepy little town, it IS a sleepy little town.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB

The annual Christmas meeting of the R. H. C. was held at the home of Mrs. Inez Hadsell on Tuesday, December 9.

A pot luck dinner was served at noon. The table and house were decorated in keeping with the holiday spirit.

After dinner the meeting was called to order immediately so that Mrs. Pluma Hamilton could be present She was leaving for Ohio for the winter. The members opened the meeting by all singing "Silent Night." Then Mrs. Hamilton read two interesting stories, "The Story of Silent Night" and "The Meaning of Christmas."

Eleven members answered roll call with something about Christmas.

Eleanor Crother gave a very interesting reading, "Birth of Jesus," after which all took part in the exchanging of Christmas gifts.

The next meeting, in January, will be held at the home of Grace Laub.

Fetters-Trenary

Miss Ruth Trenary became the bride of Ervin J. Fetters in a pretty double ring ceremony at the Mt. Pleasant U. B. Church near Butler on Sunday, December 14. Vows were repeated before a background of palms. On either side were seven branch candelabra and baskets of white flowers. Rev. Allen Francis Stone officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Trenary and the late Brooks Trenary. Mr. Fetters' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetters of St. Joe.

Miss Ruth Fetters and Mrs. Aaron Holman presented a 15-minute musicale. Mrs. Holman, soloist, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding and recessional marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Forest Trenary, chose a gown of white marquisette. The bodice featured lace inserts over the shoulders, a mandarin collar and long sleeves which formed points over her hands. The skirt was floor length. Her fingertip veil, edged with imported lace, was caught to a seeded pearl crown. She carried a white Bible topped with a bronze throated orchid.

The bride's sisters served as attendants. Miss Opal Trenary, maid of honor, was attired in a Nile green gown and wore a matching headdress. Miss Alice Trenary and Miss Mary Lou Trenary, serving as bridesmaids, wore orchid and yellow gowns, styled identically to the gown of the honor attendant. Their pearl necklaces were gifts of the bride. All attendants carried contrasting bouquets of carnations. Miss Diana Jean Trenary, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. She was attired in a gown of blue taffeta and wore a matching headdress.

Wendell Kraft served as best man. Guests were seated by Gene White and Dewey White, uncles of the groom.

The bride's mother was attired in a black crepe dress and she wore matching accessories. Mrs. Fetters wore a green dressmaker's suit with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

The reception was held in the church parlor. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with greenery. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake. Those serving the guests were Miss Esther Fetters, sister of the groom, Mrs. Lorin Cook and Mrs. Chester Matherly, sisters of the bride, Mrs. Forest Trenary, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Iris Hursh.

The newly married couple will reside in St. Joe.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hansen

MONKEY BUSINESS - A monkey is thriving — and living with the hogs—on the J. R. White farm near Muncie. It has been there about four months. Though no one can get near it, Max Unger, who is the tenant on the farm, sees it every day. Muncie newspapers have carried pictures of it with the hogs and pigs. Named Tommy, the monkey likes to ride on the backs of the hogs, and it eats and sleeps with them, unaffected by cold weather. Unger said he saw the monkey dropped from a private airplane when it arrived, though neighbors are inclined to believe it is the same monkey which has been reported in the same farm area off and on for the last two years.

PUTNAM TAKE - Putnam County has a high death rate on animals. Hugh Costin and Glenn Hurst brought 40 foxes in one haul to the courthouse at Greencastle to collect their bounty. And the Rev. A. L. Meredith, Greencastle, retired Methodist minister who last year bagged 140 moles, has caught 144 so far this year.

PUMP THUMPED - When Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fox drove into their farm yard, near Berne, one night the headlights of their car showed wrack and ruin. For an instant both thought an airplane had fallen into their yard. But, instead, balanced on top of the cistern pump and upside down was a buggy. Clothes lines were down, and there was more evidence of damage. And it wasn't Hallowe'en. Eventually they learned that David Wickey's horse had run away, with David in the buggy, had cut through Fox's yard, the buggy upsetting when it hit a porch. Young Wickey, however, had fallen out, and was slightly injured, before horse and buggy got into the yard. The horse was found next day in a field.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT - Mrs. Louis Blanton, who lives near Greensburg, presented her husband a baby girl on his 45th birthday. Naturally he was pleased as pink. He wasn't fazed at all by the fact it was their 13th child. The Blantons say 13 is lucky for them because all their brood is living.

TAKES DAY OFF - Adolph W. Siekman, vice-president of the Rising Sun State Bank, took a Saturday off for the first time in 25 years. Once he even cut short a Florida vacation, flying home to be in his bank on a Saturday.

HIGH LAND - The Delphi Citizen reports sale of a 158-acre farm in Madison Township, Carroll County, for $70,000, more than $443 an acre.

FIREHORSE, WORKHORSE - The city of Decatur has finally retired a fire truck which had served the city faithfully since 1922. Its 30 years had made it venerable, and it was an old American-Lafrance. It had gone to every fire in those years. When you think of it, you realize that fire fighting is one of the several services that only trucks perform nowadays in the ordinary realm of things. The old truck was a fire horse, and a workhorse. Any truck you see on highways or streets is a workhorse, performing a job that someone wants or needs done.

SOUTH BEND TALE—They're telling this story around South Bend. Three men, who were together, asked for separate rooms in a South Bend hotel. But it was full and the clerk could only offer them a suite. The price was $30, the clerk said. They took it, and paid in advance. A few minutes later, the clerk realized he had overcharged them. The rate was $25. So he called a bellboy, asking him to return $5 to the three men. The bellboy did, but decided to keep $2 as a tip. So he explaned the overcharge to the men and gave them $3, which they divided —a dollar a piece. So instead of paying their original $10 a piece, they now had payed $9 each. Three times $9 is $27. The bellboy had kept $2, which makes $29. What happened to the other dollar?

SLAVE AUCTION - In Mellott (Fountain Co.) the Congregational church held a slave auction. Bids were made, and accepted, for the household services of church members for one day. After much fun, the church had realized a good sum toward the cost of reroofing the edifice.
